AIR TAXI CERTIFICATION AND OPERATION RULES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that the Bureau of Safety Regulation is instituting rule-making proceedings by circulating Civil Air Regulations Draft Release No. 55–24 to persons on the Bureau's current distribution list. Other interested persons may secure a copy of this draft release upon request made to the Civil Aeronautics Board, attention Bureau of Safety Regulation, Washington 25, D. C.

It has become apparent that a distinct difference exists between the operation of large and small aircraft currently governed by regulations in Part 42 of the Civil Air Regulations, and that the regulations applicable to each should be divided into two separate parts. Accordingly, this draft release proposes to revise those regulations in current Part 42 which apply to small aircraft and incorporate them into a new Part 47. This new part would govern the certification and operation of air taxi operators and also the operation of Part 45 commercial operators who use aircraft of 12,500 pounds or less in their operations. The Bureau will propose an appropriate amendment to Part 45 to require commercial operators using small aircraft to conduct their operations in accordance with the operating rules of proposed Part 47 rather than those of current Part 42. This proposal is being circulated as the first step in the rule-making process in the hope that it will serve to narrow or eliminate the areas of substantive difference between interested persons as to the adequacy or the desirability of the proposed rules.

The Bureau desires that all persons who will be affected by the requirements of this proposal be given an opportunity to participate in the consideration of these rules and to submit such comment as they may desire not only in the final rule-making stage, but throughout the entire rule-making process. Draft Release No. 55–24 requires that comment be submitted on or before February 15, 1956. If the nature of the comment is such that a discussion between the Board's staff and interested members of the public would be of constructive assistance in the further development of the proposed rules, all interested parties will be invited to participate in such a discussion to be held in Washington, D. C. Notice of the time and place of such a meeting, together with advance documentation, will be circulated to persons who have signified their interest prior to February 15, 1956.

Since it is intended that the rule as finally evolved as a result of the foregoing procedure will be published in its entirety as a notice of proposed rule making, interested persons who do not care to participate in the rule-making proceedings at this stage will have a further opportunity for commenting thereon.

The foregoing procedure is proposed under the authority of sec. 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act, and Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply secs. 601–610, 52 Stat. 1007–1012, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551–560)

Dated at Washington, D. C., November 9, 1955.

PROCEDURE ALTERATIONS

The standard instrument approach procedure alterations appearing hereinafter are adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and therefore is not required.

Part 609 is amended as follows:

NOTE: Where the general classification (LFR, VAR, ADF, ILS, GCA, or VOR), location, and procedure number (if any) of any procedure in the amendments which follow, are identical with an existing procedure, that procedure is to be substituted for the existing one, as of the effective date given, to the extent that it differs from the existing procedure; where a procedure is canceled, the existing procedure is revoked; new procedures are to be placed in appropriate alphabetical sequence within the section amended.

PART 850—DOMESTIC BEET SUGAR PRODUCING AREA

NEW MEXICO FARM PROPORTIONATE SHARES FOR THE 1955 CROP

Pursuant to the provisions of the Determination of Proportionate Shares for Farms in the Domestic Beet Sugar Area, 1955 Crop (19 F. R. 7260), as amended (20 F. R. 1635), the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation New Mexico State Committee has issued the bases and procedures for establishing individual farm proportionate shares from the allocation of 770 acres established for New Mexico, by the determination. Copies of these bases and procedures are available for public inspection at the office of such committee at 1015 Tijeras Avenue NW., Albuquerque, New Mexico, and at the offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees in the sugar beet producing counties of New Mexico. The bases and procedures incorporate the following:

§ 850.20 New Mexico—(a) Set asides of acreage. From the State allocation there is set aside 76 acres for use in establishing farm proportionate shares for new producers and 8 acres for adjusting individual farm proportionate shares under appeals.

(b) Requests for proportionate shares. A request for each farm proportionate share shall be filed at the local ASC county office on form SU–100, Request for Sugar Beet Proportionate Share. The request shall be signed by the farm operator and shall be filed on or before the closing date for such filing, as established by the State Committee and publicized through local news releases.

(c) Establishment of individual farm proportionate shares—(1) Farm bases. For each farm in New Mexico, the farm base shall be established from the planted sugar beet acreage record of the farm by giving a weighting of 50 percent to the average acreage for the crops of 1950 through 1954, as a measure of "past production" and a weighting of 50 percent to the average acreage of the crops of 1953–54, as a measure of "ability to produce".

(2) Initial proportionate shares. Initial proportionate shares shall be established from the farm bases on a pro rata basis so that the total of the farm shares equals the State allocation less the prescribed set-asides.

(3) Adjustments in initial shares. Within the acreage of initial shares in excess of requested acreages, adjustments shall be made in initial farm proportionate shares so as to establish a proportionate share for each farm which is fair and equitable as compared with proportionate shares for all other farms in the locality by taking into consideration availability and suitability of land, area of available fields, availability of irrigation water, adequacy of drainage, availability of production and marketing facilities, and the production experience of the operator.

(4) Proportionate shares for new producers. Within the acreage set aside for new producers, proportionate shares shall be established for new producers (as defined in § 850.8) by taking into consideration the availability and suitability of land, area of available fields, availability of irrigation water, adequacy of drainage, availability of production and marketing facilities and the production experience of the operator.

(5) Adjustments under appeals. Within the acreage set aside for making adjustments under appeals and any other acreage remaining unused, adjustments shall be made in proportionate shares under appeals to establish fair and equitable farm shares in accordance with the provisions of the determination applicable to appeals.

(6) Redistribution of unused proportionate share acreage. Any farm operator who receives notice of proportionate share acreage and who, prior to planting time, makes a change in his farm operations so that the share established for the farm will not be fully planted shall be encouraged by the county committee to voluntarily release the unused acreage. The county committee, subject to the approval of the State Committee, shall redistribute prior to planting time, as far as practicable, such acreage to other sugar beet farms within the county.

(7) Notification of farm operators. The farm operator shall be notified concerning the proportionate share established for his farm on form SU–103, Notice of Farm Proportionate Share—1955 Sugar Beet Crop, even if the acreage established is "none" and in each case of approved adjustment the farm operator shall be notified regarding the adjusted proportionate share on a form SU–103 marked "Revised".

(8) Determination provisions prevail. The bases and procedures set forth in this section are issued in accordance with and subject to the provisions of § 850.8.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

This supplement sets forth the bases and procedures established by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation New Mexico State Committee for determining farm proportionate shares in New Mexico in accordance with the determination of proportionate shares for the 1955 crop of sugar beets, as issued by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The establishment of individual farm proportionate shares directly from the State allocation, without subdividing the State into proportionate share areas, is reasonable considering that the sugar beet producing region of the State is relatively small and ordinarily only one beet sugar company contracts for acreage in New Mexico. The formula used for establishing individual farm shares from the State allocation gives reasonable weightings to the factors of "past production" and "ability to produce", with relatively heavy weight for recent performance.

The bases and procedures for making adjustments in initial proportionate shares, for establishing shares for new producers, and for adjusting proportionate shares because of unused acreage and appeals, set forth criteria to be followed for each of these operations in order that a fair and equitable proportionate share may be established for each farm.

PART 850—DOMESTIC BEET SUGAR PRODUCING AREA

CALIFORNIA PROPORTIONATE SHARE AREAS AND FARM PROPORTIONATE SHARES FOR THE 1955 CROP

Pursuant to the provisions of the Determination of Proportionate Shares for Farms in the Domestic Beet Sugar Area, 1955 Crop (19 F. R. 7260), as amended (20 F. R. 1635), the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation California State Committee has issued the bases and procedures for dividing the State into proportionate share areas and establishing individual farm proportionate shares from the allocation of 182,410 acres established for California by the determination. Copies of these bases and procedures are available for public inspection at the office of such committee at 2020 Milvia Street, Berkeley, California, and at the offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees in the sugar beet producing counties of California. These bases and procedures incorporate the following:

§ 850.22 California—(a) Proportionate share areas. California shall be divided into two proportionate share areas, one of which shall comprise all of California except Imperial County and the other shall be Imperial County. These areas shall be designated the "Northern Area" and the "Imperial Area," respectively. Acreage allotments for these areas shall be computed by applying to the planted sugar beet acreage record for each area a weighting of 75 percent to the average acreage for the crops of 1950 through 1954, as a measure of "past production", and a weighting of 25 percent to the average acreage for the crops of 1953 through 1954, as a measure of "ability to produce", with a minimum of 93 percent of the 1953–54 average acreage and with pro rata adjustments to a total of 182,410 acres. Acreage allotments computed as aforestated are established as follows: Northern Area—142,059 acres, and Imperial Area—40,351 acres.

(b) Set asides of acreage—(1) Northern area. From the Northern Area allotment there is set aside 2 percent of such allotment for use in establishing farm proportionate shares for new producers, 2 percent for adjusting individual farm proportionate shares under appeals, and 3 percent for adjusting initial farm proportionate shares.

(2) Imperial area. From the Imperial Area allotment there is set aside 1 percent for use in establishing farm proportionate shares for new producers, 2 percent for adjusting individual farm proportionate shares under appeals, and 3 percent for adjusting initial farm proportionate shares.

(c) Requests for proportionate shares. A request for each farm proportionate share shall be filed at the local ASC county office on form SU–100 (California) Request for Sugar Beet Proportionate Share. The request shall be signed by the farm operator and shall be filed on or before the closing date for such filing, as established by the State Committee and publicized through local news releases.

(d) Establishment of individual farm proportionate shares—(1) Farm bases. For each farm whose operator is not a tenant in the 1955-crop season, a farm base will be computed from the planted sugar beet acreage record of the farm accruing to the landowner under the effective cropping arrangements by giving a weighting of 75 percent to the average acreage of the crops of 1950 through 1954, as a measure of "past production", and a weighting of 25 percent to the average acreage for the crops of 1952 through 1954, as a measure of "ability to produce". For each farm whose operator is a tenant in the 1955-crop season, the farm base shall be the larger of the results obtained by applying the aforestated weightings to the planted sugar beet acreage record accruing to the owner or owners of the farm under the effective cropping arrangements or to the planted sugar beet acreage record of the operator.

(2) Initial proportionate shares. Initial proportionate shares shall be established from the farm bases in each proportionate share area on a pro rata basis so that the total of the farm shares equals the area allotment less the prescribed set-asides.

(3) Adjustments in initial shares. Within the acreage available from the set-aside for adjustments, and from acreage of initial shares in excess of requested acreages in each proportionate share area, adjustments shall be made in initial farm proportionate shares so as to establish a proportionate share for each farm which is fair and equitable as compared with proportionate shares for all other farms in the locality by taking into consideration availability and suitability of land, area of available fields, availability of irrigation water, adequacy of drainage, availability of production and marketing facilities and the production experience of the operator. Within the available acreage, adjustments shall be made in the following order of precedence and subject to the limitations hereinafter indicated: (i) Shares for growers with five years or less of production history in the 1950–54 period whose farm bases do not constitute fair representations of their past operations or production records of their farms (such as where a former tenant becomes an owner-operator in 1955 on a farm with less history than his personal history or an operator with little or no personal history operates a farm in 1955 with sugar beet history, the creditable portion of which is limited to the landlord's share), provided that the final share after adjustment shall not exceed that for a similar farm in the area on the basis of either personal or full land history; (ii) for growers with less than five years of production history in the 1950–54 period, provided that the final share after adjustment shall be limited generally to 85 percent of the average of the four-year plantings, 70 percent of the average of the three-year plantings, 55 percent of the average of the two-year plantings, and 40 percent of single-year planting; provided further that these limits may be exceeded in special cases such as those involving a rotation plan, too small an acreage for economic operations or where a grower had one or more years of low plantings due to causes beyond his control; however, no grower's share may exceed his highest acreage in any one year during the base period; (iii) shares for growers with five years of production history in the 1950–54 period to correct for low plantings during one or more years of the base period, to fill out fields, and for other similar reasons, provided that the final share after adjustment shall not exceed the highest acreage in any one year of the base period.

(4) Proportionate shares for new producers. Within the acreage set aside for new producers in each proportionate share area, proportionate shares shall be established for new producers (as defined in § 850.8) by taking into consideration the suitability and area of available land, area of available fields, availability of irrigation water, availability of production and marketing facilities and the production experience of the operator.

(5) Adjustments under appeals. Within the acreage set aside for making adjustments under appeals and any other acreage remaining unused in each proportionate share area, adjustments shall be made in proportionate shares under appeals to establish fair and equitable farm shares in accordance with the provisions of the determination applicable to appeals.

(6) Adjustments because of unused acreage. To the extent of acreage available within the allotment for each proportionate share area from underplanting and failure to plant proportionate share acreages, and from set-aside acreages remaining unallotted, adjustments shall be made in farm proportionate shares insofar as practicable during the planting season on a pro rata basis upon written requests of producers who have not intentionally planted in excess of their prior allotments, whose plantings will include additional acreage, and who have reasonable assurance of contracting the additional acreage with a sugar beet processing company.

(7) Notification of farm operators. The farm operator shall be notified concerning the proportionate share established for his farm on form SU–103, Notice of Farm Proportionate Share—1955 Sugar Beet Crop, even if the acreage established is "none" and in each case of approved adjustment the farm operator shall be notified regarding the adjusted proportionate share on a form SU–103 marked "Revised".

(8) Determination provisions prevail. The bases and procedures set forth in this section are issued in accordance with and subject to the provisions of § 850.8.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

This supplement sets forth the bases and procedures established by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation California State Committee for determining farm proportionate shares in California in accordance with the determination of proportionate shares for the 1955 crop of sugar beets, as issued by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The division of California into two general areas is reasonable since sugar beets are planted in the Northern Area largely in the winter and spring months whreas plantings are made in the Imperial Area during the early fall months. A further subdivision of the Northern Area is infeasible because smaller areas are not segregated geographically or with respect to districts served by the four beet sugar companies which operate in the State. The formula used in establishing allotments for the two areas is identical to that used by the Department in establishing State allocations. The formula used in subdividing the area allotments into individual farm proportionate shares is similar, but "ability to produce" is measured by the average acreage of the crops of 1952–54 rather than the largest acreage of the 1950–54 period. Since sugar beet production in California is organized around tenant-operators rather than around units of land, the formula gives consideration to the personal production records of farm operators as well as to the production records of farms.

The bases and procedures for making adjustments in initial proportionate shares, for establishing shares for new producers, and for adjusting proportionate shares because of unused acreage and appeals, set forth criteria to be followed for each of these operations in order that a fair and equitable proportionate share may be established for each farm.

OHIO PROPORTIONATE SHARE AREAS AND FARM PROPORTIONATE SHARES FOR 1955 CROP

Pursuant to the provisions of the Determination of Proportionate Shares for Farms in the Domestic Beet Sugar Area, 1955 Crop (19 F. R. 7260), as amended (20 F. R. 1635), the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Ohio State Committee has issued the bases and procedures for dividing the State into proportionate share areas and establishing individual farm proportionate shares from the allocation of 20,220 acres established for Ohio by the determination. Copies of these bases and procedures are available for public inspection at the office of such committee at the Old Post Office Building, Third and State Streets, Columbus 15, Ohio, and at the offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees in the sugar beet producing counties of Ohio. These bases and procedures incorporate the following:

§ 850.29 Ohio—(a) Proportionate share areas. Ohio shall be divided into two proportionate share areas or districts comprising beet sugar factory districts as served by two beet sugar companies. These areas shall be designated "Great Lakes District" and "Buckeye District", respectively. Acreage allotments for these districts shall be computed by applying to the planted sugar beet acreage record for each district a weighting of 75 percent to the average acreage for the crops of 1950 through 1954, as a measure of "past production", and a weighting of 25 percent to the largest acreage of any of the crops of 1950 through 1954, as a measure of "ability to produce", with a ceiling of 125 percent of the 1954 acreage and pro rata adjustments to a total of 20,220 acres. Acreage allotments computed as aforestated are established as follows: Great Lakes District, 14,315 acres, and Buckeye District, 5,905 acres.

(b) Set asides of acreage. Set-asides of acreage shall be made from the district allotments for new producers, for appeals, and for making adjustments in initial proportionate shares, respectively, in percentages as follows: Great Lakes District—15.3, 2.0 and 8.9; and Buckeye District—15.6, 2.0 and 9.2.

(c) Requests for proportionate shares. A request for each farm proportionate share shall be filed at the local ASC County office on form SU-100, Request for Sugar Beet Proportionate Share. The request shall be signed by the farm operator and shall be filed on or before the closing date for such filing, as established by the State Committee and publicized through local news releases.

(d) Establishment of individual farm proportionate shares—(1) Farm bases. Farm bases shall be established in each proportionate share district by giving a weighting of 50 percent to the average acreage of the crops of 1952 through 1954, as a measure of "past production", and a weighting of 50 percent to the largest acreage of the crops of 1952 through 1954, as a measure of "ability to produce".

(2) Initial proportionate shares. Initial proportionate shares shall be established from the farm bases in each proportionate share district on a pro rata basis so that the total of the farm shares equals the district allotment less the prescribed set-asides, except that the minimum initial proportionate share shall be the smaller of five acres or the requested acreage.

(3) Adjustments in initial shares. Within the acreage available from the set-aside for adjustments, and from acreage of initial shares in excess of requested acreages in each proportionate share area, adjustments shall be made in initial farm proportionate shares so as to establish a proportionate share for each farm which is fair and equitable as compared with proportionate shares for all other farms in the area by taking into consideration availability and suitability of land, area of available fields, adequacy of drainage, availability of production and marketing facilities and the production experience of the operator.

(4) Proportionate shares for new producers. Within the acreage set aside for new producers in each proportionate share area, proportionate shares shall be established for new producers (as defined in § 850.8) by taking into consideration the availability and suitability of land, area of available fields, availability of production and marketing facilities and the production experience of the operator. The minimum initial proportionate share for a new producer shall be the smaller of five acres or the requested acreage.

(5) Adjustments under appeals. Within the acreage set aside for making adjustments under appeals and any other acreage remaining unused in each proportionate share area, adjustments shall be made in proportionate shares under appeals to establish fair and equitable farm shares in accordance with the provisions of the determination applicable to appeals.

(6) Adjustments because of unused acreage. To the extent of acreage available within the allotment for each proportionate share area from underplanting and failure to plant proportionate share acreages, and from set-aside acreages remaining unallotted, adjustments shall be made in farm proportionate shares throughout the 1955-crop season. These adjustments shall be made insofar as practicable during the planting season in the area on a pro rata basis for the farms whereon additional acreage may be planted.

(7) Notification of farm operators. The farm operator shall be notified concerning the proportionate share established for his farm on form SU-103, Notice of Farm Proportionate Share—1955 Sugar Beet Crop, even if the acreage established is "none" and in each case of approved adjustment the farm operator shall be notified regarding the adjusted proportionate share on a form SU-103 marked "Revised".

(8) Determination provisions prevail. The bases and procedures set forth in this section are issued in accordance with and subject to the provisions of § 850.8.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

This supplement sets forth the bases and procedures established by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Ohio State Committee for determining farm proportionate shares in Ohio in accordance with the determination of proportionate shares for the 1955 crop of sugar beets, as issued by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The division of Ohio into two districts as served by beet sugar companies provides a reasonable subdivision of the State, in relation to the operation of sugar beet processing plants and the use of advisory committees comprising grower and processor representatives. The formula used in dividing the State acreage allocation between these districts is similar to the formula used by the Department of Agriculture in establishing State allocations. Individual farm shares are computed under a formula using a shorter base period and different weightings to give greater consideration to recent production.

The bases and procedures for making adjustments in initial proportionate shares, for establishing shares for new producers, and for adjusting proportionate shares because of unused acreage and appeals, set forth criteria to be followed for each of these operations in order that a fair and equitable proportionate share may be established for each farm.

PART 953—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. 1. Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 53, as amended (7 CFR Part 953; 19 F. R. 7175; 20 F. R. 2913), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

2. It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice and engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restriction on the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona.

Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) (ii) of § 953.722 (Lemon Regulation 615, 20 F. R. 8452) are hereby amended to read as follows:

PART 5—CUSTOMS RELATIONS WITH CONTIGUOUS FOREIGN TERRITORY

PART 21—CARTAGE AND LIGHTERAGE

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The suggestion has been made that customs Form 7523, Entry of Merchandise Unconditionally Free of Duty, Carrier's Certificate and Release, be modified to permit its use as a combined entry, manifest, carrier's certificate, and release for merchandise entered on that form. The adoption of this suggestion will simplify customs requirements but requires amendment of the Customs Regulations.

A footnote to § 14.5 (g) of the Customs Regulations relating to coal-tar products requires deletion because it is not in accordance with existing law.

As the result of suggestions from the field, the Bureau has considered the question whether the issuance of identification cards to a licensed cartman or lighterman or his employees serves a good purpose at all ports. Consideration has also been given to the question whether before the employment of the holder of an identification card is changed to another licensed cartman or lighterman, the card, together with an application of the new employer, should always be submitted to the customhouse for noting the change of employer on both the identification card and the customhouse records, in accordance with § 21.2 of the Customs Regulations.

For example, it is sometimes necessary for the holder of an identification card, because of the lack on some days of the work normally offered by his regular employer, to seek temporary employment by another licensed cartman or lighterman. Insistence upon compliance with the above-mentioned requirement may unnecessarily deprive the employee of the temporary work offered.

It has been decided that the answers to the foregoing questions regarding identification cards are matters which may properly be determined on a local basis and that the Customs Regulations should be amended to so provide. Accordingly, the Customs Regulations are amended as follows:

1. Section 5.1 (b) is amended by adding the following sentence after the fifth sentence: "Customs Form 7523 also may be used in lieu of other forms of customs manifests for merchandise which is entered on that form."

(R. S. 251, secs. 459, 460, 498, 624, 46 Stat. 717, as amended, 728, as amended, 759; 19 U. S. C. 66, 1459, 1460, 1498, 1624)

2. Section 6.7 (b) (3) is amended by adding the following sentence after the third complete sentence: "Customs Form 7523 also may be used in lieu of other forms of cargo manifests for merchandise in a single shipment which is entered on that form."

(R. S. 161, 251, secs. 431, 624, 644, 46 Stat. 710, as amended, 759, 761, secs. 7, 44 Stat. 572, as amended; 5 U. S. C. 22, 19 U. S. C. 66, 1431, 1624, 1644, 49 U. S. C. 177)

3. Section 14.5 (g) is amended by deleting the reference numeral "11" where it appears therein, and footnote 11 appended to that section is deleted.

(Sec. 624, 46 Stat. 759; 19 U. S. C. 1624. Interprets or applies sec. 402, 46 Stat. 708, as amended, pars. 27, 28, sec. 1, 46 Stat. 592, 594, as amended; 19 U. S. C. 1402, 1001, pars 27, 28)

4. Section 21.1 (a) is amended by deleting "who are required by § 21.2 to possess identification cards (customs Form 3873)" from the last sentence and substituting therefore: "who will receive or transport imported merchandise which has not been released from customs"

5. Section 21.2 is amended as follows:

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (Sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, 61 Stat. 11, 63 Stat. 409, 67 Stat. 389; sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. R. 1996), the regulations for tests and methods of assay and certification of antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs (21 CFR, 1954 Supp., Parts 141b, 141c, 146a, 146c, 146e) are amended as indicated below:

1. Section 141b.126 (a) (1) (i) and (1) (ii) (g) are amended to read as follows:

§ 141b.126 Streptomycin-erythromycin ointment—(a) Ointment—(1) Potency—(i) Streptomycin content. Proceed as directed in § 141b.101 (a) through (i), except prepare the sample as follows: Place a representative quantity of the ointment (usually an entire container) in a blending jar containing approximately 225 milliliters of chloroform. Using a high-speed blender, blend the mixture for 3 minutes. Transfer the blended material to a large Buchner funnel (at least 10 centimeters in diameter) fitted with a highly retentive filter paper and attached to a vacuum line. Apply vacuum long enough to insure removal of chloroform from the filter cake. Place the filter cake and the paper in a blending jar containing 250 milliliters of 0.1 M phosphate buffer, pH 8.0, and blend for 10 minutes. Filter the blended material through a fast, porous, filter paper. Dilute the filtrate to obtain a solution for assay containing 1.0 microgram per milliliter. Its content of streptomycin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram that it is represented to contain.

(ii) Erythromycin content. • • •

(g) Assay. Place a representative quantity of the ointment (usually an entire container) in a blending jar containing approximately 225 milliliters of polyethylene glycol. Using a high-speed blender, blend the mixture for 10 minutes and filter through a Buchner filter. Dilute the filtrate to 1.0 microgram per milliliter (estimated) in 0.1 N potassium phosphate buffer, pH 8.0, and proceed as directed in § 141b.101 (h) and (i), except that the incubation temperature is 32° C. to 35° C. Its content of erythromycin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram that it is represented to contain.

2. The headnote of § 141c.202 is amended to read as follows: "§ 141c.202 Chlortetracycline ointment (chlortetracycline hydrochloride ointment), chlortetracycline calcium ointment, chlortetracycline calcium cream; tetracycline hydrochloride ointment (tetracycline hydrochloride in oil suspension)—".

3. Section 146a.67 Procaine penicillin in streptomycin sulfate solution • • • is amended in paragraph (b) Packaging by inserting after the words "30 milliliters," in the last sentence, the following parenthetical expression: "(unless it is packaged and intended solely for veterinary use),".

4. Section 146c.202 is amended in the following respects:

a. The section headnote is changed to read as follows: "§ 146c.202 Chlortetracycline ointment (chlortetracycline hydrochloride ointment), chlortetracycline calcium ointment, chlortetracycline calcium cream; tetracycline hydrochloride ointment (tetracycline hydrochloride in oil suspension)—".

b. Paragraph (b) is changed to read as follows:

(b) Packaging. The ointment shall be packaged in collapsible tubes which are well-closed containers as defined by the U. S. P., or in containers of glass or plastic that are tight containers as defined by the U. S. P. Unless it is labeled solely for hospital use, each such container shall contain not more than 2 ounces, except if it is intended for ophthalmic use each such container shall contain not more than ⅛-ounce, if it is a collapsible tube, or more than ½-ounce if it is a tight container. Each such container shall be of such composition as will not cause any change in the strength, quality, or purity of the contents beyond any limit therefor in applicable standards, except that minor changes so caused that are normal and unavoidable in good packaging, storage, and distribution practices shall be disregarded.

5. Section 146e.402 Bacitracin ointment • • • is amended in the following respects:

a. In paragraph (c) Labeling subparagraphs (3) and (4) are renumbered as (4) and (5), respectively, and a new subparagraph (3), reading as follows, is inserted between subparagraph (2) and renumbered subparagraph (4):

(3) On the outside wrapper or container, if it is intended solely for veterinary use and it contains fludrocortisone (9 α-fluorohydrocortisone), the statement "Caution: Federal law restricts this drug to sale by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian" and a reference specifically identifying a readily available medical publication containing information (including contraindications and possible sensitization) adequate for the use of such ointment by practitioners licensed by law to administer such drug; or a reference to a brochure or other printed matter containing such information, and a statement that such brochure or printed matter will be sent on request: Provided, however, That this reference may be omitted if the information is contained in a circular or other labeling within or attached to the package.

b. In paragraph (c) renumbered subparagraph (5) is amended by inserting immediately after the word "sulfonamides," the following new words: "or if it is intended for veterinary use and it contains fludrocortisone, (9 α-fluorohydrocortisone),".

6. Section 146e.411 Bacitracin-neomycin ointment • • • is amended by deleting the last sentence from paragraph (a) (2).

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER since both the public and the affected industry will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 927]

[Docket No. AO-71-A24]

HANDLING OF MILK IN NEW YORK METROPOLITAN MILK MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF TERMINATION OF PROCEEDING

A decision on proposals to amend the order regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area was issued on December 14, 1953 and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 17, 1953 (18 F. R. 8444) on the basis of evidence in the record of a public hearing (herein referred to as "the 1953 hearing"), held pursuant to notices thereof issued on January 8, 1953 (18 F. R. 256) and February 27, 1953 (18 F. R. 1249). Such public hearing was conducted beginning on March 10, 1953 at Elmira, New York, and ending on May 6, 1953 at New York City, with intervening sessions at Malone, Odgensburg, and Watertown, New York.

Findings and conclusions were set forth in the decision of December 14, 1953 relating to only a portion of the issues presented on the record of the hearing, and findings and conclusions on other issues in the proceeding were at that time deferred pending further consideration. Those issues concerning which findings and conclusions thus were deferred are:

1. Revision of provisions for the designation of plants at which the handling of milk is fully subject to the pricing and utilization provisions of the order (issue No. 11, as listed in the decision);

2. The revision of transportation and location on differentials applicable both to minimum class prices paid by handlers and to the uniform price paid to producers (issue No. 12, as listed in the decision); and

3. The classification and pricing of milk disposed of for fluid use in Northern New Jersey or within the State of New York outside the marketing area (a portion of issue No. 10, as listed in the decision).

Subsequent to the hearing which ended on May 6, 1953, but prior to the decision of December 14, 1953, the subject matter reflected in the above listed issues, together with related marketing problems, was referred for study and recommendations thereon to a committee appointed jointly by the United States Department of Agriculture and the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. A report containing recommendations relative to these and other issues was released by this committee in January 1954. Since that time various new proposals have been received for new or revised Federal or joint Federal-State regulation of the handling of milk in the New York-New Jersey area, and public proceedings have been initiated relating to such proposals. It is apparent that such new proceedings may involve consideration of the same issues as those considered in the 1953 hearing but as to which findings and conclusions were deferred in the decision of December 14, 1953. Thus, it is of importance to interested parties to know whether or not further action is to be taken on the record of the 1953 hearing.

Nearly three years now have elapsed since the period of time to which data in the record of the 1953 hearing apply, and a recent review of that record indicates that the evidence therein does not constitute a suitable basis on which to resolve the above listed issues.

Accordingly, notice is hereby given that no further findings of fact, conclusions, or proposed marketing agreement or marketing order will be issued on the basis of evidence in the record of such 1953 hearing, that such hearing will not be reopened, and that such proceeding is hereby terminated.

It is hereby ordered that this notice be filed by the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture and be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 16th day of November 1955.

[SEAL] TRUE D. MORSE,
Acting Secretary.

[Docket No. AO 184-A12]

HANDLING OF MILK IN NASHVILLE TENNESSEE MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Nashville, Tennessee, on September 22-23, 1955, pursuant to notice thereof which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (20 F. R. 7007), upon proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order as amended regulating the handling of milk in the Nashville, Tennessee marketing area.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, on November 2, 1955, issued a recommended decision. Said decision containing notice of opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on November 5, 1955 (20 F. R. 8336).

Within the period reserved therefor, interested parties filed exceptions to certain of the findings, conclusions and actions recommended by the Deputy Administrator. In arriving at the findings, conclusions, and regulatory provisions of this decision, each of such exceptions was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that findings, conclusions and actions decided upon herein are at variance with any of the exceptions, such exceptions are overruled.

To the extent that suggested findings and conclusions proposed by interested persons are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the specific or implied requests to make such findings and reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions herein set forth.

The material issues, findings and conclusions, and general findings of the recommended decision (20 F. R. 8336, Doc. 55-8967) are hereby approved and adopted as the issues, findings and conclusions, and general findings of this decision as if set forth in full herein.

Determination of representative period. The month of September 1955 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the order amending the order, now in effect, regulating the handling of milk in the Nashville, Tennessee marketing area, in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who, during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing area.

Marketing agreement and order, as amended. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Nashville, Tennessee Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Nashville, Tennessee Marketing Area", which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered that all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended and proposed to be hereby further amended.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 16th day of November 1955.

[SEAL] TRUE D. MORSE,
Acting Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Nashville, Tennessee, Marketing Area

§ 978.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Nashville, Tennessee, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handing. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Nashville, Tennessee marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 978.51 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Class I milk price. The Class I milk price shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month, plus $1.40 during the months of September through February, and plus $1.10 during all other months, plus an additional 10 cents during the months through March 1956, plus or minus a supply-demand adjustment calculated for each month after March 1956 as follows:

(1) Divide the total hundredweight of producer milk of all fluid milk plants for the twelve-month period ending with the beginning of the preceding month, by the net hundredweight of Class I milk disposed of from all fluid milk plants during the same period and multiply by 100. The resulting figure rounded to the nearest whole percentage shall be known as the utilization ratio.

(2) For each percentage by which the utilization ratio calculated for the month pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph exceeds 130 subtract from, or for each percentage by which it is less than 125 add to, the Class I price, 1 cent.

§ 130.23 Church priorities. In the case of property classified for use of churches, any person who, on the date such property is offered for sale, is entitled to occupancy thereof in accordance with a lease or license agreement with the Commission or its property management contractor, authorizing the use of the premises for church use, shall have a right of priority.

§ 130.24 Other properties. In the case of any property not covered by §§ 130.21 to 130.23, inclusive, no priority rights are conferred under this part.

(b) No application need be filed for priority rights under § 130.21 (a) (1).

§ 130.32 Exercise of priority. The sales agency shall prescribe the manner and time within which a priority right that has been determined by the Commission shall be exercised: Provided, however, That the time for exercise of priority rights of occupants of single family houses and senior occupants of duplex houses shall be not less than 90 days after the date the property in question is first offered for sale.

§ 130.33 Abandonment of priority. (a) Any priority right other than a priority for church property which has been exercised as prescribed by the sales agency shall be deemed abandoned unless the priority purchaser concludes the sale or executes the contract to purchase:

(1) Within 60 days after tender by the sales agency of a deed or contract to purchase, or

(2) Prior to expiration of the period prescribed for exercise of such priority, whichever is later.

(b) Any right of priority to purchase church property, shall be deemed abandoned unless within six months after a tender by the sales agency of a deed the priority purchaser concludes the sale.

(c) In all cases covered by this section, such time may for good cause be extended by the sales agency.

§ 130.34 Transfer of priority. (a) No priority established hereunder shall be transferable except:

(1) A husband and wife may exercise a priority in their joint names.

(2) A religious organization may exercise the occupant's priority which would otherwise belong to its priest, minister or rabbi, regardless of whether that position happens to be filled at the time of the exercise of the priority.

(3) Two or more holders of priorities, granted pursuant to § 130.21 (b) (1) and (2), or § 130.22, having a common interest in a building or location, may assign to a single assignee their rights of priority to purchase such building or location.

§ 130.35 Nonimpairment of rights. No priorities determined or exercised hereunder shall impair any rights, including purchase rights, conferred by existing leases and covenants. In the event the Commission finds that such rights would be impaired, it may, notwithstanding any other provisions of this part, cancel the priority or priorities or take such other action as it deems appropriate.

§ 130.36 Limitation. (a) No person, married couple or transferee of a priority shall be entitled to purchase more than one parcel of residential property through the exercise of a priority.

DETERMINATIONS OF PRIORITY RIGHTS

§ 130.41 Determination of priorities. All priority rights shall be determined by the Commission and certified by it to the sales agency.

§ 130.42 Determination of conflicting claims for priority. (a) Conflicting claims between persons within the same priority class for priority to purchase a particular piece of property shall be determined in accordance with this section and §§ 130.43 through 130.47, as follows:

(1) Conflicting claims for priority to purchase residential property within the same priority group as a junior occupant, resident, or project-connected person, shall be resolved on the basis of seniority of employment in accordance with §§ 130.43 and 130.44.

(2) Conflicting claims for priority to purchase a duplex house by a senior occupant shall be resolved on the basis of seniority of occupancy in accordance with § 130.45.

(3) Conflicting claims for priority to purchase residential property as a retired former resident or inhabitant shall be resolved by the Commission by lot.

(4) Conflicting claims for priority to purchase property classified for commercial, industrial or nonprofit use shall be resolved as follows: From among the conflicting priority holders the Commission shall draw lots until all such priority holders have been ranked. The first name chosen shall have the first opportunity to purchase the property in question. In the event the person first chosen fails to exercise the priority within the time established by the sales agency or abandons the priority as provided in § 130.33, each succeeding priority holder in accordance with his ranking as determined by the drawing shall, subject to the same conditions, have a right to purchase the property in question.

(b) Except as provided in subparagraph (4) of paragraph (a) of this section and in §§ 130.51 to 130.510 all priority rights of unsuccessful claimants to purchase the particular piece of property which is the subject of conflicting claims shall lapse upon the determination by the Commission of the successful claimant.

§ 130.43 Determination of seniority of employment or service. Seniority of employment or service shall be determined as of the date any residential property was first offered for sale by adding the periods of employment or service of the claimant, whether or not consecutive, within the following categories:

(a) Employment or service periods of not less than four consecutive weeks at not less than 20 hours per week at the project area at Oak Ridge (in the case of a claim for priority at Oak Ridge) or Richland, (in the case of a claim for priority at Richland) of a claimant by or for:

(1) A contractor or lower tier contractor of the Commission;

(2) The Commission, the United States or any agency thereof (including the Armed Forces) or the State or any political subdivision or agency thereof;

(3) A school or hospital;

(4) Any professional, commercial, or industrial enterprise;

(5) A church or nonprofit organization.

(b) Self-employment periods of a claimant for a minimum of four consecutive weeks at not less than 20 hours per week at the project area at Oak Ridge (in the case of a claim for priority at Oak Ridge), or Hanford (in the case of a claim for priority at Hanford), in one of the capacities listed in subparagraphs (1) and (4) of paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Service in the Armed Services of the United States when claimant entered the Armed Services within 30 days after leaving any employment set forth in the definition of project-connected person.

§ 130.44 Evaluation of conflicting claims. In determining seniority of employment or service, the Commission shall apply the following rules:

(a) The first and last date of each period of employment or service shall be included.

(b) As between claimants employed or discharged at different times during the same day, no seniority of employment or service shall be granted to a claimant by virtue of being first employed or last discharged on such day.

(c) No deduction from periods of employment or service computed in accordance with § 130.48 shall be made for periods of employment or service off the project area when the claimant was or is maintained on and paid from a payroll of an employer located at the project area and such claimant was or is compensated for such period as an employee in travel status in accordance with the recognized practice of such employer.

(d) If a husband and wife exercise a priority in their joint names as provided in § 130.34, only the seniority of the husband or wife, whichever is greater, shall be counted.

(e) In the case of identical claims of seniority of employment or service, the successful claimant shall be determined by lot.

§ 130.45 Determination of seniority of occupancy of duplex houses. (a) In determining which of the occupants of a duplex house is the senior occupant,

(1) Occupancy of either dwelling unit in the house shall be counted in determining the period of continuous occupancy;

(2) Occupancy shall be determined by the effective date on which the occupant or a member of his family executed the initial lease or license agreement; and

(3) In the case of claimants whose initial lease or license bears the same effective date, determination shall be made by lot.

§ 130.46 Evidence. (a) Claimants shall support their claims to seniority by listing in the space and manner provided on the application prescribed by the Commission, all claimed periods of employment or service coming within § 130.43. The Commission, in determining seniority of a claimant, need not consider any employment or service unless the same is so listed.

(b) At the request of the Commission, any claimant shall furnish such evidence in support of his claim to priority or seniority, at such times and in such form, as the Commission shall specify. In the event of failure to furnish the specified evidence, at the time and in the form requested, the Commission may take such action as it deems appropriate, including the disallowance of the claim or part thereof to which such evidence relates.

§ 130.47 Commission examination. The Commission may make such independent examination of the submitted claims to priority or seniority as it deems appropriate.

APPEAL PROCEDURE

§ 130.51 Establishment of appeal boards. The Commission's Manager of Operations at each community shall establish an advisory board to consider appeals as to property at the community. The board may adopt such procedures, consistent with this part, as it deems appropriate to carry out its functions.

§ 130.52 Notice. (a) With respect to each offering of property to persons in a priority class, other than persons in the priority class granted by § 130.21 (a) (1), the Commission shall post, at one or more public places in the community, a notice stating the person whom the Commission has initially determined to be the successful priority applicant with regard to property offered for disposal.

(b) In all cases in which claims to seniority have been filed pursuant to § 130.43, the notice shall include the total period of seniority allowed by the Commission in making its initial determination.

(c) Upon request by any person whose claim to a priority or to seniority has been disallowed, in whole or in part, the Commission shall advise such person of the reasons for such disallowance.

§ 130.53 Appeal. (a) Appeals from the initial determinations of the Commission in cases coming within § 130.52 must be filed in writing with the Commission's Manager of Operations at the community not later than ten days after the posting of the notice referred to in § 130.51.

(b) Any person who had attempted to exercise a right of priority under § 130.21 (a) (1) within the time prescribed by the sales agency, and has been notified by the sales agency that his rights had not been certified by the Commission pursuant to § 130.41, may within ten days after the receipt of such notice, file an appeal in the manner prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Appeals shall specify the bases for the appeal and the nature of the evidence to be produced.

§ 130.54 Classes of appeals. (a) Appeals with respect to all priorities except those established for retired former residents and inhabitants and those established under § 130.22 shall be governed by §§ 130.55 to 130.58.

(b) Appeals with respect to priorities established under § 130.21 for retired former residents and inhabitants and to priorities established under § 130.22 shall be governed by § 130.59.

§ 130.55 Parties to appeal. Appeals in cases coming within § 130.54 (a) may be filed by any person if:

(a) Assuming the appellant were to prevail as to the matters stated in his appeal, he would have a superior claim to that of the successful claimant to the property in respect of which the appeal is filed; and

(b) The appellant is not the successful claimant to another property offered to the priority class in question.

§ 130.56 Grounds of appeal. A person eligible to file an appeal under § 130.55 may appeal as to one or more of the following issues:

(a) His right or the right of the successful claimant to a priority of the class to which the property has been offered;

(b) His period of occupancy or the period of occupancy of the successful claimant, in the case of occupants of duplex houses; and

(c) His periods of seniority of employment or service, or the periods of seniority of employment or service of the successful claimant.

§ 130.57 Recommended determination. In the case of appeals coming within § 130.54 (a) the Board may recommend:

(a) Dismissal of any appeal which is not in accordance with the provisions of this part or which is not supported by sufficient evidence;

(b) Affirmance of the initial determination; or

(c) Determination in favor of that one of the conflicting claimants to the property in question, whether or not such claimant has filed an appeal, whom it finds to be entitled to a priority to purchase the property in question: Provided, however, That the Board shall disregard all claims of persons who are the successful claimants to any other property offered to the priority class in question, and may disregard the claims of any person who fails to file within the time prescribed by the Board any appearance or evidence requested by the Board.

§ 130.58 Decision by Manager of Operations or his designee. The recommendation of the Board will be submitted to the Manager of Operations or his designee, and such Manager or designee shall determine the successful claimant to the property in question. The Manager or his designee may remand any matter to the Board for further consideration and recommendation prior to final determination.

§ 130.59 Appeals in cases determined by lot. (a) In cases coming within § 130.54 (b) any person may appeal if:

(1) Assuming the appellant were to prevail as to the matters stated in his appeal, he would establish that the successful claimant is not entitled to a priority of the class to which the property had been offered or that the appellant was improperly denied such a priority; and

(2) In cases of priorities for former retired residents or inhabitants, the appellant is not the successful claimant to another property offered to the priority class in question.

(b) If the Board determines that the person initially determined to be the successful claimant is not entitled to a priority of the class in question, it shall recommend that the initial determination be set aside.

(c) If the Manager or his designee determines that the initial determination shall be set aside, the commission shall:

(1) In the case of claims of retired former residents or inhabitants, resolve the remaining conflicting claims by lot, provided that the claims of persons who are the successful claimants as to any other property offered to the priority class in question shall be disregarded;

(2) In the case of claims under § 130.22, award the property to the next succeeding priority holder, according to his ranking.

(d) No appeal shall lie from a redetermination made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) If the Board determines that the appellant was improperly denied a priority of the class to which the property in question was offered, the Board shall so report to the Manager or his designee, who shall take such action as may appear equitable.

§ 130.60 Finality. An initial determination which is not appealed in accordance with this part and a determination or decision by the Manager of Operations or his designee shall be final.

Dated at Washington, D. C., this 14th day of November 1955.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

PART 717—HOLDING OF REFERENDA ON MARKETING QUOTAS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Basis and purpose. The amendments contained herein are issued pursuant to authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1301 to 1388). The amendments are for the purpose of clarifying the provisions governing the establishment of community referendum committees and of extending the regulations in this part to Puerto Rico.

Referendums with respect to the 1956 crops of upland cotton and extra long staple cotton are to be held on December 13, 1955, and it is, therefore, necessary that the proposed amendments be made effective at the earliest possible date. Accordingly, it is hereby found and determined that compliance with the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) pertaining to notice, public procedure, and effective date is impractical and that the amendments shall become effective upon the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

1. Section 717.2 is amended by striking out paragraph (b) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(b) Community referendum committees where one referendum is to be conducted. In each county with 100 or more farms on which there are producers who are eligible to vote in the referendum, the county committee shall designate a community referendum committee for each community or neighborhood in the county in which there are producers who are eligible to vote in the referendum. Each referendum committee shall consist of three members and one alternate chosen from among the farmers who reside in the community or neighborhood and who are eligible to vote in the referendum. The county committee shall name one member of the community referendum committee as chairman and another member thereof as vice chairman. The vice chairman shall act as the chairman in the event of the absence or incapacity of the chairman and the alternate shall serve on the committee in the place of any regular member who cannot serve. The community referendum committee shall be responsible for the proper holding of the referendum in its community or neighborhood by secret ballot in a fair, unbiased, and impartial manner in accordance with the regulations in this part. In counties with less than 100 farms on which there are producers who are eligible to vote in the referendum, the county shall be considered as one community for the purpose of the referendum and the county committee shall perform, in addition to its other duties, the duties of the community referendum committee unless, for any such county, the county committee and the State committee determine that one or more community referendum committees are necessary to the county for the proper holding of the referendum.

(c) Community referendum committees where two or more referendums are to be conducted. Where two or more referendums are to be held in the county on the same day, the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section shall be applicable except that (1) the total number of farms on which there are producers eligible to vote in any one or more of such referendums shall be used to determine whether there are 100 or more farms on which there are producers who are eligible to vote in the referendums, and (2) each community referendum committee shall consist of three members and one alternate chosen from among the farmers who reside in the community or neighborhood and who are eligible to vote in any of such referendums.

2. By adding a new § 717.14 to read as follows:

§ 717.14 Applicability of regulations to Puerto Rico. The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Caribbean Area Committee shall be in charge of and responsible for conducting in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico each referendum on marketing quotas for any commodity required by the Act. Insofar as applicable the ASC Caribbean Area Committee shall perform all the duties and assume all the responsibilities otherwise required of State and county committees as provided in the regulations in this part, except that (a) the Director, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Caribbean Area Office shall nominate for appointment the members and alternates to serve on community referendum committees and shall establish the boundaries of referendum communities or neighborhoods in such a manner that polling places therein will be conveniently located for the farmers eligible to vote in the referendum, and (b) following the canvass of the ballots as provided in § 717.10 the community referendum committee shall report the results of the referendum to the ASC Caribbean Area Committee.

(Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66, as amended, 7 U. S. C. 1375)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of November 1955.

Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

GENERAL

§ 722.1311 Basis and purpose. (a) The regulations contained in §§ 722.1311 to 722.1329 are issued pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and govern the establishment of State, county, and farm acreage allotments for the 1956 crop of extra long staple cotton and the determination of the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on individual farms in 1956. The Secretary of Agriculture proclaimed a national marketing quota and a national acreage allotment for the 1956 crop of extra long staple cotton on October 14, 1955 (20 F. R. 7807). The latest available statistics of the Federal Government are used in making the determinations required to be made in connection with §§ 722.1311 to 722.1329. Prior to preparing the regulations in §§ 722.1311 to 722.1329, public notice was given (20 F. R. 6388) in accordance with section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003). The data, views, and recommendations which were submitted in response to such notice have been duly considered within the limits permitted by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

(b) In order that the State and county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees may establish farm acreage allotments as early as possible prior to the extra long staple cotton referendum, which shall be held on December 13, 1955, it is essential that the regulations in §§ 722.1311 to 722.1329 be made effective as soon as possible. Accordingly, it is hereby determined and found that compliance with the 30-day effective date provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and such regulations shall be effective upon filing of this document with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

§ 722.1312 Definitions. As used in §§ 722.1311 to 722.1329 and in all forms and documents in connection therewith, unless the context or subject matter otherwise requires, the following terms shall have the following meanings and the masculine shall include the feminine and neuter genders and the singular shall include the plural number:

(s) "Normal yield" means the average yield per acre of extra long staple lint cotton for the farm, adjusted for abnormal weather conditions, during the five calendar years immediately preceding the year in which such normal yield is determined. If for any such year the data are not available or there was no actual yield, then the normal yield for the farm shall be appraised by the county committee, taking into consideration abnormal weather conditions, the normal yield for the county, and the yield in years for which data are available. The normal yield for a new ELS cotton farm shall be that yield per acre which the county committee determines is normal for the farm as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to soil and other physical factors affecting the production of extra long staple cotton.

(x) "Acreage planted to extra long staple cotton":

(1) State. The acreages of extra long staple cotton to be used in establishing State acreage allotments are as follows:

(i) For 1950, 1951, and 1952. The official planted acreage of extra long staple cotton, as determined by the Agricultural Marketing Service (formerly the Bureau of Agricultural Economics) of the United States Department of Agriculture.

(ii) For 1953. The measured acreages of extra long staple cotton for all farms in the State, as determined in accordance with official instructions.

(iii) For 1954. The measured acreages of extra long staple cotton for all farms in the State, as determined for purposes of the 1954 extra long staple cotton marketing quota program, and adjusted according to the provisions of subsections (g) (3), (i), and (m) (2) of section 344 of the act.

(2) County. The acreages of extra long staple cotton to be used in establishing county acreage allotments are as follows:

(i) For 1950, 1951, and 1952. The official planted acreages of extra long staple cotton, as determined by the Agricultural Marketing Service (formerly the Bureau of Agricultural Economics) of the United States Department of Agriculture.

(ii) For 1953. The measured acreage of extra long staple cotton for all farms in the county, as determined in accordance with official instructions.

(iii) For 1954. The measured acreages of extra long staple cotton for all farms in the county, as determined for purposes of the 1954 extra long staple cotton marketing quota program, and adjusted according to the provisions of subsections (g) (3), (i), and (m) (2) of section 344 of the act.

(3) Farm (1953, 1954, 1955). For purposes of establishing farm acreage allotments for the 1956 crop of extra long staple cotton, the acreage planted to such cotton on a farm means the acreage of land planted to extra long staple cotton for the years 1953, 1954, and 1955, which shall be determined as follows:

(i) For 1953. The acreage of extra long staple cotton measured in accordance with official instructions.

(ii) For 1954 and 1955. The acreage of extra long staple cotton measured for purposes of the 1954 and 1955 extra long staple cotton marketing quota programs, and adjusted, as provided in subsections (g) (3), (i), and (m) (2) of section 344 of the act.

(4) Farm (1956). For purposes of determining compliance with the farm acreage allotment, the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on a farm in 1956 shall be the acreage of land seeded to such cotton on the farm in 1956, excluding any acreage in excess of the farm acreage allotment which (i) is destroyed by causes beyond the producer's control prior to the expiration of the period established under subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph for disposing of excess extra long staple cotton acreage, or (ii) is disposed of not later than 20 days, or such longer period as is approved in writing by the county committee, in accordance with § 722.1325 after the original notice of the measured acreage of extra long staple cotton is mailed to the farm operator.

(y) "Abnormal weather conditions" means weather conditions (including conditions directly resulting therefrom) adversely affecting the planting of extra long staple cotton, which conditions must have been of sufficient duration and intensity to prevent the seeding of land to extra long staple cotton and must have continued until the end of the planting season for the area. In apportioning the national acreage allotment to States in accordance with § 722.1315, adjustments for abnormal weather conditions are made in the acreages planted to extra long staple cotton in the States on the basis of recommendations of the State committees and official statitsics and studies of the Department of Agriculture. In apportioning the State acreage allotment among counties in accordance with § 722.1316 (b), adjustments for abnormal weather conditions are made in the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton in counties on the basis of recommendations of the State committee and official statistics and studies of the Department of Agriculture. Any such adjustment in the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton in a State or county is the amount established by reference to available information and data as the net reduction of planted acreage in the State or county attributable solely to abnormal weather conditions. Such adjustments for abnormal weather conditions take into consideration failure to seed extra long staple cotton because of abnormal weather conditions.

(z) "Cropland" means farmland which in 1955 was tilled or was in regular crop-rotation, excluding (1) bearing orchards and vineyards (except the acreage or cropland therein), (2) plowable noncrop open pasture, and (3) any land which constitutes or will constitute, if tillage is continued, a wind erosion hazard to the community.

§ 722.1313 Issuance of forms and instructions. The Director shall cause to be prepared such forms and instructions with respect to internal management as are necessary for carrying out these regulations. The forms shall be issued by the Director with the approval of the Deputy Administrator, and the instructions shall be issued by the Deputy Administrator. Copies of such forms and instructions shall be furnished free to persons needing them upon request made to the office of the State or county committee or to the Director.

§722.1314 Extent of calculations and rule of fractions. The acreages planted to extra long staple cotton on farms and farm acreage allotments shall be computed to three places beyond the decimal point and rounded to tenths of acres. Fractions of fifty-one thousandths of an acre or more shall be rounded upward, and fractions of less than fifty-one thousandths of an acre shall be dropped. For example, 10.051 would be 10.1 and 10.050 would be 10.0.

STATE AND COUNTY ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

§ 722.1315 Apportionment of national acreage allotment among States. The National acreage allotment proclaimed for the 1956 crop of extra long staple cotton, is apportioned among the States (including Puerto Rico) on the basis of the average acreage planted to extra long staple cotton in each such State for the years 1950, 1951, 1952, 1953, and 1954, with adjustments in such acreages for abnormal weather conditions. The acreage allotted to a State pursuant to the provisions of this section is referred to herein as the "State acreage allotment". The State acreage allotment for each State for the 1956 crop of extra long staple cotton is as follows:

State:	State acreage allotments
Arizona	18,433
California	291
Florida	559
Georgia	120
New Mexico	8,424
Puerto Rico	1,708
Texas	15,770
United States, total	45,305

§ 722.1316 Apportionment of State acreage allotment among counties—(a) Establishment of State acreage reserve. The State committee shall determine the percentage of the State acreage allotment which is needed for the purposes of subparagraphs (1) through (5) of paragraph (c) of this section and shall set aside a total State acreage reserve of not more than 10 percent of the State acreage allotment, and not less than 3 percent of the State acreage allotment unless, on the basis of the needs of the State, the State committee recommends a smaller acreage reserve than 3 percent of the State acreage allotment and the Administrator of the Commodity Stabilization Service approves such recommendation.

(b) Computed county acreage allotments. The State acreage allotment for the 1956 crop of extra long staple cotton, less the State acreage reserve established pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section shall be apportioned to the following counties designated pursuant to section 347 (a) of the act: Cochise, Graham, Greenlee, Maricopa, Mohave, Pima, Pinal, Santa Cruz, and Yuma Counties, Arizona; Imperial and Riverside Counties, California; Alachua, Bradford, Columbia, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lake, Madison, Marion, Orange, Putnam, Seminole, Sumter, Suwanee, Union, and Volusia Counties, Florida; Atkinson, Berrien, Cook, and Lanier Counties, Georgia; Dona Ana, Eddy, Luna, Otero, and Sierra Counties, New Mexico; the North Area and the South Area in Puerto Rico; and Brewster, Culberson, El Paso, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell, and Ward Counties, Texas. Such apportionment is made on the basis of the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton in 1950, 1951, 1952, 1953, and 1954 (herein referred to as the "base years"), with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions during such years. The acreage allotted to a county pursuant to the provisions of this paragraph is herein referred to as the "computed county acreage allotment." The extra long staple cotton producing areas located in the northern part of Puerto Rico shall be considered as a county and the cotton producing areas located in the southern part of Puerto Rico shall be considered as a county.

(c) Use of State acreage reserve. The State acreage reserve established under paragraph (a) of this section shall be used by the State committee for any one or more of the purposes set forth in subparagraphs (1) through (5) of this paragraph.

(1) To adjust computed county acreage allotments for trends in the acreage of extra long staple cotton. A part or all of the State acreage reserve may be used by the State committee, as determined to be necessary, to adjust the computed county acreage allotments for trends in the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton in the counties during recent years (the period of years may include the year 1955 but shall not include the year 1949). The State committee may determine such adjustments by use of a formula which shall be applied uniformly to each county in the State.

(2) To adjust computed county acreage allotments for counties adversely affected by abnormal conditions affecting plantings of extra long staple cotton. A part or all of the State acreage reserve may be used by the State committee, as determined to be necessary, to adjust the computed county acreage allotments for abnormal conditions adversely affecting plantings in the counties during the base years. The State committee shall examine the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton in the county in each of the base years to determine whether the acreage planted may have been adversely affected by abnormal conditions. In determining whether an adjustment should be made for abnormal conditions adversely affecting plantings in a county, the State committee shall take into consideration the following factors: (i) abnormal weather conditions, such as floods and droughts during the planting season which caused plantings during such season to be abnormally low in comparison with normal; (ii) conditions in counties in which a number of farms are being returned to extra long staple cotton production or are increasing the acreage in such cotton after having been out of production or having been on a reduced level of extra long staple cotton production because such farms were used to a larger extent than normal in connection with air bases, defense plants and other wartime activities; (iii) abnormal reduction in planted acreage of extra long staple cotton because of an unusual movement of labor from farms in the area or county to war industries or into the armed forces and the return of such labor as compared with such movements in other counties; and (iv) any other abnormal conditions which adversely affected plantings in the county to a greater extent than in other counties. In determining any adjustment under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph for abnormal weather conditions the State committee shall take into consideration any adjustment made for abnormal weather conditions pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(3) To make adjustments in acreage allotments for small farms. The State committee shall determine the acreage, if any, which is required from the State acreage reserve to supplement that part of the county acreage reserves established as provided for in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of § 722.1317 (e) to adjust indicated farm acreage allotments for old ELS cotton farms established at 15 acres or less under paragraph (c) or (d) of § 722.1317. The State committee shall determine the acreage, if any, to be made available to a county for the purposes of this subparagraph and such acreage shall be used by the county committee only for adjustments in small farm allotments.

(4) To establish 1956 acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms. Where the State committee determines that the needs for acreage to establish acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms are generally uniform in counties throughout the State, the State committee shall determine whether all the acreage required to establish acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms shall be provided from the State acreage reserve or the county acreage reserve, or from both such reserves. In determining the source of acreage for new ELS cotton farms the State committee shall take into consideration the acreage requirements determined for such farms from the county surveys, if available, as provided for in § 722.1317 (e) (3). Where it is determined by the State committee that the entire county acreage reserve for any county is needed for making adjustments pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of § 722.1317 (e), the State committee shall consider establishing an acreage from the State acreage reserve to supplement the acreage, if any, set aside by the county committee from the county acreage reserve for establishing acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms. In determining the estimated acreage to be set aside for establishing acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms on the basis of the factors set forth in § 722.1317 (e) (3), the State committee shall take into consideration the experience of State and county committees in establishing acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms under previous acreage allotment programs and any other available information. The acreage made available to any county under this subparagraph shall be used by the county committee only for new ELS cotton farms.

(5) To correct inequities in farm allotments and to prevent hardship. The State committee shall determine the acreage required from the State acreage reserve to supplement that part of the county acreage reserve established, as provided for in § 722.1317 (e) (4), for making adjustments in farm acreage allotments to correct inequities and to prevent hardship.

(d) Availability of data for inspection. The following shall be on file and shall be available in the office of the State committee for examination by any interested producer of extra long staple cotton: (1) The amount of the State acreage reserve; (2) the formula, if any, and data developed and used under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraph (c) of this section; and (3) the total acreage set aside from the State acreage reserve for the purposes set forth in subparagraphs (3), (4), and (5) of paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) County acreage allotment. The county acreage allotment shall be the sum of (1) the computed county acreage allotment determined under paragraph (b) of this section, and (2) the acreages from the State acreage reserve which are added to the computed county acreage allotment under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraph (c) of this section. This paragraph will be amended at a later date to include the county acreage allotment established for each county.

(f) Administrative areas. If the county committee with the approval of the State committee, or if the State committee, determines with respect to a county in which farm acreage allotments are to be established under § 722.1317 (c) that, because of different conditions pertaining to the production of extra long staple cotton in separate areas of the county, including differences in types, kinds, and productivity of the soil, different areas of the county should be treated separately in order to prevent discrimination, each such area shall be designated as an administrative area and, insofar as practicable, each such area shall be treated as a county in determining the acreage allotment for the area and in establishing farm acreage allotments.

(g) Apportionment of excess released acreage to counties. The acreage allotment surrendered to the State committee pursuant to § 722.1317 (j) shall be apportioned by the State committee to counties on the basis of trends in acreage, abnormal conditions adversely affecting plantings, or for small or new farms or to correct inequities in farm allotments and to prevent hardship.

ESTABLISHMENT OF FARM ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

§ 722.1317 Apportionment of county acreage allotment—(a) Determination of method to be used in apportioning county acreage allotment among farms. Section 344 (f) (2) of the act provides that the county acreage allotment, less the county acreage reserve, shall be allotted to farms by multiplying the adjusted cropland for each old ELS cotton farm by a uniform county (or administrative area) cropland factor (this method of establishing allotments will be referred to herein as the "cropland basis"). Section 344 (f) (6) of the act provides that if the county committee so recommends and the Secretary determines that such action will result in a more equitable distribution of the county allotment among farms in the county than would be the case if the cropland basis were used, the county acreage allotment, less the county acreage reserve, shall be apportioned to old ELS cotton farms on the basis of the acreage planted to such cotton on the farm during the preceding three years, adjusted as may be necessary for abnormal conditions affecting plantings (this method will be referred to herein as the "historical basis"). The county committee shall study these two methods of apportioning the county acreage allotment among farms and determine which method should be used in order to establish equitable allotments for farms in the county. If the county committee determines that farm acreage allotments should be determined on the historical basis, its recommendation to that effect should be forwarded to the State committee for transmittal to the Deputy Administrator. When § 722.1316 (e) is amended to include the county acreage allotment established for each county, the Secretary will designate the basis on which farm acreage allotments are to be established in the county.

(b) Determination of county acreage reserve. The county committee shall establish a county acreage reserve of not in excess of 15 percent of the county acreage allotment which may be used to adjust indicated farm acreage allotments for old ELS cotton farms determined under paragraph (c) or (d) of this section and to establish acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms under paragraph (e) (3) of this section. The county acreage reserve shall be not less than five percent of the county acreage allotment unless the county committee recommends a smaller acreage reserve and the State committee gives its approval. Any approval of a smaller acreage reserve shall be based upon a showing that such acreage is adequate, on the basis of the factors set forth in paragraph (e) of this section, to make necessary adjustments in indicated allotments for old ELS cotton farms and to establish allotments for new ELS cotton farms. The county acreage reserve approved by the State committee shall be not less than three percent of the county acreage allotment, except that the Deputy Administrator may approve a smaller reserve for a county if he finds that three percent of the county acreage allotment would provide more acreage for adjustments and establishing new farm allotments than is needed in the county.

(c) Indicated acreage allotments for old ELS cotton farms in counties where farm acreage allotments are determined on the cropland basis. If farm acreage allotments are to be determined in the county on the cropland basis, the county acreage allotment, less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, shall be used to determine indicated allotments for old ELS cotton farms as follows:

(1) Determination of adjusted cropland. The county committee shall determine an adjusted cropland acreage for each old ELS cotton farm by deducting from the cropland on the farm the sum of the following acreages:

(i) The 1955 acreage of surgarcane for sugar or for syrup and sugar beets for sugar;

(ii) The 1955 acreage of tobacco for market (or the 1955 farm acreage allotment, if any, for the applicable type of tobacco if the 1955 acreage has not been determined);

(iii) The 1955 acreage of peanuts picked and threshed, as adjusted by the county committee for abnormal conditions affecting such acreage;

(iv) The 1955 wheat acreage for market (including the acreage of wheat for feeding to livestock for market). In States in the commercial wheat-producing area for 1956, if the 1955 wheat acreage on the farm was reduced substantially below the 1955 farm wheat acreage allotment because of adverse weather conditions, the acreage to be deducted shall be the 1956 wheat allotment for the farm (less the acreage determined by the county committee to be used on the farm for home use other than for feeding to livestock for market). In the counties designated in subdivision (vi) of this subparagraph, the deduction for wheat acreage shall be limited to the acreage by which the deduction which otherwise would be made under this subdivision exceeds the acreage deducted under subdivision (vi) of this subparagraph;

(v) The acreage planted to rice in 1955 for market (including the acreage of rice for feeding to livestock for market), plus the acreage of other riceland on the farm for which water is available and which is not used for the production of extra long staple cotton under the rotation system for the farm; and

(vi) In Cochise, Graham, Greenlee, Maricopa, Mohave, Pima, Pinal, Santa Cruz, and Yuma Counties, Arizona; and in Imperial and Riverside Counties, California; and in Dona Ana, Eddy, Luna, Otero, and Sierra Counties, New Mexico; and in Brewster, Culberson, El Paso, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell, and Ward Counties, Texas, the acreage of cropland in excess of that acreage for which irrigation water is normally available and adequate from available facilities for the production of irrigated crops during the cotton-producing season (seeding to maturity).

(2) Determination of county cropland factors. The first county cropland factor shall be computed by dividing (i) the county acreage allotment (less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section) by (ii) the total of the adjusted cropland acreage determined for old ELS cotton farms in the county under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. Second and additional county cropland factors shall be determined, if necessary, by dividing (i) the available county acreage allotment remaining after maximum indicated farm acreage allotments, as defined in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph have been determined for such old ELS cotton farms by (ii) the total of the adjusted cropland acreages determined for old ELS cotton farms in the county under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, which under the preceding factor were not affected by the maximum allotment provision. The last county (or administrative area) cropland factor computed and applied shall be referred to herein as the "final county cropland factor."

(3) Indicated farm acreage allotment. An indicated acreage allotment shall be computed for each old ELS cotton farm under this paragraph by multiplying the adjusted cropland for each such farm by the applicable county cropland factor except that (i) the maximum indicated acreage allotment for any such farm shall not exceed the highest acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955.

(d) Indicated acreage allotments for old ELS cotton farms in counties where farm acreage allotments are determined on the historical basis pursuant to section 344 (f) (6) of the act. In counties where the county committee recommends that the county acreage allotment, less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, be apportioned among farms for the year 1956 on the historical basis and the Deputy Administrator approves such recommendation, indicated allotments for old ELS cotton farms shall be determined by multiplying the allotment base for the farm by a factor determined by dividing the total of all such allotment bases into the county acreage allotment (less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section): Provided, That, if the county committee so elects, any such indicated farm acreage allotment shall not exceed an acreage equal to 50 percent of the cropland on the farm, and any part of the county acreage allotment not apportioned by reason of the application of such 50 percent limitation shall be added to the county acreage reserve established under paragraph (b) of this section and shall be available for the purposes specified in paragraph (e) of this section. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term "allotment base" means the average of the acreages planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm during each of the three years 1953, 1954, and 1955 (sum of the acreages divided by three), with such adjustment in the acreage for any year as may be necessary for abnormal conditions affecting plantings. Adjustments for abnormal conditions affecting plantings will be made by the county committee on the basis of data and information available in the county office records or furnished by producers on the farm.

(e) Use of county acreage reserve. The county acreage reserve shall be used by the county committee as follows:

(1) Adjustments in indicated farm acreage allotments of 15 acres or less. Not less than 20 percent of the county acreage reserve shall, to the extent required, be used by the county committee to adjust indicated farm acreage allotments determined under paragraph (c) or (d) of this section to be 15 acres or less. Such adjustments shall be made so as to establish acreage allotments which are fair and reasonable in relation to the acreage allotments established for similar farms in the community, taking into consideration for the farm the acreages planted to extra long staple cotton in 1953, 1954, and 1955; the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of such cotton; crop-rotation practices; the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of such cotton; and abnormal conditions of production. The county committee shall not make adjustments under this subparagraph so as to cause an acreage allotment to be established for any such farm (i) in excess of the acreage which could be planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm in 1956 consistent with sound crop-rotation practices followed in the community, (ii) in excess of the acreage which can be farmed with the labor and equipment currently or normally available on the farm, or (iii) which would cause extra long staple cotton to be planted on land unsuited for the production of such cotton.

(2) Adjustments in indicated acreage allotments for other farms. The remainder of the acreage in the county acreage reserve, after meeting or determining the requirements under subparagraphs (1), (3) and (4) of this paragraph, shall be used by the county committee to adjust indicated farm acreage allotments which are more than 15 acres. Such adjustments shall be made so as to establish acreage allotments which are fair and reasonable in relation to the acreage allotments established for similar farms in the community, taking into consideration for the farm the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of extra long staple cotton; crop-rotation practices; the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of such cotton; and abnormal conditions of production. In the absence of specific data relating to the labor and equipment available for the production of extra long staple cotton and to the crop-rotation practices followed on a farm, the county committee may consider the acreage planted to such cotton on the farm in 1953, 1954, or 1955 as reflecting such factors and use such acreage as the basis for adjusting the indicated farm acreage allotment under this subparagraph. The county committee shall not make adjustments under this subparagraph so as to cause an acreage allotment to be established for any such farm (i) in excess of the acreage of extra long staple cotton which could be planted on the farm in 1956 consistent with sound crop-rotation practices followed in the community, (ii) in excess of the acreage which can be farmed with the labor and equipment currently or normally available on the farm, or (iii) which would cause extra long staple cotton to be planted on land unsuited for the production of such cotton.

(3) Acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms—(i) Determination of acreage needed for establishing acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms. The county committee, with the assistance of the community committees, shall estimate from county office records and other available sources of information the number of new ELS cotton farms in the county. In counties where farm acreage allotments are established on the cropland basis, an estimate shall be made of the adjusted cropland acreage for new ELS cotton farms; and in counties where farm allotments are established on the historical basis, an estimate shall be made of the cropland on new ELS cotton farms. Such estimates shall be used by the State and county committees as a basis for determining the acreage that will be required for establishing acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms. In determining the acreage from the county acre reserve which is to be used for establishing acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms, the county committee shall taken into consideration the acreage, if any, to be made available from the State acreage reserve pursuant to subparagraph (4) of § 722.1316 (c) for establishing acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms. The total acreage reserved for establishing allotments for new ELS cotton farms in the county, including any acreage allocated to the county for new ELS cotton farms from the State acreage reserve, shall not exceed 75 percent of the total of the farm acreage allotments which the county committee estimates will be determined for the same number of old ELS farms in the county which are similar except for the acreages planted to extra long staple cotton during the years 1953, 1954, and 1955.

(ii) Eligibility of a new ELS cotton farm for a farm acreage allotment. An acreage allotment for extra long staple cotton for a new ELS cotton farm may be established by the county committee if each of the following conditions is met:

(a) An application for an acreage allotment is filed by the farm operator with the county committee by the closing date established by the State committee. In no event is the closing date to be earlier than February 15, 1956 (January 15, 1956, in Puerto Rico).

(b) The farm operator is largely dependent on income from the farm for his livelihood.

(c) The farm is the only farm in the county which is owned or operated by the farm operator or farm owner for which an acreage allotment for extra long staple cotton is established for 1956.

(iii) Establishment of acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms. If the applicant's farm is eligible for an acreage allotment for extra long staple cotton, such allotment shall be established by the county committee on the basis of land, labor, and equipment available for the production of extra long staple cotton; crop-rotation practices; and the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of such cotton. The acreage allotment so determined for any such farm shall not exceed the smallest of (a) the acreage allotment established for old ELS cotton farms in the county which are similar with respect to the foregoing factors, (b) the acreage allotment requested by the applicant, and (c) the indicated allotments established pursuant to paragraph (c) or (d) of this section for old ELS cotton farms in the county which are similar except for the acreages planted to extra long staple cotton during the years 1953, 1954, and 1955. The sum of the acreage allotments determined by the county committee for new ELS cotton farms shall not exceed the acreage reserves available for such farms in the county under this subparagraph. The acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms shall be subject to review and approval by the State committee, as provided in § 722.1328.

(4) Adjustments in farm acreage allotments to correct inequities and to prevent hardship. The county committee shall determine the acreage requirefrom the county reserve to supplement any acreage allocated to the county from the State acreage reserve to correct inequities in farm allotments and to prevent hardship. Such reserve shall be used by the county committee where it determines that the farm acreage allotment established under other provisions of this section is inequitable or that such allotment would work undue hardship on the producers on the farm. Such reserve may also be used for establishing and adjusting farm acreage allotments as provided in paragraph (h) of this section.

(f) Use of acreage allocated to county from State acreage reserve for adjusting allotments for small farms. The acreage allocated to a county from the State acreage reserve for small farms shall be used by the county committee to adjust indicated farm acreage allotments of 15 acres and less for old ELS cotton farms on the basis of the factors set forth in paragraph (e) (1) of this section for adjusting small farm allotments.

(g) Allocation of reserve acreage by use of mathematical formula or rule. Any mathematical formula or rule adopted by the county committee for use in calculating the amount of acreage to be allocated to an individual farm from the acreage reserves provided for in paragraphs (e) and (f) of this section shall be subject to the approval of the State committee.

(h) Allotments for late and reconstituted farms and correction of errors. The acreage reserve provided for in paragraph (e) (4) of this section shall be used by the county committee for the purposes specified therein and also for establishing allotments for old ELS cotton farms for which allotments were not established at the time allotments were originally established for old ELS cotton farms in the county because of oversight on the part of the county committee or because the county committee had no information or data with respect to acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm in 1953, 1954, and 1955, for correcting errors in farm acreage allotments, and for use in establishing acreage allotments for farms which are divided or combined for 1956. Where reconstitutions of farms are made for 1956 after farm acreage allotments for 1956 are established prior to the referendum, the extra long staple cotton acreage histories and the acreage allotments for all such reconstituted farms shall be established as provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

(1) If land which was constituted as a single farm for the year 1955 is divided into two or more tracts for 1956:

(i) The acreages planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm in 1953, 1954, and 1955 (as defined in § 722.1312 (x) and as shown in Col. (2), Cotton Table 2 of the county committee's farm cotton acreage record) shall be divided among the tracts in proportion to the acreage of cropland on each tract, except that upon agreement by the owners and operators and approval by the county committee the acreages normally considered as riceland, wheatland and sugarcane land may be excluded from the cropland on each tract in apportioning the extra long staple cotton acreage history among the tracts: Provided, That, if two or more tracts of land were combined for 1954 or for 1955 to form the single farm and the single farm is divided for 1956, the extra long staple cotton acreage history for any year in the farm base period prior to the combination which was contributed by each tract to the history for the single farm will be restored to such tract; and if any such tract is divided into two or more parts in connection with a reconstitution for 1956 the extra long staple cotton acreage history for such tract for any year in the farm base period prior to the combination shall be divided among such parts in proportion to the acreage of cropland in each such part, except that, upon agreement by the owners and operators and approval by the county committee, the acreages normally considered as riceland, wheatland and sugarcane land may be excluded from the cropland in apportioning the extra long staple cotton acreage history for the tract among the parts.

(ii) In counties where farm acreage allotments are determined on the historical basis, if the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton in 1953, 1954, or 1955 is adjusted for abnormal conditions affecting plantings, as provided in § 722.1317 (d), such adjusted acreage shall be divided among the tracts as follows:

(a) For any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955 when the farm being divided was operated as a single farm, the cropland ratio determined under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph shall be used in apportioning such adjusted extra long staple cotton acreage among the tracts.

(b) In case the farm being divided was established by combining two or more tracts of land for 1954 or for 1955, each such tract shall be referred to herein as an "identical tract", and the adjusted extra long staple cotton acreage for 1953 (in case of a combination for 1954) or for 1953 and 1954 (in case of a combination for 1955) shall be divided among the identical tracts as follows:

(1) Where any such adjustment in the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton was made prior to the combination and the adjusted extra long staple cotton acreage for that year for the combined farm which was used in establishing the original 1956 farm acreage allotment is the same as when the combination was made, the adjusted extra long staple cotton acreage which was used for the identical tract in making the combination shall be reestablished for the tract for that year.

(2) Where any such adjustment in the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton was made prior to the combination and the adjusted extra long staple cotton acreage for that year for the combined farm which was used in establishing the original 1956 farm acreage allotment is less than when the combination was made, the adjustment for each identical tract in making the combination shall be reduced by the same percentage that the adjustment previously applicable for the combined farm was reduced.

(3) Where any such adjustment (upward) for any year for the combined farm which was used in establishing the original 1956 farm acreage allotment is larger than the adjustment in effect at the time the combination was made, the county committee shall determine the share of the increase in the adjustment which is to be assigned to each identical tract on the basis of the conditions obtaining on the tract which were the cause for the increase and shall add its share of such increase to the adjusted extra long staple cotton acreage determined for each such tract for that year prior to the combination.

(4) Where any such adjustment (upward) in the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton in a year prior to the combination was initially made in establishing the original 1956 farm acreage allotment, the county committee shall determine the share of the adjustment which is to be assigned to each identical tract and shall add its share of such increase to the planted extra long staple cotton acreage for each such tract for that year.

(5) If, in establishing the original 1956 farm acreage allotment for a farm which was established by combining two or more tracts of land for 1954 or for 1955, the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on the combined farm was adjusted downward for abnormal conditions affecting plantings, the county committee shall determine the share of the adjustment which is to be assigned to each identical tract and make a corresponding reduction in the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on such tract for that year.

(c) Where an identical tract is divided, the adjusted extra long staple cotton acreage for that year for the identical tract shall be divided among the tracts thereof in proportion to the acreage of cropland on each such tract, except that upon agreement by the owners and operators and approval by the county committee the acreages normally considered as riceland, wheatland, and sugarcane land may be excluded from the cropland on each tract in apportioning the adjusted extra long staple cotton acreage for the identical tract among the tracts thereof.

(iii) In counties where farm acreage allotments are determined on the cropland basis the 1956 farm acreage allotment established for the single farm shall be apportioned among the tracts on the basis of the cropland used or which would be used for each such tract in apportioning the 1955 extra long staple cotton acreage among the tracts pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(iv) In counties where farm acreage allotments are determined on the historical basis the 1956 farm acreage allotment established for the single farm shall be apportioned among the tracks in proportion to the allotment bases determined for such tracts.

(v) The sum of the 1956 allotments established for the several tracts shall not exceed the 1956 acreage allotment initially established for the single farm, except that the allotment determined under the foregoing provisions of this subparagraph for any farm consisting of such a tract or of which such a tract becomes a part may be (a) adjusted by the county committee with the reserve available to correct inequities and to prevent hardship, and (b) increased with released acreage available to the county committee under paragraphs (j) and (k) of this section.

(2) If two or more tracts of land are combined and operated as a single farm in 1956 the allotment established for such single farm shall be the sum of the allotments established for such tracts, except that the allotment for such single farm shall not exceed the maximum farm allotment if such allotment limitation is in effect in the county: Provided, That the allotment determined for such single farm under the foregoing provisions of this subparagraph may be (i) adjusted by the county committee with the reserve available to correct inequities and to prevent hardship and (ii) increased with released acreage available to the county committee under paragraphs (j) and (k) of this section.

(i) Availability of reserves for inspection by interested producers. The allocations to the county from the State acreage reserve and the total amount and the distribution of the county acreage reserve shall be available in the office of the county committee for examination by any interested producer.

(j) Release and reapportionment of extra long staple cotton acreage allotments. Any part of any 1956 farm acreage allotment which will not be used in 1956 and which is voluntarily released to the county committee by the farm owner or operator by the applicable closing date shall be deducted from the farm acreage allotment and may be reapportioned by the county committee not later than the applicable closing date to other farms receiving farm acreage allotments in the same county in amounts determined by the county committee to be fair and reasonable on the basis of past acreages of extra long staple cotton, land, labor, and equipment available for the production of extra long staple cotton, crop-rotation practices, and soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of such cotton. The State committee shall establish closing dates for purposes of the foregoing provisions for the entire State or for areas in the State if there is a substantial difference in planting dates for different areas in the State. The closing date so established for releasing farm acreage allotments shall be the date on which the planting of extra long staple cotton normally becomes general on farms in the State or area, and the closing date so established for reapportionment of such released acreage to other farms in the same county shall be the latest date on which extra long staple cotton can normally be planted on farms in the State or area with reasonable expectation of producing an average crop. If all of the allotted acreage voluntarily released is not needed in the county, the county committee may surrender the excess acreage to the State committee for reapportionment to counties as provided in § 722.1316 (g). Any farm acreage allotment released for 1956 only shall, in determining future farm acreage allotments, be regarded as having been planted on the farm from which such allotment was released if extra long staple cotton was planted on such farm in at least one of the years in the three-year farm base period, except that acreage released by the owner or operator of a new ELS cotton farm will not be regarded as planted on such farm unless a part of such allotment is retained and extra long staple cotton is planted on the farm in 1956. Any part of any farm acreage allotment may be permanently released in writing to the county committee by the owner and operator of the farm, and reapportioned as provided in this paragraph. In determining future farm acreage allotments, the planting in 1956 of reapportioned acreage allotments shall not be considered. For the purpose of determining future State and county acreage allotments, reapportioned acreage will be credited to the State and to the county in which such acreage was planted. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, the county committee shall not accept a release of a farm acreage allotment permanently or for 1956 only, if (1) such release is opposed by the owner or operator or the holder of a real estate lien on the farm, or (2) the county committee determines that the farm is being acquired for governmental or other public purposes.

(k) Apportionment of surrendered acreage allocated to county by State committee. The acreage apportioned to the county under paragraph (g) of § 722.1316 may be used by the county committee for establishing and adjusting farm acreage allotments for new ELS cotton farms or small farms or to correct inequities and to prevent hardship in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (e) and (f) of this section.

(b) Conditions under which production is exempted from penalty. The marketing penalty shall not apply to the marketing of any extra long staple cotton of the 1956 crop which is grown, for experimental purposes only, on a farm operated by a publicly-owned agricultural experiment station and produced at public expense by employees of the experiment station. Where the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on a farm operated by a publicly-owned agricultural experiment station is in excess of the farm acreage allotment, the acreage used for determining the marketing excess, if any, for the farm shall be the smaller of (1) the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm in excess of the farm acreage allotment, or (2) the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm which is not for experimental purposes. Also, the marketing penalty shall not apply to extra long staple cotton produced for experimental purposes on other land by a person pursuant to a written agreement with a publicly-owned agricultural experiment station whereby the experiment station bears the costs and risks incident to the production of the extra long staple cotton and the proceeds from the crop inure to the benefit of the experiment station and such agreement is approved by the State committee. Such approval will be given if the State committee finds that the agreement conforms to the requirements of this subparagraph.

FARM MARKETING QUOTA AND FARM MARKETING EXCESS

§ 722.1319 Notice of farm acreage allotment and marketing quota. Immediately after farm acreage allotments in a county or other local administrative area are established and approved by the State committee pursuant to § 722.1328 (a), the county committee shall mail to the operator of each such farm a written notice of the farm acreage allotment and marketing quota for the farm. The county committee shall also mail to the operator of each new ELS cotton farm for which application for an allotment is made but for which it is determined that no farm acreage allotment and marketing quota will be established, a similar written notice showing "None" as the acreage allotment and marketing quota established for the farm. The notice shall contain at or near the top thereof the following statement: "To all persons who as operator, landlord, tenant, or sharecroper will be interested in the extra long staple cotton produced on the farm for which this acreage allotment and marketing quota are established". Notice so given shall constitute notice to all such persons. Such notice shall also contain a brief statement of the procedure whereby application for review of the marketing quota may be made under section 363 of the act. A copy of each notice, containing a notation thereon of the date of mailing the notice to the operator of the farm, shall be kept among the permanent records of the county committee, and upon request a copy thereof, duly certified as a true and correct copy, shall be furnished without charge to any person who as operator, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper, is interested in the extra long staple cotton produced in 1956 on the farm for which the notice is given. Insofar as practicable, the notice for each old ELS cotton farm shall be prepared and mailed to the operator so as to be received prior to the referendum to determine whether extra long staple cotton farmers favor or oppose marketing quotas for the 1956 crop. Where it is impractical or impossible to use the United States mail to serve the producer in Puerto Rico with the notice provided for in this section, use shall be made of such other method of service as is available; however, when such other method is used the county committee shall make provision for keeping an accurate record of the date and method of delivery to the producer of any such notice.

§ 722.1321 Amount of the farm marketing excess. The farm marketing excess for the 1956 crop of extra long staple cotton shall be the normal production of the acreage of such cotton on the farm in excess of the farm acreage allotment: Provided, That, such farm marketing excess shall not be larger than the amount by which the actual production of extra long staple cotton on the farm exceeds the normal production of the farm acreage allotment if the producer establishes such actual production in accordance with regulations to be issued under this part by the Secretary.

§ 722.1322 Publication of farm acreage allotments and marketing quotas. One copy of each notice of the farm acreage allotment and marketing quota for farms in a county shall be placed in binders or folders, or in lieu thereof a listing of such allotments shall be prepared, and such notices or listing shall be kept freely available in the office of the county committee for public inspection for a period of not less than thirty calendar days. At the end of such period the copies of the notices or the listing shall be filed in the office of the county committee and remain readily available for further public inspection. If the county is divided into administrative areas, separate binders, folders, or listings shall be prepared and made available for inspection for each administrative area. The listing sheets on which farm acreage allotments are determined shall be kept available with the Chairman of the county committee at the office of the county committee.

§ 722.1323 Successors - in - interest. Any person who succeeds to the interest of a producer in a farm, or in a crop of extra long staple cotton, or in extra long staple cotton for which a farm marketing quota and farm marketing excess were established, shall, to the same extent as his predecessor, be entitled to all the rights and privileges incident to such marketing quota and marketing excess and be subject to the restrictions on the marketing of extra long staple cotton.

§ 722.1324 Marketing quotas not transferable. A farm marketing quota is established for a farm and, except as specifically provided for in § 722.1317 (j) and (k), may not be assigned or otherwise transferred in whole or in part to any other farm.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 722.1325 Measurement of farms to determine compliance with allotments—(a) Premeasurement. The county committee shall provide for the measurement prior to planting of an acreage on the farm equal to the farm acreage allotment if the farm operator requests such measurement and pays the cost thereof, as determined by the county committee, and any farm on which such measured acreage is the only acreage planted to extra long staple cotton shall be deemed to have an acreage not in excess of the farm acreage allotment.

(b) Measurement after planting. Measurement of the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on each farm in the county shall be made under the general supervision of the county committee in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) The measurement of the farm shall be made by an employee of the county committee who has been designated as a reporter and determined by the county office manager to be qualified to carry out the duties of a reporter. A reporter may be assisted in the measurement of a farm by another reporter, a community, county, or State committeeman, a State committee representative, any employee of the county office when authorized by the county office manager or by any employee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture when authorized by the Deputy Administrator. The reporter may request the operator or producer or his representative to designate all fields on the farm on which extra long staple cotton was planted in 1956 and otherwise to assist in measuring the farm. If so requested, the operator or producer or his representative shall so designate all fields planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm in 1956. The reporter may utilize any assistance from the operator or producer or his representative in measuring the farm.

(2) The county office manager shall have responsibility for assigning, in writing, insofar as practicable, the farms in the county to be measured by a reporter.

(3) A reporter shall visit each farm assigned to him for measurement and enter thereon if such entry will facilitate measurement. Upon request he will obtain and exhibit to the farm operator, producer, or owner his written assignment to measure the farm.

(4) Measurement may be made by identification of fields or parts of fields by use of a map or aerial photograph, or by means of a steel or metallic tape or chain, or rod and chain, or by use of a measuring wheel when authorized by the Deputy Administrator, or by a combination of two or more of the foregoing methods. The pertinent data and information for the farm shall be entered by the reporter on the Form CSS-578, and on maps or aerial photographs where applicable, and filed in the county office. Computations of acreages shall be made by an employee in the county office from the data so obtained, and the use of a planimeter or rotometer in connection therewith is authorized.

(5) Measurements of whole fields made prior to the effective date of this § 722.1325 and in accordance with existing procedures then in effect may be utilized where pertinent for the purpose of ascertaining with respect to any farm the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton in 1956 and the acreage of such cotton in excess of the 1956 farm acreage allotment.

(c) Notice of measured acreage and disposition of excess acreage. The county committee shall notify the farm operator by mail of the 1956 measured acreage of extra long staple cotton on the farm. If such acreage is in excess of the farm acreage allotment, the county committee shall also notify the farm operator that unless the acreage of extra long staple cotton on the farm is adjusted to the farm acreage allotment within the time established under this paragraph the farm marketing excess for the farm will be determined on the basis of the excess acreage and the normal yield for the farm. Notice so given shall constitute notice to each producer having an interest in the 1956 crop of extra long staple cotton produced on the farm. If producers on the farm do not dispose of the excess acreage of extra long staple cotton within 20 days after notice of the measured extra long staple cotton acreage is mailed to the farm operator as provided in this paragraph, or within 20 days after notice of the remeasured extra long staple cotton acreage determined pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section is mailed to the farm operator, and a request in writing for additional time and a showing to the satisfaction of the county committee that circumstances beyond their control prevented the disposition of the excess acreage within the applicable 20-day period is filed with the county committee, the county committee may allow an additional period not to exceed 10 days for disposing of the excess acreage. No extra long staple cotton acreage shall be disposed of for purposes of adjusting the planted acreage of such cotton to the farm acreage allotment after any cotton has been harvested from such planted acreage.

(d) Remeasurement. The county committee shall provide for the remeasurement, upon request by the farm operator, of the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm, but the operator shall be required to deposit with the treasurer of the county committee an amount equal to the estimated cost of such remeasurement and such deposit shall not be returned to the farm operator if the planted acreage is found upon such remeasurement to be in excess of the farm acreage allotment. Where the farm operator requests an additional remeasurement of the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm, the county committee shall provide for such remeasurement only if it finds, on the basis of evidence presented by the farm operator and other available information or data, that an error was probably made in the prior remeasurement.

(e) Measurement of acreage disposed of. If the excess acreage of extra long staple cotton on any farm is disposed of within the time allowed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section and a producer on the farm requests that the acreage disposed of be measured and pays the estimated cost of measuring such acreage, the county committee shall provide for such measurement.

§ 722.1326 Future effect of underplanting or overplanting farm acreage allotment—(a) Underplanting the farm acreage allotment. For any farm on which extra long staple cotton is planted in 1956 and the acreage of such cotton in 1956 is less than the 1956 farm acreage allotment by not more than the larger of 10 percent of the allotment or one acre, an acreage equal to the farm acreage allotment shall be deemed to be the acreage planted to extra long staple cotton on the farm in 1956, and the additional acreage added to the extra long staple cotton acreage history for the farm shall be added to the extra long staple cotton acreage history for the county and State.

(b) No credit for overplanting the farm acreage allotment. Any acreage planted to extra long staple cotton in 1956 in excess of the farm acreage allotment for the 1956 crop of extra long staple cotton shall not be taken into account in establishing State, county, and farm acreage allotments for 1957 and subsequent crops of extra long staple cotton.

§ 722.1327 Availability of records. The State and county committees shall make available for inspection by owners or operators of farms receiving extra long staple cotton acreage allotments, all records pertaining to extra long staple cotton acreage allotments and marketing quotas.

§ 722.1328 Approval of county committee determinations and redelegation of authority by the State committee—(a) Approval of county committee determinations. The State committee shall review all acreage allotments and may revise or require revision of any determinations made under §§ 722.1311 to 722.1325. All acreage allotments for both old and new ELS cotton farms shall be approved by the State committee, and no official notice of farm acreage allotment and marketing quota shall be mailed to a farm operator until such allotment has been approved by the State committee.

(b) Redelegation of authority. Any authority delegated to the State committee by the regulations in §§ 722.1317 to 722.1328 (a), inclusive, may be redelegated by the State committee.

REVIEW OF FARM ACREAGE ALLOTMENT

§ 722.1329 Review of farm acreage allotment—(a) Review committees. Any producer who is dissatisfied with the farm acreage allotment established for his farm, or in the case of a new ELS cotton farm with the action of the county committee in refusing to establish a farm acreage allotment for such farm, may, by making application within 15 days after the mailing to him of the notice provided for in § 722.1319, have such allotment reviewed by a review committee composed of three farmers appointed by the Secretary pursuant to section 363 of the act. The review committee shall, upon proper application, review the action of the county committee. The review committee in determining any farm acreage allotment shall, to the same extent as the county committee, be limited to the establishment of a farm acreage allotment in an amount which, under the act and regulations, should have been established. Unless such application is made within 15 days, the original determination of the farm acreage allotment shall be final. All applications for review shall be made in accordance with the marketing quota review regulations issued by the Secretary, a copy of which may be obtained from the county committee.

(b) Court review. If the producer is dissatisfied with the determination of the review committee, he may, within 15 days after notice of such determination is mailed to him by registered mail, institute proceedings against the review committee to have the determination of the review committee reviewed by a court in accordance with section 365 of the act.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements contained herein have been approved by the Bureau of Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of November 1955. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[959.313 Amdt. 2]

PART 959—IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN MODOC AND SISKIYOU COUNTIES IN CALIFORNIA AND IN ALL COUNTIES IN OREGON, EXCEPT MALHEUR COUNTY

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. a. Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 114, as amended, and Order No. 59, as amended (7 CFR Part 959; 20 F. R. 7068), regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in Modoc and Siskiyou Counties in California and in all counties in Oregon, except Malheur County, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Oregon-California Potato Committee, established pursuant to said amended marketing agreement and amended order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the amendment to the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

b. It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the shipment of potatoes, in the manner set forth below, on and after the effective date of this amendment, (iii) compliance with this amendment will not require any special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, (iv) reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for such preparation, (v) information regarding the committee's recommendations has been made available to producers and handlers in the production area, and (vi) this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the production area.

Order, as amended. The provisions of paragraph (b) (5) of § 959.313 (FEDERAL REGISTER October 11 and October 27, 1955; 20 F. R. 7567, 8071) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(5) During the period November 21, 1955, to June 30, 1956, both dates inclusive: (i) No handler shall ship (a) potatoes for export which do not meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 1 or better grade, 1½ inches minimum diameter, or (b) potatoes for dehydration or manufacture or conversion into starch, flour, or alcohol which do not meet the requirements of 85 percent of the U. S. No. 1 or better grade, 1½ inches minimum diameter; (ii) potatoes grown in a particular district and which fail to meet applicable grade and size requirements of this section because of damage from shriveling or sprouting caused by the conditioning of the potatoes for potato chipping may be shipped for use for potato chipping; (iii) potatoes grown in a particular district and which by clipping second growth could be made to meet the aforesaid applicable grade and size requirements may be shipped for use for potato chipping without such clipping; (iv) potatoes grown in a particular district and which meet the aforesaid applicable grade and size requirements may be commingled in the handling thereof for use for potato chipping; (v) potatoes of the Kennebec variety grown in a particular district and which fail to meet applicable grade and size requirements because of damage from hollow heart may be shipped for use for potato chipping; and (vi) potatoes grown in a particular district which have been conditioned for use for potato chipping and from which more than one-fourth of any potato has been cut away may be shipped for use for potato chipping if such potatoes otherwise meet the applicable grade and size requirements.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 17th day of November 1955 to become effective November 21, 1955.

PART 76—HOG CHOLERA, SWINE PLAGUE, AND OTHER COMMUNICABLE SWINE DISEASES

CHANGES IN AREAS QUARANTINED

Pursuant to the provisions of sections 1 and 3 of the act of March 3, 1905, as amended (21 U. S. C. 123, 125), sections 1 and 2 of the act of February 2, 1903, as amended (21 U. S. C. 111–113, 120), and section 7 of the act of May 29, 1884, as amended (21 U. S. C. 117), § 76.27, as amended, Subpart B, Part 76, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations (20 F. R. 2881, 2973, 3499, 3931, 4397, 4841, 5256, 5709, 6076, 6575, 7134, 7897, 8364), which contains a notice with respect to the States in which swine are affected with vesicular exanthema, a contagious, infectious, and communicable disease, and which quarantines certain areas in such States because of said disease, is hereby further amended in the following respects:

1. Subparagraph (11) of paragraph (a), relating to San Mateo County in California, is deleted.

2. Subparagraph (1) of paragraph (a), relating to California, is amended to read:

(1) E. ½ Sec. 13, T. 3 S., R. 3 W., MDBM, in Alameda County.

3. Paragraph (e), relating to Rockland County in New York, is deleted.

4. Subparagraph (12) of paragraph (a), relating to California, is amended to read:

(12) NE. ¼ Sec. 22, T. 6 S., R. 1 W., MDBM; and SE. ¼ of T. 5 S., R. 1 W., MDBM, in Santa Clara County.

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

The amendment includes the following area in California within the areas quarantined because of vesicular exanthema:

SE. ¼ of T. 5 S., R. 1 W., MDBM, in Santa Clara County.

Hereafter, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine, and carcasses, parts and offal of swine, from or through quarantined areas, contained in 9 CFR, 1954 Supp., Part 76, Subpart B, as amended, will apply to such area.

The amendment also excludes certain areas in California and New York from the areas heretofore quarantined because of vesicular exanthema. Hereafter, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine, and carcasses, parts and offal of swine, from or through quarantined areas, contained in 9 CFR, 1954 Supp., Part 76, Subpart B, as amended, will not apply to such areas. However, the restrictions pertaining to such movement from non-quarantined areas, contained in said Subpart B, as amended, will apply thereto.

The amendment imposes certain further restrictions necessary to prevent the spread of vesicular exanthema, and relieves certain restrictions presently imposed. It must be made effective immediately to accomplish its purpose in the public interest and to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to the restrictions which are relieved. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 2, 32 Stat. 792, as amended, 21 U. S. C. 111. Interprets or applies secs. 4, 5, 23 Stat. 32, sec. 1, 32 Stat. 791; 21 U. S. C. 120)

PART 13—DIGEST OF CEASE AND DESIST ORDERS

THE BEST FOODS, INC.

Subpart—Advertising falsely or misleadingly: § 13.30 Composition of goods; § 13.135 Nature: Product or service. Subpart—Misrepresenting oneself and goods—Goods: § 13.1590 Composition; § 13.1685 Nature.

This proceeding was heard by Everett F. Haycraft, hearing examiner, on the complaint of the Commission—charging respondent corporation with falsely representing its "Nucoa" margarine in advertising as a dairy product and as richer in milk properties than butter—and an agreement between respondent and counsel supporting the complaint providing for the entry of a consent order in accordance with § 3.25 of the Commission's rules of practice.

Upon this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist, which by the Commission's order of November 8, 1955, became, pursuant to § 3.21 of the rules of practice, the "Decision of the Commission."

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent, The Best Foods, Inc., a corporation, and its officers, agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of oleomargarine or margarine, do forthwith cease and desist from, directly or indirectly,

1. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated by means of the United States mails or by any means in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, any advertisement which contains any statement, word, grade designation, design, device, symbol, sound or any combination thereof which represents or suggests that said product is a dairy product;

Provided, however, That nothing contained in this order shall prevent the use in advertisements of a truthful, accurate, and full statement of all of the ingredients contained in said product, or of a truthful statement that said product contains skim milk, milk-minerals or any other dairy product provided the percentage thereof contained is clearly and conspicuously set forth.

2. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated by any means for the purpose of inducing or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act of said product any advertisement which contains any of the representations prohibited in paragraph one of this order.

By said "Decision of the Commission", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: November 8, 1955.

In the Matter of Gary Sales Company, Inc., a Corporation, and Sam Frank, Norman Eisner, Henry Davis, and Eli Tockar, Individually and as Officers of Gary Sales Company, Inc.

This proceeding was heard by Abner E. Lipscomb, hearing examiner, on the complaint of the Commission, charging respondents with furnishing pull cards for the sale of their jewelry, novelties, household articles, cookware, silverware, etc., to purchasers by means of a game of chance, gift enterprise, or lottery scheme.

Following respondents' answer and hearings, the hearing examiner made his initial decision, including findings and conclusions and order to cease and desist, from which respondents appealed.

The Commission, in a per curiam decision, denied the appeal and disposed of the matter by a "Final Order", dated November 8, 1955, as follows:

This matter having come before the Commission upon respondents' appeal from the hearing examiner's initial decision and the matter having been heard on the whole record, including briefs

(oral argument not having been requested); and the Commission having rendered its decision denying respondents' appeal and affirming the initial decision;

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order contained in said initial decision.

The order in the initial decision, thus affirmed as the decision of the Commission, is as follows:

It is ordered, That Respondent Gary Sales Company, Inc., a corporation, and its officers, Sam Frank, Norman Eisner, Henry Davis, and Eli Tockar, individually, and Respondent's agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution of jewelry, novelties, household articles, cookware, silverware, or any other articles of merchandise in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

Issued: November 8, 1955.

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter I—Office of the Secretary of Defense

Subchapter A—Armed Services Procurement Regulation

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The following amendments are made to the Armed Services Procurement Regulation:

PART 1—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBPART A—INTRODUCTION

The Department of Defense Code of Conduct for personnel engaged in procurement and related activities has been restated in § 1.113.

§ 1.113 Code of conduct. All governmental personnel engaged in procurement and related activities shall conduct business dealings with industry in a manner above reproach in every respect. Transactions relating to expenditure of public funds require the highest degree of public trust to protect the interests of the Government. While many Federal laws and regulations place restrictions on the actions of Governmental personnel, the latter's official conduct must, in addition, be such that the individual would have no reticence about making a full public disclosure thereof.

SUBPART C—GENERAL POLICIES

1. Amendments to § 1.302–4 (a) (1), (b) (2), and (d) (2) implement ODM Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, Amendment No. 1, effective 27 July 1955, which provides for preferences to firms in areas which are not classified as "labor surplus areas", but which are individually certified as areas of substantial labor surplus by a local Employment Security Office of the Department of Labor. Section 1.302–4, as revised, reads as follows:

§ 1.302–4 Firms performing contracts in labor surplus areas—(a) Definitions. (1) "Labor Surplus Areas" are those (i) classified as such by the Department of Labor and set forth in a list entitled, "Areas of Substantial Labor Surplus" issued by that Department in conjunction with its publication, "Bi-Monthly Summary of Labor Market Developments in Major Areas," and (ii) areas which are not classified by the Department of Labor but which are individually certified as areas of substantial labor surplus by a local Employment Security Office at the request of any firm located in the areas, which is bidding for a procurement involving set-asides.

(2) "Set-asides," as used in this part, designates a method of procurement whereby a portion of the requirement, as determined by the procurement activity, is withheld from general solicitation (either formally advertised or negotiated), is reserved for negotiation exclusively with firms located in labor surplus areas, and is to be performed substantially within such labor surplus areas.

(b) Policy. Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 (revised 5 November 1953), issued by the Director of Defense Mobilization, directs the placement of supply contracts, at prices no higher than might otherwise be obtainable elsewhere, with such suppliers as will perform contracts substantially in current labor surplus areas. Accordingly, the Departments shall comply with the following:

(1) Use their best efforts to award negotiated procurements to contractors located within labor surplus areas for performance substantially within such labor surplus areas to the extent that procurement objectives will permit: Provided, That in no case shall price differentials be paid for the purpose of carrying out this policy.

(2) Where deemed appropriate, set aside portions of procurements for negotiation exclusively with firms located in classified labor surplus areas at prices no higher than those paid on the non set-aside portions of such procurements: Provided, That a substantial proportion of the production under such contracts will be performed within such labor surplus areas; Provided further, That a firm located in an area not classified by the Department of Labor shall be eligible for participation in a set-aside if such firm submits a certificate obtained from the local Employment Security Office that a substantial labor surplus exists in the area. (For detailed procedures see §§ 2.205, 3.105, and 3.219 of this subchapter.)

(3) Assure that firms in labor surplus areas which are on appropriate bidders' lists are given the opportunity to submit bids or proposals on all procurements for which they are qualified and on which small business joint determinations have not been made. Whenever the number of firms on a bidders' list is excessive, a representative number of firms from labor surplus areas shall be included for the particular procurement.

(4) In the event of tie bids or proposals on any procurement, the contract shall be awarded in accordance with § 2.406–4.

(5) Encourage prime contractors to award subcontracts to firms in labor surplus areas.

(6) Cooperate with other agencies listed in Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 in achieving the objectives of this policy.

(c) Application. The above policy shall be applicable to procurements estimated to be in excess of $25,000.

(d) Implementation. (1) The Departments shall cause information identifying labor surplus areas as defined above to be disseminated to appropriate procurement personnel. When an entire industry is depressed, the Director of Defense Mobilization may establish appropriate measures upon an industry-wide, rather than a normal geographical, basis. Designations of such industries will be accomplished by ODM Notifications, and such industries will thereafter be given special treatment as specified therein.

(2) The Department of Labor has provided standard criteria to the local Employment Security Offices for use in certifying non-classified areas. Contracting Officers will accept the certification of the local Employment Security Office, in each individual procurement in which a certification is submitted.

(3) Procedures shall be established with respect to the issuance of invitations for bids and requests for proposals as set forth in §§ 2.205–3 and 3.105 of this subchapter. Awards of contracts involving labor surplus areas shall be made in accordance with § 3.219 of this subchapter.

(4) Contract files shall be documented to indicate the extent to which labor surplus areas were considered and the action taken with regard thereto.

2. The words "whenever possible" have been deleted from the first sentence of § 1.306–2, between "United States" and "regardless." The revised § 1.306–2 reads as follows:

§ 1.306–2 Shipments originating within the continental United States for ultimate delivery outside the continental United States. Unless there are valid reasons to the contrary purchases of supplies within the continental United States for ultimate delivery to destinations outside of the continental United States, regardless of the quantity of the shipment, shall be made on the basis of delivery f. o. b. carrier's equipment, wharf, or freight station (at the Government's option), at or near contractor's plant, at a specified city or shipping point. Shipments included in this policy are those in which supplies are shipped directly to a port area for export or to storage areas for subsequent reshipment to a port area for export.

PART 2—PROCUREMENT BY FORMAL ADVERTISING

SUBPART B—SOLICITATION OF BIDS

1. A new § 2.204–9 authorizes the release of a list of names of prospective bidders (on construction contracts only) who have been furnished copies of plans and specifications, to trade journals, prospective subcontractors, material suppliers and others having a bona fide interest in such information. Section 2.204–9 as revised reads as follows:

§ 2.204–9 Release of names of prospective bidders on construction contracts. When invitations for bids for construction contracts have been issued, trade journals, prospective subcontractors, material suppliers, and others having a bona fide interest in such information, will be supplied, upon request, with a list of names of all prospective bidders who have been furnished copies of the plans and specifications.

2. A new § 2.205–3 (c) has been added implementing ODM Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, Amendment No. 1, effective 27 July 1955, which provides for preferences to firms in areas which are not classified as "labor surplus areas", but which are individually certified as areas of substantial labor surplus by a local Employment Security Office of the Department of Labor. Section 2.205–3, as amended, reads as follows:

§ 2.205–3 Special conditions to be inserted in invitations for bids. Whenever it has been determined to set aside a quantity of a procurement in accordance with § 1.302–4 of this subchapter, the invitation for bids covering procurement of the items not set aside shall provide that:

(a) "Set-asides" in aid of labor surplus areas may be utilized.

(b) The right to participate in subsequent negotiation for any "set-asides" shall be conditioned upon the submission of a bid upon the items not set aside at a unit price within 120 percent of the highest award made with respect to quantities not set aside.

(c) Firms located in areas not classified by the Department of Labor will be eligible for participation in any set-aside only upon the submission of a bid accompanied by a certification from the local Employment Security Office that the firm is located in an area of substantial labor surplus.

SUBPART E—QUALIFIED PRODUCTS

Section 2.505 has been amended to provide that only bids offering products which have been approved and qualified shall be considered in making an award. However, manufacturers whose products are not listed, but which have been qualified or approved, should be given an opportunity to offer evidence thereof in the time interval before the final award is made. A new provision to be inserted in invitations for bids is set forth in § 2.505–2. Section 2.505–3 remains unchanged. Sections 2.505–1 and 2.505–2, as amended, read as follows:

§ 2.505 Procurement of qualified products.

§ 2.505–1 Contracts entered into by formal advertising. Whenever procurement of qualified products by a Department is made pursuant to formal advertising in accordance with the provisions of this part, only bids offering products which have been approved or qualified shall be considered in making an award. Manufacturers having products not listed but which have been qualified or approved should be given consideration and an opportunity to offer evidence of such qualification or approval in the time interval before final award must be made.

§ 2.505–2 Solicitation of bids. In formally advertised procurements involving qualified products, the following provision shall be inserted in invitations for bids:

With respect to products requiring qualification, awards will be made only for such products as have, prior to the bid opening date, been tested and approved for inclusion in the Federal Qualified Products List (insert here the title of the applicable Federal Qualified Products List or Lists), whether or not such products have actually been so listed by that date. Manufacturers are urged to communicate with the (insert here the name and address of the applicable office) and arrange to have the products that they propose to offer tested for qualification.

(R. S. 161; 5 U. S. C. 22)

PART 3—PROCUREMENT BY NEGOTIATION

SUBPART A—USE OF NEGOTIATION

1. Section 3.105 has been revised to implement ODM Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, Amendment No. 1, effective 27 July 1955, which provides for preferences to firms in areas which are not classified as "labor surplus areas", but which are individually certified as areas of substantial labor surplus by a local Employment Security Office of the Department of Labor. Section 3.105, as revised, reads as follows:

§ 3.105 Aids to labor surplus areas in negotiated procurements.

§ 3.105–1 General. In implementing the policy set forth in § 1.302–4 of this subchapter, quantities of negotiated procurements may be set aside in the same manner as provided in § 2.205 of this subchapter for formally advertised procurements. The determination of quantities to be set aside shall be governed by § 2.205–2 of this subchapter. The procedures for negotiation of "set-asides" are set forth in § 3.219.

§ 3.105–2 Special conditions to be inserted in requests for proposals. Whenever it has been determined to set aside a quantity of a procurement in accordance with § 1.302–4 of this subchapter, the Request for Proposals covering procurement of the items not set aside shall provide that:

(a) Set-asides in aid of labor surplus areas may be utilized.

(b) The right to participate in subsequent negotiation for any "set-asides" shall be conditioned upon the submission of an initial proposal upon the items not set aside, conforming with the Request for Proposals, at a unit price within 120 percent of highest award with respect to the quantities not set aside.

(c) Firms located in areas not classified by the Department of Labor will be eligible for participation in any set-aside only upon the submission of a proposal accompanied by a certification from the local Employment Security Office that the firm is located in an area of substantial labor surplus.

2. Section 3.107 has been added, setting forth a uniform Department of Defense policy to the effect that requests for proposals will contain a deadline for submission of proposals with a saving clause authorizing the Government to consider late proposals before award is made. Upon receipt of a late proposal, the contracting officer will submit the case to such authority as required by the Departments; if a decision is made to consider the late proposal, the contracting officer shall resolicit all firms which have submitted proposals and have been determined to be capable of meeting requirements, as follows:

§ 3.107 Late proposals and late unsolicited revisions to proposals.

§ 3.107–1 Clause. In all negotiations where proposals are being sought from more than one prospective contractor there shall be included in the request for proposals a statement of the desired deadline date for the submission of proposals and the following statement which is contained in paragraph 9 (c)[1] of the terms and conditions on the reverse side of DD Form 746,[1] "Request for Proposals and Proposal (Negotiated Fixed Price Contract)": "Late Proposals. The Government reserves the right to consider proposals or modifications thereof received after the date indicated for such purpose, but before award is made, should such action be in the interest of the Government."

§ 3.107–2 Procedure. It is important and desirable that the Government not be precluded in specific situations from gaining the benefit of advantageous late proposals, but it must be recognized that careful consideration of such situations is required to prevent abuses. To assure such consideration, the following procedure is established:

(a) In each case in which a late low proposal, or a late proposal otherwise worthy of consideration, is received from a qualified firm, the Contracting Officer shall document a recommended course of action which he deems to be in the best interests of the Government, taking into account all pertinent factors, and shall refer it for decision to such other authority as may be prescribed by the department concerned.

(b) In the event it is determined by such other authority that it is in the best interests of the Government to consider the late proposal, the Contracting Officer shall resolicit all firms which have submitted proposals and have been determined to be capable of meeting requirements.

(R. S. 161; 5 U. S. C. 22)

SUBPART A—CLAUSES FOR FIXED-PRICE SUPPLY CONTRACTS

A typographical error in paragraph (e) of the contract clause set forth in § 7.106–2 is corrected, so that revised unit prices shall not exceed 110 percent of the original contract price. Appropriate changes should be made immediately in all local or departmental forms. Section 7.106–2 (e), as revised, reads as follows:

(e) Each contract unit price shall be revised for each month in which, by the terms of this contract, delivery of supplies is required to be made, and such revised contract unit price(s) shall apply to the deliveries of those quantities of supplies required to be made in that month regardless of when actual delivery be made of said quantities of supplies. Each revised contract unit price for any month shall be computed by adding together the following three amounts: (i) the amount (representing the adjusted cost of labor) obtained by multiplying ---- percent of the contract unit price by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the current labor index and the denominator of which shall be the base labor index; (ii) the amount (representing the adjusted cost of steel) obtained by multiplying ---- percent of the contract unit price by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the current steel index and the denominator of which shall be the base steel index; and (iii) the amount equal to ---- percent of the original contract unit price (representing that portion of such unit price which relates neither to the cost of labor nor to the cost of steel and which is therefore not subject to revision); provided, however, that any revised contract unit price made pursuant to the provisions of this clause shall in no event exceed 110 percent of the original contract unit price. All computations shall be made to the nearest one-hundredth of one cent.

SUBPART B—CLAUSES FOR COST-REIMBURSEMENT TYPE SUPPLY CONTRACTS

A perfecting amendment has been made to the contract clause set forth in § 7.203–11 and as Clause 11, in DD Form 748.[1] Appropriate alterations should be made when the form is used. Section 7.203–11, as amended, reads as follows:

§ 7.203–11 Excusable delays. The Contractor shall not be in default by reason of any failure in performance of this contract, in accordance with its terms (including any failure by the Contractor to make progress in the prosecution of the work hereunder which endangers such performance), if such failure arises out of causes beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Contractor. Such causes include, but are not restricted to, acts of God or of the public enemy, acts of the Government, fires, floods, epidemics, quarantine restrictions, strikes, freight embargoes, unusually severe weather, and failure of subcontractors to perform or make progress due to such causes, unless the Contracting Officer shall have determined that the supplies or services to be furnished under the subcontract were obtainable from other sources and shall have ordered the Contractor in writing to procure such services or supplies from such other sources, and the Contractor shall have failed reasonably to comply with such order. Upon request of the Contractor, the Contracting Officer shall ascertain the facts and extent of such failure and if he shall determine that such failure was occasioned by any one or more of the said causes, the delivery schedule shall be revised accordingly, subject to the rights of the Government under the clause hereof entitled "Termination."

PART 9—PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, AND TECHNICAL DATA

SUBPART A—PATENTS

An amendment to § 9.102–1 provides for omission of the Authorization and Consent Clause in purchase orders of $5,000 or less. Section 9.102–1, as revised, reads as follows:

§ 9.102–1 Authorization and consent in contracts for supplies. Except as otherwise authorized in § 9.102–2, the following clause shall be included in all contracts for supplies (including construction work), except purchase orders of $5,000 or less:

Authorization and consent. The Government hereby gives its authorization and consent (without prejudice to its rights of indemnification, if such rights are provided for in this contract) for all use and manufacture, in the performance of this contract or any part hereof or any amendment hereto or any subcontract hereunder (including any lower-tier subcontract), of any patented invention (i) embodied in the structure or composition of any article the delivery of which is accepted by the Government under this contract, or (ii) utilized in the machinery, tools, or methods the use of which necessarily results from compliance by the Contractor or the using subcontractor with (a) specifications or written provisions now or hereafter forming a part of this contract, or (b) specific written instructions given by the Contracting Officer directing the manner of performance. The Contractor's entire liability to the Government for patent infringement shall be determined solely by the provisions of the indemnity clause, if any, included in the contract and the Government assumes liability for all other infringement to the extent of the authorization and consent hereinabove granted.

PART 16—PROCUREMENT FORMS

Section 16.011–1 (c) has been amended by omission of the last sentence, "Reproduction and supply of this form shall be the obligation of the contractors". The "Weekly Payroll Affidavit and Certification" form, which is used in construction contracts, will hereafter be supplied by the Government, instead of the contractor. Section 16.011–1 (c), as revised, reads as follows:

§ 16.011 Compliance with labor clauses.

§ 16.011–1 Construction contracts. • • •

(c) When required by § 12.404–6 (a) of this subchapter and the contract clauses prescribed by § 12.403–1 or § 12.403–4 of this subchapter, a "Weekly Payroll Affidavit and Certification" form, as set forth below, shall be used by the contractor. When the contract clauses prescribed by § 12.403–2 of this subchapter, are applicable the form set forth below shall be used by the contractor with the omission of paragraphs (2) and (3).

(R. S. 161; 5 U. S. C. 22)

PART 30—APPENDIXES TO ASPR

Part 2 of § 30.1 has been revised. Revised rules of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals are also obtainable by contractors from the Board. Principal changes involve: filing of pleadings (complaint, answer, and, by direction, a reply); provisions for amendment of pleadings; a procedure to dismiss appeals for failure to state a case; prehearing conferences; filing of notice of appearance by Government Counsel; restriction of representation to attorneys-at-law, unless the Board otherwise authorizes in a particular case (contractors may also appear in person and corporations by their officers); a procedure for recess of hearing when Government Counsel and the contractor are in agreement as to disposition of the controversy to permit reconsideration by the contracting officer; evidence offered shall be such as would be admissible under generally accepted rules of evidence applied in the courts of the United States in non-jury trials. Part 2, as revised, reads as follows:

§ 30.1 Appendix A—Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals; charter and rules.

PART 2—RULES

PREFACE TO RULES

The Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals is the authorized representative of the Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force in hearing, considering and determining as fully and finally as might each of the Secretaries:

(a) Appeals by contractors from decisions on disputed questions by contracting officers or their authorized representatives or by other authorities pursuant to the provisions of Armed Services contracts requiring the determination of appeals by the head of a Department of the Armed Services or by his duly authorized representative or board, or pursuant to the provisions of any directive whereby the Secretary of a Department of the Armed Services has granted a right of appeal not contained in the contract;

(b) Appeals by Armed Services contractors pursuant to section 13 (c) (1) (i) and section 17 (c) of the Contract Settlement Act of 1944.

When an appeal is taken pursuant to a disputes clause in a contract which provides only for appeals from decisions on questions of fact, the Board may in its discretion hear, consider and decide all questions of law necessary for the complete adjudication of the issue. Unless the contract provides otherwise, when in the consideration of an appeal it appears that a claim for unliquidated damages is involved therein, the Board, insofar as the evidence permits, makes findings of fact with respect to such claims without expressing opinion on questions of liability.

When a contract requires the Secretary of a Department of the Armed Services personally to render a decision on the matter in dispute, the Board submits its findings and recommendations to the Secretary of the Department.

There are three panels of the Board: the Army, Navy, and Air Force panels. In general, appeals are assigned for decision to the panel of the Department whose contract or procurement is directly involved. Each of the panels acts in divisions, which normally consist of three or more members of the panel. Hearings may be held by a division, by a designated member, or by a duly authorized examiner. The decision of a majority of a division constitutes the decision of the panel and of the Board, provided that all three panel chairman signify that in their opinion a review by the full Board is not required. If a majority of the members of a division do not agree upon a decision, or if one or more panel chairmen do not waive review by the full Board, determination of the appeal is made by a majority of the members of the full Board.

SCOPE OF RULES

1. General. These rules govern the procedure in all cases before the Board. They shall be construed for the purpose of securing just and inexpensive determination of appeals without unnecessary delay. All pleadings provided for hereunder shall be so construed as to do substantial justice.

PROCEEDINGS PRELIMINARY TO HEARINGS

2. Appeals, how taken. Notice of an appeal must be in writing, and the original, together with two copies, may be filed with the contracting officer from whose decision the appeal is taken. The notice of appeal must be mailed or otherwise filed within the time specified therefor in the contract or allowed by applicable provision of directive or law.

3. Notice of appeal, contents of. A notice of appeal should indicate that an appeal is thereby intended, and should identify the contract (by number), the department and agency or bureau cognizant of the dispute, and the decision from which the appeal is taken. The notice of appeal should be signed personally by the appellant (the contractor taking the appeal), or by an officer of the appellant corporation or member of the appellant firm, or by the contractor's duly authorized representative or attorney. The complaint referred to in Rule 5 may be filed with the notice of appeal.

4. Duties of contracting officer. When a notice of appeal in any form has been received by the contracting officer, he shall endorse thereon the date of mailing or the date of receipt if otherwise filed and within 10 days shall forward the notice of appeal, and the complaint if filed therewith, to the Board. The contracting officer shall promptly thereafter compile and transmit to counsel for the Government copies of all documents pertinent to the appeal, including the following:

(1) The findings of fact and the decision from which the appeal is taken, and the letter or letters or other documents of claim in response to which the decision was issued;

(2) The contract and pertinent plans, specifications, amendments, and change orders;

(3) Correspondence between the parties and other data pertinent to the appeal;

(4) Transcripts of any testimony taken during the course of the proceedings on the matter in dispute prior to the filing of the notice of appeal with this Board;

(5) Such additional information as the contracting officer may consider material.

When the Board has received the original notice of appeal the Board will promptly so advise the contractor and the contracting officer, and will forward to the contractor a copy of these rules.

5. Complaint. Within 30 days after receipt of notice of docketing by the Board of the appeal, or within such longer period of time as may be allowed by the Board, the appellant shall file with the Board, if not previously filed with the notice of appeal, a complaint setting forth simple, concise and direct statements of each of his claims showing that he is entitled to relief. Each claim shall be stated with as much particularity as is practical. No technical form is required, but each claim should be separately identified. Documentary evidence in support of claims may be filed as exhibits to the complaint. All documents filed as exhibits to the complaint shall be plainly listed and identified in the complaint. An original and three copies of the complaint shall be filed. Upon receipt thereof the Recorder of the Board shall serve a copy of the complaint on counsel for the Government.

6. Answer. Within 60 days after service of the complaint, or within such longer period of time as may be allowed by the Board, counsel for the Government shall prepare and file with the Board an answer thereto. The answer shall set forth simple, concise and direct statements of the Government's defenses to each claim asserted by appellant. Each defense shall be stated with as much particularity as is practical. Defenses which go to the jurisdiction of the Board may be included in the answer, or may be raised by motion pursuant to the provisions of Rule 10. Counsel for the Government shall at the same time file with the Board the following documents, which shall be plainly listed and identified:

(1) The findings of fact if any and the decision from which the appeal is taken, and the letter or letters or documents of claim in response to which the decision was issued by the contracting officer;

(2) The contract and pertinent plans, specifications, amendments, and change orders.

Documentary evidence in support of the Government's defenses may be filed as exhibits to the answer. All documents filed as exhibits to the answer shall be plainly listed and identified in the answer. An original and three copies of the answer shall be filed with the Board. Upon receipt thereof the Recorder shall serve a copy of the answer on appellant or his attorney.

7. Appeal file; inspection of file. The notice of appeal, the complaint and exhibits attached thereto, the answer and exhibits attached thereto and the documents required to be filed therewith pursuant to Rule 6, all papers filed by the parties with the Board pursuant to these rules, and all correspondence exchanged between the Board and the parties or their attorneys shall constitute the appeal file, which shall be available for inspection by appellant and Government counsel at the offices of the Board. Prior arrangements for inspection of the file should be made with the Recorder of the Board.

8. Amendments of pleadings. At any time before oral hearing or before submission of a case by the parties without an oral hearing the Board in its discretion may permit a party, within the proper scope of the appeal, to amend its complaint or answer, upon conditions just to both parties. The Board upon its own initiative or upon application by a party may in its discretion order a party to make a more definite statement of its complaint or answer, or to reply to an answer. When issues within the proper scope of the appeal but not raised by the complaint and answer are tried by express or implied consent of the parties, they shall be treated in all respects as if they had been raised therein. Such amendment of the complaint and answer as may be necessary to cause them to conform to the evidence may be made upon motion at any time, even after decision, but failure so to amend does not affect the result of the trial of these issues. If evidence is objected to at the hearing on the ground that it is not within the issues made by the complaint and answer, the hearing member or examiner may allow the pleadings to be amended within the proper scope of the appeal and shall do so freely when the presentation of the merits of the action will be served thereby and the objecting party fails to satisfy the hearing member or examiner that the admission of such evidence would prejudice him in maintaining his case or defense upon the merits. The hearing member or examiner may, however, grant a continuance to enable the objecting party to meet such evidence.

9. Trial briefs. The Board in its discretion may order the submission of trial briefs prior to assignment of a case for oral hearing.

10. Motions to dismiss. Defenses which go to the jurisdiction of the Board may be raised by motion. Filing of motions to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction shall not be unreasonably delayed. The Board, however, has the right at any time to recognize its lack of authority to proceed in a particular case. Motions to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction shall, on application of either party, be heard and determined before oral hearing on the merits unless the Board orders that determination of the motion be deferred pending oral hearing on both the merits and the motion.

11. Failure to state a case. In the event, after completion of the pleadings, the Board finds that appellant has failed to state a case on which any relief could be granted by the Board, the Board may give notice to appellant to show cause why the appeal should not be dismissed on the ground that no useful purpose would be served by setting the case for oral hearing on the merits. Appellant, in such event, will be afforded the opportunity to be heard orally for the purpose of showing cause why the appeal should not be dismissed on that ground, and if appellant so desires to move to amend the complaint, within the proper scope of the appeal. If the Board thereafter finds appellant has failed to show cause, and finds that the complaint, with such amendments as may be offered by appellant, fails to state a case on which the Board could grant relief, the appeal shall be dismissed.

12. Depositions. Depositions which a party desires to take for the purpose of offering in evidence shall be taken in accordance with the procedure set forth in the Appendix to Rules.

13. Interrogatories to parties; inspection of documents; admission of facts. Under appropriate circumstances, but not as a matter of course, the Board will entertain applications for permission to serve written interrogatories upon the opposing party, applications for an order to produce and permit the inspection of designated documents, and applications for permission to serve upon the opposing party a request for the admission of specified facts. Such applications shall be received and approved only to the extent and upon such terms as the Board in its discretion considers to be consistent with the objective of securing just and inexpensive determination of appeals without unnecessary delay, and essential to the proper pursuit of that objective in the particular case.

14. Prehearing conferences. In any case the Board in its discretion, upon its own initiative or upon the application of one of the parties, may call upon the parties or their attorneys or representatives to appear before a member or examiner of the Board for a conference to consider:

(1) The simplification of the issues;

(2) The necessity or desirability of amendments to the pleadings;

(3) The possibility of obtaining admissions of fact and of documents which will avoid unnecessary proof;

(4) The limitation of the number of expert witnesses;

(5) Such other matters as may aid in the disposition of the appeal.

The presiding member or examiner, at the conclusion of such a conference, shall make such order as in his discretion is found to be appropriate with reference to action taken at the conference, amendments allowed or to be made to the pleadings, agreements made by the parties as to any of the matters considered, and limitation of issues for trial.

15. Service of papers. Service of papers in all proceedings pending before the Board may be made personally, or by mailing the same in a sealed envelope, registered, return receipt requested, with postage prepaid, addressed to the party upon whom service shall be made, and the date of the registry receipt shall be the date of service. Waiver of the service of any papers may be noted thereon or on a copy thereof, or on a separate paper, signed by the parties or their attorneys and filed with the Board. When any party has appeared by attorney, service upon the attorney will be deemed proper service upon such party.

HEARINGS

16. Where held. Hearings will be held at the office of the Board in Washington, D. C. unless it is otherwise ordered by the Board. Hearings will not ordinarily be held elsewhere, but if a request therefor is seasonably made and good cause therefor appears, the Board may order a hearing to be held at another location.

17. Notice of hearings. Appellant and Government counsel shall be given at least 15 days' notice of the time and place of hearing.

18. Submission without a hearing. If either party does not wish to appear or be represented at a hearing, the Board shall be so advised. A party who so advises the Board may submit a brief within 20 days after the date assigned for the hearing, or within such other period of time as may be allowed by the Board. If both parties advise the Board that an oral hearing is not desired, briefs may be submitted by the parties within such period of time as may be allowed by the Board.

19. Absence of parties or counsel. The unexcused absence of a party or his authorized representative at the time and place set for the hearing will not be the occasion for delay. In such event the hearing will proceed and the case will be regarded as submitted by the absent party.

20. Nature of hearings. Hearings shall be as informal as may be reasonably allowable and appropriate under all the circumstances. Appellant and Government counsel may offer at a hearing on the merits such relevant evidence as they deem appropriate and as would be admissible under the generally accepted rules of evidence applied in the courts of the United States in nonjury trials, subject, however, to the exercise of reasonable discretion by the presiding member or examiner in supervising the extent and manner of presentation of such evidence. Letters or copies thereof, affidavits, or other evidence, not ordinarily admissible under the generally accepted rules of evidence, may be received in evidence at the discretion of the presiding member or examiner. The weight to be attached to evidence presented in any particular form will be determined by the Board in the exercise of reasonable discretion under all the circumstances of the particular case. Stipulations of fact agreed upon by the parties may be regarded and used in evidence at the hearing. The parties may stipulate the testimony that would be given by a witness if the witness were present. The Board may, however, in any case, require additional evidence.

21. Examination of witnesses. Witnesses before the Board will be examined orally under oath or affirmation, unless the facts are stipulated or the Board member or examiner shall otherwise order. If the testimony of a witness is not given under oath the Board may, if it seems expedient, warn the witness that his statements may be subject to the provisions of Title 18, U. S. C., secs. 287, 1001; sec. 19 of the Contract Settlement Act of 1944 (41 U. S. C. sec. 119), and any other provisions of law imposing penalties for knowingly making false representations in connection with claims against the United States or in any matter within the jurisdiction of any department or agency thereof.

22. Copies of papers. When books, records, papers, or documents have been received in evidence, a true copy thereof or of such part thereof as may be material or relevant may be substituted therefor, during the hearing or at the conclusion thereof.

23. Briefs. All briefs shall be filed within 20 days after conclusion of the hearing, or within such other period of time as may be allowed by the Board.

24. Transcript of proceedings. Testimony and argument at hearings shall be reported verbatim, unless the Board otherwise orders. Transcripts of the proceedings shall be supplied to the parties at such rates as may be fixed by contract between the Board and the reporter. If the proceedings are reported by an employee of the Government, the appellant may receive transcripts upon payment to the Government at the same rates as those set by contract between the Board and the independent reporter.

25. Withdrawal of exhibits. After a decision has become final the Board may, upon request and after notice to the other party, in its discretion permit the withdrawal of original exhibits, or any part thereof, by the party entitled thereto. The substitution of true copies of exhibits or any part thereof may be required by the Board in its discretion as a condition of granting permission for such withdrawal.

REPRESENTATION

26. The contractor. An individual appellant may appear before the Board in person, a corporation by an officer thereof, a partnership or joint venture by a member thereof, or by an attorney at law duly licensed in any State, Commonwealth, Territory, or in the District of Columbia. The Board may authorize a contractor to appear by a duly authorized representative other than those mentioned in a special case, but for the purposes of that case only.

27. Status of Government counsel. Government counsel designated by the various departments to represent the departments, agencies, and bureaus cognizant of the disputes brought before the Board may in accordance with their authority represent the interests of the Government before the Board. They shall file notices of appearance with the Board, and notice thereof will be given appellant or his attorney in the form specified by the Board from time to time. Government counsel may, when it appears to them that there are questions of fact as to which there is no substantial controversy, agree with appellant or his attorney as to such facts by written stipulation or otherwise. Whenever at any time it appears that appellant and Government counsel are in agreement as to disposition of the controversy, the Board may suspend further processing of the appeal in order to permit reconsideration by the contracting officer; provided, however, that if the Board is advised thereafter by either party that the controversy has not been disposed of by agreement the case shall be restored to the Board's calendar for hearing without loss of position.

DECISIONS

28. Decisions of the Board will be made in writing and authenticated copies thereof will be forwarded simultaneously to both parties. The rules of the Board and all final orders and decisions (except those required for good cause to be held confidential and not cited as precedents) shall be available to public inspection at the offices of the Board in Washington, D. C.

MOTIONS FOR RECONSIDERATION

29. A motion for reconsideration, if filed by either party, shall set forth specifically the ground or grounds relied upon to sustain the motion, and shall be filed within 30 days from the date of the receipt of a copy of the decision of the Board by the party filing the motion.

TITLE 46—SHIPPING

Chapter I—Coast Guard, Department of the Treasury

Subchapter O—Regulations Applicable To Certain Vessels During Emergency

[CGFR 55-49]

PART 154—WAIVERS OF NAVIGATION AND VESSEL INSPECTION LAWS AND REGULATIONS [1]

PERMITS FOR COMMERCIAL VESSELS HANDLING EXPLOSIVES AT MILITARY INSTALLATIONS

The Secretary of Defense in a letter dated October 19, 1955, to the Secretary of the Treasury requested a general waiver of quantitative restrictions for commercial vessels loading explosives at the Department of Defense waterfront installations. Section 1 of the act of December 27, 1950 (64 Stat. 1120; 46 U. S. C., note preceding 1), states in part as follows:

That the head of each department or agency responsible for the administration of the navigation and vessel-inspection laws is directed to waive compliance with such laws upon the request of the Secretary of Defense to the extent deemed necessary in the interest of national defense by the Secretary of Defense. • • •

Accordingly, the request of the Secretary of Defense for a waiver order is granted. The purpose for this waiver order designated § 154.15, as well as 33 CFR 19.15, is to waive the navigation and vessel inspection laws and regulations issued pursuant thereto which are administered by the United States Coast Guard to the extent that no quantitative restrictions, based on considerations of isolation and remoteness, shall be required by the Coast Guard for commercial vessels loading or unloading explosives at the Department of Defense waterfront installations. It is hereby found that compliance with R. S. 4472, as amended, and the Administrative Procedure Act with respect to notice of proposed rule making, public rule making procedure thereon, and effective date requirements thereof is impracticable and contrary to the public interest.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by an order of the Acting Secretary of the Treasury, dated January 23, 1951, identified as CGFR 51-1 and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated January 26, 1951 (16 F. R. 731), the following waiver order is promulgated and shall be in effect on and after the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER:

§ 154.15 Permits for commercial vessels handling explosives at military installations. Pursuant to the request of the Secretary of Defense in a letter dated October 19, 1955, made under the provisions of section 1 of the act of December 27, 1950 (64 Stat. 1120; 46 U. S. C., note prec. 1), I hereby waive in the interest of national defense compliance with the provisions of R. S. 4472, as amended (46 U. S. C. 170), and the regulations promulgated thereunder in Part 146 of this chapter to the extent that no quantitative restrictions, based on considerations of isolation and remoteness, shall be required by the Coast Guard for commercial vessels loading or unloading explosives at the Department of Defense waterfront installations. This waiver shall not relieve a commercial vessel loading or unloading explosives at the Department of Defense waterfront installations from the requirement of securing a permit from the Coast Guard for such operations with respect to quantitative or other restrictions imposed by the Coast Guard on the basis of each vessel's ability to meet prescribed stowage and handling requirements.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 10798; FCC 55-1134]

[Rules Amdt. 2-10]

PART 2—FREQUENCY ALLOCATIONS AND RADIO TREATY MATTERS; GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

ESTABLISHING A PROGRAM FOR CERTIFICATION OF EQUIPMENT ACCEPTABLE FOR LICENSING

1. The Commission has under consideration a petition filed by the Radio-Electronics-Television Manufacturers Association (RETMA) for amendment of § 2.524 (d) (2), formerly designated § 2.523 (b) (4) (iv) (b), of its rules so as to change the effective date specified therein from November 15, 1955, to May 15, 1956. This paragraph of the rules requires field intensity measurements of spurious radiations to be submitted with requests for type acceptance of equipment.

2. The rules in Part 2 concerning type acceptance became effective May 16, 1955, pursuant to rule making proceedings in the above-entitled matter. In the course of these proceedings, the Commission considered a petition by RETMA which requested, among other things, the postponement until November 15, 1955, of the requirement for field intensity measurements of spurious radiations. RETMA proposed to develop a standard measurement technique for field intensity measurement of spurious radiation, based on a correlation test program involving measurements of a given transmitter by various manufacturers and by the Commission's laboratory. The Commission agreed that further development of measurement techniques in this area was needed and that the proposed test program offered promise of providing a generally acceptable measurement technique within a relatively short time. Accordingly, the requirement (§ 2.524 (d) (2)) for field intensity measurements of spurious omissions was made to become effective on and after November 15, 1955. In the meantime, since May 16, 1955, the remainder of the type acceptance requirements in Part 2 have been effective, including the requirement for measurements of spurious omissions by radio frequency voltage measuresments at the output terminals of the equipment (§ 2.524 (d) (1)).

3. In support of their request, the petitioners state that the industry test program for development of techniques for field intensity measurement of spurious omission has been carried out energetically but, to date, the refinement of techniques necessary to provide meaningful information in type acceptance applications has not been achieved. It is stated that the correlation test measurements carried out on a single transmitter show an average spread of 12 percent of the decibel value. The petitioners consider this spread excessive and desire to carry out additional tests and to evaluate a new measurement technique which has been proposed to them. Petitioners estimate that a total of six months may be required for completion of their contemplated additional work.

4. It appears from the information presented by the petitioners that additional time is needed for the development of a satisfactory technique for field intensity measurement of spurious omissions. Consequently, a postponement of the effective date of § 2.524 (d) (2) for an additional six months is considered warranted and is being adopted herein.

5. Since the amendment in question relates solely to a change in the effective date of a provision of the rules which would otherwise become effective as of November 15, 1955, notice of proposed rule making pursuant to section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act would be both impracticable and contrary to the public interest. Moreover, since the effect of the amendment is to relieve for a six month period a restriction otherwise imposed upon persons seeking type acceptance of various types of equipment covered in these proceedings, it may be effective immediately under section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act.

6. In view of the foregoing considerations and pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 (i), 301 and 303 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; It is ordered, That effective immediately, Part 2 of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended as follows:

Section 2.524 (d) (2) is amended by changing the date specified therein from November 15, 1955, to May 15, 1956.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies secs. 301, 303, 48 Stat. 1081, 1082; 47 U. S. C. 301, 303)

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS; ORDER EXTENDING EFFECTIVE DATE

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held in its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 16th day of November 1955;

The Commission has before it for consideration its report and order (FCC 55-802), issued in the above-entitled proceeding on July 22, 1955, amending § 3.614 (b) of its rules relating to antena height and power requirements for VHF television stations in Zone I.

The amendment was originally scheduled to become effective on August 31, 1955. However, on September 1, 1955, the Commission issued an order extending the effective date to October 1, 1955, pointing out that several petitions had been filed with the Commission for reconsideration of its action in this proceeding and requesting that the effectiveness of the amendment be stayed pending such reconsideration. It was noted, also, that several requests had been submitted seeking postponement of the effective date of the amendment until the present studies of the Air Coordinating Committee on the subject of tall towers are completed. Oppositions to the various petitions for reconsideration and requests for stay have also been filed. On September 28, 1955, the Commission further extended the effective date to November 1, 1955; and on October 21, 1955, further extended the effective date to December 1, 1955.

Additional time will be necessary for the Commission to consider the above requests. Accordingly, the Commission believes that the public interest would be served by further staying the effectiveness of the amendment.

In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That the effective date of the amendment of the Commission's rules and regulations adopted by its report and order issued July 22, 1955, in this proceeding, is extended to January 9, 1956.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies sec. 303, 48 Stat. 1082, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 303)

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR Part 3]

[Docket No. 11546; FCC 55-1136]

MECHANICAL REPRODUCTIONS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matter of Amendment of §§ 3.188, 3.288, 3.588, and 3.653 of the Commission's rules and regulations relating to mechanical reproductions.

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The Commission has before it for consideration a petition filed on January 24, 1955, by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters (NARTB), Washington, D. C., requesting it to amend §§ 3.188 (AM), 3.288 (FM), and 3.653 (TV) of its rules and regulations to eliminate certain program interruption occasioned by announcements that broadcasts consist in whole or in part of one or more mechanical reproductions. Present regulations require such announcements for virtually all mechanically reproduced programs. Petitioner proposes that the following wording be substituted for the present text in each of §§ 3.188, 3.288, and 3.653, or, alternatively, that some other amendment be designed to effectuate the same purpose:

(a) No mechanically reproduced program, whether visual or aural, consisting of a speech, news event, news commentator, forum, panel discussion, special event, or any other such program, in which the element of time is of special significance and presentation of which would create, either intentionally or otherwise, the impression or belief on the part of the listening or viewing audience that the event or program being broadcast is in fact occurring simultaneously with the broadcast, shall be broadcast without an appropriate announcement being made at the beginning and conclusion of the broadcast that it is a mechanically reproduced program: Provided, however, That each such program of one minute or less need not be announced as such.

(b) The exact form of identifying announcement is not prescribed, but the language shall be clear and in terms commonly used and understood. Any other program mechanically produced or series of mechanical reproductions need not be announced as provided in subsection (a), but the licensee shall not attempt affirmatively to create the impression that any program being broadcast by mechanical reproduction consists of live talent.

3. In support of the proposed amendment, the NARTB urges that the present rules governing mechanical reproductions are outmoded and that the great strides which have been made in the recording, transcription, broadcasting and telecasting fields, as well as the existence of a more sophisticated audience response, warrant relaxation of these rules to conform to the situation currently existing in broadcasting. While the Association subscribes to the broad principle that the public interest is best served by the elimination of industry practices deliberately calculated to mislead or deceive the public in any way, it urges that the present rules extend a protection neither warranted by the actualities of broadcasting nor really desired by the public. The Association submits that there is little possibility of deceiving the public by deletion of the announcement that a broadcast is accomplished by means of mechanical reproduction, except with respect to those programs in which the element of time is of such special significance that the impression or belief would be treated in the mind of the public that the event or program was, in fact, occurring simultaneously with the broadcast, i. e., newscasts, political speeches, panels, forums, news commentators and special events. It maintains that no real benefit results from requiring programs in which the time element is not of special importance to be announced as being mechanically reproduced since a mechanically reproduced program is often superior to a live program today; the possibilities of deception are minimal, and such announcements serve only to disrupt program continuity and to irritate the public. NARTB maintains that the public is more concerned with technical quality and program content than with the method by which the programs reach it. While the Association recognizes that under its proposal the public may occasionally believe that a mechanically reproduced program is a live broadcast, it urges that the public interest requires the application of a rule of reason and that the public interest considerations inherent in "high-program" content call for service to the public free from announcements of the obvious. With respect to delayed programs in which the element of time is of special significance, the Association contends that broadcasters may be expected to present such programs in a manner that informs listeners adequately of the circumstances.

4. The Commission has also before it for consideration a petition filed on June 9, 1955, by the American Broadcasting Company (ABC), a division of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc., requesting that the footnote to § 3.188 (AM) of the Rules and Regulations be amended to extend the waiver provision to network programs which are transcribed and rebroadcast at a later hour because of the time differential resulting from the time zone differences between the place where the program originates and where it is rebroadcast. The present waiver applies only to the time differential resulting from the adoption of daylight saving time in some areas. Petitioner proposes that the following wording be substituted for the present text of the footnote to § 3.188; and that § 3.288 (FM) also be amended by the addition of the same proposed footnote: "The requirements of this section are waived with respect to network programs, transcribed and rebroadcast at a later hour because of the time differential resulting from the adoption of daylight saving time in some areas or because of the time zone differentials between the place where the program originates and where it is rebroadcast, provided the off-the-line recording (whether by the network itself at one of its key stations or by an individual station) is for delayed broadcast locally where the delay does not exceed the daylight saving and/or time zone differentials between the place where the program originates and where it is rebroadcast. Each station which broadcasts network programs on a delayed basis in accordance with this waiver shall make an appropriate announcement at least once each day between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 10:00 p. m. stating that some or all of the network programs which are broadcast by that station are delayed broadcasts by means of transcription, and indicating whether the transcriptions have been made by the network or the individual station. A network organization or individual station taking advantage of this waiver should so advise the Commission."

5. In support of the proposed amendment, ABC notes that the presentation of programs by transcription is an accepted part of American broadcasting. It points out that the present waiver provision in the mechanical reproduction rules—which applies to network programs delayed for one hour because of daylight saving time in some areas—has been in effect over eight years; that there is no indication that the networks and stations operating under the waiver have found any confusion resulting from the failure to make separate announcements for each transcribed network program, and that the public has benefited from the elimination of needless repetition of the announcements that a particular program is transcribed and presented one hour later. While ABC states that it is generally in accord with the revisions proposed by NARTB to the mechanical reproduction rules, it asserts that the changes the Association proposes may require formal rule making and unavoidable delay before a decision can be reached with respect to the Association's proposals. It therefore urges the Commission to extend the present waiver to take care of the time zone differences throughout the United States pending consideration of the NARTB petition. Petitioner urges that to compete with television, it is desirable for network radio to broadcast at the same clock hour in the various time zones; that the requirement of an announcement that a program is transcribed before or after each five minute program and at the beginning and end of a longer program, with an additional interruption every 30 minutes in programs of longer duration, results in additional costs to the station and unnecessary annoyance to the listener; and that in view of the experience with the present waiver provision, no repercussions would result from extending the waiver to cover broadcasts delayed up to a maximum of four hours because of time zone differences.

6. The Commission is of the view that rule making proceedings are warranted in this matter. The Commission desires that all interested parties submit comments with respect to these proposals in order that it may have the benefit of such views prior to taking further action. It is noted that the NARTB proposal is much broader in scope than the proposal of ABC and, if adopted in substance, would render moot the proposal filed by ABC. Accordingly, the Commission requests that comments be directed towards the relative merits of the two proposals. It is also noted that the NARTB proposal is limited to amendment of §§ 3.188 (AM), 3.288 (FM), and 3.653 (TV). The Commission requests comments on the desirability of extending the proposed amendment to include § 3.588 (noncommercial educational FM). The footnote waiver which the ABC request proposes to amend is appended only to § 3.188 (AM). The Commission requests comments on the desirability of extending the present waiver, and also the amendment proposed by ABC, to the other sections relating to mechanical reproductions, particularly §§ 3.288 (FM) and 3.653 (TV.)

7. Authority for the issuance of the instant notice is contained in sections 4 (i), 303 (f), and 303 (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

8. Any interested person who is of the view that the proposal herein should not be adopted may file with the Commission on or before December 15, 1955, written data, views, or arguments setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposals may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to such original comments as may be submitted should be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission or (2) good cause for filing such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such additional comments submitted before taking further action in this matter, and if any comments appear to warrant the holding of a hearing, oral argument, or demonstration, notice of the time and place of such hearing, oral argument or demonstration will be given.

9. In acordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: November 16, 1955.

Released: November 17, 1955.

T. 16½ South Range 10 East:
Section 6. Tracts 11 to 20, inclusive;
NW¼SW¼NE¼.

2. Classification of the above-described lands by this order segregates them from all appropriations, including locations under the mining laws, except as to applications under the Small Tract Act and applications under the Mineral leasing laws.

3. The lands are located approximately two miles southwest of Coyote Wells Station and one and one-half miles south of Ocotillo Townsite. The lands are within one mile of U. S. Highway 80. Schools, stores and other public facilities are available in the town of El Centro, 28 miles easterly on Highway 80. The soil is a loose, rocky, sandy loam, supporting a sparse vegetation of desert plants, such as ocotillo, creosote bush, Mormon Tea and various cacti. There is no evidence of metallic or nonmetallic minerals.

4. The individual tracts vary in size from 1.33 acres to 6.59 acres, and are all rectangular in shape. A plat of survey showing the location of each tract can be secured for $1.50 from the Bureau of Land Management, Room 706 California Fruit Building, 4th and J Streets, Sacramento 14, California.

Lessees who comply with the general terms and conditions of their leases will be permitted to purchase their tracts at the prices listed above providing that during the period of their leases they (a) construct the improvements specified in paragraph 6 or (b) file a copy of an agreement in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13 (d). Leases will not be renewable unless failure to construct the required improvements is justified under the circumstances and nonrenewal would work an extreme hardship on the lessee.

6. To maintain their rights under their leases, lessees will be required either (a) to construct substantial improvements on their lands or (b) file a copy of an agreement with their neighbors binding them to construct substantial improvements on their lands. Such improvements must conform with health, sanitation, and construction requirements of local ordinances and must, in addition, meet the following standards:

The dwelling-house must be suitable for year-round use, erected on a permanent foundation and with a minimum of 400 square feet of floor space. The dwelling house must be built in a workmanlike manner out of attractive materials properly finished. Adequate disposal and sanitary facilities must be installed. Conventional concrete, or concrete slab foundations are acceptable. Concrete piers are not acceptable as foundations.

7. The lands are now open to filing of drawing-entry cards (Form 4–775) only by persons entitled to veterans' preference. In brief, persons entitled to such preference are (a) honorably discharged veterans who have served in the armed forces of the United States for a period of at least 90 days after September 15, 1940, (b) surviving spouse or minor orphan children of such veterans, and (c) with the consent of the veteran, the spouse of living veterans. The 90-day requirement does not apply to veterans who were discharged on account of wounds or disability incurred in the line of duty or the surviving spouse or minor children of veterans killed in the line of duty. Drawing-entry cards (Form 4–775) are available upon request from the Manager, Land Office, 5th Floor, Bartlett Bldg., 215 W. 7th, Los Angeles 14, California.

Drawing-entry cards will be accepted if filled out in compliance with the instructions on the form and with the above-named official prior to 10:00 a. m., March 15, 1956. A drawing will be held on that date or shortly thereafter. Any person who submits more than one card will be declared ineligible to participate in the drawing. Tracts will be assigned to entrants in the order in which their names are drawn. All entrants will be notified of the results of the drawing. Successful entrants will be sent copies of the lease forms (Form 4–776), with instructions as to their execution and return and as to payment of fees and rentals.

8. All valid applications filed prior to November 7, 1955, will be granted the preference right provided for by 43 CFR 257.5 (a).

UPLAND COTTON MARKETING QUOTA

NOTICE OF REFERENDUM FOR 1956 CROP

The Secretary of Agriculture has duly proclaimed, pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, a national marketing quota for the crop of upland cotton produced in 1956.

A referendum of the farmers who were engaged in the production of upland cotton in the calendar year of 1955 will be held on December 13, 1955, pursuant to the provisions of the act and applicable regulations, to determine whether such farmers are in favor of or opposed to the 1956 quota. If two-thirds or more of the cotton farmers voting in the upland cotton referendum favor the quota, such quota will be in effect for the 1956 upland cotton crop. If more than one-third of the cotton farmers voting in such referendum oppose the quota, the quota will not be in effect for the 1956 upland cotton crop; however, farm acreage allotments established for such crop pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, will remain in effect and compliance with such acreage allotments will be a condition of eligibility of producers for price support under the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended.

REGISTRATION

Any person who, on the basis of the eligibility requirements set out below, is eligible to vote in the referendum and who has reason to believe he is not on record as a 1955 upland cotton producer in the county should notify the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee of his eligibility and request that his name be entered on the register of eligible voters.

ELIGIBILITY TO VOTE

1. Farmers eligible to vote in the referendum will be those farmers who were engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1955 as owner-operator, cash tenant, standing-rent or fixed-rent tenant, or landlord (other than a landlord of a standing-rent tenant, cash-rent or fixed-rent tenant) of a share tenant, or as a share tenant or sharecropper.

2. Any farmer whose only cotton production in 1955 consisted of extra long staple cotton shall not be eligible to vote in this referendum, but, if otherwise eligible, may vote in the extra long staple cotton referendum.

3. No cotton farmer (whether an individual, partnership, association, corporation, estate, trust, or other business enterprise or legal entity, and, wherever applicable, a State, political subdivision of a State, the Federal Government, or any agency thereof) shall be entitled to more than one vote in the referendum, even though such farmer may have been engaged in 1955 in the production of upland cotton on two or more farms or in two or more communities, counties, or States.

4. In case several persons, such as husband, wife, and children, participated in the production of upland cotton in 1955, under the same rental or cropping agreement or lease, only the persons who signed or entered into the rental or cropping agreement or lease shall be eligible to vote.

5. In the event two or more persons were engaged in producing upland cotton in 1955 not as members of a partnership but as tenants in common or as owners of community property, each such person shall be eligible to vote.

6. No person shall be eligible to vote in any community other than the community in which he now resides except as follows:

(a) Any person who resides in a community other than the community in which he is engaged in the production of upland cotton may, if he will not vote in the community in which he resides, vote at the polling place for the community in which he is engaged in the production of such cotton.

(b) Any person who resides in a community in which there is no polling place shall be eligible to vote at the polling place designated for the community nearest to the community in which he resides.

(c) Any person who on the day of the referendum will not be present in the county in which he is eligible to vote may, as early as 5 days prior to the date of the referendum, obtain a ballot at the most conveniently located ASC County Committee office and may cast his ballot by indicating his choice on the ballot, signing his name thereto and mailing it so that the ballot reaches the ASC County Committee for the county in which he is eligible to vote not later than the closing hour on the date of the referendum, which shall not be earlier than 5 o'clock p. m., local standard time.

7. There shall be no voting by mail (except as provided in paragraph 6 (c) above), by proxy, or by agent, but a duly authorized officer of a corporation, association, or other legal entity or a duly authorized member of a partnership, may cast its vote.

The foregoing provisions relating to registration and eligibility to vote in the referendum will appear on printed notices which will be posted in a conspicuous place in each community in which upland cotton was produced in 1955. The language appearing below will also appear on the notices prepared for posting and will be filled in by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee to show the place for balloting and the time for opening and closing of the polls.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 812-972]

ATLAS CORP. ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION FOR ORDER EXEMPTING TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN AFFILIATES

NOVEMBER 16, 1955.

In the matter of Atlas Corporation, Wasatch Corporation, Airfleets, Inc., San Diego Corporation, and Lisbon Uranium Corporation; File No. 812-972.

Notice is hereby given that Atlas Corporation ("Atlas") and Wasatch Corporation ("Wasatch"), both closed-end, non-diversified management investment companies registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("act"), and Airfleets, Inc. ("Airfleets"), San Diego Corporation ("San Diego"), and Lisbon Uranium Corporation ("Lisbon"), have filed a joint application for an order or orders pursuant to sections 17 (b) and 6 (c) of the act exempting certain transactions hereinafter described from the provisions of sections 17 (a) and 18 (a) (1) (A) of the act.

The application makes the following representations:

San Diego is engaged in the oil and gas production business as is Airfleets. The latter company is also engaged in the manufacture and sale of aircraft equipment. Lisbon is engaged in the exploration and development of uranium properties.

Atlas owns approximately 96 percent of the voting stock of Wasatch, 18 percent of the voting stock of San Diego and 3 percent of the voting stock of Airfleets. Voting stock of Lisbon is owned by Wasatch, San Diego and Airfleets, respectively, in the amount of 32 percent, 16 percent and 16 percent. Floyd B. Odlum, President of Atlas, is also President of Airfleets and is the owner of more than 5 percent of its voting stock.

For a considerable period prior to February 1955, Lisbon had been interested in acquiring certain uranium claims in the Colorado Plateau owned by Robert M. Barrett of Salt Lake City, Utah, some of which claims were and are contiguous on three sides to some of the claims then and now owned by Lisbon.

Barrett is not an officer or director or, so far as is known, a stockholder of any of the corporations which are parties to this application. After protracted negotiations with Barrett, it appeared that the terms upon which Barrett would sell the claims owned by him were beyond the cash resources of Lisbon at the time such negotiations reached the point where a definite decision had to be reached promptly. Lisbon thereupon entered into an agreement dated February 15, 1955, with Wasatch, Airfleets and San Diego, whereby the latter named corporations undertook to enter into a written option agreement with Barrett relating to the Barrett claims. The option agreement with Barrett was executed by a duly authorized agent of Airfleets, which, in turn, was acting for itself and as agent for San Diego and Wasatch.

Pursuant to this agreement, Wasatch, Airfleets and San Diego have paid an aggregate of $510,000 to Barrett, and have expended $228,704 in exploration and drilling activities and for other related expenses. These expenditures were made by Wasatch, Airfleets and San Diego in the proportions of 50 percent, 25 percent and 25 percent, respectively.

Atlas now proposes to advance to Lisbon up to $4,350,000 (of which $60,000 has already been advanced) in order that Lisbon may, among other things, reimburse Wasatch, Airfleets and San Diego for their expenditures on its behalf with interest at 5 percent from the dates of the payments to the date of reimbursement. Upon such reimbursement, Wasatch, Airfleets and San Diego will transfer the Barrett option agreement to Lisbon.

The amount to be advanced by Atlas will also enable Lisbon to make the final payment of $3,090,000 required to be made on or before December 1, 1955, in order to complete the payments required for exercise of the Barrett option. The balance of the proposed advance is for acquisition, exploration, drilling and other expenses either incurred or anticipated prior to May 1, 1956. Lisbon has in contemplation a permanent financing program which should, under present plans, be completed by that date.

Lisbon proposes to deliver to Atlas its promissory note or notes in the aggregate amount of the advance, maturing not later than May 1, 1956, with interest at 5 percent per annum, together with a mortgage which will be a first lien on the Barrett claims. Wasatch, Airfleets and San Diego propose to deliver to Atlas, in consideration of the Atlas advance, their several guarantees of collection of a portion of the advance equivalent to the proportionate stock interests in Lisbon of 32 percent, 16 percent and 16 percent, respectively.

Generally speaking, section 17 (a) of the act prohibits an affiliated person of a registered investment company or any affiliated person of such a person, from selling to, or purchasing from such registered investment company or any company controlled by such registered investment company, any securities or property, subject to certain exceptions not here pertinent. The Commission upon application, pursuant to section 17 (b), may grant an exemption from the provisions of section 17 (a) if it finds that the terms of the proposed transactions, including the consideration to be paid, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned, that the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of each registered investment company concerned, as recited in its registration statement and reports filed under the act, and is consistent with the general purposes of the act.

The proposed transfer by Wasatch, Airfleets and San Diego of their respective interests in the option agreement to Lisbon involves the purchase by an affiliate (Lisbon) of a registered investment company (Atlas) of property from a company (Wasatch) controlled by such registered company. It also involves a sale by affiliates (Airfleets and San Diego) of an affiliate (Lisbon) of a registered investment company (Wasatch) of property to a company (Lisbon) presumed to be controlled by such registered investment company. Consequently, the transfer would be prohibited by the provisions of section 17 (a) (1) of the act unless exempted pursuant to section 17 (b) thereof.

To the extent that the several guarantees of Wasatch, Airfleets and San Diego may be deemed to constitute the sale of a security by each of those corporations to Atlas, there is involved a sale of securities to a registered investment company (Atlas) by affiliates (Wasatch and San Diego) or an affiliate (Airfleets) of an affiliate (Lisbon) of such registered investment company. The proposed guarantees would therefore be prohibited under section 17 (a) (1) of the act unless exempted pursuant to section 17 (b) thereof.

To the extent that the guarantee by Wasatch of the repayment of 32 percent of the advance by Atlas may be deemed to constitute the issuance of a senior debt security by Wasatch within the meaning of section 18 of the act, it may contravene the provisions of section 18 (a) (1) (A) of said act, because the asset coverage for the senior debt securities of Wasatch may be less than 300 percent after the making of such guarantee.

Section 6 (c) of the act provides, among other things, that the Commission, by order upon application, may conditionally or unconditionally exempt any person from any provision or provisions of the act or of any rule or regulation thereunder, if and to the extent that such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 30, 1955, at 12:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing any facts bearing upon the desirability of a hearing on the matter and may request that a hearing be held, such request stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application may be granted as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act.

By the Commission.

Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date said declaration, as filed or as amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100, or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

ORDER REGARDING ISSUANCE OF COMMON STOCK BY PUBLIC-UTILITY COMPANY AND ACQUISITION OF ITS EMPLOYEES' STOCK BY SAID COMPANY

Fall River has outstanding 210,000 shares of $25 par value common capital stock and 5,000 shares of $10 par value employees' stock. Each share of common capital stock is entitled to one vote and ten shares of employees' stock are entitled to one vote. Fall River proposes to issue and sell up to 2,000 additional shares of common capital stock and offer such shares to the holders of the employees' stock for cash at the par value thereof and to use the proceeds to purchase employees' stock at the par value thereof. According to the declaration there are only thirty-five holders of employees' stock and, by reason of limitations provided in Fall River's by-laws prescribed by authority granted in the General Laws of Massachusetts, such stock may not be transferred except to Fall River employees or the company and if sold or transferred to Fall River the price which can be paid for such stock is limited to its par value.

The foregoing transactions have been expressly authorized by the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities and it appears that no other commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions. It is further stated that there are no commissions, fees or expenses to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions, except legal fees and expenses estimated in the aggregate at $1,600. It is requested that the Commission's order herein become effective upon issuance.

R. 3671, 3672) are hereby amended to provide for the taking of mortgages in favor of the Government in connection with insured Farm Ownership loans, to conform the processing of such loans in accordance therewith, and to read as follows:

§ 332.8 Accepting option and requesting title servce. (a) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, when the County Supervisor receives Form FHA–476 indicating approval of the loan, he will: (1) In case of a Tenant Purchase or Farm Enlargement loan prepare the acceptance of option letter, Form FHA–191, "Acceptance of Option (Vendor to Furnish Abstract)," or Form FHA–191B, "Acceptance of Option (Vendor to Furnish Title Insurance)." QUARANTINE

§ 319.8 Notice of quarantine. (a) Pursuant to sections 5 and 7 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912, as amended (7 U. S. C. 159, 160), and after the public hearing required thereunder, the Administrator of the Agricultural Research Service hereby determines that the unrestricted importation into the United States from all foreign countries and localities of (1) any parts or products of plants of the genus Gossypium, including seed cotton; cottonseed; cotton lint, linters, and other forms of cotton fiber (not including yarn, thread, and cloth); cotton seed hulls, cake, meal, and other cottonseed products, except oil; cotton waste, including gin waste and thread waste; and any other unmanufactured parts of cotton plants; and (2) secondhand burlap and other fabrics, shredded or otherwise, which have been used or are of the kinds ordinarily used, for containing cotton, grains (including grain products), field seeds, agricultural roots, rhizomes, tubers, or other underground crops, may result in the entry into the United States of the pink bollworm (Pectinophora gossypiella (Saund.)), the golden mematode of potatoes Heterodera rostochiensis Wr.), the flag smut disease (Urocystis tritici Koern.), and other injurious plant diseases and insect pests, and said Administrator hereby further determines, that, in order to prevent the introduction into the United States of said plant diseases and insect pests, which are new to or not heretofore widely prevalent or distributed within and throughout the United States, it is necessary to forbid the importation into the United States of the plants and products, including fabrics, specified above, except as permitted in the regulations supplemental hereto. Hereafter the plants and products specified above shall not be imported or offered for entry into the United States from any foreign country or locality except as permitted by said regulations, and the plants and products permitted by the regulations to be imported or offered for entry shall be subject to the provisions of sections 1, 2, 3, and 4 of said Plant Quarantine Act (7 U. S. C. 154, 156, 157, and 158): Provided, That whenever the Chief of the Plant Quarantine Branch shall find that existing conditions as to the pest risk involved in the importation of any of the permitted plants or products as provided in the regulations make it safe to modify, by making less stringent, the restrictions contained in any of such regulations, he shall set forth and publish such findings in administrative instructions, specifying the manner in which the regulations shall be made less stringent, whereupon such modification shall become effective.

(b) As used in this section the term "United States" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in the regulations supplemental hereto.

REGULATIONS; GENERAL

§ 319.8–1 Definitions. For the purposes of the regulations in this subpart, the following words shall be construed, respectively, to mean:

CONDITIONS OF IMPORTATION AND ENTRY OF COTTON AND COVERS

§ 319.8–2 Permit procedure. (a) Except as otherwise provided for in §§ 319.8–10 and 319.8–18, permits shall be obtained for importations into the United States of all cotton and covers. Permits will be issued only for cotton and covers authorized entry under §§ 319.8–6 through 319.8–20. Persons desiring to import cotton or covers under §§ 319.8–6 through 319.8–20 shall, in advance of departure of such material from a foreign port, submit to the Branch an application[2] stating the name and address of the importer, the country from which such material is to be imported, and the kind of cotton or covers it is desired to import. Applications to import cottonseed shall state the approximate quantity and the proposed United States port of entry. Applications to import lint, linters, or waste shall state whether such materials are compressed.

(b) Applications to import lint, linters, or waste at a port[3] other than one in the North, in California, or on the Mexican Border shall also specify whether the commodity is compressed to high density.

(c) Applications for permits may be made orally or on forms provided for the purpose by the Branch, or may be made by a letter or telegram containing all the information required by this section.

(d) Upon receipt and approval of such application by the Branch, an individual or continuing permit will be issued authorizing the importation and specifying the port of entry and the conditions of entry. A copy of the permit will be supplied to the importer.

(e) Upon receipt of an application to import lint, linters, waste, or covers, without treatment, for utilization under agreement as defined in § 319.8–8 (a) (2), an investigation will be made by an inspector to determine that the receiving mill or plant is satisfactorily located geographically, is equipped with all necessary safeguards, and is apparently in a position to fulfill all precautionary conditions to which it may agree. Upon determination by the inspector that these qualifications are fulfilled, the owner or operator of the mill or plant may sign an agreement specifying that the required precautionary conditions will be maintained. Such signed agreement will be a necessary requisite to the release at the port of entry of any imported lint, linters, waste, or covers for forwarding to and utilization at such mill or plant in lieu of vacuum fumigation or other treatment otherwise required by this subpart. Permits for the importation of such materials will be issued in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section.

(f) Permits for importation of any cotton or covers are conditioned upon compliance with all requirements set forth therein and such additional requirements in this subpart as are in terms applicable thereto. Failure to comply with any such requirement will be deemed to invalidate the permit. Permits may also be cancelled or may be refused as provided in § 319.8–3, or entry denied as provided in §§ 319.8–11, 319.8–12, and 319.8–13.

(g) If through no fault of the importer a shipment of cotton or covers arrives at a United States port in advance of the issuance of a permit, it may be held, under suitable safeguards prescribed by the inspector at the port, in Customs custody at the risk of the importer, pending issuance of a permit, for a period not exceeding 20 days.

§ 319.8–3 Refusal and cancellation of permits. (a) Permits for the importation of lint, linters, and waste from contiguous areas of Mexico as authorized in § 319.8–11 may be refused and existing permits cancelled by the Chief of the Branch or the inspector (1) if, in the opinion of the Chief of the Branch, effective quarantine measures are not maintained by the duly authorized officials of Mexico to prohibit the movement into such contiguous areas of cotton and covers grown or handled in other parts of Mexico infested by the pink bollworm or in countries other than the United States, or (2) if the lint, linters, and waste have not been produced in the contiguous areas and handled under sanitary conditions paralleling those required by § 301.52–1 et seq. of this chapter, as amended, for like products originating in parts of the United States designated in § 301.52–2 of this chapter, as amended, as coming within the pink bollworm regulated area.

(b) Permits for the importation of lint and linters from the West Coast of Mexico as authorized in § 319.8–12 may be refused and existing permits cancelled by the Chief of the Branch or the inspector (1) if, in the opinion of the Chief of the Branch, effective quarantine measures are not maintained by the duly authorized officials of Mexico to prohibit the movement into the West Coast of Mexico of cotton and covers grown or handled in other parts of Mexico infested with the pink bollworm or in countries other than the United States, or (2) if it has been determined by the Branch that the pink bollworm exists in the area comprising the West Coast of Mexico.

(c) Permits for the importation of cotton and covers from the Imperial Valley of Mexico as authorized in § 319.8–13 may be refused and existing permits cancelled by the Chief of the Branch or the inspector (1) if, in the opinion of the Chief of the Branch, effective quarantine measures are not maintained by the duly authorized officials of Mexico to prohibit the movement into the State of Baja California, Mexico, of cotton and covers grown or handled in other parts of Mexico or in countries other than the United States, (2) if it has been determined by the Branch that the pink bollworm exists in the Imperial Valley of Mexico, or elsewhere in the State of Baja California, or (3) if cottonseed is moved to the Southern Territory of Baja California from areas of Mexico infested with the pink bollworm or from countries other than the United States, or other pest hazards are discovered or allowed to develop therein or in the State of Baja California which in the opinion of the Chief of the Branch would increase the risk of pest introduction into the United States by importations under § 319.8–13.

§ 319.8–4 Notice of arrival. Immediately upon arrival at a port of entry of any shipment of cotton or covers the importer shall submit in duplicate, through the United States Collector of Customs and for the United States Department of Agriculture, a notice of such arrival, on a form provided for that purpose (Form PQ–368) and shall give such information as is called for by that form.

§ 319.8–5 Marking of containers. Every bale or other container of lint, linters, waste, or covers imported or offered for entry shall be plainly marked with a bale number or other mark to distinguish it from other bales or containers. Bales of lint and linters from contiguous areas of Mexico, the West Coast of Mexico, and the Imperial Valley of Mexico shall, in addition, be tagged or otherwise marked to show the gin or mill of origin, unless for immediate export.

§ 319.8–6 Cottonseed cake and cottonseed meal. Entry of cottonseed cake and cottonseed meal will be authorized through any port at which the services of an inspector are available, subject to examination by an inspector for freedom from contamination. If found to be free of contamination, importations of such cottonseed cake and cottonseed meal will be released from further plant quarantine entry restrictions. If found to be contaminated such importations will be refused entry or subjected as a condition of entry to such safeguards as the inspector may prescribe, according to a method selected by him from administratively authorized procedures known to be effective under the conditions under which the safeguards are applied.

§ 319.8–7 Processed lint, linters, and waste. Entry of lint, linters, and waste will be authorized without treatment but upon compliance with other applicable requirements of this subpart when the inspector can determine that such lint, linters, and waste have been so processed by bleaching, dyeing, or other means, as to have removed all cottonseed or to have destroyed all insect life.

§ 319.8–8 Lint, linters, and waste—(a) Compressed to high density. (1) (i) Entry of lint, linters, and waste, compressed to high density, will be authorized subject to vacuum fumigation by approved methods at any port where approved fumigation facilities are available.

(ii) Importations of such lint, linters, and waste, arriving at a northern port where there are no approved fumigation facilities may be entered for transportation in bond to another northern port where such facilities are available, for the required vacuum fumigation.

(iii) Importations of such lint, linters, and waste, arriving at a port in the State of California where there are no approved fumigation facilities may be entered (a) for immediate transportation in bond by all-water route to a port where approved fumigation facilities are available, there to receive the required vacuum fumigation before release, or (b) for immediate transportation in bond by all-water route to a northern port for entry, without fumigation, for utilization as provided for in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(2) Entry of lint, linters, and waste compressed to high density, will be authorized without vacuum fumigation at any northern port, subject to movement to an approved mill or plant, the owner or operator of which has executed an agreement with the Branch to the effect that, in consideration of the waiving of vacuum fumigation as a condition of entry and the substitution of approved utilization therefor:

(i) The lint, linters, and waste so entered will be processed or manufactured at the mill or plant and until so used will be retained thereat, unless written authority is granted by the Branch to move the material to another mill or plant:

(ii) Sanitary measures satisfactory to the Branch will be taken with respect to the collection and disposal of any waste, residues, and covers, including the collection and disposal of refuse from railroad cars, trucks, or other carriers used in transporting the material to the mill or plant;

(iii) Inspectors of the Branch will have access to the mill or plant at any reasonable time to observe the methods of handling the material, the disposal of refuse, residues, waste, and covers, and otherwise to check compliance with the terms of the agreement;

(iv) Such reports of the receipt and utilization of the material, and disposal of waste therefrom as may be required by the inspector will be submitted to him promptly;

(v) Such other requirements as may be necessary in the opinion of the Chief of the Branch to assure retention of the material, including all wastes and residues, at the mill or plant and its processing, utilization or disposal in a manner that will eliminate all pest risk, will be complied with.

(3) Failure to comply with any of the conditions of an agreement specified in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph may be cause for immediate cancellation of the agreement by the inspector and refusal to release, without vacuum fumigation, lint, linters, and waste for transportation to the mill or plant.

(4) Agreements specified in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph may be executed only with owners or operators of mills or plants located in States in which cotton is not grown commercially and at locations in such other States as may be administratively designated by the Chief of the Branch after due consideration of possible pest risk involved and the proximity of growing cotton.

(b) Uncompressed or compressed. (1) (i) Entry of uncompressed or compressed lint, linters, and waste will be authorized, subject to vacuum fumigation by approved methods, through any northern port, through any port in the State of California, and through any port on the Mexican Border, where approved fumigation facilities are available.

(ii) Importations of such lint, linters, and waste arriving at a northern port where there are no approved fumigation facilities may be entered for immediate transportation in bond to another northern port where such facilities are available, for the required vacuum fumigation.

(iii) Importation of such lint, linters, and waste arriving at a port in the State of California where there are no approved fumigation facilities may be entered (a) for immediate transportation in bond by all-water route to any port in California or any northern port where approved fumigation facilities are available, there to receive the required vacuum fumigation before release, or (b) if compressed below high density, or if uncompressed waste derived from cotton milled in a non-cotton-producing country,[4] for immediate transportation in bond by all-water route to a northern port for entry without vacuum fumigation for utilization as provided for in paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

(2) Entry without vacuum fumigation will be authorized for compressed lint, linters, and waste and for uncompressed waste derived from cotton milled in non-cotton-producing countries,[4] arriving at a northern port, subject to movement to an approved mill or plant, the owner or operator of which has executed an agreement with the Branch as provided for in paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

§ 319.8–9 Hull fiber and gin trash. (a) Entry of hull fiber will be authorized under the same conditions as are applicable to waste under this subpart.

(b) Entry of gin trash will be authorized under the same conditions as are applicable to either seed cotton or cottonseed under this subpart.

§ 319.8–10 Covers. (a) Covers, including bags, slit bags, and parts of bags, which have been used as containers for cotton grown or processed in countries other than the United States may be authorized entry either (1) through northern ports or ports in the State of California, subject to vacuum fumigation by an approved method at a northern port or a California port, or without vacuum fumigation when the covers are moved for utilization to an approved mill or plant the owner or operator of which has executed an appropriate agreement with the Branch similar to that described in § 319.8–8 (a) (2), provided that movement by an all-water route will be required when it is necessary to move such covers from a California port to another California port or to a northern port for vacuum fumigation thereat or for forwarding therefrom to a mill or plant for utilization; or (2) through Mexican Border ports named in the permits, for vacuum fumigation by approved methods in parts of the United States within the pink bollworm regulated area designated in § 301.52–2 of this chapter, as amended. When such covers arrive at a port[5] other than a northern, California or Mexican Border port they will be required to be transported therefrom immediately, in bond by an all-water route, to a northern or California port where approved vacuum fumigation facilities are available, for vacuum fumigation thereat by an approved method or forwarding therefrom to an approved mill or plant for utilization: Provided, That such forwarding from a northern port to a California mill or plant must be by an all-water route.

(b) American cotton bagging, commonly known as coarse gunny, which has been used to cover only cotton grown or processed in the United States, may be authorized entry at any port under permit and upon compliance with §§ 319.8–4 and 319.8–5, without fumigation or other treatment. Marking patches of the finer burlaps or other fabrics when attached to bales of such bagging may be disregarded if, in the judgment of the inspector, they do not present a risk of carrying live pink bollworms, golden ematode cysts or flag smut spores.

(c) Bags, slit bags, parts of bags, and other covers which have been used as containers for root crops or are of a kind ordinarily used as containers for root crops may be authorized entry subject to immediate treatment in such manner and according to such method as the inspector may select from administratively authorized procedures known to be effective under the conditions under which the treatment is applied, and subject to any additional safeguard measures that may be prescribed by the inspector pursuant to § 319.8–24, or that he may prescribe in regard to the manner of discharge from the carrier and conveyance to the place of treatment: Provided, That such covers may be authorized entry from Canada without treatment as prescribed in this paragraph unless the covers are found to be contaminated.

(d) Bags, slit bags, parts of bags, and other covers that have been used as containers for wheat or wheat products that have not been so processed as to have destroyed all flag smut disease spores, or that have been used as containers for field seeds separated from wheat during the process of screening, and which arrive from a country named in § 319.59 (notice of quarantine No. 59 relating to the flag smut disease),[6] if intended for reuse in this country as grain containers may be authorized entry, subject to immediate treatment at the port of arrival. If such covers are not intended to be reused in this country as grain containers their entry may be authorized subject to movement for utilization to an approved mill or plant the owner or operator of which has executed an appropriate agreement with the Branch similar to that described in § 319.8–8 (a) (2). Covers coming within this paragraph only, may be entered without permit other than the authorization provided in this paragraph and without other restriction under this subpart upon presentation to an inspector of satisfactory evidence that they have been used only for grains exported from the United States and are being returned empty without use abroad and that while abroad they have been handled in a manner to prevent their contamination.

(e) When upon arrival at a port of entry any shipment of bags, slit bags, parts of bags, or other covers, is found to include one or more bales containing material the importation of which is regulated by paragraph (a), (c), or (d) of this section, the entire shipment, or any portion thereof, may be required by the inspector to be treated as specified in the applicable paragraph.

(f) If upon their arrival at a port of entry covers are classified by the inspector as coming within more than one paragraph of this section, they will be authorized entry only upon compliance with such requirements of the applicable paragraphs as the inspector may deem necessary to prevent the introduction of plant diseases and insect pests.

(g) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other paragraph of this section the entry from any country of bags, slit bags, parts of bags, and other covers will be authorized without treatment but upon compliance with other applicable sections of this subpart if the inspector finds that they have obviously not been used in a manner that would contaminate them or when in the inspector's opinion there is otherwise no plant pest risk associated with their entry.

OTHER CONDITIONS APPLICABLE TO COTTON AND COVERS FROM MEXICO

§ 319.8–11 From contiguous areas of Mexico—(a) Lint, linters, and waste. (1) Contingent upon the continued maintenance by the duly authorized Mexican officials of effective quarantine measures to prohibit the movement into contiguous areas of Mexico of cotton and covers grown or handled in other parts of Mexico infested with the pink bollworm or in countries other than the United States, the entry of lint, linters, and waste that have been certified by an inspector as having been produced in the contiguous areas of Mexico and as having been grown and handled under sanitary conditions paralleling those required for like products originating in adjacent parts of the United States designated as within the pink bollworm regulated area in § 301.52–2 of this chapter, as amended, will be authorized through ports on the Mexican Border named in the permits for movement into such regulated area of the United States. Gin and oil mill wastes from the contiguous areas of Mexico may be similarly authorized entry subject to treatment, under supervision of an inspector, according to procedures administratively approved under § 301.52 et seq. of this chapter, as amended, as a prerequisite for movement out of the area regulated on account of pink bollworm. Such lint, linters, and waste must be in covers free of contamination to the satisfaction of the inspector. Upon arrival at such ports, the lint, linters, and waste meeting the requirements of this section will be released from further plant quarantine entry restrictions and will immediately become subject to the requirements of said § 301.52 et seq., applicable to like products originating in the pink bollworm regulated area.

(2) If the chief of the Branch or the inspector finds that effective quarantines are not so maintained by Mexican officials, or if an inspector is unable to certify lint, linters, or waste as specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, entry will be refused under this section and will only be authorized in accordance with § 319.8–7, § 319.8–8, § 319.8–14, § 319.8–16, § 319.8–17, § 319.8–18, or § 319.8–20.

(b) Cottonseed and cottonseed hulls. (1) Entry of cottonseed will be authorized at any port on the Mexican Border

[4] For the purposes of this subpart the following countries are considered as non-cotton-producing countries: Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Eire, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain (United Kingdom), Iceland, Liechtenstein, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Sweden and Switzerland.

[5] See footnote 3 on p. 8661.

[4] See footnote 4 on p. 8662.

[6] The countries named in § 319.59, the Flag Smut Disease Quarantine, are Aden Protectorate, Afganistan, Australia, Bulgaria, Caucasus (including but not limited to Azerbaidzhan, South Russia, and Transcaucasia), Chile, China, Cypress, Egypt, Germany, Greece, India, Iran, Iraq, Israel, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, Oman, Pakistan, Palestine, Portugal, Saudi Arabia, Sinai Peninsula, Spain, Syria, Trans-Jordan, Tunisia, Turkestan, Turkey, Union of South Africa, and Yemen.

when certified by an inspector as having been produced in a contiguous area of Mexico, as having been treated by a method satisfactory to the Chief of the Branch, and as having been subsequently handled so as to prevent risk of introducing live pink bollworms and other injurious insects and plant diseases.

(2) Entry of cottonseed hulls will be authorized at any port on the Mexican Border when certified by an inspector as having been produced from seed that was treated in a contiguous area of Mexico by a method satisfactory to the Chief of the Branch, and as having been subsequently handled so as to prevent risk of introducing live pink bollworms and other injurious insects and plant diseases.

(3) Upon arrival in the United States such cottonseed and cottonseed hulls shall be released from further plant quarantine entry restrictions and shall immediately become subject to the requirements of § 301.52 et seq. of this chapter, as amended, applicable to cottonseed and cottonseed hulls originating in the pink bollworm regulated area.

§ 319.8–12 From West Coast of Mexico—(a) Compressed lint and linters. Contingent (1) upon the continued maintenance by the duly authorized Mexican officials of effective quarantine measures to prohibit the movement into the West Coast of Mexico of cotton and covers grown or handled in parts of Mexico infested with the pink bollworm or in countries other than the United States, and (2) upon continued freedom of this area from infestation with the pink bollworm, the entry of lint and linters that are compressed and that originate in the West Coast of Mexico will be authorized through such ports as are specified in the permits. If the Chief of the Branch or the Inspector determines that either of these contingencies is not met, entry will be refused under this paragraph and will only be authorized in accordance with §§ 319.8–7, 319.8–8, 319.8–14, 319.8–16, 319.8–17, 319.8–18, or 319.8–20.

(b) Uncompressed lint and linters. Uncompressed lint and linters from the West Coast of Mexico in covers free of contamination to the satisfaction of the inspector may be entered for immediate transportation in bond to a port designated by the inspector and by a route selected by him from a list of administratively approved ports and routings available to him, for compression, vacuum fumigation, or immediate exportation, or such material may be entered for movement to an approved mill or plant, the owner or operator of which has executed an agreement with the Branch similar to that described in § 319.8–8 (a) (2).

(c) Treated linters and cottonseed hulls. Linters and cottonseed hulls originating in the West Coast of Mexico that have been certified by an inspector as having been produced from cottonseed that was treated in the West Coast of Mexico by a method satisfactory to the Chief of the Branch and as having been subsequently protected from contamination may be entered through Nogales, Arizona, and such other ports as are specified in the permits.

§ 319.8–13 From Imperial Valley, Mexico. Contingent upon the continued maintenance by the duly authorized Mexican officials of effective quarantine measures to prohibit the movement into the State of Baja California, Mexico, of cotton and covers grown or handled in other parts of Mexico or in countries other than the United States, and upon continued freedom of the Imperial Valley of Mexico and other parts of the State of Baja California from infestation with the pink bollworm, and upon the absence of conditions in the Southern Territory of Baja California and the State of Baja California that would increase the risk of pest introduction into the United States by importations under this section, the entry of cotton and covers originating in the Imperial Valley of Mexico will be authorized through such ports on the Mexican Border as are specified in the permits. If the Chief of the Branch or the inspector determines that any of these contingencies is not met, entry will be refused under this section and will only be authorized in accordance with §§ 319.8–6 through 319.8–10, 319.8–14, or 319.8–16 through 319.8–20.

§ 319.8–14 Special authorization for lint, linters, and waste from Mexico. (a) Compressed lint, linters, and waste originating in Mexico may be entered under a permit at ports on the Mexican Border named in the permits, for movement via rail, over specified routes if required by the inspector, to (1) New Orleans, Louisiana, for vacuum fumigation or immediate exportation, (2) an approved mill or plant in the north, or other designated plant for manufacture into cellulose, if the owner or operator of such mill or plant has executed an agreement with the Branch as provided in § 319.8–8 (a) (2), or (3) northern ports for vacuum fumigation or exportation.

(b) Uncompressed lint, linters, and waste originating in Mexico will be authorized entry at Mexican Border ports specified in the permits (1) for movement to Fabens, Texas, for vacuum fumigation, after which they will be released from further plant quarantine entry restrictions and will immediately become subject to the requirements of § 301.52 et seq. of this chapter, as amended, applicable to like products originating in the pink bollworm regulated area, or (2) for compression at designated places located in parts of the United States designated as within the pink bollworm regulated area in § 301.52–2 of this chapter, as amended, after which such lint, linters, and waste shall be moved under the same conditions as described in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) All such lint, linters, and waste enterable under this section must be in covers free from uncrushed cottonseed to the satisfaction of the inspector.

§ 319.8–15 Mexican cotton and covers otherwise enterable. Cotton and covers from Mexico may also be entered in accordance with §§ 319.8–6 through 319.8–10 and 319.8–16 through 319.8–20 insofar as said sections are applicable.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 319.8–16 Importation into United States of cotton and covers exported therefrom. (a) Cotton and covers grown, produced, or handled in the United States and exported therefrom, and in the original bales or other containers in which such material was exported therefrom, may be imported into the United States at any port under permit, without vacuum fumigation or other treatment or restriction as to utilization, upon compliance with §§ 319.8–2, 319.8–4, and 319.8–5, and upon the submission of evidence satisfactory to the inspector that such material was grown, produced, or handled in the United States and does not constitute a risk of introducing the pink bollworm into the United States.

(b) Cotton and covers of foreign origin imported into the United States in accordance with this subpart and exported therefrom, when in the original bales or other original containers, may be reimported into the United States under the conditions specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 319.8–17 Importation for exportation, and importation for transportation and exportation; storage. (a) Importation of cotton and covers for exportation, or for transportation and exportation, in accordance with this subpart shall also be subject to §§ 352.1 through 352.8 of this chapter, as amended.

(b) Importation at northern ports of unfumigated lint, linters, waste, cottonseed cake, cottonseed meal, and covers used only for cotton, for exportation or for transportation and exportation through another northern port, may be authorized by the inspector under permit if, in his judgment, such procedures can be authorized without risk of introducing the pink bollworm.

(c) Importation, for purposes of storage in Customs custody pending exportation, of lint, linters, and waste, compressed to high density, will be authorized under permit at any port where approved fumigation facilities are available, and where there are inspectors at the port to supervise such storage, if the bales of such material are free of surface contamination, if they are kept segregated from other cotton and covers in a manner satisfactory to the inspector, and if waste is collected and disposed of in a manner satisfactory to the inspector.

(d) Except as provided in § 319.8–23 (a) (4), compressed lint, linters, and waste, uncompressed waste derived from cotton milled in a non-cotton-producing country,[4] and covers, arriving at a port in the north for entry for exportation, vacuum fumigation, or utilization in accordance with the requirements in this subpart, may be allowed movement in Customs custody for storage at a point in the north pending such exportation, or movement to an approved mill or plant for vacuum fumigation or utilization, when there are inspectors available to supervise such storage, if the bales are free of surface contamination, if they are kept segregated from other cotton and covers in a manner satisfactory to the inspector, and if waste is collected and disposed of in a manner satisfactory to the inspector. Such lint, linters, waste, and covers shall remain under Customs custody until released by the inspector.

(e) Importation of lint, linters, and waste from Mexico for transportation and exportation will be authorized under permit if such material is compressed before, or immediately upon entering into the United States, or is compressed while en route to the port of export at a compress specifically authorized in the permit. The ports of export which may be named in the permit shall be limited to those that have been administratively approved for such exportation. Storage of such compressed cotton may be authorized, in approved bonded warehouses in Texas.

(f) Importation of uncompressed lint, linters, and waste from Mexico will be authorized under permit at Brownsville, Texas, for exportation. Importation of such material may also be authorized at such other ports and under such conditions as may be designated in the permits for transportation to and exportation from the designated ports.

§ 319.8–18 Samples. (a) Samples of lint, linters, waste, cottonseed cake, and cottonseed meal may be entered without further permit other than the authorization contained in this section, but subject to inspection and such treatment as the inspector may deem necessary. Samples which represent either such products of United States origin or such products imported into the United States in accordance with the requirements of this subpart, and which were exported from the United States, may be entered into the United States without inspection when the inspector is satisfied as to the identity of the samples.

(b) Samples of cottonseed or seed cotton may be entered subject to the conditions and requirements provided in §§ 319.8–2, 319.8–4, and 319.8–19.

(c) Bales or other containers of cotton shall not be broken or opened for sampling and samples shall not be drawn until the inspector has so authorized and has prescribed the conditions and safeguards under which such samples shall be obtained.

§ 319.8–19 Cottonseed or seed cotton for experimental or scientific purposes. Entry of small quantities of cottonseed or seed cotton for experimental or scientific purposes may be authorized through such ports as may be named in the permit, and shall be subject to such special conditions as shall be set forth in the permit to provide adequate safeguards against pest entry.

§ 319.8–20 Importations by the Department of Agriculture. Cotton and covers may be imported by the Department of Agriculture for experimental or scientific purposes under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Chief of the Branch, which conditions may include clearance through the Plant Introduction Section of the Horticultural Crops Research Branch, Agricultural Research Service.

§ 319.8–21 Release of cotton and covers after 18 months' storage. Cotton and covers, the entry of which has been authorized subject to vacuum fumigation or other treatment because of the pink bollworm only, and which have not received such treatment but have been stored for a period of 18 months or more will be released from further plant quarantine entry restrictions.

§ 319.8–22 Ports of entry or export. When ports of entry or export are not specifically designated in this subpart but are left to the judgment of the inspector, the inspector shall designate only such ports as have been administratively approved for such entry or export.

§ 319.8–23 Treatment. (a) (1) Vacuum fumigation as required in this subpart shall consist of fumigation, in a vacuum fumigation plant approved by the Chief of the Branch, under the supervision of an inspector and to his satisfaction. Continued approval of the plant will be contingent upon the granting by the operator thereof, to the inspector, of access to all parts of the plant at all reasonable hours for the purpose of supervising sanitary and other operating conditions, checking the efficacy of the apparatus and chemical operations, and determining that wastage has been cleaned up and disposed of in a manner satisfactory to the inspector; and upon the maintenance at the plant of conditions satisfactory to the inspector.

(2) After cotton and covers have been vacuum fumigated they shall be so marked under the supervision of an inspector. Such material may thereafter be distributed, forwarded, or shipped without further plant quarantine entry restriction.

(3) Cotton and covers held by an importer for vacuum fumigation must be stored under conditions satisfactory to the inspector.

(4) Prompt vacuum fumigation of cotton and covers (other than high density cotton free of surface contamination) will be required at non-northern ports. Similar prompt vacuum fumigation will be required at Norfolk, Virginia, during the period June 15 to October 15 of each year, except for covers which have been used to contain only lint, linters, or waste, and the bales of which are compressed to a density of 28 or more pounds per cubic foot and are free of surface contamination.

(b) An inspector may authorize the substitution of processing, utilization, or other form of treatment for vacuum fumigation when in his opinion such other treatment, selected by him from administratively authorized procedures, will be effective in eliminating infestation of the pink bollworm.

§ 319.8–24 Collection and disposal of waste. (a) Importers shall handle imported, unfumigated cotton and covers in a manner to avoid waste. If waste does occurr, the importer or his agent shall collect and dispose of such waste in a manner satisfactory to the inspector.

(b) If, in the judgment of an inspector, it is necessary as a safeguard against risk of pest dispersal to clean railway cars, lighters, trucks, and other vehicles and vessels used for transporting such cotton or covers, or to clean piers, warehouses, fumigation plants, mills, or other premises used in connection with importation of such cotton or covers, the importer or his agent shall perform such cleaning, in a manner satisfactory to the inspector.

(c) All costs incident to such collection, disposal, and cleaning other than the services of the inspector during his regular tour of duty and at the usual place of duty, shall be borne by the importer or his agent.

§ 319.8–25 Costs and charges. The services of the inspector during regularly assigned hours of duty and at the usual places of duty shall be furnished without cost to the importer. The Branch will not assume responsibility for any costs or charges, other than those indicated in this section, in connection with the entry, inspection, treatment, conditioning, storage, forwarding, or any other operation of any character incidental to the physical entry of an importation of a restricted material.

§ 319.8–26 Material refused entry. Any material refused entry for noncompliance with the requirements of this subpart shall be promptly removed from the United States or abandoned by the importer for destruction, and pending such action shall be subject to the immediate application of such safeguards against escape of plant pests as the inspector may prescribe. If such material is not promptly safeguarded by the importer, removed from the United States, or abandoned for destruction to the satisfaction of the inspector it may be seized, destroyed, or otherwise disposed of in accordance with section 10 of the Plant Quarantine Act (7 U. S. C. 164a). Neither the Department of Agriculture nor the inspector will be responsible for any costs accruing for demurrage, shipping charges, cartage, labor, chemicals, or other expenses incidental to the safeguarding or disposal of material refused entry by the inspector, nor will the Department of Agriculture or the inspector assume responsibility for the value of material destroyed.

§ 319.8–27 Applicability of Mexican Border Regulations. The provisions in this subpart in no way affect the applicability of Part 320 of this chapter, as amended, the Mexican Border Regulations, to the entry from Mexico of railway cars or other vehicles or materials.

This document modifies some of the requirements of the regulations for entry of cotton, certain cotton products, and covers where experience with trade practices and enforcement of the regulations have shown the desirability of changes to accord with recognized hazards of pest introduction. The principal modification requires that in most instances importations of bagging used for root crops, or of a kind ordinarily used for root crops, regardless of origin (with an exception for that imported from Canada), must be fumigated upon entry. This is being required because of the impracticability of determining whether or not such bagging has previously been used for root crops produced on soil infested with the golden nomatode, and because of the present lack of knowledge concerning golden hematode distribution in foreign countries. Other changes are made in the quarantine and regulations for the sake of clarity.

The foregoing quarantine and regulations shall be effective on and after December 26, 1955, at which time they shall supersede the subpart—Foreign Cotton and Covers (7 CFR 1954 Supp. 319.8, 319.8–1 et seq.) effective May 10, 1953 (18 F. R. 2015).

Done at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of November 1955.

Acting Administrator,
Agricultural Research Service.

PART 721—CORN

SUBPART—1956

PROCLAMATION OF COMMERCIAL CORN-PRODUCING AREA

§ 721.701 Basis and purpose. (a) This document is issued to proclaim the commercial corn-producing area for 1956 pursuant to sections 301 (b) (4) and 327 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

(b) In making the determinations contained in § 721.702, the corn acreage estimates of the Agricultural Marketing Service (formerly Bureau of Agricultural Economics) and the statistics of the Bureau of the Census relating to numbers of farms and acreage of farmland were used, adjusted where necessary to reflect the difference in the definition of "farm" used by the Commodity Stabilization Service and the Agricultural Conservation Program Service from that of the Bureau of the Census. It is hereby found and determined that the statistics of the Agricultural Marketing Service (formerly Bureau of Agricultural Economics) and the Bureau of the Census, as so adjusted and supplemented by Agricultural Conservation Program Service data, constitute the latest and most reliable statistics of the Federal Government.

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T. D. 53953]

PART 12—SPECIAL CLASSES OF MERCHANDISE

PART 16—LIQUIDATION OF DUTIES

PRACTICES IN IMPORT TRADE

In order to clarify, simplify, and make more effective and uniform the administration of the provisions of law hereinafter specified, relating to certain practices which may occur in import trade, the Customs Regulations are amended as follows:

1. Sections 12.42 to 12.47, relating to merchandise produced abroad by convict, forced, or indentured labor, are deleted and the following new sections are substituted therefor:

§ 12.42 Findings of Commissioner of Customs. (a) If any appraiser or other principal customs officer has reason to believe that any class of merchandise which is being, or is likely to be, imported into the United States is being produced, whether by mining, manufacture, or other means, in any foreign locality with the use of convict labor, forced labor, or indentured labor under penal sanctions so as to come within the purview of the first sentence of section 307, Tariff Act of 1930,[29] he shall communicate his belief to the Commissioner of Customs. Every such communication shall contain or be accompanied by a statement of substantially the same information as is required in paragraph (b) of this section, if in the possession of the appraiser or other officer or readily available to him.

(b) Any person outside the Customs Service who has reason to believe that merchandise produced in the circumstances mentioned in paragraph (a) of this section is being, or is likely to be, imported into the United States and, if the production is with the use of forced labor or indentured labor under penal sanctions, that merchandise of the same class is being produced in the United States in such quantities as to meet the consumptive demands of the United States may communicate his belief to any appraiser or the Commissioner of Customs. Every such communication shall contain, or be accompanied by, (1) a full statement of the reasons for the belief, (2) a detailed description or sample of the merchandise, and (3) all pertinent facts obtainable as to the production of the merchandise abroad. If the foreign merchandise is believed to be mined, produced, or manufactured with the use of forced labor or indentured labor under penal sanctions, such communication shall also contain (4) detailed information as to the production and consumption of the particular class of merchandise in the United States and the names and addresses of domestic producers likely to be interested in the matter.

(c) If any information filed with an appraiser pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section does not conform with the requirements of that paragraph, the communication shall be returned promptly to the person who submitted it with detailed written advice as to the respects in which it does not conform. If such information is found to comply with the requirements, it shall be transmitted by the appraiser within 10 days to the Commissioner of Customs, together with all pertinent additional information available to the appraiser.

(d) Upon receipt by the Commissioner of Customs of any communication submitted pursuant to paragraph (a) or (b) of this section and found to comply with the requirements of the pertinent paragraph, the Commissoner will cause such investigation to be made as appears to be warranted by the circumstances of the case and the Commissioner or his designated representative will consider any representations offered by foreign interests, importers, domestic producers, or other interested persons.

(e) If the Commissioner of Customs finds at any time that information available reasonably but not conclusively indicates that merchandise within the purview of section 307 is being, or is likely to be, imported, he will promptly advise all collectors of customs accordingly and the collectors shall thereupon withhold release of any such merchandise pending instructions from the Commissioner as to whether the merchandise may be released otherwise than for exportation.

(f) If it is determined on the basis of the foregoing that the merchandise is subject to the provisions of the said section 307, the Commissioner of Customs, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, will publish a finding to that effect.

(g) Any merchandise of a class specified in a finding made under paragraph (f) of this section, which is imported directly or indirectly from the locality specified in the finding and has not been released from customs custody before the date of publication of such finding shall be considered and treated as an importation prohibited by section 307, Tariff Act of 1930, unless the importer establishes by satisfactory evidence that the merchandise was not mined, produced, or manufactured in any part with the use of a class of labor specified in the finding.

(Sec. 307, 46 Stat. 689; 19 U. S. C. 1307)

§ 12.43 Proof of admissibility. (a) If an importer of any article detained under § 12.42 (e) or (g) desires to contend that the article was not mined, produced, or manufactured in any part with the use of a class of labor specified in section 307, Tariff Act of 1930, he shall submit to the Commissioner of Customs within 3 months after the date the article was imported a certificate of origin in the form set forth below, signed by the foreign seller or owner of the article and sworn to by him before an American consular officer or a person designated in section 482 (f), Tariff Act of 1930. If the article was mined, produced, or manufactured wholly or in part in a country other than that from which it was exported to the United States, an additional certificate in such form and so signed and sworn to by the last owner or seller in such other country, substituting the facts of transportation from such other country for the statements with respect to shipment from the country of exportation, shall be so submitted.

CERTIFICATE OF ORIGIN

I, _____, foreign seller or owner of the merchandise hereinafter described, do solemnly swear (affirm) that such merchandise, consisting of _____ (Quantity) of _____ (Description) in _____ bearing _____ (Number and kind of packages) the following marks and numbers _____ was mined, produced, or manufactured by _____ (Name) at or near _____, and was laden on board _____ (Carrier to the United States) at _____ which departed from (Place of lading) _____ (Place of final departure from country of exportation) on _____; and that _____ (Date) _____ (Class of labor specified in finding) was not employed in any stage of the mining, production, or manufacture of the merchandise or of any component thereof.

Dated _____

_____ (Signature)

Subscribed and sworn to before me this _____ day of _____, 19__.

[SEAL] _____ (Title)

(b) The importer shall also submit to the Commissioner of Customs within such 3-month period a statement of the ultimate consignee of the merchandise, showing in detail that he had made every reasonable effort to determine the source of the merchandise and of every component thereof and to ascertain the character of labor used in the production of the merchandise and each of its components, the full results of his investigation, and his belief with respect to the use of the class of labor specified in the finding in any stage of the production of the merchandise or of any of its components.

(c) If the certificate or certificates and statement specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section are submitted within the time prescribed and the Commissioner finds that the merchandise is admissible, the collector of customs concerned will be advised to that effect, whereupon he shall release the merchandise upon compliance with the usual entry requirements.

(Sec. 307, 46 Stat. 689; 19 U. S. C. 1307)

§ 12.44 Disposition. Merchandise detained pursuant to § 12.42 may be exported at any time before it is deemed to have been abandoned as hereinafter provided for. If it has not been exported within 3 months after the date of importation, the collector shall ascertain whether the proof specified in § 12.43 has been submitted within the time prescribed in that section. If the proof has not been so submitted, or if the Commissioner of Customs advises the collector that the proof furnished does not establish the admissibility of the merchandise, the collector shall promptly advise the importer in writing that the merchandise is excluded from entry. Upon the expiration of 60 days after the delivery or mailing of such advice by the collector, the merchandise shall be deemed to have been abandoned and shall be destroyed, unless it has been exported or a protest has been filed as provided for in section 514, Tariff Act of 1930.

(Sec. 307, 46 Stat. 689; 19 U. S. C. 1307)

§ 12.45 Transportation and marketing of prison-labor products. If any apparent violation of section 1761 or 1762, title 18, United States Code,[30] with respect to any imported article comes to the attention of a collector of customs, he shall detain the article and report the facts to the appropriate United States attorney. If the United States attorney advises the collector that action should be taken against the article, it shall be seized and held pending the receipt of further instructions from the United States attorney or the court.

2. Sections 14.8, 14.15, 14.16, and 14.17, relating to procedures under the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U. S. C. 160–173), are deleted and the following new sections are substituted therefor:

§ 14.6 Suspected dumping. (a) If any appraiser or other principal customs officer has knowledge of any grounds for a reasonable suspicion that any merchandise is being, or is likely to be, imported into the United States at a purchase price or exporter's sales price less than the foreign market value (or, in the absence of such value, than the cost of production), as contemplated by section 201 (b), Anti-

[29] "All goods, wares, articles, and merchandise mined, produced, or manufactured wholly or in part in any foreign country by convict labor or/and forced labor or/and indentured labor under penal sanctions shall not be entitled to enter at any of the ports of the United States, and the importation thereof is hereby prohibited, and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to prescribe such regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of this provision. The provisions of this section relating to goods, wares, articles, and merchandise mined, produced, or manufactured by forced labor or/and indentured labor, shall take effect on January 1, 1932; but in no case shall such provisions be applicable to goods, wares, articles, or merchandise so mined, produced, or manufactured which are not mined, produced, or manufactured in such quantities in the United States as to meet the consumptive demands of the United States.

"'Forced labor,' as herein used, shall mean all work or service which is exacted from any person under the menace of any penalty for its nonperformance and for which the worker does not offer himself voluntarily." (Tariff Act of 1930, sec. 307; 19 U. S. C. 1307.)

dumping Act, 1921, as amended,[31] or at less than its "fair value" as that term is defined in § 14.7, he shall communicate his knowledge promptly to the Commissioner of Customs. Every such communication shall contain or be accompanied by a statement of substantially the same information as is required in paragraph (b) of this section, if in the possession of the appraiser or other officer or readily available to him.

(b) Any person outside the Customs Service who has reason to believe that merchandise is being, or is likely to be, imported into the United States under such circumstances as to bring it within the purview of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended,[31] may communicate

[30] "(a) Whoever knowingly transports in interstate commerce or from any foreign country into the United States any goods, wares, or merchandise manufactured, produced, or mined, wholly or in part by convicts or prisoners, except convicts or prisoners on parole or probation, or in any penal or reformatory institution, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

"(b) This chapter shall not apply to agricultural commodities or parts for the repair of farm machinery, nor to commodities manufactured in a Federal, District of Columbia, or State institution for use by the Federal Government, or by the District of Columbia, or by any State or Political subdivision of a State." (18 U. S. C. 1761.)

"(a) All packages containing any goods, wares, or merchandise manufactured, produced, or mined wholly or in part by convicts or prisoners, except convicts or prisoners on parole or probation, or in any penal or reformatory institution, when shipped or transported in interstate or foreign commerce shall be plainly and clearly marked, so that the name and address of the shipper, the name and address of the consignee, the nature of the contents, and the name and location of the penal or reformatory institution where produced wholly or in part may be readily ascertained on an inspection of the outside of such package.

"(b) Whoever violates this section shall be fined not more than $1,000, and any goods, wares or merchandise transported in violation of this section or section 1761 of this title shall be forfeited to the United States, and may be seized and condemned by like proceedings as those provided by law for the seizure and forfeiture of property, imported into the United States contrary to law." (18 U. S. C. 1762.)

[31] "Whenever, in the case of any imported merchandise of a class or kind as to which the Secretary has not so made public a finding, the Secretary has reason to believe or suspect, from the invoice or other papers or from information presented to him or to any person to whom authority under this section has been delegated, that the purchase price is less, or that the exporter's sales price is less or likely to be less, than the foreign market value (or, in the absence of such value, than the cost of production), he shall forthwith authorize, under such regulations as he may prescribe, the withholding of appraisement reports as to such merchandise entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption, not more than one hundred and twenty days before the question of dumping has been raised by or presented to him or any person to whom authority under this section has been delegated, until the further order of the Secretary, or until the Secretary has made public a finding as provided for in subdivision (a) in regard to such merchandise." (Antidumping Act, 1921, sec. 201 (b), as amended; 19 U. S. C. 160 (b).)

[32] "SEC. 201. (a) Whenever the Secretary of the Treasury (hereinafter called the 'Secretary') determines that a class or kind of foreign merchandise is being, or is likely to be, sold in the United States or elsewhere at less than its fair value, (see § 14.7) he shall so advise the United States Tariff Commission, and the said Commission shall determine within three months thereafter whether an industry in the United States is being or is likely to be injured, or is prevented from being established, by reason of the importation of such merchandise into the United States. The said Commission, after such investigation as it deems necessary, shall notify the Secretary of its determination, and, if that determination is in the affirmative, the Secretary shall make public a notice (hereinafter in this Act called a 'finding') of his determination and the determination of the said Commission. The Secretary's finding shall include a description of the class or kind of merchandise to which it applies in such detail as he shall deem necessary for the guidance of customs officers.

"SEC. 202. (a) In the case of all imported merchandise, whether dutiable or free of duty, of a class or kind as to which the Secretary has made public a finding as provided for in section 201, entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption, not more than one hundred and twenty days before the question of dumping was raised by or presented to the Secretary or any person to whom authority under section 201 has been delegated, and as to which no appraisement report has been made before such finding has been so made public, if the purchase price or the exporter's sales price is less than the foreign market value (or, in the absence of such value, than the cost of production) there shall be levied, collected, and paid, in addition to any other duties imposed thereon by law, a special dumping duty in an amount equal to such difference.

"(b) If it is established to the satisfaction of the appraising officers that the amount of such difference between the purchase price and the foreign market value is wholly or partly due to the fact that the wholesale quantities, in which such or similar merchandise is sold or freely offered for sale to all purchasers in the principal markets of the country of exportation in the ordinary course of trade for home consumption (or, if not so sold or offered for sale for home consumption, then for exportation to countries other than the United States), then due allowance shall be made therefor in determining the foreign market value for the purposes of this section.

"(c) If it is established to the satisfaction of the appraising officers that the amount of such difference between the exporter's sales price and the foreign market value is wholly or partly due to the fact that the wholesale quantities, in which such or similar merchandise is sold or freely offered for sale to all purchasers in the principal markets of the United States in the ordinary course of trade, are greater than the wholesale quantities in which such or similar merchandise is sold or freely offered for sale to all purchasers in the principal markets of the country of exportation in the ordinary course of trade for home consumption (or, if not so sold or offered for sale for home consumption, then for exportation to countries other than the United States), then due allowance shall be made therefor in determining the foreign market value for the purposes of this section.

"SEC. 203. That for the purposes of this title, the purchase price of imported merchandise shall be the price at which such merchandise has been purchased or agreed to be purchased, prior to the time of exportation, by the person by whom or for whose account the merchandise is imported, plus, when not included in such price, the cost of all containers and coverings and all other costs, charges, and expenses incident to placing the merchandise in condition, packed ready for shipment to the United States, less the amount, if any, included in such price, attributable to any additional costs, charges, and expenses, and United States import duties, incident to bringing the merchandise from the place of shipment in the country of exportation to the place of delivery in the United States; and plus the amount, if not included in such price, of any export tax imposed by the country of exportation on the exportation of the merchandise to the United States; and plus the amount of any import duties imposed by the country of exportation which have been rebated, or which have not been collected, by reason of the exportation of the merchandise to the United States; and plus the amount of any taxes imposed in the country of exportation upon the manufacturer, producer, or seller, in respect to the manufacture, production or sale of the merchandise, which have been rebated, or which have not been collected by reason of the exportation of the merchandise to the United States.

"SEC. 204. That for the purpose of this title the exporter's sales price of imported merchandise shall be the price at which such merchandise is sold or agreed to be sold in the United States, before or after the time of importation, by or for the account of the exporter, plus, when not included in such price, the cost of all containers and coverings and all other costs, charges, and expenses incident to placing the merchandise in condition, packed ready for shipment to the United States, less (1) the his belief and the reasons therefor in writing to any appraiser of merchandise or to the Commissioner of Customs. Every such communication shall contain or be accompanied by the following:

(1) A detailed description or sample of the merchandise; the name of the country from which it is being, or is likely to be, imported; and the ports or probable ports of importation into the United States. If no sample is furnished, the appraiser concerned in appropriate cases may call upon the person who furnished the information to furnish samples of the imported and competitive domestic articles, or either.

(2) Such detailed data as to values and prices as is reasonably available to the person furnishing the information and is relied upon by him to support his belief, including information as to any differences between the foreign market value or cost of production and the import purchase price or exporter's sales price which may be accounted for by any difference in taxes, discounts, incidental costs such as those for packing or freight, or other items.

(3) All information as to the existence of any conditions or restrictions attached to sales of the merchandise in question in the country of exportation which is reasonably available to the person furnishing the information.

(4) Such detailed information as to the existence or likelihood of injury to an established or prospective industry in the United States as is reasonably available to the person furnishing the information.

(c) If any information filed with an appraiser pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section does not conform with the requirements of that paragraph, the communication shall be returned promptly to the person who submitted it with detailed written advice as to the respects in which it does not conform. If such information is found to comply with the requirements, it shall be transmitted by the appraiser within 10 days to the Commissioner of Customs, together with all pertinent additional information obtainable by the appraiser. Before making such transmittal, or as soon thereafter as possible, the appraiser shall make such inquiry regarding the matter among importers, domestic producers and distributors, or others as he may deem appropriate and report the results to the Commissioner together with his comments thereon.

(d) Upon receipt pursuant to paragraph (a), (b), or (c) of this section of information in proper form, the Commissioner will proceed expeditiously to ascertain whether reasonable grounds exist to suspect that the merchandise is being, or is likely to be, sold at less than its fair value as that term is defined in § 14.7, or at less than its statutory value under the Antidumping Act, that is, its foreign market value (or, in the absence of such value, the cost of production).

(e) If the Commissioner determines that there are reasonable grounds to suspect that any merchandise is being, or is likely to be, sold at less than its statutory value under the Antidumping Act, he will advise all appraisers of that fact, furnishing an adequate description of the merchandise and the name of each country of exportation. Upon receipt of such advice the appraisers shall proceed in accordance with the pertinent provisions of § 14.9.

§ 14.8 Determination of fact or likelihood of sales at less than fair value; determination of injury; finding of dumping. (a) When the Commissioner of Customs has given advice to appraisers pursuant to § 14.6 (e), the Secretary of the Treasury will proceed as promptly as possible to determine whether the merchandise in question is in fact being, or is likely to be, sold in the United States or elsewhere at less than its fair value. If the determination is affirmative, the Secretary will advise the United States Tariff Commission accordingly.

(b) If the Tariff Commissioner determines that there is, or is likely to be, the injury contemplated by the statute, the Commissioner of Customs will make the finding contemplated by section 201 (a) of the Anti-dumping Act, as amended, with respect to the involved merchandise.

§ 14.9 Action by appraiser; appearance of importer. (a) Upon receipt of advice from the Commissioner of Customs pursuant to § 14.6 (e) or of advice of a finding made in accordance with § 14.8 (b), the appraiser shall withhold appraisement of any merchandise within the purview of the advice or finding and shall notify the collector and importer immediately of each lot of merchandise with respect to which appraisement is so withheld.

(b) When the appraiser notifies the importer of a withheld appraisement in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, he shall concurrently request the importer or his duly authorized agent, except as specified in paragraph (f) or (g) of this section, to appear before him to furnish the following information, unless the information has already been obtained.

(1) The name and address of the ultimate consignee of the merchandise and, if such consignee is not the person for whose account the merchandise was imported, the name and address of the last-mentioned person.

(2) Whether or not the person for whose account the merchandise was imported is the exporter of such merchandise within the meaning of section 207 of the Antidumping Act.

(c) If, before a finding of dumping has been made, or before a case has been closed without a finding, the appraiser is satisfied by information furnished by the importer or otherwise that the purchase price or exporter's sales price, in respect of any shipment, is not less than foreign market value (or, in the absence of such value, than the cost of production), he shall so advise the Commissioner and request authorization to proceed with his appraisement of that shipment in the usual manner.

(d) If the appraiser is not satisfied by information furnished by the importer or otherwise that the merchandise is not being sold at less than its foreign market value (or, in the absence of such value, than the cost of production), or if a finding of dumping has been made, he shall require the importer or his agent to file a certificate of the importer on the appropriate one of the following forms:

NATIONAL FUEL GAS CO.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION AND PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

NOVEMBER 17, 1955.

National Fuel Gas Company ("National"), a registered holding company, having filed an application-declaration and an amendment thereto pursuant to sections 6, 7, 10, 12 (e) and 12 (f) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), and Rules U-43, U-50 and U-62 promulgated thereunder, regarding certain proposed transactions, which are summarized as follows:

National owns 387,308 shares (62.26 percent) of the common stock of its utility subsidiary, Pennsylvania Gas Company ("Penn"), the remaining 234,772 shares of common stock of Penn being held by approximately 850 minority stockholders.

National proposes to offer to all the minority stockholders of Penn, including Horace Crary who is a director of Penn and an affiliate of Penn and National, an opportunity to exchange their shares of Penn's common stock for shares of National's common stock on the basis of 1.45 shares of National's stock for 1 share of Penn's stock. If the exchange is accepted by all the minority stockholders, National will be required to issue 340,419 shares of its common stock, $10 par value.

The offer is to be made within a period of 15 days after approval of the Commission is obtained, and will remain open for a period of 30 days thereafter.

National will not issue any fractional shares in connection with the exchange, nor will it pay cash or issue script in lieu of fractional shares. However, Warren National Bank of Warren, Pennsylvania, will be appointed as Agent for the exchanging Penn stockholders, and fractional interests in shares of National stock will be consolidated and full shares therefor will be issued to such Agent. Upon receipt of orders from Penn stockholders, the Agent will buy or sell the fractional interests, matching buy and sell orders as far as possible, and will sell on the market any remaining shares for the account of such exchanging stockholders of Penn. The fees and expenses of the Agent will be paid by National.

National requests exemption from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 and also proposes to send certain solicitation material to the stockholders of Penn relating to the exchange.

A public hearing having been held after appropriate notice, the Commission having examined the record and having this day made and filed its Findings and Opinion herein:

It is ordered, On the basis of said Findings and Opinion and the applicable provisions of the Act and the Rules thereunder that said application-declaration, as amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions contained in Rule U-24.

NEW ENGLAND ELECTRIC SYSTEM AND WEYMOUTH LIGHT AND POWER CO.

ORDER AUTHORIZING ISSUANCE AND SALE OF COMMON STOCK BY SUBSIDIARY PURSUANT TO RIGHTS OFFERING, AND ACQUISITION OF SUBSIDIARY'S STOCK BY PARENT COMPANY

NOVEMBER 18, 1955.

New England Electric System ("NEES"), a registered holding company, and its public-utility subsidiary Weymouth Light and Power Company ("Weymouth") have filed a joint application and an amendment thereto pursuant to sections 6 (b), 9 (a), and 10 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") regarding the following proposed transactions:

Weymouth, which presently has outstanding 65,191 shares of capital stock (par value $25 per share) and $2,850,000 of notes payable to NEES, proposes to issue and sell for cash 32,595 additional shares at the price of $42 per share, on the basis of one new share for each two shares presently outstanding, and to apply the proceeds thereof (amounting to $1,368,990) to the payment of a like amount of said notes. Rights to subscribe will be evidenced by full and half-share warrants, exercisable during a subscription period of 21 days. Full shares only will be issued.

NEES, which now owns 64,990 shares (99.671 percent) of Weymouth's capital stock, proposes: (1) To exercise its rights to subscribe for 32,495 additional shares to which it will be entitled, and (2) to purchase from Weymouth any unsubscribed shares at the subscription price of $42 per share. NEES states that during the subscription period it will offer to purchase from minority stockholders (5 in number, holding 201 shares) their present holdings, together with their rights to subscribe for additional shares, on the basis of $60 per share. NEES will use treasury funds for its proposed acquisitions.

Weymouth and NEES desire to consummate the proposed issue and sale of additional capital stock in order to finance permanently a portion of the capitalizable additions to Weymouth's plant through the issuance of equity securities. NEES also desires to invest funds not otherwise required in its business in acquiring the minority interest in Weymouth.

The Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, the regulatory commission of the State in which Weymouth is organized and doing business, has approved the issuance and sale of the additional shares by Weymouth, and the sale of any unsubscribed shares to NEES, at a price of $42 per share.

Due notice having been given of the filing of said amended application, and a hearing not having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding with respect to the proposed transactions that the applicable provisions of the Act and the Rules thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necesary; and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the amended application be granted, effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the Act, that said application as amended be, and it hereby is, granted, effective forthwith, subject to the conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

(2) "Whole, pulled, figs", referred to as Style I (b), are whole dried figs which are changed from their original dried form by purposely flattening and shaping and are placed in a definite arrangement in a container. The dried figs may or may not be split slightly across the eye but are not split to the extent that the seed cavity is materially exposed.

(3) "Whole, layered, figs", referred to as Style I (c), are whole dried figs which are changed from their original dried form by purposely flattening and shaping and are placed in a staggered-layer arrangement in a container. The figs are split across the base to the extent that the seed cavity may be materially exposed.

(b) Style II, Sliced. "Style II, Sliced" (or "sliced figs") means dried whole figs that have been cut into slices not less than ¼ inch in thickness and such slices are not recut showing more than two cut surfaces.

§ 52.1024 Sizes of Style I (a), whole, loose, dried figs—(a) Sizes. The sizes of Style I (a), whole, loose, dried figs for the respective varieties are as follows:

(b) Ascertaining compliance for a single size. In ascertaining compliance with the size requirements of this section, Style I (a), whole, loose, dried figs will be considered as a single size if not less than 80 percent by count of the figs are of one predominant size and not more than 14 percent by count of the figs are of a size or sizes smaller than that predominating size and not more than 6 percent by count of the figs are of a size or sizes larger than that predominating size. "Uniformity of size", as such, is not a grade requirement for Style I (a), whole, loose, dried figs.

Fancy" is the quality of whole or sliced dried figs in which Style I, whole figs, are of one variety and in which Style II, sliced figs, are of one variety or similar varieties; that are well-matured with not more than 5 percent, by count, of reasonably well-matured dried figs; that are practically uniform in size, except for Style I (a), whole, loose, figs and Style II, sliced figs; that possess a practically uniform typical color; that possess a good flavor; that are free from foreign material; and that do not exceed the maximum allowances and limitations as specified in Table I (Moisture) and Table IIA (Defects in White Figs) and Table IIB (Defects in Black Figs).

DEFINITIONS AND EXPLANATIONS OF TERMS

§ 52.1028 Stages of maturity—(a) Well matured. A "well-matured" dried fig means a dried fig which is well developed and in which the interior shows very good sugary tissue development that is sirupy and gumlike in consistency and texture.

(b) Reasonably well matured. A "reasonably well-matured" dried fig means a dried fig which is reasonably well developed and in which (1) the interior shows good sugary tissue development that is gummy but slightly fibrous in consistency and texture, or (2) one-third or less of the interior of the fig may be entirely lacking in sugary tissue, if the remainder of the interior of the fig is sirupy and gumlike in consistency and texture.

(c) Fairly well matured. A "fairly well-matured" dried fig means a dried fig which is fairly well developed and in which (1) the sugary tissue in the interior of the fig is gummy and fibrous in consistency and texture, or (2) one-third or less of the interior of the fig may be entirely lacking in sugary tissue, if the remainder of the interior of the fig is gummy but slightly fibrous in consistency and texture, or (3) more than one-third, but less than one-half, of the interior of the fig may be entirely lacking in sugary tissue, if the remainder of the interior of the fig is sirupy and gumlike in consistency and texture.

§ 52.1029 Degrees of uniformity of size. Uniformity of size applies to Style I (b), whole, pulled, figs and Style I (c), whole, layered, figs, where the original shape has been materially changed.

(a) Practically uniform in size. "Practically uniform in size" means that not more than a total of 10 percent, by count, of dried figs may be conspicuously larger or smaller than the approximate average size of the dried figs in the container.

(b) Reasonably uniform in size. "Reasonably uniform in size" means that not more than a total of 15 percent, by count, of dried figs may be conspicuously larger or smaller than the approximate average size of the dried figs in the container.

(c) Fairly uniform in size. "Fairly uniform in size" means that not more than a total of 20 percent, by count, of dried figs may be conspicuously larger or smaller than the approximate average size of the dried figs in the container.

§ 52.1030 Degrees of uniformity of color—(a) White figs—(1) Practically uniform typical color. "Practically uniform typical color" means, with respect to white varieties of dried figs that are light in color, that there may be not more than 5 percent, by count, of dried figs that are markedly dark figs; and, with respect to white varieties that are dark in color, that there may be not more than 5 percent, by count, of dried figs that are markedly light-colored figs.

(2) Reasonably uniform typical color. "Reasonably uniform typical color" means, with respect to white varieties of dried figs that are light in color, that there may be not more than 10 percent, by count, of dried figs that are markedly dark figs; and, with respect to white varieties that are dark in color, that there may be not more than 10 percent, by count, of dried figs that are markedly light-colored figs.

(3) Fairly uniform typical color. "Fairly uniform typical color" means, with respect to white varieties of dried figs that are light in color or are very light green in color, that there may be not more than 20 percent, by count, of dried figs that are markedly dark figs; and, with respect to white varieties that are dark in color, that there may be not more than 20 percent, by count, of dried figs that are markedly light-colored figs.

(b) Black figs—(1) Practically uniform typical color. "Practically uniform typical color" means, with respect to Black varieties of dried figs, that the color is practically uniform and a typical natural black or dark reddish-brown color of dried figs and that not more than 10 percent, by count, of the dried figs may be, singly or in combination:

(i) Affected by very light-colored scars which are not calloused and which, singly or in the aggregate on a whole dried fig, are more than one-eighth but less than one-half of the exterior surface of the dried fig; or

(ii) Seriously damaged by scars or disease (as defined in § 52.1031 (b)) which affect the color of the dried fig.

(2) Reasonably uniform typical color. "Reasonably uniform typical color" means, with respect to Black varieties of dried figs, that the color is reasonably uniform and a typical natural black or dark reddish-brown color of dried figs and that not more than 20 percent, by count, of the dried figs may be, singly or in combination:

(i) Affected by very light-colored scars which are not calloused and which, singly or in the aggregate on a whole dried fig, are more than one-fourth but less than one-half of the exterior surface of the dried fig; or

(ii) Seriously damaged by scars or disease (as defined in § 52.1031 (b)) which affect the color of the dried fig.

(3) Fairly uniform typical color. "Fairly uniform typical color" means, with respect to Black varieties of dried figs, that the color is fairly uniform and a typical natural black or dark reddish-brown color of dried figs and that not more than 30 percent, by count, of the dried figs may be, singly or in combination:

(i) Affected by very light-colored scars which are not calloused and which, singly or in the aggregate on a whole dried fig, are more than one-fourth but less than one-half of the exterior surface of the dried fig; or

(ii) Seriously damaged by scars or disease (as defined in § 52.1031 (b)) which affect the color of the dried fig.

§ 52.1031 Definitions of defects—(a) Damaged by scars or disease. "Damaged by scars or disease" means that the area of tough or calloused scars, singly or in the aggregate on a dried fig or portion of a dried fig, is equal to, or exceeds, the area of a circle ⅜ inch in diameter but is less than the area of a circle ½ inch in diameter.

(b) Seriously damaged by scars or disease. "Seriously damaged by scars or disease" means that the area of tough or calloused scars, singly or in the aggregate on a dried fig or portion of a dried fig, is equal to, or exceeds, the area of a circle ½ inch in diameter. Figs which possess very light-colored scars that are not calloused are considered as "seriously damaged by scars" if such scars, singly or in the aggregate on a whole dried fig, are equal to one-half or more of the exterior surface of the dried fig.

(c) Damaged by sunburn. "Damaged by sunburn" means any substantial damage from excessive heat to the skin evidenced by dry and tough surface areas.

(d) Seriously damaged by sunburn. "Seriously damaged by sunburn" means any substantial damage from excessive heat to the skin evidenced by dry and tough surface areas and which damage is accompanied by a lack of sugary tissue affecting one-third or more of the interior of a dried fig.

(f) Seriously damaged by mechanical injury. "Seriously damaged by mechanical injury" means injury to the styles of whole dried figs as follows: (1) In Style I (a), Whole, loose, figs and Style I (b), Whole, pulled, figs, the seed tissue is mashed out beyond the outer wall or there are excessive skin breaks which affect materially the appearance of the dried figs for the applicable style; (2) in Style I (c), Whole, layered, figs, there are excessive skin breaks (other than the normal splitting for the style) to the extent that a dried fig cannot be identified as a whole, layered, fig.

(g) Damaged by visible sugaring. "Damaged by visible sugaring" means white sugar crystals which form on the exterior surface of a dried fig or portion of a dried fig so as to damage materially the appearance. Units showing a few lightly sugared spots are not considered as "Damaged by visible sugaring" unless singly or in combination with other defective units they affect the appearance or edibility, or both, for the respective grade.

(h) Damaged by other similar defects. "Damaged by other similar defects" includes any exposed (external or cut surface) injury or defect not specifically mentioned (such as abnormally discolored areas other than from scars, disease, or sunburn) which more than slightly affects the appearance, edibility, or keeping quality of the dried figs, except that stems which attach the fig to the twig of the tree are not considered as "damage by other similar defects."

(i) Seriously damaged by other similar defects. "Seriously damaged by other similar defects" includes any exposed (external or cut surface) injury or defect not specifically mentioned (such as abnormally discolored areas other than from scars, disease, or sunburn) which affects materially the appearance, edibility, or keeping quality of the dried figs, except that stems which attach the fig to the twig of the tree are not considered as "seriously damaged by other similar defects."

§ 52.1032 Degrees of flavor and odor—(a) Good flavor. "Good flavor" means a clean and distinct dried fig flavor and odor free from any flavors or odors such as are characteristic of scorching or caramelization and free from other slight abnormal flavors or odors.

(c) Typical and normal flavor. "Typical and normal flavor" means a clean and distinct dried fig flavor and odor which may possess slight flavors or odors such as are characteristic of scorching or caramelization but may not possess any flavor in amounts resulting in objectionable or off flavors.

PART 958—IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN COLORADO

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. (a) Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 97 and Order No. 58 (7 CFR Part 958), regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the State of Colorado, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the area committee for Area No. 3, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the amendment to the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(b) It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the shipment of potatoes, in the manner set forth below, on and after the effective date of this amendment, (iii) compliance with this amendment will not require any special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, (iv) reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances for such preparation, (v) information regarding the committee's recommendations has been made available to producers and handlers in the production area, and (vi) this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of Irish potatoes grown in Area No. 3.

Order, as amended. The provisions of § 958.319 (b) (1) (FEDERAL REGISTER, July 20 and August 12, 1955; 20 F. R. 5155, 5848) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(b) Order. (1) During the period, from November 29, 1955, to May 31, 1956, both dates inclusive, no handler shall ship any potatoes (i) of the long varieties (including, but not limited to, White Rose and Russet Burbank) unless such potatoes are of a size not smaller than 2 inches minimum diameter or 4 ounces minimum weight, and meet the requirements of U. S. No. 2, or better grade; and (ii) of the round varieties (including, but not limited to, Irish Cobbler, Katahdin, Kennebec, Bliss Triumph and Pontiac) unless such potatoes are of a size not smaller than 2¼ inches minimum diameter, and meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2, or better grade, except that such potatoes must be fairly well shaped, free from damage caused by second growth, growth cracks, sunburn, and cuts, free from surface scab which covers an area of more than 25 percent of the surface of the potato in the aggregate, and free from pitted scab which affects the appearance of the potato to a greater extent than the amount of the surface scab permitted: Provided, That an additional tolerance of five percent shall be allowed for potatoes which do not meet the above specified marketing limitations for shape and scab, and damage from second growth, growth cracks, sunburn, and cuts, but such potatoes must meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2 grade, as such terms, grades, and sizes are set forth in the United States Standards for Potatoes (§§51.1540 to 51.1559 of this title) including the tolerances set forth therein."

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c).

Done at Washington, D. C., this 23d day of November 1955, to become effective November 29, 1955.

[Avocado Order 11, Amdt. 1]

MATURITY REGULATION

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 69, as amended (7 CFR Part 969; 20 F. R. 4177), regulating the handling of avocados grown in South Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Avocado Administrative Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of avocados, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective not later than November 28, 1955. A reasonable determination as to the time of maturity of avocados must await the development of the crop thereof, and adequate information thereon was not available to the Avocado Administrative Committee until November 22, 1955; determination as to the time of maturity of the varieties of avocados covered by this section were made at a telephone meeting of said committee on November 22, 1955, after consideration of all available information relative to such maturity and growing conditions prevailing during the current season for such avocados, at which time the recommendations and supporting information for the amendment to the maturity regulation was submitted to the Department; such telephone meeting was held to consider recommendation for such amended regulation; the provisions of this section are identical with the aforesaid recommendations of the committee and information concerning such provisions has been disseminated among the handlers of avocados; and compliance with the provisions of this section will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) It is, therefore, ordered as follows: Effective as of 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., November 28, 1955, the provisions of paragraph (b) of § 969.311 (Avocado Order 11, 20 F. R. 8328), including the table forming a part of such section, are amended by removing from coverage thereunder the Hickson and Taylor varieties of avocados and, in lieu of such coverage of such varieties, the following restrictions shall apply to them:

(1) During the period from 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., November 28, 1955, to 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., December 5, 1955, no handler shall handle any Hickson variety of avocados unless the individual fruit weighs at least 8 ounces or measures at least $2^{12}/_{16}$ inches in diameter: Provided, That up to 10 percent, by count, of the individual fruit in each lot may weigh less than 8 ounces and measure less than $2^{12}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, but no such avocados may weigh less than 6 ounces. Such tolerances shall be on a lot basis, but not to exceed double such tolerances shall be permitted for an inidvidual container in a lot;

(2) During the period from 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., November 28, 1955, to 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., December 12, 1955, no handler shall handle any Taylor variety of avocados unless the individual fruit weighs at least 12 ounces or measures at least $3^{2}/_{16}$ inches in diameter: Provided, That up to 10 percent, by count, of the individual fruit in each lot may weigh less than 12 ounces and measure less than $3^{3}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, but no such avocados may weigh less than 10 ounces. Such tolerances shall be on a lot basis, but not to exceed double such tolerances shall be permitted for an individual container in a lot;

(3) During the period from 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., December 12, 1955, to 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., January 2, 1956, no handler shall handle any Taylor variety of avocados grown in District 1 unless the individual fruit weighs at least 9 ounces or measures at least $2^{13}/_{16}$ inches in diameter; Provided, That up to 10 percent, by count, of the individual fruit in each lot may weigh less than 9 ounces and measure less than $2^{13}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, but no such avocados may weigh less than 7 ounces. Such tolerances shall be on a lot basis, but not to exceed double such tolerances shall be permitted for an individual container in a lot;

(4) During the period 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., December 12, 1955, to 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., January 2, 1956, no handler shall handle any Taylor variety of avocados grown in District 2 unless the individual fruit weighs at least 7 ounces or measures at least $2^{10}/_{16}$ inches in diameter; Provided, That up to 10 percent, by count, of the individual fruit in each lot may weigh less than 7 ounces and measure less than $2^{10}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, but no such avocados may weigh less than 5 ounces. Such tolerances shall be on a lot basis, but not to exceed double such tolerances shall be permitted for an individual container in a lot;

(5) The provisions of subparagraphs (b) (2) and (b) (3) of Avocado Order 6 (§ 969.306; 20 F. R. 3427) shall not apply to the Hickson and Taylor varieties of avocados.

TITLE 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

Chapter I—Agricultural Research Service, Department of Agriculture

Subchapter C—Interstate Transportation of Animals and Poultry

[B. A. I. Order 383, Revised, Amdt. 65]

TEMPORARY SUSPENSION OF CERTAIN CLEANING AND DISINFECTING REQUIREMENTS

Pursuant to sections 1 and 2 of the act of February 2, 1903, as amended (21 U. S. C. 111–113, 120), and section 3 of the act of March 3, 1905, as amended (21 U. S. C. 125), the provisions of paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 76.35, as amended, Subpart B, Part 76, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, are hereby suspended until October 15, 1956, unless the suspension is rescinded prior to that date.

Such provisions require the cleaning and disinfecting of certain vehicles and feed, water, and rest facilities used in connection with the interstate movement of swine. In view of the favorable situation existing for some time with respect to vesicular exanthema with no outbreaks of the disease in most sections of the country, and in view of the provisions of paragraph (a) of § 76.35, which require that vehicles and other facilities used in connection with the interstate movement of swine shall be kept clean and of paragraph (d) of § 76.35, which authorize the Chief of the Animal Disease Eradication Branch, Agricultural Research Service, to require the cleaning and disinfecting of any vehicle or facility used in connection with the interstate movement of swine affected with or exposed to vesicular exanthema or swine fed any raw garbage, it appears that the requirements of said paragraphs (b) and (c) may be suspended without endangering the swine of the country, provided the requirements under the other provisions of § 76.35 are complied with and the present favorable situation with respect to vesicular exanthema continues.

The amendment relieves certain restrictions presently imposed, and should be made effective immediately in order to be of maximum benefit to affected persons. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the amndment may be made effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter II—Civil Aeronautics Administration, Department of Commerce

[Amdt. 24 to Revision of May 10, 1949]

PART 550—FEDERAL AID TO PUBLIC AGENCIES FOR DEVELOPMENTS OF PUBLIC AIRPORTS

PROJECT COSTS

Acting pursuant to the authority vested in me by the Federal Airport Act, I hereby amend Part 550 of the regulations of the Civil Aeronautics Administration as follows:

Section 550.4 (c) (1) is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 550.4 Project costs. • • •

(c) United States share of project costs. • • •

(1) Project costs other than costs of installation of high intensity lighting on runways designated instrument landing runways. The United States share of the project costs (other than costs of installation of high intensity lighting on runways designated instrument landing runways) of an approved project for the development of an airport, regardless of the size or location of the airport to be developed, shall be 50 percent of the allowable project costs (other than costs of installation of high intensity lighting on runways designated instrument landing runways), except that this share, in the case of any State containing unappropriated and unreserved public lands and nontaxable Indian lands (individual and tribal) exceeding 5 percent of the total area of all lands therein shall be increased as provided in section 10 (b) of the act and except that the United States share shall be 75 percent in the case of the Territory of Alaska and the Virgin Islands, all as set forth in the following table:

UNITED STATES PERCENTAGE SHARE OF ALLOWABLE PROJECT COSTS IN STATES CONTAINING UNAPPROPRIATED AND UNRESERVED PUBLIC LANDS AND NONTAXABLE INDIAN LANDS

Arizona	60.99	New Mexico	56.46
California	54.19	Oregon	55.98
Colorado	53.25	South Dakota	52.99
Idaho	55.72	Utah	62.38
Montana	53.31	Washington	51.74
Nevada	62.50	Wyoming	57.17

Note: The percentages listed in this table will vary as changes occur with respect to the area of unappropriated and unreserved public lands and nontaxable Indian lands in the several States. In which event such changed percentages will be used by the Administrator in determining the United States share of allowable project costs other than costs of installing high intensity lighting on runways designated instrument landing runways, except that no such increase will be made effective immediately in order to be of maximum benefit to affected persons. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the amndment may be made effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

PROCEDURE ALTERATIONS

The standard instrument approach procedure alterations appearing hereinafter are adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and therefore is not required.

Part 609 is amended as follows:

Note: Where the general classification (LFR, VAR, ADF, ILS, GCA, or VOR), location, and procedure number (if any) of any procedure in the amendments which follow, are identical with an existing procedure, that procedure is to be substituted for the existing one, as of the effective date given, to the extent that it differs from the existing procedure; where a procedure is canceled, the existing procedure is revoked; new procedures are to be placed in appropriate alphabetical sequence within the section amended.

1. The low frequency range procedures prescribed in § 609.6 are amended to read in part:

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry, since it conditionally relaxes existing requirements, and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

I further find that the drugs exempted from certification by amendments 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12 of this order need not comply with the requirements of section 502 (l) and 507 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act in order to insure their safety and efficacy provided they comply with the provisions specified in the amendments designated above.

Effective date. This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the effected industry will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION AND GRADES

§ 52.2981 Product description. Dehydrated orange juice (Crystals) is the product initially obtained from clean, sound, mature fruit of the sweet orange group (Citrus sinensis) and Mandarin group (Citrus reticulata), except tangerines. The fruit is prepared by sorting and by washing prior to extraction of the juice; the extracted juice is concentrated and single-strength orange juice extracted from sorted and washed fruit may or may not be admixed to the concentrate. The concentrated orange juice is processed in accordance with good commercial practice and may be dehydrated immediately or frozen and stored at suitable temperatures. The concentrated orange juice to which an amount of sodium bisulfite may have been added is dehydrated in accordance with good commercial practice. Cold-pressed orange oil and granules of sorbitol may be added to the product in such amounts as to provide a proper flavor to the reconstituted product. The product thus prepared is packaged with a desiccant in hermetically sealed containers and held at proper temperatures to assure stabilization of the product. The dehydrated orange juice reconstitutes into a single-strength orange juice that tests not less than 11.8 degrees Brix. The sulfur dioxide content of the dehydrated orange juice is not less than 100 p. p. m. nor more than 250 p. p. m.

§ 52.2982 Grades of dehydrated orange juice. (a) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" is the quality of dehydrated orange juice that contains not more than 3 percent by weight of moisture; has a porous open structure free from lumps or other signs of caking; and which dissolves readily in water to produce an orange juice that is reasonably characteristic in appearance to fresh orange juice. The reconstituted juice possesses a very good color; is practically free from defects; possesses a good flavor; and scores not less than 85 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart.

(b) "U. S. Grade B" or "U. S. Choice" is the quality of dehydrated orange juice that contains not more than 3 percent by weight of moisture; has a reasonably porous open structure free from lumps; and which dissolves reasonably readily in water to produce an orange juice that is fairly characteristic in appearance to fresh orange juice. The reconstituted juice possesses a good color; is reasonably free from defects; possesses a reasonably good flavor; and scores not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart.

(c) "Substandard" is the quality of dehydrated orange juice that fails to meet the requirement of U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice.

FACTORS OF QUALITY

§ 52.2983 Ascertaining the grade— (a) General. In addition to considering other requirements outlined in the standards, the following quality factors are evaluated:

(1) Factors not rated by score points. (i) Moisture content.

(ii) Physical condition and faculty of dissolving readily in water.

(2) Factors rated by score points. The relative importance of each factor which is scored is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given each such factor is:

Factors:	Points
Color	40
Defects	20
Flavor	40
Total score	100

§ 52.2984 Ascertaining the rating for the factors which are scored. The essential variations within each factor which is scored are so described that the value may be ascertained for such factors and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is scored is inclusive. (For example, "17 to 19" means 17, 18, or 19 points). The rating is ascertained immediately after the product has been reconstituted to single-strength orange juice.

§ 52.2985 Color—(a) (A) classification. Dehydrated orange juice of which the reconstituted juice possesses a very good color may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Very good color" means a very good yellow to yellow-orange color that is bright and typical of rich-colored fresh orange juice.

(b) (B) classification. If the reconstituted juice possesses a good color a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Dehydratd orange juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Good color" means that the color is the yellow to yellow-orange color typical of fresh orange juice, which may be dull but is not off-color for any reason.

(c) (SStd.) classification. If the reconstituted juice fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section a score of 0 to 27 points may be given and the product shall not be graded above Substandard regardless of the total score for the product, (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2986 Defects— (a) General. The factor of defects refers to the degree of freedom from seeds or portions thereof, pulp, dark specks, improperly rehydrated orange material, or other defects that affect the appearance or drinking quality of the reconstituted juice.

(b) (A) classification. Dehydrated orange juice of which the reconstituted juice is practically free from defects may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Practically free from defects" means that the appearance and drinking quality of the juice is not materially affected by defects.

(c) (B) classification. If the reconstituted juice is only reasonably free from defects a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Dehydrated orange juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice regardless of the total score for the product, (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" means that the appearance and drinking quality of the juice is not seriously affected by defects.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Dehydrated orange juice that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard regardless of the total score for the product, (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2987 Flavor—(a) (A) classification. Dehydrated orange juice of which the reconstituted juice possesses a very good flavor may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Good flavor" means that the flavor is a distinct orange juice flavor typical of reconstituted, properly processed, canned concentrated orange juice which is free from terpenic, carmelized, oxidized, rancid or off-flavors. To score in this classification the ratio of the Brix to acid shall be not less than 12 to 1 nor more than 18 to 1 and the recoverable oil content not less than 0.006 nor more than 0.012 milliliter per 100 milliliters of the reconstituted juice.

(b) (B) classification. If the reconstituted juice posses a reasonably good flavor a score of 28 to 33 points may be given, Dehydrated orange juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice regardless of the total score for the product, (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good flavor" means that the flavor is reasonably typical of reconstituted, properly processed, canned concentrated orange juice which is free from abnormal and off-flavors of any kind. To score in this classification the ratio of the Brix to acid shall be not less than 10.5 to 1 nor more than 19 to 1 and the recoverable oil content not less than 0.008 nor more than 0.20 milliliter per 100 milliliters of the reconstituted juice.

(c) (SStd.) classification. Dehydrated orange juice that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 27 points and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. Choice regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

EXPLANATIONS AND METHODS OF ANALYSES

§ 52.2988 Definition of terms. (a) "Reconstituted juice" means the product obtained by dissolving an entire package of dehydrated orange juice in the volume of water specified by the manufacturer.

(b) "Dissolves readily" means that (1) the product dissolves readily in the prescribed amount of cold water with only a reasonable amount of stirring, (2) that the fruit particles rehydrate readily, and (3) that there is no rapid separation of collodial or suspended matter.

(c) "Dissolves reasonably readily" means that (1) the product may require excessive stirring, beating or whipping to dissolve the solids, (2) fruit particles may not rehydrate readily, and/or (3) collodial or other suspended material is not held in suspension for a reasonable length of time.

(d) "Acid" means the percent by weight of acid (calculated as anhydrous citric acid) in the reconstituted orange juice and is determined by titration with standard sodium hydroxide solution using phenolphthalein as indicator.

(e) The "Brix" of the reconstituted juice means the degree Brix as determined by the Brix hydrometer calibrated at 20 degrees C. (68 degrees F.) and to which any applicable temperature correction has been applied.

§ 52.2989 Methods of analyses. (a) "Recoverable oil" is determined by the following method:

(1) Equipment. Oil separatory trap similar to either of those illustrated in Figure 1 and Figure 2.[1]

Gas burner or hot plate.
Ringstand and clamps.
Rubber tubing.
Three-liter narrow-neck flask.

[1] Filed as part of the original document.

(2) Procedure. Place exactly 2 liters of the reconstituted juice in a 3-liter flask. Close the stopcock, place distilled water in the graduated tube, run cold water through the condenser from bottom to top, and bring the mixture to a boil. Continue boiling for one hour at the rate of approximately 50 drops per minute. By means of the stopcock, lower the oil into the graduated portion of the separatory trap, remove the trap from the flask; allow it to cool, and record the amount of oil recovered. The number of milliliters of oil recovered divided by 20 is equivalent to the number of milliliters of oil per 100 milliliters of the reconstituted juice.

(b) The "moisture content" of the dehydrated orange juice is determined as follows:

(1) A 3 to 5 gram sample is weighed into an aluminum weighing dish 1½ to 2 inches in diameter, having a tight-fitting cover. The samples are dried in a vacuum oven for 30 hours at a temperature of 60 degrees C. (140 degrees F.) and a pressure not exceeding 100 m.m. of mercury. During the drying period air is passed through H_2SO_4 and admitted through the release cock at the rate of approximately two bubbles per second. At the end of the drying period the dishes are removed from the oven, the covers are placed on immediately and the dishes allowed to cool in a desiccator prior to final weighing. Sampling and weighing is carried out as rapidly as possible under low humidity conditions.

(c) The "sulfur dioxide" content of the dehydrated orange juice is determined by the following method:

(1) The monier-Williams method for total sulforous acid as approved by the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists and using a 50-gram sample of the dehydrated orange juice.

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.2990 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (a) When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of dehydrated orange juice the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample, if, (1) all containers comprising the sample meet all applicable standards of quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Costmetic Act and in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification; and (2) with respect to those factors which are scored;

(i) Not more than one-sixth of the containers fails to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(ii) None of the containers falls more than four points below the minimum score for the grade indicatd by the average of such total scores;

(iii) None of the containers falls more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(iv) The average score of all containers for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the containers comprising the sample.

HANDLERS OF MILK IN TEXAS PANHANDLE MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900) a public hearing was conducted at Amarillo, Texas, January 31–February 7 and April 12–13, 1955, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on January 8, 1955 (20 F. R. 198) and March 24, 1955 (20 F. R. 1785), respectively.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, on October 4, 1955, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision in this proceeding. The notice of filing such recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 7, 1955 (20 F. R. 7492).

Within the period reserved therefor, exceptions were filed to certain of the findings, conclusions and actions recommended by the Deputy Administrator. In arriving at the findings, conclusions and regulatory provisions of this decision, such exceptions were carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings, conclusions and actions decided upon herein are at variance with any of the exceptions, such exceptions are overruled. To the extent that suggested findings and conclusions proposed by interested persons are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the specific or implied requests to make such findings and reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions herein set forth.

The material issues of record related to:

1. Whether the handling of milk in the market is in the current of interstate commerce or directly burdens, obstructs or affects interstate commerce in milk or its products;

2. Whether marketing conditions justify the issuance of a marketing agreement or order; and

3. If an order is issued what its provisions should be with respect to:

(a) The scope of regulation;

(b) The classification of milk;

(c) The level and method of determining class prices;

(d) The method to be used in distributing proceeds to producers; and

(e) Administrative provisions.

Findings and conclusions. Upon the evidence adduced at the hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found and concluded that:

1. Character of commerce. The handling of milk in the proposed marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce and directly burdens, obstructs or affects interstate commerce in milk and its products.

The marketing area specified in the proposed order, hereinafter referred to as the Texas Panhandle marketing area, includes all the territory in the counties of Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Moore, Oldham, Ochiltree, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, and Wheeler, all in the State of Texas. Milk handled in the marketing area moves in large volumes and in many forms back and forth over State lines. The production areas from which milk is received by the various handlers who distribute milk in the marketing area overlap State boundaries. Milk from the farms of many producers in Oklahoma and New Mexico is received at plants in the marketing area where it is processed and packaged for distribution to consumers. From a country station at Arnett, Oklahoma, milk received from producers is moved regularly to a milk plant at Amarillo, Texas, from which plant it is distributed for fluid consumption throughout the marketing area and in Oklahoma. During those months in recent years when producer deliveries were inadequate for the needs of the market, milk for fluid distribution in the marketing area was purchased by handlers in tank lots from plants in Oklahoma, Missouri, Wisconsin, and Illinois.

Handlers operating plants located in the marketing area are the principal distributors in the market. From several of such plants, distribution of Grade A milk for fluid consumption in New Mexico and Oklahoma represents a significant portion of their business. Routes emanating from Elk City, Oklahoma, deliver substantial quantities of milk in the marketing area. In addition, deliveries are made regularly at some localities in the marketing area from a plant in Dodge City, Kansas.

Manufactured milk products made from excess milk in the plants of handlers, or at plants to which it has been transferred or diverted, are sold throughout various southwestern States. A principal outlet for Grade A milk received from producers which is in excess of that needed for fluid use is the Quint County Creamery at Mangum, Oklahoma. During the months of heavy production large quantities of milk are transferred or diverted by marketing area handlers to the Quint County plant. In addition to processing and packaging milk for fluid distribution in the nearby Texas and Oklahoma communities, a variety of manufactured dairy products which are moved in interstate commerce is made at this plant.

Routes of handlers under the Central West Texas and Southwest Kansas Federal milk marketing orders extend into the proposed marketing area, where milk is sold in competition with distributors who would be handlers under the Texas Panhandle order. At the plants of these handlers who are regulated by other Federal orders the interstate commerce factor is indicated by the receipts of milk from and distribution to locations outside the State of Texas.

2. Need for an order. Marketing conditions in the Texas Panhandle marketing area justify the issuance of a marketing agreement and order.

There is no overall plan whereby farmers supplying the Texas Panhandle marketing area are assured of payment for their milk in accordance with its use. Neither is there a procedure whereby farmers may participate in the price determinations throughout the area necessary for the marketing of their milk, which because of its perishability must be delivered to the market soon after it is produced. Farmers cannot retain milk on their farms in order to await favorable price conditions. Production of milk for fluid use, under the sanitary requirements prevailing in the proposed marketing area, requires substantial investment.

A certain amount of reserve milk in excess of actual trade sales is necessary to assure consumers of an adequate supply of milk at all times. Fluctuations brought on by the seasonal nature of milk production, coupled with a relatively uniform pattern of consumption, necessitate the disposition of some of the Grade A milk produced for the market into manufacturing channels. Such excess milk must be manufactured into products and sold in competition with similar products produced from ungraded milk. Milk marketed in this manner returns considerably less than that marketed for fluid use. Consequently, a well-defined and uniformly applied plan of use classification and the proper pricing of milk in such uses is necessary to prevent such excess milk from depressing the market price of all Grade A milk. To be successful, the classification of milk in accordance with its use and the payments to producers on a use basis, require full participation and cooperation of those engaged in the industry.

Orderly marketing of the milk produced for fluid consumption requires uniformly dependable methods for determining prices according to the use made of the milk. It also requires uniformity of pricing according to the use made of milk by each handler, and a means whereby lower average returns resulting from the maintenance of the necessary reserve supplies of milk may be shared equitably among producers.

The problems of unstable marketing encountered by producers in the Texas Panhandle marketing area are not uncommon in fluid milk markets. The problems, which have resulted in unrest and instability in this area, are similar to those characteristic of the fluid milk industry in the absence of regulation or a well-defined classified pricing plan. A marketing order as herein proposed will promote orderly marketing by assuring producers prices equivalent to those contemplated under the act.

The buying practices of various handlers in the market have caused chaotic conditions and instability in the marketing of milk. Prices paid farmers for milk for fluid use have frequently been below the Class I prices an order would provide. Producers have no means of ascertaining how their milk is utilized at the various plants to which they deliver, or whether the basis on which they are being paid from month to month will be revised. Accuracy of weights and butterfat tests have been ascertained infrequently. Payment of surplus prices by handlers for milk which producers believe was needed in the market for fluid consumption is one of the causes of instability and uncertainty in the market.

Several handlers in the area have dealt with farmers in such a way as to discourage cooperative action by these farmers. Some handlers refused to make deductions for cooperative dues from payments due member producers, even though such deductions had been properly authorized by the producers. Failure to make such deductions has limited the cooperative in instituting check weighing and testing programs.

Representatives of the principal producer cooperative association stated that major handlers in the market have refused or failed to recognize or to bargain with the association as to price, or any other terms with respect to the sale of the milk of its members. Some handlers in the area used various means to attempt to deter producers from affiliating with the cooperative association. They advised producers that they preferred to deal with them individually and in some instances indicated that preferential treatment would be given those producers who did not become members of the cooperative. Activity by producers in behalf of the cooperative association was looked upon with disfavor by handlers. A producer who was active in the soliciting of new members for the association was cut off by the handler to whom he was making deliveries because "his milk did not come up to the company's standards." Information from the Health Department indicated that it had never ordered the producer cut off or degraded and that the bacteria count of his milk was rarely over 5,000.

Producers contended that their milk is frequently rejected by handlers when such rejection is not warranted. It was stated that milk was rejected by a handler as being off flavor only when such handler had an excess supply of milk in his plant. Producers were further aggravated by the fact that a red coloring was added by the handler to rejected milk before it was returned to the producer, thus destroying the value such producer might realize from the sale of such rejected milk at a manufacturing plant.

Evidence adduced at the hearing indicated that the rates charged a large number of producers in the market by handlers for hauling are considerably greater than the actual cost of transporting such producers' milk from their farms to the handlers' plants. This has caused considerable dissatisfaction among producers, and has resulted in unjustly depressing producer returns. One producer, who complained that a rate of 95 cents per hundredweight was being deducted from his pay check for hauling for which the hauler was paid 75 cents per hundredweight, was advised by the handler to find another market for his milk if he was not satisfied.

Producers whose milk is received at a country plant at Arnett, Oklahoma (150 to 155 miles from Amarillo) are charged 75 cents per hundredweight by the handler for moving their milk to Amarillo in his tank truck. This 75-cent charge is in addition to the hauling cost, from their farms to the country plant, which cost is as high as 50 cents per hundredweight for some producers. When milk from the Arnett plant is not needed in the handler's Amarillo plant for Class I purposes it is usually moved to the ungraded portion of the handler's plant in Arnett for manufacturing purposes.

Under such circumstances, producers are charged 75 cents per hundredweight on all base milk delivered at the Arnett plant. Producers at the hearing contended that the 75-cent charge is unwarranted in that it exceeds by a wide margin the actual cost incurred in moving producer milk from Arnett to Amarillo.

Producers claimed that an order with appropriate pricing and location differential provisions would tend to correct such inequities as they contend have resulted from the various hauling charge arrangements which now prevail in the market.

The stated base and excess prices paid producers are generally at the option of the handler and not meaningful. Since no complete systematic verification is made of the way milk is utilized, payment to a producer at the excess, or surplus price, for any of his milk does not indicate that such milk was not used for fluid purposes. It was testified that arbitrary methods have been used in some instances in arriving at the percentages of milk to be paid for at the base and excess prices. Most handlers deal with their producers on an individual basis so that it is difficult for producers to ascertain the overall basis used in determining the rate of payment for their deliveries.

The conditions complained of by producers, and herein cited, with regard to the unstable marketing conditions are not peculiar to one or several localities in the marketing area, but apply throughout the area. Moreover, those handlers who would be regulated by the attached order compete with one another throughout substantial portions of the proposed marketing area.

The record indicates that there is a lack of detailed market information relative to the procurement of milk for and disposition of milk throughout the marketing area. Such information is essential to the effectuation of orderly marketing and in achieving a level of Grade A milk production commensurate with consumer demand for Grade A milk. Some data on receipts and utilization of milk for fluid and manufacturing uses were made available for the hearing by various handlers. This information is incomplete with regard to the overall receipts and utilization of milk and milk products by all handlers operating in the area, and it, therefore, does not portray marketing conditions for the whole area.

It is concluded that the issuance of a marketing agreement and order for the Texas Panhandle marketing area would contribute substantially to the improvement of many of the conditions complained of and would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. The adoption of a classified price plan based on the audited utilization of handlers will provide a uniform system of minimum prices to handlers for milk purchased from producers and a fair division among all producers of the proceeds from the sale of this milk. The public hearing procedure required by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act will provide opportunity for representation of producers, handlers and the public in presenting information on marketing conditions and participating in the determination of prices for milk in the area.

3. (a) Scope of regulation. It is necessary to designate clearly what milk and what persons would be subject to the various provisions of the order. This can best be done by providing definitions which set forth the categories of persons, plants and milk products for purposes of classification of milk and of application of other provisions of the order.

Marketing area. The marketing area should include all the territory within the counties of Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Moore, Oldham, Ochiltree, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman and Wheeler, all in the State of Texas.

According to the 1950 census, the population of the 20 counties which constitute the proposed marketing area was approximately 250,000. It was indicated at the hearing that since 1950 there has been a substantial overall increase in population throughout the area. Because a relatively large portion of the sales of fluid milk in this area is in rural communities and because of the substantial population immediately surrounding the various cities, the marketing area should be defined on the basis of county rather than city boundaries. To a large extent, health ordinances in effect in this area apply to both the county and the cities and towns therein.

Grade A milk products sold for fluid consumption throughout the proposed 20-county area must be approved by health authorities who are governed by health ordinances, practices and procedures patterned after the United States Public Health Milk Ordinance and Code. Movements of milk both in bulk and packaged form between cities and counties take place through reciprocal approval of the respective health authorities. Ratings by the United States Public Health Service are recognized as a basis for approval of outside sources of milk. The degree of similarity of minimum health standards throughout the area justifies uniform regulation for milk marketed throughout the area.

Amarillo, which is centrally located with respect to the marketing area is the largest city in the area. Its 1950 population was 74 thousand and that for the next largest cities—Borger and Pampa—was 18 and 17 thousand, respectively. All of these cities have substantial populations surrounding their boundaries. Amarillo is the principal point at which milk from producers is processed and packaged for distribution throughout the marketing area. The four handlers whose plants are located in Amarillo receive milk from approximately three-fourths of the estimated 500 producers supplying handlers who would be regulated by the proposed order. From these plants in Amarillo, milk is distributed on routes in each of the 20 counties in the marketing area. Three other plants in the marketing area which would be fully regulated by the order and sell milk in competition principally with Amarillo handlers are located in Borger, Pampa, and Herford. A distributor whose plant is located at Elk City, Oklahoma, distributes milk in the proposed marketing area in competition with a number of the aforementioned handlers and it is likely that milk at this plant would be fully subject to the order. Except for a relatively small volume of milk which is sold in a few counties on the outer edges of the marketing area by other plants located outside of the area, all milk distributed in the marketing area would be fully subject to the order.

The marketing area which was suggested in the proposals submitted by various parties to the hearing included, in the aggregate, 51 counties (40 in Texas, 6 in New Mexico and 5 in Oklahoma), an area of more than 53,000 square miles. A preliminary investigation and examination of the available data relative to the supply of milk for and the distribution throughout the overall area indicated that the intent of the act would be best effectuated by limiting consideration at that time to an order in which the marketing area was defined as not greater than the territory within Potter County and the cities of Borger and Pampa, Texas. The hearing notice which was issued to that effect also provided that if evidence adduced at the hearing indicated that it would not be feasible to promulgate an order for that limited area or that additional territory should properly be included under any proposed order for the Texas Panhandle area the hearing would be reopened for the purpose of giving further consideration to an appropriate marketing area. The hearing was convened on January 31 and continued through February 7, 1955. On the basis of evidence presented at that time, however, it was evident that it would not be feasible to promulgate an order with a marketing area limited to Potter County and the cities of Borger and Pampa. Accordingly, the hearing was reopened on April 12 to afford interested parties the opportunity to submit additional evidence with respect to the marketing area and other provisions of a proposed order. For the purpose of the reopened hearing, consideration was given to a marketing area composed of all the territory within 28 counties, including in addition to the 20 herein designated as the marketing area, the counties of Castro, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Hale, Lipscomb, Parmer and Swisher.

It is neither administratively feasible nor necessary to include all territory in the marketing area in which handlers to be regulated distribute milk. Furthermore, it would not be possible to designate a marketing area of reasonable size which would include all sales outlets of each and every handler that would be subject to regulation. As additional territory would be added, the problems associated with the extension of regulation to distributors that make a substantial portion of their fluid milk sales outside of the marketing area would be increased many fold. Difficulties would be encountered also in the pooling of returns from milk which is only remotely associated with the market. It is necessary, therefore, to define an area which in conjunction with other order provisions will promote orderly marketing of milk of those producers which should be priced and pooled under the order.

The counties of Cottle, Childress, Collingsworth, and Lipscomb, which append to the east and south of the proposed area, and which some handlers urged be a part of the marketing area, are not included in the marketing area herein recommended. The population of these counties is relatively small. There is only one city in these counties of more than 4,000 people (Childress—population 7,600). In Lipscomb, Childress, and Cottle Counties, a portion of the milk sold is already subject to regulation under other Federal orders.

Sufficient milk is sold in Collingsworth and Childress Counties from a distant plant in Oklahoma to extend the regulation to this milk if these counties were included in the marketing area. To do so would extend unnecessarily the scope of the regulation. This would result in the pooling under the order of milk which is not primarily associated with the principal market outlets of the Texas Panhandle area. The main competition for sales outlets of a major portion of the milk at this plant would not be subject to regulation.

The counties of Hale, Swisher, Castro and Parmer, which attach to the south of the proposed marketing area were also considered for inclusion therein. According to the 1950 census, these counties had populations of 28.2, 8.2, 5.4 and 5.8 thousand, respectively. Total sales by Amarillo handlers in this four-county area are about 40 percent of the fluid milk distributed in such area. The percentages of the total distribution by Amarillo handlers is 20 percent in Hale, 65 in Castro and 80 percent in each Swisher and Parmer Counties. This is in contrast to the 20 counties recommended wherein handlers who would be regulated by the proposed order are essentially the only distributors who furnish milk to them.

Plainview (population 14,000), the principal city in Hale County, is 76 miles south of Amarillo and 46 miles north of Lubbock, Tex. Relatively small quantities of milk are distributed in Hale County by Amarillo handlers. The major distributor in Hale County, whose plant is in Plainview, also disposes of significant quantities of milk throughout Swisher and Castro Counties. The largest urban area included in the sales territory of the Plainview distributor is the city of Lubbock (72,000 population). The primary competition of the Plainview distributor, therefore, is not from Amarillo handlers but from Lubbock distributors who in turn distribute no milk in the proposed 20-county marketing area. This is true, not only throughout Lubbock and Hale Counties but also in the less populous counties adjacent to them. Hale County, geographically and from the viewpoint of milk distribution, is more closely associated with the Lubbock area than that of Amarillo.

Historically, prices paid producers at Plainview and Lubbock plants for base milk have been above those paid by Amarillo handlers. At the time of the hearing, the Plainview distributor was paying dairy farmers $5.83 per hundredweight for milk of 4 percent butterfat content compared to $5.55 and $5.58 paid by the two major Amarillo handlers. The comparable price paid to their dairy farmers by Lubbock distributors was $6.05. As stated below in this decision, the average Class I price pursuant to the proposed order for the Texas Panhandle area would have averaged $5.55 per hundredweight for the year of 1954. Although Swisher and Castro Counties are about equi-distant from Amarillo and Lubbock, it is concluded that it is unnecessary to include them in the proposed marketing area at this time. To incorporate these counties in the proposed marketing area would result in extending regulations to the Plainview distributor who operates primarily in the orbit of the Lubbock distribution area.

Parmer County which lies between Castro County and the eastern border of New Mexico was considered for inclusion in the marketing area. Milk is distributed in the county by distributors from nearby Clovis and Portales, New Mexico. Prices reported to have been paid by these New Mexico distributors have been higher historically than prices paid by Amarillo handlers. At the time of the hearing, the base price paid by such distributors for milk of 4 percent butterfat content was $5.77 per hundredweight. Marketing conditions in Parmer County are similar to those described above for Swisher and Castro Counties and, therefore, should not be included in the marketing area.

It was not shown on the record that the inclusion of Hale, Swisher, Castro, and Parmer Counties in the marketing area is necessary to effectuate orderly marketing conditions in the proposed Texas Panhandle marketing area at this time. The record does not indicate that unregulated handlers operating in these counties adjacent to the marketing area would have a price advantage in the procurement of milk over regulated handlers who dispose of milk in this area. In addition, by providing for a marketing area as proposed herein, the extension of regulation to milk distributors located outside of the marketing area is at a minimum and their operation will not be disturbed with respect to the major portion of their sales area wherein they compete with other distributors who would not be regulated by the proposed order.

Certain handlers testified that they distribute Class I milk in other counties in addition to those proposed to be included in the marketing area. Extension of regulation to those counties and the numerous other counties which had been suggested would bring additional handlers under regulations who in turn have important other sales which would be unregulated. The volume of milk sold outside the marketing area from pool plants as defined under the proposed order is not in itself justification for the inclusion of these counties in the marketing area, nor are marketing conditions in these counties such that their exclusion would be inappropriate or unjustified at this time.

The handlers who would be regulated pursuant to the attached order are in competition throughout the marketing area. The various communities throughout the marketing area in which milk is distributed are closely related marketwise. Uniform regulations through the device of a marketing order wil promote orderly and stable marketing conditions throughout the proposed area.

Definition of plants. The minimum class prices of the order should apply to that milk eligible for distribution as Grade A milk in the marketing area which is received from dairy farmers at plants primarily engaged in supplying fluid milk products for sale on retail and wholesale routes in the marketing area. Such plants would be defined as "pool plants."

Determining which plants shall be pool plants under the order, and thereby fully subject to regulation, requires that definitive standards be prescribed. Such standards should be clearly set forth in the order and apply uniformly to all plants, wherever located. Pool plant status should not be determined solely on an occasional shipment of milk to the market, or on approval by a specified health authority. Such a method for determining which plants shall be subject to regulation would not provide a workable basis for administering an order for the Texas Panhandle marketing area. In order to effectuate the intent of the act, it is concluded that pool plant status under the order should be determined on the basis of specified performance standards.

As indicated elsewhere in this decision, marketwide pooling of producer returns is considered essential to the stable and orderly functioning of this market. Since a marketwide pool results in payment to all producers on an average utilization for the market, individual handlers are relieved of any responsibility for maintaining a high Class I utilization in order to support their pay rates to producers. Whatever utilization of milk a handler may have, his rate of pay to producers will be the same as that of all other handlers in the market. Thus, it is possible that status with respect to the pool may become a determining factor in guiding a handler's operation.

The scope of pooling or the rules for distributing the returns from Class I sales under the order must be such that the differentials over manufacturing milk values paid by users of Class I milk will serve the purpose for which they are intended. Class I milk prices of the order are fixed at a level which exceeds the value of the milk for manufacturing uses by stated amounts. This premium, or differential, over the manufactured milk price is essential as an incentive to producers for producing milk of the quality and volume required by the market. Extra costs are involved in meeting the sanitary requirements relative to the maintenance of a dairy herd for the production of Grade A milk and in providing milk during the fall and winter months when feed and housing costs are high. Extra costs are involved also on farms since milk for fluid use must be handled through sanitary utensils and facilities, refrigerated and marketed promptly.

The extra costs thus involved for Grade A or fluid milk producers must be borne by that share of the milk which is marketed as Class I milk. Excess or "surplus" milk, although an essential part of a fluid milk business, cannot be expected to return more to producers than a manufactured milk value. The only outlet for reserve milk not needed for fluid use is in the form of manufactured products. Such products must be marketed in competition with similar products made throughout the country.

Since the production of high quality milk involves extra expenses, it is important that the amount of milk produced under Grade A inspection be no more than the minimum necessary to provide the market with an adequate and dependable supply of quality milk. To encourage more than enough production of such milk would represent an economic waste, since the expenditures involved in producing Grade A milk not an essential part of the market supply would result in no extra value to consumers.

One of the primary problems, then, in setting up a marketwide pool is to establish rules which will provide for the sharing of Class I sales (Class I differentials) among the producers who are an essential and regular part of the milk supply for the marketing area.

Class I prices must first be set as nearly as possible at the minimum levels which will encourage the necessary amount of milk production and the resulting returns should be distributed in such a way as to assure the market of the maximum dependable supply of quality milk which can be obtained at these prices. In order to do this, provision is made that equalization of market sales should be only to plants meeting reasonable performance standards with respect to supplying their producer milk to the market.

Performance standards should apply uniformly to all plants. Any plant, regardless of its location, should have equal opportunity to comply with the standards and thereby to participate in the marketwide pool and have its producers share in the Class I sales of the market. Any producer who meets the necessary health department requirements should be permitted, under the order, to sell his milk to plants meeting the standards of qualification. Whether or not plants and producers choose to supply the Texas Panhandle market will depend on the economic circumstances with which they are confronted, such as prices, transportation costs, and alternative outlets.

Performance standards should be such that any plant which has as its major function the supplying of milk to the market would pool its sales and share in the marketwide equalization. On the other hand, plants only casually, or incidentally, associated with the market should not be subject to complete regulation, nor should they be permitted or required to equalize their sales with all handlers in the market. If a milk plant were to be permitted to share on a prorata basis the Class I utilization of the entire market without being genuinely associated with the market, then the premiums or differentials paid by users of Class I milk would be dissipated without accomplishing their intended purpose. If a plant were to be qualified and fully regulated merely by making a token shipment of milk or cream into the market for sale as Class I milk, then any milk plant which found itself in a position where it was selling a smaller share of its milk in Class I than the average for all regulated handlers might make such shipment and receive equalization payments from the pool. The only qualification such a plant would be required to meet would be compliance with the necessary health department standards.

The mere circumstance of having obtained health department approval, plus the token shipment of milk, is not sufficient justification for equalizing the sales of such plant with the market. There are many plants having milk of suitable quality for sale in the marketing area which are in no way, or are only incidentally, associated with the market. Different health authorities have jurisdiction in various parts of the marketing area. In the absence of performance standards, approval by any one of these authorities or reciprocal acceptance of permits by them would entitle a plant to participate in the equalization pool. A health officer gives his approval to a plant in terms of sanitary consideration. There is no reason to think that he would make his determination of approval only on the economic bases contemplated by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937. Consequently, the standards appropriate to the act for determining pool plant qualification must be set out in the order.

Since reserve milk is an essential part of any fluid milk business there will always be some excess milk in the plants of handlers supplying other markets This will be particularly true in the months of flush production. Plants selling primarily to other markets, or plants shipping milk on an opportunity basis to any market where supplies happen to be short, do not represent sources of milk on which the Texas Panhandle market may depend. If such plants were allowed to sell a token quantity of milk in the marketing area and pool their surplus whenever Class I outlets were not available to them, the result would be that such handler could gain an advantage in paying producers through receipt of equalization payments from the Texas Panhandle pool.

The Texas Panhandle market, however, would gain no advantage from the payment of equalization to such a handler. Such a distribution of equalization payments would, in fact, reduce the blend price to producers regularly supplying the market, thereby having an adverse effect on the milk supplies upon which the market depends. This could result in the need for higher Class I prices than would otherwise be required to supply the market adequately.

Performance standards must be flexible enough to allow a plant which is primarily associated with the market to maintain its association with the pool under the changing conditions which occur from year to year, and yet not permit the distribution of equalization payments to plants not part of the essential supply. The performance standards herein provided are such that these objectives should be accomplished.

Because of the difference in marketing practices and in demands for supply of milk from distributing plants as related to supply plants, two sets of performance standards have been provided. A "distributing plant" under the order would be defined as a plant in which milk is processed or packaged and from which any fluid milk product (as hereinafter defined) is disposed of during the month on routes (including routes operated by vendors) or through plant stores to retail or wholesale outlets (except pool plants) located in the marketing area. "Supply plant" would be defined to mean a plant (except a distributing plant) from which milk, skim milk or cream which is acceptable to the appropriate health authority for distribution in the marketing area under a Grade A label is shipped during the month to a distributing plant which is qualified as a pool plant.

In order to qualify as a pool plant, a distributing plant should be required to distribute at least 15 percent of its milk from producers and other pool plants during the month as Class I milk on retail or wholesale routes to outlets in the marketing area.

A distributing plant having more than 85 percent of its business outside the marketing area or in other outlets should not be considered as essentially associated with the market. It is not considered advisable to bring such a plant under full regulation because of the minor share of its business which is in the marketing area. Full regulation in such case would not be necessary to accomplish the purposes of the order, and might well place such plant at a competitive disadvantage in relation to its competitors in supplying the unregulated market.

Such a minimum is necessary also to avoid the possibility that a plant otherwise not associated with the market might qualify itself for equalization payments to its own advantage, and to the disadvantage of the market, by means of minor sales in the marketing area.

It is contemplated that only plants primarily engaged in route distributions of fluid milk products should be qualified as pool plants under this definition. In order to preserve this distinction, a further condition is placed on distributing plants that their total distribution of Class I milk on routes to wholesale or retail outlets, both inside and outside the marketing area, must amount to at least 50 percent of their receipts during the month of milk from dairy farmers and from other plants. Any plant which does not qualify on this basis should be deemed to be primarily a supply plant and its status under the pool should be judged by the standards applied to such plants.

Evidence in the record indicates that most plants doing business in the marketing area dispose of their milk in such a way as to exceed by a considerable margin the minimum performance standards necessary to qualify as pool plants. There may be plants supplying milk to the marketing area which would not qualify for pool status. Such plants would be subject to payments hereinafter discussed if they are not fully subject to regulation.

The performance standards for supply plants to qualify for pool plant status should reflect the fact that the Texas Panhandle market is a deficit market in that producer milk is not adequate on an annual basis for the needs of the market. Throughout most months of the year distributors in the market have needed all of the milk available from producers in order to keep their Class I outlets fully supplied. In order to assure that all the producer milk which is pooled with the market will be available for Class I, supply plant standards should be set at levels which require that the milk will be available. If conditions in the market should change so that Class I outlets are adequately supplied with producer milk and the percentage standards herein recommended are not necessary to assure the availability of such producer milk for Class I sales, the recommended standards should be subject to further review.

Under present circumstances it is concluded that a supply plant should dispose of at least 50 percent of its receipts of milk from dairy farmers in any month in the form of supplemental supplies of fluid milk products, as hereinafter defined, shipped to distributing plants in order to qualify for pool plant status. Unless more than half of the milk from such plant is disposed of in this manner, a supply plant should not under the present conditions in the Texas Panhandle market be considered as primarily associated with the regulated market.

It is recognized, however, that the demand for milk from supply plants may vary seasonally and will be greatest during the season of low production. For sustained periods during the months of flush production supplies of milk received at plants located in or near the marketing area may be sufficient to supply the Class I outlets. During this part of the year, it would be more economical to leave the most distant milk in the country for manufacture, and use local supplies for Class I use. The performance provisions should not force milk to be transported to distributing plants in the summertime where it must be manufactured in order to maintain the eligibility of supply plants to pool.

To avoid this, provision should be made whereby a supply plant may maintain pool plant status throughout the year if it supplies a substantial portion of its producer milk to distributing plants during the months when milk production tends to be lowest. The proposed standards require that a supply plant provide distributing plants with milk to the extent of 75 percent of its producer milk receipts during the months of September through November to maintain automatic pool status for the months of March through June.

Any distributing plant or supply plant which does not meet the standards for a pool plant should be required to file reports and submit to audits by the market administrator to verify the status of such plant.

Some handlers in the market receive milk from both Grade A and ungraded producers. Where such an operation takes place, it is generally the practice of the handler to maintain the ungraded operation physically apart from that of his Grade A operation. Several of the ungraded operations of such dual plants have historically been associated with the market as important outlets for reserve supplies of milk during the months of seasonally high production. These plants receive such reserve supplies not only from the Grade A operations of the handler operating such ungraded plants but also from other Grade A plants in the market. The handler who operates an ungraded plant which is in the adjoining or same building as his Grade A plant should not be restricted in the operation of his ungraded plant to any greater degree than the operator of any other ungraded plant. However, proper safeguards should be provided in the order to insure that the ungraded and graded portions of a plant operated by the same handler are maintained as separate entities. It is concluded therefore, that if a portion of a plant is physically apart from the Grade A portion of such plant, is operated separately and is not approved by any health authority for the receiving, processing or packaging of any fluid milk product for Grade A disposition, it should not be considered a part of a pool plant. However, if the graded and ungraded operations of a plant are not maintained separately, the entire operation of such plant would be considered as that of a pool plant, and all ungraded milk received at such plant would be considered as other source milk received at a pool plant.

Some milk that is distributed in the marketing area is from plants which are fully subject to the classification, pricing and pooling provisions of other Federal milk marketing orders. It is not necessary to extend full regulation under this order to such plants which dispose of a major portion of their receipts in another area and are subject to such regulation. To do so would subject such plants to duplicate regulation. However, in order that the market administrator may be fully apprised of the continuing status of such a plant, the operator thereof should, with respect to the total receipts and utilization or disposition of skim milk and butterfat at the plant, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

Handler. Handler should be defined as any person in his capacity as the operator of one or more distributing or supply plants. The definition should also include any cooperative association with respect to the milk from producers diverted for the account of such association from a pool plant to a nonpool plant.

The handler is the person who receives milk from producers and who is responsible for reporting receipts and utilization of milk and payment therefor. A cooperative association which markets the milk of its producer members may for short periods of time need to divert producers' milk from pool plants to nonpool plants. If the association is defined as a handler for such milk, even though it has no plant, the producers whose milk is so diverted will continue to receive the uniform prices under the order and their milk production will be available for fluid use when needed in the fall months or at other times.

In case a person operates more than one pool plant, he should be a handler with respect to the combined operation of such plants. If the handler operates a plant not associated with the regulatory market, he would not be a handler with respect to such plant.

Producer-handlers and operators of distributing plants and supply plants which do not qualify as pool plants should be considered handlers in order to require such persons to report to the market administrator as is needed to determine their status. With regard to distributing plants, which are nonpool plants, such reports also are necessary to determine the amount payable by the operator of such plant on unpriced milk distributed in the marketing area.

Producer. Producer should be defined as any person, other than a producer-handler, who produces milk in compliance with Grade A inspection requirements of a duly constituted health authority and such milk is received at a pool plant.

When producer milk is not needed in the market for Class I purposes, the movement of such milk to nonpool plants for manufacturing purposes should be facilitated. Allowing for unlimited diversion during those months when reserve supplies of milk are heaviest will contribute to this end. Unlimited diversion is neither necessary nor desirable during the other months of the year when milk of producers regularly associated with the market is needed to supply the Class I needs of the market. It is necessary, however, to provide for limited diversion during such months to enable handlers to divert producer milk on such occasions as weekends or holidays when the milk is not needed in the market for Class I purposes.

Provision should be made so that the milk of producers regularly received at a pool plant may be diverted for the account of a handler to a nonpool plant any day during the flush production months and on not more than 15 days during any other months and still retain producer milk status under the order. Diverted milk shall be deemed to have been received at the plant from which it was diverted.

Producer-handler. Producer-handler should be defined as any person who operates a dairy farm and a distributing plant but who receives no milk from other dairy farmers. The order is not intended to establish minimum prices for such operators, but they should be required to make reports to the market administrator. Such reports are necessary to make a determination as to whether the operator is a producer-handler and to facilitate accounting with respect to transfer of milk from other handlers.

Classification provisions of the proposed order should provide that any milk, skim milk, or cream transferred by a handler to a producer-handler will be Class I milk. Any supplemental supplies of milk which may be obtained from other handlers may, by virtue of the type of operation involved, be presumed to be needed by the producer-handler for fluid use and should be classified in the supplying handler's plant as Class I milk. A producer-handler may receive milk from other handlers and still maintain his status as a producer-handler. Pursuant to the proposed order, any milk which a handler receives from a producer-handler would be other source milk and would, therefore, be allocated to the lowest class utilization at the pool plant(s) of a handler after the allocation of shrinkage on producer milk. Milk disposed of to another handler by a producer-handler must be presumed to be surplus to the operation of the producer-handler.

Fluid milk product. Fluid milk product should be defined as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, milk drinks, cream, or any mixture in fluid form of skim milk and cream (except storage cream, aerated products, eggnog, ice cream mix, evaporated or condensed milk, and sterilized products packaged in hermetically sealed containers). The items designated as fluid milk products pursuant to this definition are those products which when disposed of by handlers are considered as Class I milk.

Other source milk. Other source milk should be defined as all skim milk and butterfat contained in fluid milk products utilized by the handler in his operations except milk received from producers and fluid milk products received from other pool plants. Thus, other source milk would represent skim milk and butterfat which may not be subject to the pricing provisions of this order. It will include all milk products from plants other than pool plants and all manufactured dairy products from any source which are reprocessed or converted into another product during the month. It will include those manufactured products from a plant's own production which are made and are reprocessed or converted into another product during the same or a later month.

(b) Classification of milk. Milk and milk products received by handlers should be classified on the basis of skim milk and butterfat according to the form in which, or the purpose for which, such skim milk and butterfat was used or disposed of as either Class I milk or Class II milk.

Under an order, only producer milk is priced. Milk is received, however, at pool plants directly from producers, from other handlers and from other sources. Milk from all of these sources is intermingled in handlers' plants. It is necessary, therefore, to classify all receipts of milk to afford a means to establish the classification of producer milk and apply the classified price plan.

The products which should be included in Class I milk are those required by health authorities in the marketing area to be obtained from milk or milk products from approved "Grade A" sources. The extra cost of getting quality milk produced and delivered to the market in the condition and quantities required makes it necessary to provide a price for milk used in Class I products somewhat above the ungraded or manufacturing milk price. This higher price should be at such a level that it will yield a blend price to producers that will encourage production of enough milk to meet market needs.

Excess milk not needed seasonally or at other times for Class I use must be disposed of for manufactured products. These products are less perishable and must be sold in competition with products made from ungraded milk. Milk so used should be classified as Class II milk and priced in accordance with its value in such outlets.

In accordance with these standards, Class I milk should comprise all skim milk (including concentrated and reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, milk drinks (plain or flavored), cream, and any mixture in fluid form of skim milk and cream (except storage cream, aerated cream products, eggnog, ice cream mixes, evaporated or condensed milk, and sterilized products packaged in hermetically sealed containers); and skim milk and butterfat not accounted for as Class II milk.

Class I products which contain concentrated skim milk solids such as skim milk drinks to which extra solids have been added or concentrated whole milk disposed of for fluid use, would be included under the Class I milk definition. Products such as evaporated or condensed milk packaged in bulk or in hermetically sealed cans would not be considered as concentrated milk.

All skim milk and butterfat used to produce products other than those classified in Class I milk should be Class II milk. Included as Class II milk are products such as ice cream, ice cream mix and other frozen desserts and mixes; aerated cream products and eggnog; butter, cheese, including cottage cheese; evaporated and condensed milk (plain and sweetened); nonfat dry milk solids; dry whole milk; condensed or dry buttermilk; and any other products not specified as Class I milk. The health ordinances applicable in the marketing area do not require that these products be made from approved milk.

Cream which is placed in storage and frozen should be classified as Class II milk. Such cream is intended primarily for use in ice cream and ice cream mixes. Any frozen cream or other Class II products which are used later in a pool plant would be considered as other source milk at the time of such use and assigned to the lowest price utilization in the plant. The skim milk and butterfat in any fluid milk product which is disposed of and used for livestock feed should be classified as Class II milk.

Handlers have inventories of milk and milk products at the beginning and end of each month which enter into the accounting for current receipts and utilization. The accounting procedure will be facilitated by providing that month-end inventories of all fluid milk products be classified in Class II milk, regardless of whether such products are held in bulk or in packages. Inventories of such products on hand will then be subtracted under the proposed allocation procedure from any available Class II milk in the following month. The higher use value of any fluid milk products in inventory which are allocated to Class I milk in the following month should be reflected in returns to producers. The mechanics of the attached order provide for the reclassification of inventories on that basis.

Inventories of products designated as Class I milk on hand at a pool plant at the beginning of any month during which such plant becomes a pool plant for the first time should likewise be allocated to any available Class II utilization of the plant during the month. This will preserve the priority of assignment of current producer receipts to current Class I use.

Shrinkage should be determined by subtracting from the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat received by the handler his total established utilization of skim milk and butterfat, respectively. Shrinkage not in excess of 2 percent of the handler's receipts of producer and other source milk should be prorated between producer and other source milk on the basis of the pounds received from each source. None of the shrinkage should be assigned to milk received from other pool plants because shrinkage on such milk will be allowed to the transferring handler. A plant which is operated in a reasonably efficient manner, and for which complete and accurate records of receipts and utilization are maintained, should have total shrinkage of less than 2 percent of total receipts. It is concluded that shrinkage which is not more than 2 percent of total receipts of producer milk and other source milk should be classified as Class II milk and any shrinkage in excess of this quantity should be classified as Class I milk.

Skim milk and butterfat are not used in most products in the same proportions as contained in the milk received from producers, and therefore should be classified separately according to their separate uses. The skim milk and butterfat content of milk products received and disposed of by a handler, can be determined through certain testing procedures. Some of these products, such as ice cream and condensed products, present a difficult problem of testing in that some of the water contained in the milk has been removed. It is desirable, in the case of such products, to provide an acceptable means of ascertaining the amount of skim milk and butterfat contained in, or used to produce, these products. This may be accomplished through the use of adequate plant records made available to the market administrator or by means of standard conversion factors of skim milk and butterfat used to produce such products. The accounting procedure to be used in the case of any concentrated milk product such as condensed milk or nonfat dry milk solids should be based on the pounds of milk or skim milk required to produce such product.

Butterfat and skim milk used to produce Class II products should be considered to be disposed of when so used. Handlers will need to maintain stock records on such products, however, to permit audit of their utilization records by the market administrator. Class II products from any source used in the production of any product including products in Class I milk should be considered to be a receipt of other source milk. This will maintain priority of assignment of current receipts of producer milk to Class I utilization.

Each handler must be held responsible for a full accounting of all his receipts of skim milk or butterfat in any form. A handler who first receives milk from producers should be responsible for establishing the classification of, and making payment to producers for, such milk. Fixing responsibility in this manner is a practice which is consistently followed in regulated markets and is necessary to effectively administer the provisions of the order. The operator of a plant at which milk is first received from producers is the person with whom contractual relations have been made by producers or their representatives. It would be unreasonable to expect producers to look elsewhere for payment for their deliveries. Moreover, producers would be without adequate protection if the order did not prescribe specifically which handler shall be responsible for the classification and payment of their milk. Except for such limited quantities of shrinkage, which under certain conditions (as set forth elsewhere in this decision) may be classified in Class II, all skim milk and butterfat which is received and for which the handler cannot establish utilization should be classified as Class I milk. This provision is necessary to remove any advantage to handlers who fail to keep complete and accurate records and to assure that producers receive full value for their milk on the basis of its use. It is necessary to place the burden of proof on the handler to establish the utilization of any milk as other than Class I.

Transfers. Classification of butterfat and skim milk used in the production of Class II milk items should be considered to have been established when the product is made. Classification of Class I milk should be established when the butterfat or skim milk is disposed of. However, some Class I items may be disposed of to other plants for Class II use. Classification of any product so transferred to another plant should, under certain circumstances, be determined according to its utilization in the plant to which transferred.

Milk, skim milk, cream, or other fluid milk products transferred by a handler to the pool plant of another handler, except that of a producer-handler, should be classified as Class I milk unless both handlers indicate in their reports to the market administrator that they desire such milk to be classified as Class II milk. However, sufficient Class II utilization must be available at the transferee-plant for such assignment after prior allocation of shrinkage and other source milk. On the other hand, if the transferring handler had other source milk during the month, the assignment of fluid milk products transferred to another plant to the Class I utilization of such plant should be limited so that other source milk in the transferring handler's plant will not be allocated to Class I milk while producer milk is allocated to Class II milk in the transferee-handler's plant.

Milk, skim milk and cream disposed of to a nonpool plant, including milk which is diverted (sent directly to the nonpool plant from the producer's farm) should be classified as Class I milk, unless certain conditions are met. The operator of the nonpool plant, if requested, must make his books and records available to the market administrator for the purpose of verifying the receipt and utilization of milk in such nonpool plant. Provision for verification by the market administrator is reasonable and necessary to effectuate the clarification procedure and assure that producer milk will be paid for in accordance with its utilization. In order to classify such diversions as Class II milk the fluid milk products disposed of from the receiving nonpool plant should not exceed the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in milk received during the month from dairy farmers directly supplying such plant. This recognizes the principle that is incorporated in this order that the dairy farmers regularly supplying such a plant should have prior claim to supply the milk for fluid distribution in this market and at the same time assures that producer milk which is diverted for Class I use will be paid for accordingly. The provision for classifying milk, skim milk or cream as Class II milk should not be extended to include milk transferred to nonpool plants located more than 300 miles from the nearest point in the marketing area. The area thus described is adequate to dispose of reserve milk for Class II uses. Fluid milk products moving greater distances are normally for Class I uses.

When milk or skim milk in bulk has been transferred or diverted to a nonpool plant located not more than 300 miles from the nearest point in the marketing area, the market administrator is required to verify the utilization claimed by such nonpool plant. It may reasonably be expected that the market administrator will be able to make such verification within such "surplus disposal area" without incurring undue expense. It would not, however, be administratively feasible or otherwise justifiable to have a surplus disposal area of unlimited expanse or to cover a geographical area which is larger than that provided herein. Making such provision might well tend to make unreasonable demands on the market administrator in connection with the verification of occasional or irregular shipments to nonpool plants located beyond the area wherein Texas Panhandle handlers normally dispose of reserve supplies of milk for Class II purposes.

As stated elsewhere in this decision, any fluid milk product transferred to a producer-handler should be classified in Class I and should not be subject to reclassification.

Allocation. The order class prices apply only to producer milk. It is necessary, therefore, if a plant has butterfat or skim milk other than that received in milk from producers, to determine the quantities of milk in each class to be assigned to producers. It is recognized that some supplemental milk may be needed when supplies are short in the Texas Panhandle market.

Other source milk from unregulated sources should be assigned to Class II milk first. The plants supplying such milk may not have purchased such milk from dairy farmers on a classification and use basis and it is not feasible to determine this or other conditions of sale. There is no assurance that such milk would not be used to displace producer milk in Class I to the advantage of the purchasing handler.

The milk of producers who are primarily engaged in supplying the Texas Panhandle market, however, should be given priority in the assignment to the Class I utilization at regulated plants. This is necessary to insure the stability of the classified pricing program of the order. If the order permitted handlers to obtain other source milk whenever it was advantageous to do so for Class I use while producer milk in the plant was utilized in Class II, the order would not be effective in carrying out the purpose of the act. Also, the market would be deprived of a dependable supply of milk. Much of the supplemental milk has in the past been brought in from other Federal order markets. Handlers bringing in such milk have assisted the market in keeping Class I outlets fully supplied.

When such supplemental milk is actually needed and is obtained under conditions which assure that it was paid for at Class I prices under another Federal order, a more limited priority of assignment to Class I should be permitted under the order. Provision should be made, therefore, that 5 percent of producer milk may be assigned to Class II before any assignment of Federally regulated other source milk to such class. This will permit a handler whose producer milk supplies run short to bring in milk from other Federal markets and have it assigned to Class I, even though he has a small amount of reserve milk in his plant. Such other source milk will be assigned to any Class II milk in excess of 5 percent of producer milk. This is necessary to assure producers that no more than the necessary reserve supplies will be allocated to Class II use when milk is imported from other regulated markets.

If, after making the various assignments of skim milk and butterfat pursuant to the allocation provisions of the order, the total of all Class I and Class II milk assigned to producer milk exceeds the amount of producer milk reported to have been received by the handler for whose pool plant the computation is being made, such "overage" should be assigned first to the available Class II utilization and any remainder to Class I. Such overage should be paid for by the handler at the applicable class prices.

(c) Class prices. Class I prices should be established at a level which, in conjunction with the Class II prices hereinafter concluded to be appropriate, will result in returns to producers high enough to maintain an adequate but not excessive supply of quality milk to meet the requirements of the marketing area. If prices remain too low, insufficient quantities of milk will be produced to assure that the Class I market will be fully supplied. Conversely, if prices are too high, production will be overstimulated and consumption curtailed. This would cause more milk to be produced than is needed to satisfy the demand for Class I milk, resulting in the development of unnecessary and uneconomic surpluses.

When milk produced locally is insufficient to meet the Class I needs of the market, supplemental supplies of Grade A milk are purchased by handlers in the marketing area from plants outside the regular supply area. Prices of this milk fluctuate to a considerable extent with the value of milk produced for manufacture. Other items which determine the prices at which such milk will be available to Texas Panhandle handlers include the cost of transporting such milk to the marketing area and the alternative outlets for such milk.

Proper recognition must be given the prices at which alternative sources of supply are available, especially since any milk plant wherever located may, by meeting the prescribed qualifications, become a pool plant under the order. It is necessary, therefore, that the Class I prices in the proposed Texas Panhandle milk marketing order should not be set at levels which will bring the cost of such milk above the cost of obtaining regular and dependable Grade A milk supplies from other areas.

The Class I price should be fixed in relation to the general level of the value of milk used to produce manufactured dairy products. To achieve this end a basic price should be adopted which will reflect this general level and to which differentials should be added to result in the appropriate Class I price. Such basic price should be the higher of (a) the average of the prices paid by the 13 "Midwestern Condenseries" or (b) a price computed on the basis of the daily quotations for 92-score butter at Chicago and the carlot prices for nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area.

The purpose of such basic price is to give consideration to the national economic factors underlying the price for milk and manufactured dairy products and which in turn also influence the local market prices. Prices for milk used for fluid purposes in competitive markets are related to the prices paid for milk used for manufacturing purposes. Production and marketing of milk for each type of manufacturing outlet are subject to many of the same economic factors. Since the market for most manufactured products is countrywide, prices of manufactured dairy products reflect, to a large extent, changes in general economic conditions affecting the supply and demand for milk. For these reasons, fluid milk markets have used butter, nonfat dry milk solids, and cheese prices, or the prices paid by condenseries with differentials over these basic or manufacturing prices to establish fluid milk prices. These differentials are needed to cover the cost of meeting quality requirements in the production of market milk, transportation costs to the fluid market, and to furnish the necessary incentive to get such milk produced.

The basic formula proposed herein is similar to that used in many other Federally regulated markets and the price resulting therefrom will usually be the same as or will closely approximate the basic formula price which is applicable in determining the Class I price in the various Federal orders in the Southwest. The price computed under the formula would have averaged $3.47 for 1954. The differential to be added to this basic price in determining the Class I price would be applicable to all skim milk and butterfat included in the Class I definition of the proposed order. Consequently, the total quantities of producer milk classified in Class I under the order may be significantly greater than the quantities of producer milk now allocated to Class I under the various classification schemes now in effect in the market. It is concluded that the differentials to be added to the basic formula price should be $1.85 for the months of March through June and $2.15 for all other months.

The seasonality of the Class I differential herein proposed—30 cents less in March through June than in other months—gives greater incentive to the production of milk for the market in those months when it is needed for Class I purposes. It also serves to provide price changes more nearly in accord with seasonal price changes in other markets both regulated and unregulated.

The average Class I milk price which would have been provided under the proposed formula for the year 1954 is $5.55. The prices paid producers at the time of the hearing by the two principal handlers in the market for base or "Class I milk" of four percent butterfat content delivered to their plants in Amarillo were $5.55 and $5.58, respectively. It was indicated at the hearing that these prices are representative of the Class I or base prices paid by the other handlers in the market at their plants in the marketing area.

Evidence at the hearing indicated that eight handlers receiving milk from approximately 500 Grade A producers would be fully subject to regulation under the order. Detailed information relative to the combined receipts and Class I disposition of six of these handlers for the year 1954 was presented at the hearing. These six handlers, who receive milk from approximately five-sixths of the producers on the market, distribute Class I milk throughout the marketing area from plants in Amarillo, Borger, and Pampa. Producer deliveries of raw milk to the plants of these handlers in 1954 totaled 81.5 million pounds, and Class I disposition from these plants in the same period was 77.5 million pounds.

Producers proposed a Class I differential of $2.25 compared with the average monthly differential of $2.05 which is provided in the attached order. Prices paid their producers by handlers in nearby markets must be considered in establishing the Class I price under the Texas Panhandle order. Handlers who would be regulated by the proposed order compete for business in some areas with handlers regulated by other Federal orders. In addition, substantial quantities of milk are at times moved into the market from plants subject to such other orders. In 1954 supplemental supplies of milk for Class I purposes were purchased by local handlers from plants under the Oklahoma City, North Texas, Ozarks (Springfield, Missouri), and Chicago Federal orders.

In the absence of regulation, the value of Grade A milk f. o. b. the marketing area is not greater than the price of such milk in the nearest major production area from which substantial quantities of milk are available plus the cost of transporting the milk to the market. More supplemental supplies of milk in 1954 were moved to the Texas Panhandle market from the Producers' Creamery Company plant at Springfield, Missouri, than from any other source. The Springfield plant is in the Ozarks marketing area and the Class I differentials under that order range from 63 cents for the months of April, May and June to $1.08 for the 3 fall months of lowest production. The average monthly Class I differential applicable under the Ozarks order at Springfield is 78 cents. The cost of moving milk the 580 miles from Springfield to Amarillo in tank trucks of 27,500 pound capacity is $1.02 per hundredweight. This transportation cost plus the average Class I differential under the Ozark order is 25 cents less than the average Class I differential of $2.05 which is provided in the attached order. The margin of 25 cents per hundredweight is less than is customarily charged as a receiving, cooling and handling allowance on milk moved from Springfield to the Texas Panhandle marketing area.

The Class I price under the Federal order for the North Texas marketing area is widely accepted and used as a basis for determining the Class I prices in various other milk marketing areas throughout Texas. Large quantities of milk throughout the State are sold on the basis of the North Texas Class I price, and some of this milk is distributed in competition with milk from the plants of Texas Panhandle handlers. The average monthly Class I differential under the North Texas order is $2.13. Dallas, which is the largest city in the North Texas marketing area, is 361 miles southeast of Amarillo.

Several handlers who would be subject to th Texas Panhandle order distribute milk at some points outside the marketing area in competition with a handler subject to the Central West Texas order. The applicable Class I price under the Central West Texas order at two of the principal cities in that marketing area, Abilene and Midland, is the North Texas Class I price plus 25 and 45 cents, respectively. Midland is 260 miles directly south of Amarillo. Abilene, which is 146 miles east of Midland, is 270 miles from Amarillo.

Reference at the hearing was made to the competition from milk priced under the Southwest Kansas order. Dodge City, Kansas, which is the largest city in the Southwest Kansas marketing area, is 244 miles north of Amarillo. There was no evidence at the hearing to indicate an overlapping of the production areas for that market and for the Texas Panhandle market. On the distribution side, a Dodge City handler distributes a relatively small quantity of milk in several communities near the northern boundary of the proposed marketing area.

The Class I differential under the Southwest Kansas order is $1.65. After giving consideration to the transportation costs, handlers under the Southwest Kansas order would have no advantage in competing with local handlers for sales in the Texas Panhandle marketing area, and local handlers would have no incentive to replace producer milk with bulk tank shipments from plants under the Southwest Kansas order. The average monthly differential of 40 cents by which the Class I differential under the Texas Panhandle order exceeds that of the Southwest Kansas order will provide a relationship of prices which is economically sound. This is also very near the historical relationship of prices between the two markets.

Consideration at the hearing was given to making provision in the order for adjusting the Class I price upward or downward each month as supplies of producer milk changed in relation to the demand for Class I milk in the market. A supply-demand adjustment provision in the order to reflect such changing conditions could be helpful in providing proper price adjustments within the market and a proper price relationship between the Texas Panhandle market and other markets.

It was contended at the hearing that any supply-demand formula which would be provided in the order should not be made effective until the order has been in operation for at least 12 months. It would not be feasible to make provision in the order on the basis of the information now available for a supply-demand formula to become effective a year after the inception of the order. It was evident at the hearing that adequate data were not available which would serve as a proper basis to formulate an appropriate supply-demand adjustment provision. Such a provision could be better formulated after the order had been in effect for a reasonable period of time and the necessary detailed statistical data were available.

It is concluded, therefore, that a supply-demand adjustment provision should not be incorporated in the order at the present time. However, such a provision should be given consideration at an amendment hearing at such a time after adequate experience in the operation of the order has been realized and the statistical data necessary for its proper formulation are available. At such a hearing it would be timely and appropriate to review in a detailed manner the Class I pricing formula which is herein provided. Provision is made therefore that the Class I pricing formula in the attached order shall not be effective beyond August 31, 1957. Such a provision would insure a reappraisal of the level of the Class I price and the components used in its determination within a reasonable period after the order became effective.

The Class I price should be announced by the fifth day of the month. In order to do this, it is necessary to use price quotations for the preceding month in calculating the basic formula price.

Class II price. Some milk in excess of Class I requirements is necessary in order to maintain an adequate supply of fluid milk for the market on an annual basis. The Class II price for such excess milk should be maintained at the highest level consistent with facilitating its movement to manufacturing outlets when it is not needed in the market for Class I purposes. The Class II price should be at such a level that handlers will accept and market whatever quantities of milk in excess of Class I needs may arise from time to time. The price, however, should not be so low that handlers will be encouraged to procure milk supplies solely for the purpose of converting them into Class II products.

Most handlers in the proposed area have extremely limited facilities for handling any milk above that needed for their day to day fluid operations. A few handlers manufacture such by-products as cottage cheese and ice cream mix for the needs of their own trade. However, most milk not needed for fluid distribution in the market must be transferred or diverted from the plant at which it is usually received to a plant having adequate manufacturing facilities.

During the spring months of heavy production producer milk which is not needed by handlers is moved to manufacturing plants after being received by the handler or is diverted directly to the manufacturing plant for the account of the handler. Returns to producers for such milk have been that which the handler realized in its sale to the manufacturing plant. Payments to producers at other times for "overbase" milk which was utilized or disposed of for manufacturing purposes followed no consistent pattern.

Prices paid by manufacturing plants may differ because of changes in the relative prices of the products which they manufacture. Handlers will dispose of excess milk to those plants which are paying the highest price at the time of such disposal. Because of small volume and inefficient means of handling, it is possible that some handlers may, at times, incur losses in handling their necessary reserve supply of milk. The handling of such reserve milk is incidental, however, to the handling of fluid milk.

The pricing of milk in the months of flush production should be at the rate at which milk produced for the market will be handled so that such seasonal reserves will not disrupt the orderly marketing of milk. The level of such pricing should not be below that paid for ungraded milk, since such pay prices represent the lowest value in the milkshed for milk for manufacturing purposes. Handlers who need and desire the entire output of producers during periods of short supply should assume the responsibility of paying producers at least the competitive manufacturing prices for Class II milk throughout the months of flush production. During the months of short production, a higher level of prices for Class II milk should be provided in the order so as to encourage the transfer or allocation of the available supplies of milk from manufacturing uses to fluid uses.

The Class II price for the months of March through June should be the average of the prices paid for milk received from dairy farmers by selected manufacturing plants in the area. The four such plants whose pay prices should be so used are Plains Creamery, Arnett, Oklahoma; Price Creamery, Portales, New Mexico; Quint County Creamery, Mangum, Oklahoma; and Swisher County Creamery, Tulia, Texas. These plants are the principal buyers of ungraded milk in the milkshed of the proposed marketing area.

For each of the months of July through February the Class II price should be the higher of either the price computed pursuant to a butter-nonfat solids formula which will reflect changes in manufactured product values in the general area; or the average of the prices paid by the four local manufacturing plants.

For the year 1954, the Class II price herein proposed for milk containing 4 percent butterfat would have averaged $3.26 per hundredweight. The comparable average price paid by the four local manufacturing plants during the same period was $2.93. However, during those months when the quantity of Class II milk on the market is largest, March through June, the Class II price (based on the paying price of the four local manufacturing plants) would have averaged $2.88 in 1954.

Provision is made in the attached order to permit a handler to divert directly to manufacturing plants any milk not needed in his own operations. Handlers who need and desire the entire output of producers during periods of short supply should assume the responsibility of paying producers at least the competitive manufacturing prices for Class II milk throughout the year.

Butterfat differentials. As pointed out previously herein, it is concluded that butterfat and skim milk should be accounted for separately for classification purposes. It will be necessary, therefore, to adjust Class I and Class II prices of milk in accordance with the average test of milk in each class by a butterfat differential which will reflect differences in value due to variations in the butterfat content of each product. The values resulting from multiplying the average price of 92-score butter at Chicago by 0.120 for Class I milk and by 0.110 for Class II milk will provide an appropriate basis for adjusting such prices in this market. The use of butter prices in this manner will reflect changes in the central market prices of butterfat and follows standard practices in most fluid milk markets for adjusting for butterfat variations. The basing point from which such adjustments are made should be 4.0 percent butterfat. This is the basis now used in the Texas Panhandle marketing area.

In order that the Class I butterfat differential may be announced early each month, it is provided that the Class I differential be based on the average price of butter in the preceding month. This will permit the announcement of the Class I differential at the same time that the Class I price is announced.

Class II prices and butterfat differentials will not be announced until after the end of the month. Although handlers will not know the exact cost of such milk as it is utilized, they will know that their cost will tend to follow movements in daily or weekly dairy product prices and in any event the cost of milk of their principal competitors for manufactured product outlets.

The butterfat differential used in making payments to producers should be calculated at the average of the return actually received from the sale of butterfat in producer milk. The rate to be used for this purpose would be the average of the Class I and Class II differentials weighted by the proportion of butterfat in producer milk classified in each class. Thus, producer returns for butterfat will reflect the actual sale value of their butterfat at the class prices provided in the order. The producer butterfat differential in no way affects the handlers' cost of milk but merely prorates returns among producers whose milk differs in butterfat test.

It was indicated at the hearing that the average test of producer receipts exceeds that of Class I sales. The butterfat differentials recommended herein for Class I and Class II milk should tend to encourage the production of milk with a fat test more in line with the fat requirements of the market.

Location differentials. It was proposed at the hearing that handlers be allowed a location differential with respect to milk moved from a receiving plant to a processing plant.

The record discloses that some of the milk normally supplied to the marketing area is received by handlers at a distance from the plant which processes and distributes the milk. In addition, some of the milk is brought to the marketing area in packaged form.

It is customary for handlers to pay producers delivering milk to country receiving stations a lesser price per hundredweight than is paid producers delivering directly to bottling plants. To the extent that this represents a lower price because of the location of the milk, such difference in value should be recognized under the order. Location differentials should be included in the pricing arrangements to recognize differences in the value of producer milk in relation to its location with respect to the market.

The principal supply plant to which the location differential herein provided would be applicable is at Arnett, Oklahoma, 150 to 155 miles from Amarillo. Milk is received at this plant from approximately 100 Grade A producers and is moved by the handler in tank trucks to his processing plant in Amarillo. At such times that this milk is not needed by the handler in Amarillo for Class I purposes it is utilized by the handler in his ungraded operation at Arnett or otherwise dispose of for manufacturing purposes.

Producers delivering to the Arnett plant are paid 75 cents per hundredweight less than producers delivering directly to the same handler's plant in Amarillo. The handler proposed that the 75-cent rate be incorporated in the order as an appropriate location differential on milk received at the Arnett plant. He contended that although this amount is greater than the actual cost of moving the milk from Arnett to Amarillo, such charge is necessary in order to compensate him for having established, and to enable him to continue to maintain, the receiving station facilities at that location. In addition, he contended that incorporation of the 75-cent rate within the framework of the order is justified since that is the rate which has been maintained for some time.

Various suggestions were made at the hearing relative to location differentials other than the 75-cent rate proposed by the handler. One of these would provide a location differential of 35 cents applicable to the Arnett plant and not otherwise make any provision for a location differential in the order. Another proposal would use as a basis for a location differential the rates prescribed by the Railroad Commission of Texas on intrastate shipments of milk in bulk tank trucks by regulated carriers. For a 150 to 155-mile haul, the distance from Arnett to Amarillo, the rate fixed by the Commission is 50 to 52 cents per hundredweight. The rates for the same distance charged by the Dairyland Transport Corporation, Springfield, Missouri, a company specializing in hauling milk and milk products in tank trucks, are 29 to 31 cents per hundredweight.

Producers shipping to the Arnett plant are an integral part of the supply for the Texas Panhandle market. If this plant were closed as a receiving station for the Amarillo market, producers would be required to ship directly to Amarillo or to find another market for their Grade A milk. It was not shown that such other markets are readily available to these producers. Neither was it shown that it would be more practicable for the producers now shipping to Arnett to ship directly to the handler's plant in Amarillo.

In view of the above stated considerations, the Class I price at a pool plant should be reduced by 35 cents per hundredweight of milk for the first 100 miles and by 1.6 cents per hundredweight of milk for each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof that such plant is from the primary center of consumption of the proposed area. The City Hall of Amarillo, Texas, affords the most appropriate point in the marketing area for the market administrator to determine the rates applicable at such plants.

The location differential which is provided in the attached order is economically sound and will be equitable to all handlers wherever located. The proposed rates are representative of the cost of hauling milk by an efficient means to the market. To make provision in the Texas Panhandle order for a location differential the applicability of which would be limited to one and only one plant or to provide a differential predicated solely on the historical experience of one plant in the market without giving consideration to all other relevant factors would be neither feasible nor justifiable.

Prices paid producers supplying plants to which location differentials apply should be reduced to reflect the lower value of such milk f. o. b. the point to which delivered.

No adjustment should be made in the Class II price because of the location of the plant to which the milk is delivered. There is little difference in the value of milk for manufactured uses associated with the location of the plant receiving the milk. This is true because of the low cost per hundredweight of milk involved in transporting manufactured products. The prices paid for ungraded milk received at various sections of the milkshed do not indicate any difference in value associated with location.

After a handler receives milk for Class II use, he should be expected to handle and dispose of the milk in the most advantageous possible manner. Prices paid producers for such milk should not be made dependent upon the method employed by the handler in disposing of such milk. To do otherwise would remove part of the incentive for keeping handling costs at a minimum. To insure that milk will not be moved unnecessarily at the expense of producers under the marketwide pool, the order should contain a provision to determine whether milk transferred between plants may receive the location differential credit. This should provide that any milk transferred be assigned to any Class II use remaining in the transferee plant after a maximum assignment of 5 percent of the direct producer receipts to Class II milk at such plant.

Payments on unpriced milk. The order should provide that payments be made into the producer settlement fund of the marketwide pool with respect to milk not priced under the order which is allocated to Class I milk in a pool plant.

Testimony at the hearing indicated that substantial quantities of milk which would not be subject to the pricing provisions of the Texas Panhandle order are being sold in the proposed marketing area. Without the payment provisions on unpriced milk which are herein provided the sale of such milk in the marketing area would seriously jeopardize the successful operation of the classified pricing provisions of the order.

Receipts of milk in excess of actual Class I disposition is necessary to operate a fluid milk business. Because of seasonal fluctuations in production not matched by seasonal changes in consumption, this excess is particularly large in certain months of the year. Such excess or reserve milk is surplus to the fluid operation, and can be marketed only in manufactured form in competition with products made from ungraded milk produced in the major low cost dairying areas of the United States. Thus, such reserve milk yields a considerably lower return than is necessary to sustain graded milk production in the Texas Panhandle milkshed. Likewise, it yields a lower price than would be necessary to purchase graded milk on a regular basis in other supply areas and pay the cost of transportation to the Texas Panhandle marketing area.

The existence of this reserve Grade A milk, which must be marketed at a lower price, is the primary cause of the instability which may affect all fluid milk markets. If a handler is able to use milk he purchases at Class II prices for Class I use, he stands to gain advantage, but in so doing he demoralizes the Class I market price.

One of the paramount reasons why regulation of prices is considered necessary in the Texas Panhandle market is to insure that the position of handlers paying producers a Class I price for fluid milk will not be undermined by other handlers using the market's excess or surplus producer milk for Class I use. It is equally important that the Class I market be protected from the use of seasonal or other excess milk from other markets as well as from its own surplus. If the order failed to provide such protection, a handler could curtail purchases of producer milk to his own advantage and secure low cost reserve supplies from other markets for Class I use.

Seasonal supplies are easily and cheaply acquired during the months of flush production when most markets are receiving milk greatly in excess of their current fluid needs. If adjacent milksheds dispose of seasonal surplus in each other's Class I markets, the result will soon be market chaos, particularly in the spring months. Class I prices would be demoralized and the rate of milk production for both markets on a permanent basis would be seriously impaired. Such marketing conditions would be contrary to the stated purpose of the act. It is necessary, therefore, in order to insure the effectiveness of the classified pricing program and to promote orderly marketing, that some measure be taken to remove the incentive which handlers have to acquire unpriced milk and undermine the Class I pricing structure.

One possible alternative would be to extend price regulation in accordance with order provisions to all milk plants which supply milk either directly or indirectly to the Texas Panhandle market. This alternative is both economically and administratively unacceptable within the framework of the proposed order. It would open the market pool to anyone who applied merely a token quantity of milk to a plant serving the marketing area. The objections to such distribution of pooled funds was discussed earlier in the decision in connection with the recommendations for standards of pool participation.

Such regulation would have the further disadvantage of being cumbersome, expensive, difficult to enforce, and it would interfere with the acquisition of needed supplemental milk supplies for the market. It would not be possible or desirable to limit the number of plants or area from which milk might be purchased. However, in order to bring such plants under regulation, it would be necessary to establish individually tailored transfer and allocation rules according to the various plant locations, markets and supplies. Milk would have to be accounted for in its disposition from these plants to its various destinations and uses to determine classification. Also, it would be necessary to ascertain sources of supply other than receipts directly from farmers and determine what priority should be given such supplies in the allocation of Class I milk. In the case of a plant which made an incidental shipment of milk, perhaps at the end of the month, or in the case of such items as storage cream, additional complications would be involved. Earlier inventories as well as sales would have to be ascertained and classified. Classification might depend upon transactions made in the past concerning which adequate records were not kept. Producer prices would be fixed for milk already purchased and sold. Required record keeping and auditing problems would be greatly multiplied with such regulation.

It is concluded that it is not feasible to price all milk which may enter the market and that provision is necessary in the order which will insure against the displacement of producer milk by such unpriced milk for the purpose of cost advantage. There is no choice as to what type of provision can be used for this purpose. The only alternative available under the order is to levy a charge against unpriced milk used in Class I to whatever extent is necessary to remove the advantage there may be in using such milk instead of priced milk from producers.

Several problems are involved in formulating the provisions for any charge or payment designed to bring about the removal of the advantage of using unregulated milk. The rate of payment for this purpose must not be so low that it will permit a handler to have temporary or permanent advantage through sale of unpriced milk as Class I in the marketing area. It should not be so high that it will penalize suppliers of unpriced milk who offer milk needed by the market and who are not in a position of gaining an unfair advantage by such sale of milk. The payment must be provided for in a manner which is administratively feasible and which does not bring about unjustified administrative inconvenience or expense.

One method for setting the rate of payment would be to ascertain the actual cost to the regulated handler of milk which he purchases from unregulated plants and charge as a compensation payment any amount by which the Class I price exceeded the cost of the unregulated milk used in Class I. Such a scheme is not sound from the standpoint of administrative feasibility and it would not necessarily remove the advantage in using unregulated milk even though it were feasible. Rates at which milk sales are billed may not represent actual cost to the purchaser. In the case of a firm which owns or controls pool plants under the proposed order as well as unregulated plants, the rate of payment from one plant to another, if any were made, would have little or no significance. If such a provision were to be adopted, the billing rate might be deliberately set in each instance at a level which would avoid any payments without regard to the value of the milk. Thus, the intended effect of this provision might be circumvented by merely adjusting the bookkeeping procedure.

A handler having no unregulated plants would no doubt find it possible to arrange a billing price on purchased milk which would avoid any compensatory payments. If a handler had the choice of paying money to the market-wide pool or to a person from whom he was buying milk, he would probably choose the latter. A kick-back arrangement or offsetting purchase and sale might readily be arranged, perhaps through a third party. Since the billing price for milk would be a self-serving figure for both parties to the transaction, it would be virtually impossible to ascertain that it represented the true cost to the purchaser.

If the stated purchase price were a true cost, it would still not fulfill the purpose of removing the advantage to unregulated milk to base compensation payments on the difference between such price and the Class I price. Sales of priced milk between regulated handlers ordinarily take place at the class price plus a handling charge. This handling charge varies according to circumstances, but represents a payment to the receiver of the milk to offset his purchasing and receiving costs, such as dumping, weighing, testing and cooling the milk, paying producers, and other costs of doing business. The cost of receiving the milk in bulk form is somewhat less than receiving it from producers. Thus, in order to remove the advantage to unregulated milk, it would be necessary to provide that the cost of bulk unregulated milk be somewhat more than the Class I price. It would be exceedingly difficult to determine what this rate should be, particularly in the case of products such as condensed skim milk and cream, where the allocation of additional processing costs among more than one end product is involved. Furthermore, the marketing agreement act does not give the Secretary express authority to enforce prices other than producer prices. This scheme for removing the advantage in using unregulated milk is rejected for these reasons.

Another suggested method is to determine the price actually paid dairy farmers by the unregulated milk dealer who first received the milk, and base the compensation payment thereon. This method has several shortcomings. The various payment plans which are used in paying farmers for milk would make the determination of pay rates to individual farmers an exceedingly difficult task. For example, unregulated milk dealers may use varying rates of butterfat differentials, different types of base rating plans, or payments based on volume of deliveries. Various devices such as these for paying farmers often make it impossible to determine actual rate of payment per hundredweight of milk. In this case as with bulk milk purchases stated prices are often illusory. The cost of the milk itself may be modified by unrealistic charges for various items of supplies and services. A milk dealer affected by such a provision might increase his producer price and increase hauling rates an offsetting amount. Whatever payment plan an unregulated milk dealer may use is a matter of his own choice and it can be changed readily. Pricing or paying arrangements he may have with farmers are not subject to regulation. Calculation of compensation payments according to this suggestion would give any affected dealer special incentive to resort to these special payment plans suggested here or others he might devise for purposes of evading payments.

The further problem of establishing the rate of payment to be required would in itself preclude use of the actual cost of the milk purchased from farmers by unregulated handlers as a basis for calculating the payment to be required. If a payment were to be required on the unregulated milk based on the difference between prices paid farmers and some other price, the unregulated handler could avoid payments by increasing his prices to farmers. This would give an unregulated handler the advantage over regulated handlers in that a regulated handler has no choice as to what he is required to pay producers nor how this money is to be distributed. Likewise, it would enable unregulated suppliers to dispose of Class I milk in the marketing area with no obligation to equalize such sales with other suppliers of the market.

Even though the rate of payment to producers for all milk might be known, it would still be impossible to ascertain the rate of payment on that portion of the milk disposed of in the marketing area. Since milk marketed outside the marketing area would represent most of the total supply in the unregulated plant, it would be necessary to determine payment for milk marketed to the various outlets. When handlers have both surplus as well as Class I milk in their plants, it is not realistic to assume that the purchase price for milk for each use is the same.

It has been suggested that in order to overcome this objection the plant of the unregulated handler be subject to audit and that the rate of compensation payment be based on the difference between the average utilization value at order prices in the unregulated plant and the average rate of payment to producers. This method would not recover the entire advantage of selling surplus milk as Class I in the marketing area. This method has not only the disadvantages associated with other schemes which assume the determination of actual pay rates to producers, but it would involve, in the case of the Texas Panhandle market, an extremely complicated and administratively impractical system of accounting and determination in such plants. The unregulated plants which are potential sources of supply of supplemental milk and milk products are numerous and widely scattered. Determination of utilization value in these plants would involve the same complications and administrative expense and difficulties as discussed earlier which would be involved in complete regulation of such plants. To make the detailed accounting necessary to establish classification, such unregulated dealers would need to maintain the same detailed records as wholly regulated handlers.

An alternative method for determining the rate of compensation payments would be to base the rate of payment on the difference between blend prices prevailing in an area and the Class I price. This method has been suggested because it is assumed that unregulated handlers will be forced by competition to pay farmers approximately average blend prices. While this approach eliminates the need for attempting to determine actual pay rates, it could not be used without modification and still prevent the displacement of regulated milk with surplus milk from other markets at all times throughout the year. Unregulated plants, as well as regulated plants, may have some surplus milk at all times and particularly during the seasons of flush production. As a result, prices paid farmers are, in fact, blend prices made up of returns from the sale of milk in Class I outlets, as well as sales to the surplus market. If an unregulated plant were in a position to sell its surplus milk for Class I use in the marketing area and maintain its regular Class I outlets, it would have a competitive advantage over regulated handlers who found it necessary to dispose of part of their milk as surplus.

None of these suggestions presents an acceptable approach to the problem of compensation payments, to be applied to other source milk allocated to Class I in pool plants. It is necessary, therefore, to resort to a different procedure. The only sound method of dealing with this problem is one based on a recognition of the economics involved as they affect producers and handlers. This approach resolves itself primarily into a question of market values of milk.

Fully regulated handlers under the order seeking to purchase unregulated milk will naturally resort to the lowest cost source from which suitable milk is available. In fixing the rate of compensation payment, it is necessary, therefore, to determine what the lowest cost source may be and to base the payment on the difference between the cost of such milk and the cost of milk priced under the order for similar use. Milk supplies are larger in spring and summer than in fall and winter, and because of relatively constant sales of fluid milk, the excess increased production must be marketed largely as manufactured products. This outlet represents the opportunity cost of the surplus milk since it is the highest price at which the milk can otherwise be sold. It is this opportunity cost or value of such milk which would be effective in determining the price at which the unregulated plant would sell such milk.

Since considerable volumes of Grade A milk must be disposed of as surplus by various unregulated plants from which the Texas Panhandle market may obtain milk, it is evident that handlers under the order could obtain such milk at prices reflecting its value as surplus milk. In short, the actual value of seasonal or reserve milk is not the blend price paid to dairy farmers but rather the price which can be obtained for it in the market when disposed of as surplus milk.

Therefore, for the months of March through June, during which period surplus milk may be available in substantial volumes to the Texas Panhandle market from nonpool sources, the compensation payment on the receipts of other source fluid milk products which are allocated to Class I milk should be based on the difference between the minimum price of producer milk used for surplus and the applicable Class I price under the Texas Panhandle order. The Class II price established by the order is a fair and economic measure of the value of milk in surplus uses in the Texas Panhandle area.

During the months of July through February the milk supplies for the Texas Panhandle market tend to be shorter than in other seasons of the year. It is not likely that other source fluid milk products will be available to the market at surplus prices. The compensation payment during these months should be the difference between the marketing area uniform price to producers and the Class I price adjusted to the location of the plant from which such fluid milk products are supplied. The relationship between the supply of milk and the demand for milk in the Texas Panhandle market during the July through February period tends to fluctuate from year to year according to marketing conditions. These conditions will generally prevail also in surrounding markets which are potential sources of supply for unpriced milk. Thus, the rate of compensation payment based on the difference between Class I and uniform prices will adjust itself automatically in these months according to the changes in the demand for and the price of outside supplies. If supplies of producer milk are relatively plentiful, unpriced milk can be expected to be cheaper. Therefore, in order to equalize costs of milk the rate of compensation payment should be somewhat higher. On the other hand, as milk supplies in the area tend to be shorter, it is to be expected that the cost of unregulated milk will increase. Under these circumstances the rate of compensation payment will be correspondingly less.

In some instances there will be no and in all cases insignificant transportation charges per hundredweight experienced by handlers on other source milk used in the form of concentrated milk products under the skim milk equivalent basis of accounting provided for in the order. For this reason, other source milk from such products should be considered to be from a source at the location of the pool plant where it is used. In other words, the compensation payment on such other source milk derived from concentrated products, such as condensed milk or nonfat dry milk solids, which is allocated to Class I milk will be equal to the difference between the market area Class I price and the corresponding uniform blend price or Class II price, as the case may be. By following this procedure, other source milk derived from Grade A manufactured products which may be made from producer milk in handlers' plants or purchased from outside sources will be subject to identical reclassification changes. This will remove to the greatest extent that it is administratively possible, any advantage there may be in utilizing the products from unregulated sources for producer milk. It also will tend to promote the use and storage of producer milk in the form of manufactured products during periods when receipts of producer milk are greater than the Class I requirements of the market.

By choosing a rate of compensation payment which reflects the cost of the cheapest other source milk which may be expected to be available to regulated handlers, any advantage to one handler relative to the others in obtaining such cheap milk and substituting it for producer milk in Class I, is removed insofar as is administratively possible. No handler is given the clear opportunity to gain an unfair advantage over his competitors which otherwise would exist. However, if other source milk is to be purchased, the incentive for purchasing the cheapest of such milk remains, because the lower the price which a handler pays for other source milk, the lower will be his total cost of purchasing such milk. This follows from the fact that the measure of the compensation payment is an objective one and does not depend upon the particular price which the handler paid for the other source milk.

As indicated elsewhere in this decision, the process of marketwide pooling creates special incentive for milk to come into the market to gain certain advantages. Such milk would not be associated with the market in the absence of regulation.

The act requires that prices fixed under the order for milk purchased from producers or associations of producers be uniform as to all handlers, subject only to usual adjustments, such as those for butterfat content and location of the milk. The only prices fixed under the order are those for producer milk, and it is hereby determined that they are uniform as required by the act. Class prices for pool milk under the order are for raw milk as received from farmers, f. o. b. the loading platform at the plant where first received.

In calculating the payments on other source milk the Class I price must relate to and be fixed as of the point where the milk is received from farmers at the first receiving plant, so as to be properly comparable with the minimum Class I price for producer milk at that level of marketing. No allowance should be made for subsequent handling costs and profits in this farm level comparison between producer and other source milk because such costs and profits attach at stages of marketing subsequent to the basing point to which minimum Class I prices for producer milk refer. They are in no way regulated by the order with respect to producer milk. Neither the act nor the proposed order contemplates, authorizes or provides for the regulation of subsequent handling charges or profits or the establishment of uniform resale prices between handlers, whether the milk be from producers or other sources.

The compensation payments herein provided are not only incidental, but necessary to sustain the classification and pricing of milk according to its use in the market. The rates of payment specified are those which are necessary and appropriate to accomplish this purpose.

Testimony in the hearing record concerning availability of milk supplies to Texas Panhandle handlers indicates that the rate of payment recommended here will tend to equalize the competitive position of priced and unpriced milk, and will avoid displacement of producer milk for reasons of cost. However, if experience proves that milk is available to handlers in the future at prices different than those now indicated, or that such payments otherwise interfere with the purposes of the order, then it will be necessary to reconsider the rate of compensation payment on the basis of that experience.

In addition to that other source milk which would enter the marketing area through pool plants, some nonpool milk may be distributed within the marketing area from nonpool plants. It would not be possible to stabilize the market under the classified pricing program if distribution in the marketing area of unpriced milk from nonpool plants without compensation payments were allowed. Such milk should be classified and priced the same as unpriced milk distributed through any other channels.

Handlers distributing such unpriced milk in the marketing area from nonpool distributing plants have the same opportunity to buy milk at the opportunity cost level as do the operators of pool plants who purchase other source milk. Such milk may be purchased and distributed in the marketing area. In addition, however, the operator of the nonpool plant in all probability has surplus milk in his own plant which he would want to dispose of on any basis which would yield a higher return than the surplus value. It would be particularly easy to dispose of such milk for Class I use in the marketing area by supplying contract business such as hospitals and defense establishments. With surplus outlets as the alternative, and no compensation payments to make, the nonpool handlers would have considerable incentive or margin to underbid the seller of priced milk for such sales. A nonpool plant might also use such price advantage in selling his surplus milk to Class I outlets for the purpose or establishing a regular trade on retail or wholesale routes to homes and stores in the marketing area. The nonpool plant might sell up to 15 percent of its milk into the marketing area as Class I without becoming subject to regulation. To allow a nonpool plant to use its surplus milk in this manner for establishing a regular trade in the marketing area without compensation payments would mean that such plant would have a marked competitive advantage over regulated handlers selling priced milk. Such conditions could readily lead to disorderly marketing conditions.

It is considered inappropriate also to subject a plant to full regulation if only a small share of its milk is sold in the marketing area. Such regulation might place a plant of this kind at a distinct disadvantage in relation to its unregulated competition. In some cases, a nonpool plant may be disposing of a larger share of its milk as Class I than the average utilization for the market. In such cases, the compensation payments herein provided might cost the handler less than the equalization payments such plant would pay into the marketwide pool if fully regulated as a pool plant. In these instances, the sale of small quantities of milk in the marketing area would be more likely to take place under the compensation payment provisions herein provided than if full regulation were extended to all plants.

The rate of compensation payment provided for nonpool plants making distribution directly in the marketing area should be the same as that for pool plants which obtain and use unpriced milk in Class I. The administrative feasibility of any other method of levying compensation payments is substantially the same as that described in the case of unpriced milk distributed in the marketing area by pool plants.

No compensation payments should be required on milk classified and priced as Class I under another Federal milk marketing order. The minimum prices for Class I milk under other Federal orders where Texas Panhandle handlers might obtain supplemental supplies approximate or exceed the Texas Panhandle Class I prices, as adjusted for location of the supplying plants. Since handlers operating plants under other Federal orders must pay for producer milk on a utilization basis, they would not be in a position to unload their surplus producer milk into the Texas Panhandle market for Class I use at less than Class I prices. If it should develop that such other plants have Class I sales in excess of producer milk and a compensatory payment is not applicable to such milk, further consideration may be given to the question of a payment on such milk.

Any funds collected in the form of compensatory payments should be added to the producer-settlement fund. It is the purpose of the order to insure that a sufficient and dependable supply of quality milk be available for Class I needs of the market. To the extent that Class I sales are displaced through the disposition of surplus milk from unpriced sources, producers stand to lose income from the sale of milk to the market which they are expected to supply. This loss of income would mean that the prices contemplated under the order would not be realized by producers. As a result, production might suffer, in which case consumers would stand to lose because of the disappearance of milk supplies from the regular and dependable sources which have provided milk to the market on a year-round basis. Otherwise, Class I prices would have to be increased to offset the loss of income to producers. There is no alternative source of dependable milk supplies which would cost consumers less over a period of time than the milk supplied by the regular producers. Thus, there is justification in terms of overall benefit to the market for returning to producers the difference between the value of such milk at its opportunity cost, which would otherwise be its value to the seller, and the Class I price. There is no other alternative disposition of funds from compensation payments under the authority of the act other than that herein provided.

It is necessary that the order specify the handler who is obligated to make the compensation payments. If the unpriced milk is distributed in the marketing area from a nonpool plant, the operator of such plant should make the payment. In the case of supplemental milk received at pool plants from unpriced sources, either the buying or selling plant might be assessed. From the standpoint of the economics involved, it would make no difference, since the amount of payment would be the same in both cases.

From the standpoint of administration and enforcement, it would be much easier and simpler for the regulated plant to make the payment. The market administrator has regular dealings with the pool plant handler. Such handler would be expected to know and understand the terms and provisions of the order. He is the handler who assumes the responsibility for distributing the milk in the regulated market. Whether or not a compensation payment would be required would depend upon the application of the allocation provisions of the order to the pool plant of the receiving handler.

The seller, on the other hand, would not be aware until later whether a compensation payment would be required, and might not even know at the time of the sale, particularly if the sale took place through a broker, whether or not his milk would be moved to a regulated market for disposition. If enforcement proceedings were to be required, it would be more convenient and logical to bring the case to court in the area of the regulated market where the problem arose.

The compensation payments herein provided will not prohibit the marketing of milk nor limit the marketing of milk products from any production area of the United States. The rate of payment required would be uniform for all plants similarly situated with respect to their location in relation to the marketing area.

The quantity of milk and milk products which may be sold in any regulated market is dependent at least to some extent upon the price fixed under the order for the particular class of utilization. Such influence should not be construed, however, as a limitation of the type precluded under the act. No price can be fixed without influencing, to some extent, the quantity of milk and milk products which may be sold from either regulated or unregulated sources. No quantitative limitations are imposed in the proposed order on the amounts of unpriced milk which may be disposed of in the marketing area nor does it prohibit such use or any other use of unpriced nonpool milk or milk products. The compensation payment herewith provided will not discriminate against producers by areas, but will provide for equalization of competitive prices by type of transaction with respect to regulated and unregulated milk.

The payment will not deprive suppliers of unpriced milk of a high priced market which they would otherwise enjoy. The alternative sale value of the unpriced milk is recognized, and this value is returned to these sources when sale is made to the Texas Panhandle market. If marketing facilities and outlets are such that it is advantageous for nonpool plants to dispose of their surplus milk to the Texas Panhandle Class I market, under the provisions of the attached order, they may be expected to and undoubtedly will do so, and the return they receive should be the full surplus value for such milk.

The compensation payment herewith provided has as its primary purpose the elimination of economic incentives for handlers to use unpriced milk to displace minimum priced milk in Class I sales. The rate of payment found to be appropriate for this purpose is one which recognizes general competitive conditions in the purchase and sale of regulated and unregulated milk. It is recognized, however, that general competitive conditions do not prevail in all cases. Each handler is situated differently and each individual transaction is made under different circumstances. It is not possible, however, to adjust prices or payments to individual circumstances or transactions. Such an individual approach would not be administratively or economically feasible. Compensatory payments must therefore be applied at a definite and specified rate applicable to all handlers similarly situated. No single rate of payment can be determined, however, which would result in complete equality of cost to all handlers. Consequently, instances will undoubtedly arise which will appear to indicate that the objectives of the compensatory payment are not being achieved in particular cases. In some cases, the payments required may seem harsh.

It is necessary in seeking an overall solution to problems of this nature to adopt provisions which will be reasonable and as liberal as possible, and at the same time will still guarantee the integrity of regulation. To provide inadequate payments would leave the door open to practices which would render the program ineffective. Commerce in milk is entirely at the option of handlers. They are free to complete only those transactions which are most favorable to themselves. Order provisions must recognize this fact. They must recognize, also, that the varying conditions under which milk transactions occur give rise to great complexity and some doubtful circumstances. Where marginal problems arise, they must be resolved in favor of producers under the order, otherwise the advantage may go to unregulated milk and to dealers and farmers who are not required to abide by any rules of procedure or price making.

(d) Distribution of the proceeds to producers. A marketwide equalization pool should be included in the order as a means of distributing to producers the proceeds from the sale of their milk. Such a pool will assure each producer supplying the market that he will receive a return based on his pro rata share of the Class I sales of the entire market. The "blend", "base", and "excess" prices, as the case may be, that a producer receives will depend on the overall utilization of all producer milk received at the pool plants of all regulated handlers during the month. Although each handler subject to the order will be required to pay uniform prices for producer milk in accordance with the classification of such milk pursuant to the order, the minimum blend prices payable to producers will be the same for all producers in the market, irrespective of the use made of such milk by the individual handler.

The uniformity of payments to producers which is provided under a marketwide pool permits a handler either to maintain a manufacturing operation in his plant to handle the seasonal and daily reserve supplies of milk or to limit the operation at his plant to the handling of milk for Class I purposes only, without affecting the blend prices payable to his producers as against other producers in the market. The facilities in the plants of Texas Panhandle handlers for handling producer milk which is in excess of that needed for Class I purposes, vary considerably. Some of the handlers are equipped to handle limited amounts of the seasonal reserve supplies of milk in the market. Most of the Texas Panhandle handlers, however, have very limited facilities in their plants for the manufacture of dairy products. Under these conditions a marketwide pool in the Texas Panhandle marketing area will facilitate the marketing of producer milk. A marketwide pool will make it possible for the producers' associations to assist in diverting seasonal reserve milk and thus keeping producers on the market which are needed to fulfill the year-round requirements of the market. It assists in spreading the cost of carrying the necessary reserve for the market among all producers where otherwise this burden may be placed on individual groups of producers. A marketwide pool will thereby contribute to market stability and the attainment of an adequate and dependable supply of producer milk.

Base and excess plan. A "base and excess" plan of distributing the returns for milk among producers should be employed in connection with the marketwide pool.

Base and excess plans, although they vary considerably among handlers, have been commonly used throughout the milkshed area. The base and excess method of distributing milk returns during the months of heaviest production has wide support among both producers and handlers and should be continued. Interruption in the use of a base plan at this time might result in increased seasonality of production to the detriment of the market.

Because of the seasonal variations in the production of milk, there is need for an incentive to maintain production in the fall and winter months relative to spring and summer levels. Some handlers have difficulty in utilizing efficiently all milk delivered to them in the months of seasonally high production. By providing returns related directly to a producer's ability to deliver additional milk in the fall and winter as compared with deliveries during the season of flush production, a more even milk production pattern will be encouraged.

The base-excess plan provided in the attached order would establish for each producer in the market a base which would depend upon his deliveries of milk to pool plants during the months of September through December. During these months, as well as all other months in the period of July through February, producers would receive the marketwide blend or uniform price for all milk which they deliver to pool plants.

For each of the months of March through June separate uniform prices for "base milk" and "excess milk" would be computed so that Class I sales would first be allotted to base milk. Base milk would be milk received at a pool plant from a producer during any of the months of March through June which is not in excess of an amount equal to the daily base of such producer multiplied by the number of days in such month. Class II disposition in the market would first be allotted to excess milk. If Class I disposition is more than the base milk received from producers in any month, such additional Class I milk would be allocated to excess milk and the excess blend price increased accordingly.

The daily base of each producer would be calculated by the market administrator by dividing the total pounds of milk received at all pool plants from such producer during the months of September through December by the number of days from the first day such milk is received during those months to the last day of December, inclusive, but not less than 112 days. On or before February 15 of each year the market administrator would be required to notify each producer and the handler receiving milk from him, the daily base established by such producer.

It was proposed by producers that February also be included in the base operating period. The record does not indicate that February is a month of high production or that the handling of reserve supplies of milk for the Texas Panhandle market during that month is burdensome. In fact, in recent years producer receipts in the market during February have been comparatively low in relation to receipts in other months of the year.

The uniform prices, including uniform base and excess prices, which are required to be paid producers by each handler should be computed for milk containing 4.0 percent butterfat which is in accordance with past and current market practice. In distributing proceeds to producers, a differential should be applied to recognize different values of milk in accordance with its butterfat content. This differential should be determined on the basis of the weighted average value of producer butterfat according to its utilization at the class prices of the order.

Location differentials heretofore discussed should be applied to prices paid producers for base milk. Since excess milk will represent principally producer milk classified in Class II to which no location differential is applicable, the producer price for excess milk should likewise not be subject to the location differential provision of the order.

It is necessary to provide certain rules in connection with the establishment and transfer of bases in order to provide reasonable administrative workability of the plan. Such rules should outline specifically the method for calculating the base for each producer and set forth clearly and unequivocally the procedure to be followed for transferring bases. It is desirable that the need for administrative discretion and restrictive conditions in connection with the application of the base rules be kept at a minimum. To accomplish this, it is necessary that transfer of bases be limited to the entire base of a producer.

It is recognized, that a producer who adjusts his production under the base-excess plan to even out seasonal variations may suffer financial loss if he must discontinue production before having availed himself of the benefit of the base earned by him. It was proposed by producers at the hearing that in the event of death, retirement or entry into military service, a producer would be permitted to transfer his base to a member of his immediate family who carries on the dairy operations. In addition, it was proposed that a base be transferable by a producer discontinuing production to a person to whom the entire herd of such producer was sold.

The base rules relative to the transfer of bases which were proposed by producers lend themselves to various interpretations and would tend to result in numerous administrative determinations by the market administrator. For example, producers at the hearing were not explicit as to what would constitute retirement of a producer under this proposal.

The term "retirement" could be interpreted in numerous ways and by various standards to mean any producer who was going out of the dairy business. It would be impracticable for the market administrator to interpret such a term precisely. Moreover, regardless of the interpretation which may be applied, producers might be encouraged to resort to subterfuge if they stand to lose because of operation of the base rules. To circumscribe in an unnecessarily restrictive manner the rules for the transfer of bases might frequently result in undue hardship on producers who must liquidate their business at a time other than at the beginning of a base forming period.

A free transfer of entire bases as proposed herein will facilitate the operation and contribute toward carrying out the intent of the base-excess plan. The purpose of the base-excess plan is to encourage fall production by providing for each producer to share in the Class I market during the spring months of high production along with other producers in proportion to his deliveries to the market during the preceding fall months. Transfers of bases as herein recommended will give added assurance to a producer that he will have the full benefit of the base he has made whether or not he is able to continue milk production for his own account through the following months of flush production. This assurance should increase the effectiveness of the base-excess plan in encouraging production of milk during the months of the year when it is most needed on the market.

Bases should be transferred by the market administrator to be effective only on the first day of a month following receipt of a statement, on an approved form, showing the holder of such base, the person to whom it is to be transferred and signed by both parties.

The most practicable date on which the Texas Panhandle order could become effective would be prior to the 1956 base-operating period. Such date, however, will necessarily be subsequent to the period which would be used for determining producer bases applicable during the 1956 base-operating months. Nearly all handlers have heretofore observed base-forming periods or used methods of calculating bases which differ in various ways from that contained in the proposed order. On the basis of these facts and from the viewpoint of administrative feasibility, it is concluded that the base and excess method of paying producers should not be effective during the 1956 base-operating period. Accordingly, during 1956 each producer is to be paid not less than the monthly market-wide uniform price for his total deliveries of milk. The means by which this will be accomplished for this temporary period, without requiring special provisions in a number of sections of the order, is by providing that all milk delivered by producers to pool plants during the 1956 base-operating period shall be considered base milk.

Payment to producers. The order should provide that each handler shall pay each producer for milk received from such producer, and for which payment is not made to a cooperative association, at not less than the applicable uniform price(s) on or before the 15th day after the end of each month. Since it has been the practice in this area for handlers to pay producers semi-monthly, provision should be made for partial payments to such producers on or before the last day of each month for milk delivered during the first 15 days of such month at not less than the Class II milk price per hundredweight for the preceding month. No adjustment for butterfat content is required on such partial payment.

It was proposed by producers that provision be made for a cooperative association to receive payment for the producer milk which it causes to be delivered to a pool plant. The taking of title to milk of its members and the blending of the proceeds from the sale of such milk will tend to promote the orderly marketing of milk and will assist the cooperative association in discharging its responsibility to its members and to the market and such functions can be accomplished more expediently if the association is collecting payments for the sales of members milk.

The contract with its members of the principal cooperative in the market authorizes it to collect payment for their milk. The act provides for the payment by handlers to cooperative associations of producers for milk delivered by them and permits the blending of all proceeds from the sale of members' milk. It is concluded, therefore, that each handler shall, if requested in writing by a cooperative association, pay such association an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers. Handlers should be required to make such payments to the cooperative association on or before the 26th of the month for milk received during the first 15 days of the month and make the final settlement for milk received during the month on or before the 13th day of the following month.

Provision should also be made for the handler, if authorized in writing by the producer, to make proper deductions for goods or services furnished to or for payments made on behalf of the producer. At the time final settlement is made for milk received from producers during the month, the handler should be required to furnish to each producer a supporting statement. Such statement should show the pounds and butterfat tests of milk received from him, the rate(s) of payment for such milk and a description of any deductions claimed by the handler.

Producer-settlement fund. Because all producers will receive payment at the rate of the marketwide uniform price(s) each month and because the payment due from each handler for producer milk at the applicable class prices may be more or less than he is required to pay directly to producers, a method of equalizing this difference is necessary. A producer-settlement fund should be established for this purpose. A handler whose obligation for producer milk received during the month is greater than the amount he is required to pay producers for such milk at the applicable uniform price(s) would pay the difference into the producer-settlement fund, and each handler whose obligation for producer milk is less than the applicable uniform price value would receive payment of the difference from the fund. Provision for the establishment and maintenance of the producer-settlement fund as set forth in the attached order is similar to that contained in all other Federal orders with marketwide pools.

Experience has indicated that it is desirable to set aside a reasonable reserve or balance in such fund at the end of each month. Such a reserve is necessary in order to provide for contingencies such as the failure of a handler to make payment of his monthly billing to the fund or the payment to a handler from the fund by reason of an audit adjustment. The reserve, which would be operated as a revolving fund and adjusted each month, is established in the attached order at not less than four nor more than five cents per hundredweight of producer milk in the pool for the month. The unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund remaining from the preceding month would be added to the values used in calculating the uniform prices each month. The amount of the reserve which is provided herein should be adequate to enable the producer-settlement fund to perform its function efficiently.

As indicated elsewhere in this decision, compensatory payments received by the market administrator from any handler would be deposited in the producer-settlement fund. Money thus deposited into the producer-settlement fund would be included in the uniform price computation and thereby be distributed to all producers on the market.

In order that producers may be paid in full no later than on the dates prescribed in the order, it is necessary that payments owed the producer-settlement fund be made promptly. This is necessary so that money will be available to the market administrator to make payment to those handlers to whom money is due from the fund so that they may make payment in full to their producers. A handler's failure to make payment when due to the producer-settlement fund could obstruct the clearing of the producer equalization pool.

Sufficient time is provided in the order between the billing date and the due date of the various payments which are required to be made to the market administrator. If payments to the market administrator are not made when due, interest should be charged at the rate of 6 percent per annum. Such charge is not a penalty but represents a fair interest rate for the use of money. Charging interest will avoid giving a handler any incentive to retain money temporarily for use in his business at no cost until compliance can be enforced.

If at any time the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to cover payments due to all handlers from the producer-settlement fund, payments to such handlers would be reduced uniformly per hundredweight of milk. The handlers may then reduce payments to producers by an equivalent amount. The remaining amounts due such handlers from the fund would be paid as soon as the balance in the fund becomes adequate to meet such payments, and handlers would then complete payments to producers. In order to reduce the possibility of this occurring, milk received by any handler who has not made the payments required of him into the producer-settlement fund would be eliminated in the computation of the uniform prices in subsequent months until such handler has completed all delinquent payments.

(e) Administrative provisions. Provisions should be included in the order with respect to the administrative steps necessary to carry out the proposed regulation.

In addition to the definitions discussed earlier in this decision which define the scope of the regulation, certain other terms and definitions are desirable in the interest of brevity and to assure that each usage of the term denotes the same meaning. Such terms as are defined in the attached order are common to many other Federal milk orders.

Market Administrator. Provision should be made for the appointment by the Secretary of a market administrator to administer the order and to set forth the powers and duties for such agency essential to the proper functioning of such office.

Records and reports. Provisions should be included in the order requiring handlers to maintain adequate records of their operations and to make reports necessary to establish classification of producer milk and payments due therefor. Time limits must be prescribed for filing such reports and for making the payments to producers.

Handlers should maintain and make available to the market adminstrator all records and accounts of their operations, together with facilities which are necessary to determine the accuracy of information reported to the market administrator or any other information upon which the classification of producer milk depends. The market administrator must likewise be permitted to check the accuracy of weights and tests of milk and milk products received and handled, and to verify all payments required under the order.

As indicated elsewhere in this decision detailed reports to the market administrator and complete records available for his inspection by all handlers would be used to determine whether the plants of such handlers qualify as pool plants. Reports of handlers operating nonpool plants from which fluid milk products are distributed in the marketing area are needed by the market administrator in order to compute the amounts payable to the producer-settlement fund on such unpriced milk.

In addition to the regular reports required of handlers, provision is made for a handler to notify the market administrator when he intends to divert producer milk or when he intends to import other source milk. This will facilitate the check-testing program of the market administrator. Such information on a marketwide basis also may assist handlers in locating local sources of producer milk and expedite the transfer of such milk among handlers.

It is necessary that handlers retain records to prove the utilization of the milk and that proper payments were made to producers. Since the books and records of all handlers cannot be completed or audited immediately after the milk has been delivered to a plant, it therefore becomes necessary to keep such records for a reasonable period of time.

The order should provide limitations on the period of time handlers shall be required to retain such books and records and on the period of time in which obligations under the order shall terminate. Provision made in this regard is identical in principle with the general amendment made to all milk orders in operation on July 30, 1947, following the Secretary's decision of January 26, 1949 (14 F. R. 444). That decision covering the retention of records and limitation of claims is equally applicable in this situation and is adopted as a part of this decision.

Expense of administration. Each handler should be required to pay the market administrator, as his pro rata share of the cost of administering the order, not more than 5 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, on (a) producer milk, (b) other source milk at a pool plant which is classified as Class I milk, and (c) Class I milk disposed of on routes in the marketing area from a nonpool plant which is not fully subject to the classification, pricing and pooling provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act.

The market administrator must have sufficient funds to enable him to administer properly the terms of the order. The act provides that such cost of administration shall be financed through an assessment on handlers. One of the duties of the market administrator is to verify the receipts and disposition of milk from all sources. The record indicates that other source milk is received by some handlers to supplement local producer supplies of milk. Equity in sharing the cost of administration of the order among handlers will be achieved, therefore, by applying the administrative assessment to all producer milk (which includes a handler's own production) and other source milk allocated to Class I milk.

Plants not subject to the classification and pricing provisions of the order may distribute limited quantities of Class I milk in the marketing area. The records of such plants must be checked to verify their status under the order. Assessment of administrative expense with respect to such milk sold in the marketing area will help to defray the costs of such verification.

In view of the anticipated volume of milk and the costs of administering orders in markets of comparable circumstances, it is concluded that an initial rate of 5 cents per hundredweight is necessary to meet the expenses of administration. Provision should be made to enable the Secretary to reduce the rate of assessment below the 5 cents per hundredweight maximum without necessitating an amendment to the order. This should be done at any time experience in the market reveals that a lesser rate will produce sufficient revenue to administer the order properly.

Marketing services. Provision should be made in the order for furnishing marketing services to producers, such as verifying of tests and weights and furnishing market information. These services should be provided by the market administrator and the cost should be borne by the producer receiving the service. If a cooperative association is performing such services for any member producers and is approved for such activities by the Secretary, the market administrator may accept this in lieu of his own service.

There is a need for a marketing services program in connection with the administration of an order in this area. Orderly marketing will be promoted by assuring individual producers that payments received for their milk are based on the pricing provisions of the order, and reflect accurate weights and tests of such milk. To accomplish this fully, it is necessary that the butterfat tests and weights of individual producer deliveries of milk as reported by the handler be verified for accuracy.

An important phase of the marketing service program is to furnish producers with current market information. Detailed information regarding market conditions is not now regularly available either to producers or to cooperative associations. Efficiency in the production, utilization and marketing of milk will be promoted by the dissemination of current information on a marketwide basis to all producers.

To enable the market administrator to furnish such services, provision should be made for a maximum deduction of 6 cents per hundredweight with respect to receipts of milk from producers for whom he renders marketing services. Comparison of the extent of the milkshed and the volume of milk involved with that of several other markets now under Federal regulation indicates that this will reflect the maximum cost of such services. If later experience indicates that marketing services can be performed at a lesser rate, provision is made for the Secretary to adjust the rate downward without the necessity of a hearing.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order of the Secretary directing the conduct of a referendum; determination of a representative period; and designation of referendum agent. Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among producers (as defined in the attached order regulating the handling of milk in the Texas Panhandle marketing area) who, during the month of October, 1955, which month is hereby determined to be the representative period for such referendum, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforesaid order, to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of the order which is filed herewith.

A. T. Radigan is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 5177), such referendum to be completed on or before the 20th day from the date this decision is filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Texas Panhandle Marketing Area," and "Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Texas Panhandle Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., on the 22nd day of November 1955.

AUTHORITY: §§ 911.0 to 911.111 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c.

§ 911.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Texas Panhandle marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced in such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect the market supply of and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest;

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

(3) The said order regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined in this order, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(5) It is hereby found that the necessary expense of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler as his pro rata share of such expense, 5 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 5 cents per hundredweight, as the Secretary may prescribe with respect to butterfat and skim milk contained in (a) receipts of producer milk, (b) other source milk at a pool plant which is allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 911.46 and, (c) Class I milk disposed of in the marketing area (except to a pool plant) from a nonpool plant not subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Texas Panhandle marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the following terms and conditions:

In either case, the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 911.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. The skim milk and butterfat which are required to be reported pursuant to § 911.30 shall be classified each month by the market administrator, pursuant to the provisions of §§ 911.41 through 911.46.

§ 911.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in § 911.44, the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including concentrated and reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat (1) disposed of in the form of a fluid milk product (except as provided in paragraph (b) (2) of this section) and (2) not accounted for as Class II milk:

(b) Class II milk. Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) used to produce any product other than a fluid milk product; (2) disposed of and used for livestock feed; (3) contained in inventory of fluid milk products on hand at the end of the month; and (4) in shrinkage allocated to receipts of producer milk and other source milk (except milk diverted to a nonpool plant pursuant to § 911.7) but not in excess of 2 percent of such receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively.

§ 911.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall allocate shrinkage over a handler's receipts as follows:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the resulting amounts between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat contained in producer milk and in other source milk.

§ 911.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat can prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise;

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat shall be reclassified if verification by the market administrator discloses that the original classification was incorrect.

§ 911.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of each month from a pool plant shall be classified:

(a) As Class I milk, if transferred in the form of a fluid milk product to the pool plant of another handler, except a producer-handler, unless utilization as Class II milk is claimed by both handlers in their reports submitted for the month to the market administrator pursuant to § 911.30: Provided, That the skim milk or butterfat so assigned to Class II milk shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in Class II milk in the plant of the transferee-handler after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to § 911.46 and any additional amounts of such skim milk or butterfat shall be classified as Class I milk: And provided further, That if either or both handlers have received other source milk, the skim milk or butterfat so transferred shall be classified at both plants so as to allocate the greatest possible Class I utilization to the producer milk of both handlers;

(b) As Class I milk, if transferred to a producer-handler in the form of fluid milk product;

(c) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of a fluid milk product to a nonpool plant located more than 300 miles by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator from the nearest point in the marketing area;

(d) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of a fluid milk product in bulk to a nonpool plant located not more than 300 miles by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator from the nearest point in the marketing area unless:

(1) The transferring or diverting handler claims classification in Class II milk in his report submitted to the market administrator pursuant to § 911.30 for the month within which such transaction occurred;

(2) The operator of such nonpool plant maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat received at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification; and

(3) The skim milk and butterfat in the fluid milk products (except in ungraded cream disposed of for manufacturing uses) disposed of from such nonpool plant do not exceed the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in milk received during the month from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitute the regular source of supply for such plant: Provided, That any skim milk or butterfat in fluid milk products (except in ungraded cream disposed of for manufacturing uses) disposed of from the nonpool plant which is in excess of receipts from such dairy farmers shall be assigned to the fluid milk products so transferred or diverted and classified as Class I milk: And provided further, That if the total skim milk and butterfat in fluid milk products which were transferred by all handlers to such nonpool plant during the month is less than the skim milk and butterfat classified as Class I milk pursuant to the preceding proviso hereof, the assignment to Class I milk shall be prorated over the claimed Class II classification reported by each such handler on transfers to the nonpool plant.

§ 911.45 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the reports of receipts and utilization for the pool plant(s) of each handler and shall compute the pounds of butterfat and skim milk in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handler: Provided, That if any of the water contained in the milk from which a product is made is removed before the product is utilized or disposed of by a handler, the pounds of skim milk disposed of in such product shall be considered to be an amount equivalent to the nonfat milk solids contained in such product, plus all of the water reasonably associated with such solids in the form of whole milk.

§ 911.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After making the computations pursuant to § 911.45 the market administrator shall determine the classification of producer milk received at the pool plant(s) of each handler each month as follows:

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk assigned to producer milk pursuant to § 911.41 (b) (4);

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class, in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk in other source milk received in the form of fluid milk products which were not subject to the Class I pricing provisions of an order issued pursuant to the act;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class, in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk in other source milk other than that received in the form of fluid milk products;

(4) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk an amount equal to such remainder, or the product obtained by multiplying the pounds of skim milk in producer milk by 0.05, whichever is less;

(5) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class, in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk in other source received in the form of fluid milk products which are subject to the Class I pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act;

(6) Add to the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (4) of this paragraph;

(7) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk in fluid milk products received from the pool plants of other handlers according to the classification of such products as determined pursuant to § 911.44 (a);

(8) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class, in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk contained in inventory of fluid milk products on hand at the beginning of the month;

(9) Add to the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and if the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk contained in producer milk, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II. Any amount of excess so subtracted shall be called "overage".

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure prescribed for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Determine the weighted average butterfat content of producer milk remaining in each class computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 911.50 Basic formula price. The basic formula price shall be the highest of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, rounded to the nearest cent.

(a) The average of the basic or field prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid or to be paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following milk plants for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department, divided by 3.5 and multiplied by 4.0:

(b) The price obtained by adding together the amounts calculated pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:

(1) Subtract 3 cents from the Chicago butter price and multiply the remainder by 4.8; and

(2) From the simple average as computed by the market administrator of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department, deduct 5.5 cents, and multiply by 8.16.

§ 911.51 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of §§ 911.52 and 911.53, the class prices per hundredweight for the month shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk price. From the effective date of this part through August, 1957, the Class I milk price shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month, plus $2.15 during the months of July through February and plus $1.85 during all other months.

(b) Class II milk price. The Class II milk price shall be:

(1) For the months of March through June, the average of the prices reported to have been paid or to be paid for ungraded milk of 4 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or the Department:

Present Operator and Location

Plains Creamery, Arnett, Okla.
Price Creamery, Portales, N. Mex.

(2) For the months of July through February, the higher of the prices computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and paragraph (b) of § 911.50.

§ 911.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers. For milk containing more or less than 4.0 percent butterfat, the class prices for the month calculated pursuant to § 911.51 shall be increased or decreased, respectively, for each one-tenth percent butterfat at the appropriate rate, rounded to the nearest one-tenth cent, determined as follows:

(a) Class I price. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the preceding month by 0.120.

(b) Class II prices. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the current month by 0.110.

§ 911.53 Location differentials to handlers. For that milk which is received from producers at a pool plant located 100 miles or more from the City Hall, Amarillo, Texas, by the shortest hard-surfaced highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, and which is transferred to a distributing plant which is a pool plant in the form of a fluid milk product and assigned to Class I pursuant to the proviso of this section, or otherwise classified as Class I milk, the price specified in § 911.51 (a) shall be reduced at the rate set forth in the following schedule according to the location of the pool plant where such milk is received from producers:

Distance from the Amarillo City Hall (miles):	Rate per hundredweight (cents)
100 but less than 110	35.0
For each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof an additional	1.6

Provided, That for the purpose of calculating such location differential, fluid milk products which are transferred between pool plants shall be assigned to any remainder of Class II milk in the transferee-plant after making the calculations prescribed in § 911.46 (a) (5), and the comparable steps in (b) for such plant, such assignment to transferor plants to be made in sequence according to the location differential applicable at each plant, beginning with the plant having the largest differential.

§ 911.54 Use of equivalent prices. If for any reason a price quotation required by this order for computing class prices or for other purposes is not available in the manner described, the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to the price which is required.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 911.60 Producer-handlers. Sections 911.40 through 911.46, 911.50 through 911.53, 911.70 through 911.73, 911.80 through 911.88, and 911.95 through 911.97 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 911.61 Plants subject to other Federal orders. The provisions of this part shall not apply to a distributing plant or a supply plant during any month in which such plant would be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act unless: (a) Such plant is qualified as a pool plant pursuant to § 911.10 (a) and a greater volume of fluid milk products is disposed of from such plant to retail or wholesale outlets (excluding pool plants) in the Texas Panhandle marketing area than in the marketing area regulated pursuant to such other order, or (b) such plant is qualified as a pool plant pursuant to § 911.10 (b): Provided, That the operator of a distributing plant or a supply plant which is exempted from the provisions of this order pursuant to this section shall, with respect to the total receipts and utilization or disposition of skim milk and butterfat at the plant, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require (in lieu of the reports required pursuant to § 911.30) and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

§ 911.62 Handlers operating nonpool plants. None of the provisions from §§ 911.44 through 911.53, inclusive, or from §§ 911.70 through 911.85, inclusive, shall apply in the case of a handler in his capacity as the operator of a nonpool plant, except that such handler shall, on or before the 13th day after the end of each month, pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund an amount calculated by multiplying the total hundredweight of butterfat and skim milk disposed of as Class I milk from such plant to retail or wholesale outlets (including sales by vendors and plant stores) in the marketing area during the month, by the rate determined pursuant to § 911.63.

§ 911.63 Rate of payment on unpriced milk. The rate of payment per hundredweight to be made by handlers on unpriced other source milk allocated to Class I milk shall be any plus amount calculated as follows:

(a) During the months of March through June, subtract from the Class I price adjusted by the Class I butterfat and location differentials applicable at a pool plant of the same location as the nonpool plant supplying such other source milk, the Class II price adjusted by the Class II butterfat differential; and

(b) During the months of July through February subtract from the Class I price f. o. b. such nonpool plant the uniform price to producers adjusted by the Class I butterfat differential.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICES TO PRODUCERS

§ 911.70 Computation of value of milk for each handler. The value of producer milk received during each month by each handler shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Multiply the pounds of milk in each class by the applicable class price and add together the resulting amounts;

(b) Add the amounts computed by multiplying the pounds of overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 911.46 (a) (9) and the corresponding step of (b) by the applicable class prices;

(c) Add the amount obtained in multiplying the difference between the Class II price for the preceding month and the Class I price for the current month by the hundredweight of producer milk classified in Class II less shrinkage during the preceding month, or the hundredweight of milk subtracted from Class I pursuant to § 911.46 (a) (8) and the corresponding step of (b), whichever is less; and

(d) Add an amount calculated by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat subtracted from Class I milk pursuant to § 911.46 (a) (2) and (3) and the corresponding step of (b), by the rate of payment on unpriced milk determined pursuant to § 911.63 at the nearest nonpool plant(s) from which an equivalent amount of other source skim milk or butterfat was received: Provided, That if the source of any such fluid milk product received at a pool plant is not clearly established or if such skim milk and butterfat is received or used in a form other than as a fluid milk product such product shall be considered to have been received from a source at the location of the pool plant where it is classified.

§ 911.71 Computation of aggregate value used to determine uniform prices. For each month the market administrator shall compute an aggregate value from which to determine uniform prices per hundredweight for producer milk, of 4.0 percent butterfat content, f. o. b. plants located within 100 miles of the City Hall of Amarillo, Texas, as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 911.70 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed in § 911.30 for such month, except those in default of payments required pursuant to § 911.84 for the preceding month;

(b) Add or subtract for each one-tenth percent that the average butterfat content of producer milk represented by the values included under paragraph (a) of this section is less or more, respectively, than 4.0 percent, an amount computed by multiplying such differences by the butterfat differential to producers, and multiplying the result by the total hundredweight of producer milk;

(c) Add an amount equal to the sum of the location differential deductions to be made pursuant to § 911.82; and

(d) Add an amount equal to one-half of the unobligated cash balance in the producer-settlement fund.

§ 911.72 Computation of uniform price. For each of the months of July through February, the market administrator shall compute a uniform price for producer milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content f. o. b. pool plants located within 100 miles of the City Hall of Amarillo, Texas, as follows:

(a) Divide the aggregate value computed pursuant to § 911.71 by the total hundredweight of producer milk included in such computations; and

(b) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for producer milk.

§ 911.73 Computation of uniform prices for base milk and excess milk. For each of the months of March through June, the market administrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and for excess milk, each of 4.0 percent butterfat content, f. o. b. pool plants located within 100 miles of the City Hall of Amarillo, Texas, as follows:

(a) From the reports submitted by handlers pursuant to § 911.30, determine the aggregate classification of producer milk included in the computation of value pursuant to § 911.71 and the total hundredweight of such milk which is base milk and which is excess milk;

(b) Determine the value of such excess milk on a 4 percent butterfat basis by multiplying the total hundredweight of such milk which is not greater than the total Class II milk pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section by the Class II milk price and by adding thereto the value obtained by multiplying the hundredweight of such excess milk which is greater than the quantity of such Class II milk by the Class I milk price;

(c) Divide the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (b) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk, and subtract not less than 4 nor more than 5 cents from the price thus computed. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for excess milk;

(d) Subtract the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (b) of this section from the aggregate value of all milk obtained in § 911.71; and

(e) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (d) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk obtained in paragraph (a) of this section, and subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the price thus computed. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for base milk.

§ 911.80 Time and method of payment for producer milk. Except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section, each handler shall make payment to each producer for milk received from such producer as follows:

(a) On or before the last day of each month, for milk received during the first 15 days of the month, at not less than the Class II price for the preceding month;

(b) On or before the 15th day after the end of each month, for milk received during such month, an amount computed at not less than the uniform prices per hundredweight pursuant to §§ 911.72 and 911.73 subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 911.81 plus or minus adjustments for errors made in previous payments to such producer; and less (1) payment made pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, (2) location differential deductions pursuant to § 911.82, (3) marketing service deductions pursuant to § 911.87 and (4) proper deductions authorized by such producer: Provided, That if such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 911.85 he may reduce uniformly per hundredweight for all producers his payments pursuant to this paragraph by an amount not in excess of the per hundredweight reduction in payment from the market administrator. The handler shall make such balance of payment to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator;

(c) (1) Upon receipt of a written request from a cooperative association which the market administrator determines is authorized by its members to collect payment for their milk and receipt of a written promise to reimburse the handler the amount of any actual loss incurred by him because of any improper claim on the part of the cooperative association each handler shall pay to the cooperative association on or before the 13th and 26th days of each month, in lieu of payments pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b), respectively, of this section an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers. The foregoing payment shall be made with respect to milk of each producer whom the cooperative association certifies is a member effective on and after the first day of the calendar month next following receipt of such certification through the last day of the month next preceding receipt of notice from the cooperative association of a termination of membership or until the original request is rescinded in writing by the cooperative association.

(2) A copy of each such request, promise to reimburse and certified list of members shall be filed simultaneously with the market administrator by the cooperative association and shall be subject to verification at his discretion, through audit of the records of the cooperative association pertaining thereto. Exceptions, if any, to the accuracy of such certification by a producer claimed to be a member, or by a handler, shall be made by written notice to the market administrator and shall be subject to his determination.

(d) In making the payments to producers pursuant to paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, each handler shall furnish each producer or cooperative association from whom he has received milk with a supporting statement in such form that it may be retained by the producer, which shall show:

(1) The month and identity of the handler and of the producer;

(2) The daily and total pounds and the average butterfat content of milk received from such producer, including for the months of March through June, the pounds of base milk and excess milk;

(3) The minimum rate or rates at which payment to the producer is required pursuant to the order;

(4) The rate which is used in making the payment, if such rate is other than the applicable minimum rate;

(5) The amount or the rate per hundredweight and nature of each deduction claimed by the handler; and

(6) The net amount of payment to such producer or cooperative association.

§ 911.81 Butterfat differentials to producers. The applicable uniform prices to be paid each producer pursuant to § 911.80 shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of one percent which the butterfat content of his milk is above or below 4.0 percent, respectively, at the rate determined by multiplying the total pounds of butterfat in the producer milk allocated to Class I and Class II milk during the month pursuant to § 911.46 by the respective butterfat differential for each class, dividing the sum of such values by the total pounds of such butterfat, and rounding the resultant figure to the nearest one-tenth of a cent.

§ 911.82 Location differentials to producers. In making payment pursuant to § 911.80 the uniform price pursuant to § 911.72 and the uniform price for base milk pursuant to § 911.73 to be paid for milk which is received from producers at a pool plant located 100 miles or more from the City Hall, Amarillo, Texas, by the shortest hard-surfaced highway distance as determined by the market administrator shall be reduced at the rate set forth in the following schedule according to the location of the pool plant where such milk is received from producers:

100 but less than 110	35.0
For each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof an additional	1.6

§ 911.83 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 911.62, 911.84, and 911.86, and out of which he shall make all payments pursuant to §§ 911.85 and 911.86: Provided, That payments due to any handler shall be offset by payments due from such handler.

§ 911.84 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 12th day after the end of each month each handler shall pay to the market administrator the amount by which the value of milk for such handler, pursuant to § 911.70, for such month exceeds the obligation, pursuant to § 911.80, of such handler to producers for milk received during the month.

§ 911.85 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay to each handler the amount by which the obligation, pursuant to § 911.80, of such handler to producers for milk received during the month exceeds the value of milk for such handler computed pursuant to § 911.70. If at such time the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this section the market administrator shall reduce uniformly per hundredweight such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the appropriate funds are available.

§ 911.86 Adjustment of errors in payment. Whenever verification by the market administrator of payments by any handler discloses errors made in payments to the producer-settlement fund pursuant to § 911.84, the market administrator shall promptly bill such handler for any unpaid amount and such handler shall, within 15 days, make payment to the market administrator of the amount so billed. Whenever verification discloses that payment is due from the market administrator to any handler, pursuant to § 911.85, the market administrator shall, within 15 days, make such payment to such handler. Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payment by a handler to any producer or cooperative association for milk received by such handler discloses payment of less than is required by § 911.80, the handler shall pay such balance due such producer or cooperative association not later than the time of making payment to producers or cooperative associations next following such disclosure.

§ 911.87 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler in making payments to each producer pursuant to § 911.80 (b), shall deduct 6 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all milk received by such handler from such producer (except such handler's own farm production), during the month, and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator not later than the 15th day after the end of the month. Such money shall be used by the market administrator to verify or establish weights, samples, and tests of milk received by handlers from such producers during the month and to provide such producers with market information. Such services shall be performed in whole or in part by the market administrator or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) Producers' cooperative associations. In the case of producers for whom a cooperative association is actually performing, as determined by the Secretary, the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deductions specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions as are authorized by such producers and, on or before the 15th day after the end of each month, pay over such deductions to the association rendering such services.

§ 911.88 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of the administration of the order, each handler shall pay to the market administrator, on or before the 15th day after the end of each month, 5 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to butterfat and skim milk contained in (a) producer milk, (b) other source milk at a pool plant which is allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 911.46, and (c) Class I milk disposed of in the marketing area (except to a pool plant) from a nonpool plant not subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act.

§ 911.89 Adjustment of overdue accounts. There shall be added to any balance due the market administrator pursuant to §§ 911.62, 911.84, 911.86, 911.87, and 911.88 an amount equal to one-half of one percent of such balance for each month or any portion thereof that payment of the balance is overdue.

§ 911.90 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this part to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this part shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler within the applicable period of time, files pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

DETERMINATION OF BASE

§ 911.95 Daily base. The daily base for each producer shall be the amount obtained by dividing the total pounds of producer milk received from such producer by all handlers during the months of September through December immediately preceding, by the number of days from the first day of delivery by such producer during such months to the last day of December inclusive, less the number of days for which no deliveries are made, but not less than 112 days.

§ 911.96 Base rules. The following rules shall apply in connection with the establishment of bases:

(a) A base shall apply to deliveries of milk by the producer for whose account that milk was delivered during the months of September through December;

(b) An entire base shall be transferred from a person holding such base to any other person effective as of the first day of any month following receipt by the market administrator of an application for such transfer. Such application shall be on a form approved by the market administrator and shall be signed by the baseholder and by the person to whom such base is to be transferred: Provided, That if a base is held jointly, the entire base shall be transferable only upon receipt of such application signed by all joint holders.

§ 911.97 Announcement of established bases. On or before February 15 of each year subsequent to 1956, the market administrator shall notify each producer and the handler receiving milk from such producer of the daily base established by such producer.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 911.100 Effective time. The provisions of this part, or any amendments to this part, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 911.101 Suspension or termination. The Secretary shall suspend or terminate any or all of the provisions of this part, whenever he finds that it obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. This part shall, in any event, terminate whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

§ 911.102 Continuing power and duty of the market administrator. (a) If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all of the provisions of this part, there are any obligations arising hereunder, the final accrual or ascertainment or which requires further acts by any handler, by the market administrator, or by any other person, the power and duty to perform such further acts shall continue notwithstanding such suspension or termination: Provided, That any such acts required to be performed by the market administrator shall if the Secretary so directs, be performed by such other person, persons, or agency as the Secretary may designate.

(b) The market administrator, or such other person as the Secretary may designate shall (1) continue in such capacity until discharged by the Secretary; (2) from time to time account for all receipts and disbursements and deliver all funds or property on hand together with the books and records of the market administrator, or such person, to such person as the Secretary shall direct; and (3) if so directed by the Secretary execute such assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to vest in such person full title to all funds, property, and claims vested in the market administrator or such person pursuant thereto.

§ 911.103 Liquidation after suspension or termination. Upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part the market administrator, or such person as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office and dispose of all funds and property then in his possession or under this control, together with claims for any funds which are unpaid or owing at the time of such suspension or termination. Any funds collected pursuant to the provisions of this part, over and above the amounts necessary to meet outstanding obligations and the expenses necessarily incurred by the market administrator or such person in liquidating such funds, shall be distributed to the contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 911.110 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this part, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions of this part, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

§ 911.111 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

(b) Holding in proper storage and delivery of surplus tonnage—(1) Provision in the event of failure to deliver in accordance with obligation. In the event a handler fails to deliver to the committee the total surplus tonnage of any established grade or size group category in accordance with his obligation to so deliver, after any applicable tolerance allowances for shrinkage in weight, increase in the number of prunes per pound, and normal and natural deterioration and spoilage which may then be in effect have been applied, the handler shall make up any deficiency by delivering to the committee a quantity of prunes of his salable tonnage of the weight, grade, and size necessary to rectify such deficiency: Provided, That a handler may deliver prunes for disposition as animal feed, botanicals, or distillation without a requirement as to grade or its certification, if such prunes, on the basis of incoming inspection certificates or certificates of appraisal, as the case may be, were received as standard prunes. To the extent that a handler is unable to rectify such a deficiency with prunes of his salable tonnage he shall compensate the committee in the amount of the reduction of surplus tonnage revenue that is occasioned by his unfulfilled surplus tonnage obligation, such amount to be calculated on the basis of the average price received by the committee during the crop year for surplus tonnage prunes of the applicable grade or size category and of the specific grade and size involved plus costs to the committee caused by the handler's failure to meet his obligation: Provided, That the remedies herein provided shall be in addition to and not exclusive of any of the remedies or penalties prescribed in the act with respect to the failure on the part of the handler to comply with the applicable provisions of the act or any part or subpart thereof.

DRUGS EXEMPTED FROM PRESCRIPTION—DISPENSING REQUIREMENTS OF SECTION 503 (b) (1) (C) OF THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is given that the Commissioner of Food and Drugs, in accordance with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 503 (b) (3), 505 (c), 701 (a); 65 Stat. 649, 52 Stat. 1052, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (3), 371 (a)) and the authority delegated to him by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR, 1954 Supp., 1.108 (c)) hereby offers an opportunity to all interested persons to submit their views in writing to the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., within 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER on the proposed amendment set forth below:

It is proposed to amend paragraph (a) of § 130.1 Exemption for certain drugs limited by new-drug applications to prescription sale by adding the following new subparagraphs (8) and (9):

(8) Dicyclomine hydrochloride (1-cyclohexylhexahydrobenzoic acid, β-diethylaminoethyl ester hydrochloride; diethylaminocarbethoxy-bicyclohexyl hydrochloride) preparations meeting all the following conditions:

(i) The dicyclomine hydrochloride is prepared with suitable antacid and other components; in tablet or other dosage form for oral use in self-medication, and containing no drug limited to prescription sale under the provisions of section 503 (b) (1) of the act.

(ii) The dicyclomine hydrochloride and all other components of the preparation meet their professed standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity.

(iii) If the preparation is a new drug, an application pursuant to section 505 (b) of the act is effective for it.

(iv) The preparation contains not more than 5 milligrams of dicyclomine hydrochloride per dosage unit, or if it is in liquid form not more than 0.5 milligram of dicyclomine hydrochloride per milliliter.

(v) The preparation is labeled with adequate directions for use only by adults and children over 12 years of age, in the temporary relief of gastic hyperacidity.

(vi) The dosages recommended or suggested in the directions for use do not exceed 10 milligrams of dicyclomine hydrochloride per dose or 30 milligrams in a 24-hour period.

(vii) The labeling bears, in juxtaposition with the dosage recommendations, clear warning statements against:

(a) Exceeding the recommended dosage.

(b) Prolonged use, except as directed by a physician, since persistent or recurring symptoms may indicate a serious disease requiring medical attention.

(c) Administration to children under 12 years of age except as directed by a physician.

(d) Use if dryness of the throat, blurring of vision, dizziness, or rapid pulse occurs.

(9) Neomycin sulfate preparations meeting all the following conditions:

(i) The neomycin sulfate is prepared with a vasoconstrictor, and with or without other drugs, in an aqueous vehicle suitable for administration in self-medication as a nasal spray, or as nose drops, and containing no drug limited to prescription sale under the provisions of section 503 (b) (1) of the act.

(ii) The preparation is packaged with a style of container or assembly suited to self-medication by the recommended route of administration, and delivering not more than 0.1 milliliter of the preparation per spray or per drop.

(iii) The neomycin sulfate and all other components of the preparation meet their professed standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity.

(iv) If the preparation is a new drug, an application pursuant to section 505 (b) of the act is effective for it.

(v) The neomycin sulfate content of the preparation does not exceed the equivalent of 0.8 milligram of standard neomycin base per milliliter.

(vi) The preparation is labeled with adequate directions for use in the temporary relief of nasal congestion due to the common cold and hay fever.

(vii) The dosages recommended or suggested in the directions for use do not exceed: For adults, 3 sprays or 3 drops per nostril per dose, or 5 doses in a 24-hour period; for children over 3 years of age, 2 sprays or 2 drops per nostril per dose, or 5 doses in a 24-hour period.

(viii) The labeling bears, in juxtaposition with the dosage recommendations, clear warning statements against:

(a) Administration to children under 3 years of age, except as directed by a physician.

(b) Exceeding the recommended dosage.

(c) Use in a manner contraindicated by the nature of the vasoconstrictor or other components.

The proposed amendment will remove the drugs mentioned therein from the prescription-dispensing requirements of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 503 (b) (1) (C), 52 Stat. 1052, 65 Stat. 649; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (1) (C)). These drugs were previously limited by their new-drug applications to use under professional supervision because the scientific data establishing the toxic potential of the drugs and their intended use showed that they were safe only if used under professional supervision.

Pursuant to the regulations in § 1.108 (c) of this chapter (21 CFR, 1954 Supp., 1.108 (c)), petitions have been submitted to remove the prescription restrictions from these drugs. Evidence now available through investigation and marketing experience shows that the drugs can be safely used by the laity in self-medication if they are used in accordance with the proposed labeling. The restriction to prescription sale is no longer necessary for the protection of the public health.

This action in removing the prior restriction limiting these drugs to prescription sale is taken under the authority of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 503 (b) (3), 505 (c), 52 Stat. 1052, 65 Stat. 649; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (3), 355 (c)), which provides for and requires the removal of such restrictions if they are not necessary for the protection of the public health.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies secs. 503 (b) (3), 505 (c), 52 Stat. 1052, 65 Stat. 649; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (3), 355 (c))

Dated: November 18, 1955.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

COMBINATION MAILINGS

MAILING ENCLOSURES OF DIFFERENT CLASSES

Effective November 28, 1955, the Post Office Department will place in effect a more convenient method for the mailing of two classes of mail together. Until February 1, 1956, combined classes of mail will be accepted for mailing in accordance with the temporary regulations set forth below. It is not considered practicable to delay adoption of this new method beyond November 28, 1955, and thereby deny the benefits of this method to the mailing public during the period preceding Christmas, 1955.

The Postmaster General desires, however, to afford patrons of the Postal Service an opportunity to present written views concerning this method of mailing combined classes of mail. Such written views may be submitted to N. R. Abrams, Assistant Postmaster General, Bureau of Post Office Operations, Post Office Department, Washington 25, D. C., at any time prior to January 15, 1956.

The views and comments submitted will be considered by the Department and the final regulations which will govern this new method of mailing mixed classes of mail will be made effective on February 1, 1956.

SECTION 1. Enclosures mailed with second-class publications—(a) First- and third-class enclosures. Letters or other pieces of first- or third-class mail may be mailed with second-class publications. They may be:

(1) Placed in the outside envelope or wrapper with a single copy.

(2) Secured inside an unwrapped copy, or

(3) Enclosed in a bundle of copies.

(b) Payment of postage. Postage at the appropriate first- or single piece third-class rate must be paid for each separate enclosure. The postage may be placed on the outside envelope, wrapper, or cover of a publication, or the postage may be placed on the enclosure by using precanceled or meter stamps. Postage at the second-class pound or per copy rates must be paid on the publication in the manner prescribed by 39 CFR Part 16. When postage at the transient second-class rate is paid on the publication, follow the procedure in section 2.

(c) Marking required. When postage for the enclosure is placed on the outside envelope, wrapper, or cover of a publication, the mailer must mark each piece as required by section 2 (e). Markings are not required when postage is placed on the enclosure.

SEC. 2. Enclosures mailed with third- and fourth-class parcels—(a) First-class enclosure. Letters may be enclosed in a third- or fourth-class parcel. Postage at the first-class rate must be paid for each letter.

(b) Third-class enclosures. Third-class mail may be enclosed in a fourth-class parcel. Postage at the single-piece third-class rate must be paid for each enclosure.

(c) Placement of enclosure. The enclosure should be placed on top of other items in the parcel when practical.

(d) Payment of postage. Postage for the enclosure must be placed on the outside of the parcel. It may be added to the postage for the parcel and the total amount paid together, or the postage for the enclosure may be affixed separately from the postage for the parcel.

(e) Marking required. The mailer must place the endorsement "First-Class Mail Enclosed" or "Third-Class Mail Enclosed" on each parcel below the postage and above the address. The endorsement may be handstamped, handwritten, typewritten, printed, or put on by any other method.

SEC. 3. Penalty—(a) Failure to pay. If postage is not paid at the appropriate rate in the manner provided for by sections 1 and 2 for letters or other pieces of first- or third-class mail, the second-class publications or the third- or fourth-class parcels in which they are enclosed will be subject to the higher rate applicable to the enclosure.

(b) Concealment. Mailers are subject to a fine of not more than $100 if they knowingly conceal letters or other pieces of first- or third-class mail in second-class publications or in third- or fourth-class parcels without paying the appropriate rate of postage on the enclosures in the manner provided for by sections 1 and 2.

[Docket No. S-60]

ISBRANDTSEN CO., INC.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON APPLICATION FOR OPERATING-DIFFERENTIAL SUBSIDY AGREEMENT

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held under sections 605 (c) and 805 (a) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, upon on application of Isbrandtsen Company, Inc., for an operating-differential subsidy agreement on said Company's Eastbound Round-the-World Service under which it would be permitted to operate a minimum of 24 and a maximum of 29 subsidized sailings per year, and for written permission to carry cargoes in the United States Eastbound Intercoastal trade on unsubsidized voyages with cargo vessels. Isbrandtsen's Eastbound Round-the-World Service is described as follows:

Fortnightly sailings with dry-cargo vessels and with limited passenger accommodations in a Round-the-World Eastbound Service from United States North Atlantic ports north of Hatteras; to Azores; Morocco (Casablanca); Mediterranean Spain (optional call at Spanish Atlantic port); Mediterranean France; West Coast of Italy; Greece; Eastern Mediterranean and Suez Canal ports; ports in the Red Sea; West Pakistan; India; Ceylon; Singapore; Straits Settlements/Malaya/Indonesia; Thailand; French Indochina; Philippines; Hongkong; Formosa; Chinese ports when and if open to traffic; Korea; Japan, and thence return to United States North Atlantic ports via California, Panama Canal ports and Puerto Rico.

The purpose of the hearing under sec. 605 (c) is to receive evidence relevant to the following: (1) whether the application is one with respect to a vessel or vessels to be operated on a service, route, or line served by citizens of the United States which would be in addition to the existing service, or services, and, if so, whether the service already provided by vessels of United States registry in such service, route, or line is inadequate, and in the accomplishment of the purposes and policy of the Act additional vessels should be operated thereon; (2) whether the application is one with respect to a vessel operated or to be operated in a service, route, or line served by two or more citizens of the United States with vessels of United States registry, and, if so, whether the effect of the subsidy contract would be to give undue advantage or be unduly prejudicial, as between citizens of the United States, in the operation of vessels in competitive services, routes, or lines; and (3) whether it is necessary to enter into such contract in order to provide adequate service by vessels of the United States registry.

The purpose of the hearing under sec. 805 (a) is to receive evidence relevant to whether granting such application (a) will result in unfair competition to any person, firm or corporation operating exclusively in the coastwise or intercoastal service, or (b) would be prejudicial to the objects and policy of the said Act.

The hearing will be conducted before an Examiner at a time and place to be announced, in accordance with the Board's Rules of Practice and Procedure, and a recommended decision will be issued.

All persons (including individuals, corporations, associations, firms, partnerships, and public bodies) desiring to intervene in this proceeding are requested to notify the Secretary of the Board within fifteen (15) days from publication hereof, and should promptly file petitions for leave to intervene in accordance with said Rules of Practice and Procedure.

Dated: November 22, 1955.

The matters upon which significant agreements and determinations were reached are hereinafter summarized.

2. After some discussion on the record, followed by a conference among all counsel off the record, it was agreed and stipulated on the record that for the purposes of this proceeding the numbered paragraph 4 in the third ordering clause of the Commission's order dated October 19, 1955, released October 21, and which is as follows:

4. The effect of the new tariff schedules on competition in the field of private line teletypewriter service and channels.

has reference to and includes all private line telegraph services and channels furnished by both Western Union and Telephone Companies. It was also agreed by all counsel that the foregoing clarifying statement does not constitute an enlargement or change of the scope of the issues as stated in the Commission's order, and consequently that the issue or matter for investigation is thus sufficiently redefined and clarified without any necessity for further action by the Commission.

3. Bureau counsel read into the record a statement, and provided all parties with a copy thereof, outlining in more detail than is specified in the Commission's order the matters and subjects to be covered by the evidence which is to be sought in this proceeding. (The statement appears in the transcript at pages 17–21.) Telephone Companies agreed in general that they would cooperate to provide the most complete record possible for consideration by the Commission, and that evidence along the lines suggested in Bureau's statement would be offered to the extent that the information contemplated thereby reasonably can be made available; some types of requested information may not be susceptible of production from the records of Telephone Companies, and the preparation of some other requested information will require more time than is available prior to the scheduled hearing date of November 21, 1955. The hearing date was postponed by order made on the record as hereinafter noted. Moreover, counsel, for all parties will participate in informal conferences upon these and other matters in order to derive specific agreements, stipulations, and statements to be submitted for the record at the commencement of the hearing. Accordingly, no further definition of the issues in these respects was undertaken or achieved at the prehearing conference.

4. The prehearing conference was recessed for three hours at noontime in order that counsel for all parties might confer informally upon various matters that had arisen during the morning session of the formal conference. Upon reconvening certain agreements, in addition to those above set out, were stated on the record and concurred in by counsel for all parties; the agreements are:

a. The direct evidence for all parties will consist of oral testimony and written exhibits, but the witnesses may testify from previously prepared memoranda; no prepared written testimony will be previously exchanged among the parties or offered in direct evidence. Written exhibits to be offered in evidence will be notified to all other parties by copies thereof in advance of the hearing to the extent that such exhibits become available for prior exchange. Objections to exhibits offered at the hearing will not be ruled upon until cross-examination of th identifying witnesses has been completed.

b. Telephone Companies will proceed first at the hearing to offer in evidence the direct affirmative testimony and exhibits deemed to be responsive to the matters under inquiry. A recess in the hearing will then be ordered to allow other parties an opportunity to prepare for cross-examination; the duration of such recess will be determined in the light of the needs of the parties and in consideration of the mandate that this proceeding shall receive expedited consideration.

c. Cross-examination of Telephone Companies' witnesses shall be conducted first by AerInc., second by Western Union, third by Bureau. Cross-examination shall be completed before redirect examination. Further oral examinations shall proceed in the same sequences.

d. After examination of the witnesses offered by Telephone Companies, and after an appropriate recess period, AerInc., Western Union, and Bureau respectively will offer such testimony and exhibit evidence as they intend to present; cross-examination upon each party's direct evidence will be completed as it is offered and before presentation by the following party; appropriate recess periods for preparation of cross-examination will be allowed.

e. Objections to testimony or exhibits shall be explicitly stated with the reasons therefor and each objection so stated and considered will be ruled upon by statement made on the record.

f. Exhibits to be offered in evidence shall be identified by consecutive numbers for each party beginning respectively at: Number 1 for Telephone Companies; Number 101 for AerInc.;

[1] The associated Bell System telephone companies who are parties to this proceeding and who are represented as above stated are: Bell Telephone Company of Nevada, Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, The Cincinnati & Suburban Bell Telephone Company, Citizens Telephone Company, Inc., Diamond State Telephone Company, Illinois Bell Telephone Company, Indiana, Indiana Bell Telephone Company, Michigan Bell Telephone Company, Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company, New England Telephone Company, New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, New York Telephone Company, Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, The Ohio Bell Telephone Company, The Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Wisconsin Telephone Company, The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company, The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City, The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia, The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of West Virginia, and Southern New England Telephone Company.

Number 201 for Western Union; and Number 301 for Bureau.[3]

g. The hearing of evidence in this proceeding shall be commenced at 10:00 a. m. on Tuesday, December 6, 1955, at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

5. Discussions were had concerning the evidentiary showing to be made by the Telephone Companies upon certain construction and termination costs and charges; further clarification of these matters was left for development in the informal conferences among counsel to be conducted by them prior to the convening of the hearing. Prehearing discussions also touched upon the suspension of the tariffs under investigation which has been ordered to be effective until February 1, 1956; no action could be or was taken at the prehearing conference, this being a matter within the jurisdiction of the Commission.

6. It is expected that further informal conferences will develop agreements and stipulations to be submitted for the record at the hearing. Such agreements will include various documentary and other facts susceptible of stipulation in lieu of proof, and concise statements of matters of public record to be made a part of the evidentiary record through official notice. At the commencement of the hearing any party by informal statement on the record may request clarification or modification of the provisions of this order, and ruling thereon will then be made.

It is ordered, This 18th day of November 1955, that, unless modified as hereinabove permitted or pursuant to the Commission's rules, the foregoing statements and provisions to the extent of their applicability shall govern the conduct of the hearing in this proceeding.

[Docket No. G-6508]

TEXAS EASTERN TRANSMISSION CORP. AND TRUNKLINE GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

NOVEMBER 21, 1955.

Take notice that, on November 30, 1954, Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation (Texas Eastern), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Shreveport, Louisiana, and Trunkline Gas Company (Trunkline), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Houston Texas, filed a joint application, pursuant to section 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the exchange of natural gas between them, and the construction and operation of facilities required to effect the exchange.

Texas Eastern proposes to install, maintain and operate an 8-inch reversible meter setting on its transmission pipeline in Wharton County, Texas, at the point of interconnection where Trunkline's existing 24-inch transmission line crosses Texas Eastern's existing 16-inch Provident City line. The estimated maximum capacity of the proposed interconnection in Wharton County is 75,000 Mcf per day.

Trunkline proposes to construct, maintain and operate an 8-inch reversible meter setting on its existing 26-inch transmission line at the point of interconnection of that line with Texas Eastern's existing 24-inch transmission line in Williamson County, Illinois. The estimated maximum capacity of the proposed interconnection in Williamson County is approximately 75,000 Mcf per day from the facilities of Trunkline to Texas Eastern, and approximately 64,000 Mcf per day from Texas Eastern to Trunkline.

Any deliveries of gas at either of these two points of interconnection are to be returned in like quantities at the same point of interconnection at which the deliveries were received, within 60 days from the date of initial delivery. The proposed exchange will not affect the gas supply of Texas Eastern or Trunkline and deliveries are to be made only when they can be effected without impairment of Texas Eastern's or Trunkline's obligations to others.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on December 20, 1955, at 9:30 a. m., e. s. t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street, NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of section 1.30 (c) (1) or (c) (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before December 7, 1955. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Applicant's proposal would not require the construction of any new facilities.

CESSATION AS HOLDING COMPANY

NOVEMBER 21, 1955.

American Power & Light Company ("American") having filed an application with the Commission, pursuant to section 5 (d) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), requesting an order that it has ceased to be a holding company; and

The Commission finding that, pursuant to a certain plan of dissolution of American (File No. 54–207), which was approved by the Commission by order dated March 31, 1953 (Holding Company Act Release No. 11797), and was approved and ordered enforced by the United States District Court for the District of Maine by order dated May 15, 1953 (Civil Action No. 731), American was dissolved on July 22, 1953; and that the remaining assets of its estate, which consist principally of cash and United States Government obligations and which do not include any outstanding voting securities of a public utility or a holding company, are now here being administered by its Trustees in Dissolution named in said plan; and that by reason of the foregoing, American has ceased to be a holding company.

PART 722—COTTON

SUBPART—REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS FOR THE 1956 CROP OF UPLAND COTTON

Basis and purpose. The purpose of this amendment is to establish the county acreage allotments for the 1956 crop of upland cotton pursuant to section 344 (e) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended. Notice of the proposed establishment of such allotments was given on August 31, 1955 (20 F. R. 6387), pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), and in the regulations issued pursuant to said notice it was provided in § 722.716 (e) that that paragraph would be amended at a later date to include the county acreage allotment established for each county (20 F. R. 8250). Furthermore, farmers engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1955 will determine in a referendum to be held on December 13, 1955, whether marketing quotas will be in effect on the 1956 crop of upland cotton. In order that county acreage allotments may be apportioned to farms and notices of individual farm acreage allotments mailed, insofar as practicable, so as to be received by farmers prior to the referendum, as required by Section 362 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, it is essential that this amendment be made effective as soon as possible. Accordingly, it is hereby determined and found that compliance with the notice and public procedure thereon and the 30-day effective date requirements of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest, and the county acreage allotments contained herein shall be effective upon filing of this document with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

Section 722.716 (e) of the Regulations Pertaining to Acreage Allotments for the 1956 Crop of Upland Cotton (20 F. R. 8247) is amended to read as follows:

(e) County acreage allotment. The county acreage allotment shall be the sum of (1) the computed county acreage allotment determined under paragraph (b) of this section and (2) the acreages from the State acreage reserve which are added to the computed county acreage allotment under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraph (c) of this section. The county acreage allotment for each county is set out below. The amount of the acreage reserved by each county committee pursuant to § 722.717 (b) is available for inspection by any interested person at the office of the county committee. Also available for inspection at the office of the county committee are the data pertaining to the establishment of administrative areas in accordance with paragraph (f) of § 722.716.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Docket No. AO-184-A12]

PART 978—MILK IN NASHVILLE, TENN., MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING

§ 978.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon a proposed marketing agreement and certain proposed amendments to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Nashville, Tennessee marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held;

(b) Additional findings. It is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order, as amended, effective December 1, 1955. Such action is necessary in the public interest in order to reflect current marketing conditions and to insure the production of an adequate supply of milk for the Nashville marketing area. Under the present order, the supply-demand adjustment provision is temporarily inoperative. A finding was made in the decision issued by the Acting Secretary on November 16, 1955 (20 F. R. 8607) that the action contained in this order is necessary to reflect changing supply-demand conditions which are taking place in the Nashville market at the present time. Any delay beyond December 1, 1955 in the effective date of this order will tend to affect adversely the production of an adequate supply of milk for the Nashville marketing area in that the present accelerated rate of Class I sales in relation to production will not result in an appropriate price adjustment.

The changes effected by this order amending the order, as amended, do not require of persons affected substantial or extensive changes prior to the effective date. The provisions of the said order are well known to handlers, the public hearing having been held on September 22-23, 1955, the recommended decision having been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (20 F. R. 8336) on November 5, 1955 and the final decision having been executed by the Acting Secretary on November 16, 1955. Therefore, reasonable time, under the circumstances, has been afforded persons affected to prepare for its effective date and it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendment for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found that good cause exists for making this order amending the order, as amended, effective December 1, 1955 (Sec. 4 (c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order, amending the order, as amended) of more than 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by this order, amending the order, as amended, which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

1. The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said marketing agreement tend to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the Act;

2. This issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the Act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

3. The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who during the determined representative period (September, 1955) were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Nashville, Tennessee, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 978.51 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Class I milk price. The Class I milk price shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month, plus $1.40 during the months of September through February, and plus $1.10 during all other months, plus an additional 10 cents during the months through March 1956, plus or minus a supply-demand adjustment calculated for each month after March 1956 as follows:

(1) Divide the total hundredweight of producer milk of all fluid milk plants for the twelve-month period ending with the beginning of the preceding month, by the net hundredweight of Class I milk disposed of from all fluid milk plants during the same period and multiply by 100. The resulting figure rounded to the nearest whole percentage shall be known as the utilization ratio.

(2) For each percentage by which the utilization ratio calculated for the month pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph exceeds 130 subtract from or for each percentage by which it is less than 125 add to, the Class I price, 1 cent.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 23d day of November 1955, to be effective on and after the 1st day of December 1955.

[SEAL] EARL L. BUTZ,
Assistant Secretary.

PART 984—HANDLING OF WALNUTS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA, OREGON, AND WASHINGTON

BUDGET OF EXPENSES OF THE WALNUT CONTROL BOARD AND RATES OF ASSESSMENT FOR THE MARKETING YEAR BEGINNING AUGUST 1, 1955

Notice of proposed rule making with respect to the budget of expenses of the Walnut Control Board for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1955, and rates of assessment, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of October 28, 1955 (20 F. R. 8124), pursuant to the provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 105, as amended, and Order No. 84, as amended, regulating the handling of walnuts grown in California, Oregon, and Washington (20 F. R. 5387), effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.). In said notice opportunity was afforded interested persons to submit to the Department written data, views, or arguments for consideration prior to the issuance of the final rule. No such documents were received during the time specified in the notice.

Therefore, after consideration of all relevant matters, it is found and determined that the budget of expenses of the Walnut Control Board and the rates of assessment shall be as follows:

§ 984.307 Budget of expenses of the Walnut Control Board and rates of assessment for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1955—(a) Budget of expenses. Expenses in the amount of $112,000 are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Walnut Control Board for its maintenance and functioning, and for such purposes as the Secretary may, pursuant to the provisions of the amended agreement and order, determine to be appropriate for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1955.

(b) Rates of assessments. Each handler shall pay to the Control Board on demand from time to time 0.12 cent per pound of merchantable walnuts handled or certified for handling and 0.15 cent per pound of shelled walnuts handled or declared for handling by him during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1955.

It is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this document effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, instead of waiting 30 days after publication, for the reasons that (1) the regulation should become effective prior to or as soon as practicable after handling of the 1955 walnut crop begins, (2) the handling of such crop has begun, and (3) the regulation herein will require no special preparation on the part of handlers.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 23d day of November 1955, to become effective upon publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[SEAL] ROY W. LENNARTSON,
Deputy Administrator, Marketing Services.

In the Matter of Diamond Cap Company, Inc., a Corporation; and Crisfield Cap Company, a Corporation; and Louis Goldenberg and Harry Faerman, Individually and as Officers of Said Corporations

This proceeding was heard by Everett F. Haycraft, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission—which charged the corporate manufacturer and its officers with misbranding in violation of the Wool Products Labeling Act, through labeling as "100% Wool" caps which in fact contained a large percentage of reprocessed or reused wool, and through failing to stamp or tag other such wool products with the information required by the act—and an agreement between the parties providing for the entry of a consent order in accordance with § 3.25 of the Commission's rules of practice.

Upon this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist, which by the Commission's order of November 9, 1955, pursuant to § 3.21 of the rules of practice, became the "Decision of the Commission".

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Diamond Cap Company, Inc., a corporation; and respondent Crisfield Cap Company, a corporation; and respondents Louis Goldenberg and Harry Faerman, individually and as officers of said corporation, and respondents' representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with introduction or manufacture for introduction into commerce, or offering for sale, sale, transportation or distribution in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act and the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939, of caps or other "wool products" as such products are defined in and subject to the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939, which products contain, purport to contain, or in any way are represented as containing "wool," "reprocessed wool" or "reused wool," as those terms are defined in said Act, do forthwith cease and desist from misbranding such products by:

1. Falsely or deceptively stamping, tagging, labeling or otherwise identifying such products as to the character or amount of the constituent fibers included therein;

2. Failing to securely affix to or place on each such product a stamp, tag, label or other means of identification showing in a clear and conspicuous manner:

(a) The percentage of the total fiber weight of such wool products, exclusive of ornamentation not exceeding five percentum of said total fiber weight, or (1) wool, (2) reprocessed wool, (3) reused wool, (4) each fiber other than wool where said percentage by weight of such fiber is five percentum or more, and (5) the aggregate of all other fibers;

(b) The maximum percentage of the total weight of such wool products, of any non-fibrous loading, filling, or adulterating matter;

(c) The name or the registered identification number of the manufacturer of such wool products or of one or more persons engaged in introducing such wool product into commerce, or in the offering for sale, sale, transportation, distribution or delivery for shipment thereof in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939; and

Provided, That the foregoing provisions concerning misbranding shall not be construed to prohibit acts permitted by paragraphs (a) and (b) of section 3 of the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939, and Provided further, That nothing contained in this order shall be construed as limiting any applicable provisions of said Act or the Rules and Regulations promulgated thereunder.

By said "Decision of the Commission", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: November 9, 1955.

ROSEMAN ENTERPRISES CO., ETC.

Subpart—Advertising falsely or misleadingly: § 13.70 Fictitious or misleading guarantees; § 13.130 Manufacture or preparation; § 13.175 Quality of product or service. Subpart—Offering unfair, improper and deceptive inducements to purchase or deal: § 13.1980 Guarantee, in general.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719; as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Roseman Enterprises Company, etc., New York, N. Y., Docket 6358, November 10, 1955]

In the Matter of Edward Roseman, Arthur Roseman and Herman Roseman, Individuals and Copartners Trading as Roseman Enterprises Company, Dunhall Imports Company, Sorjine Continental Watch Company and Brooks Products Company

This proceeding was heard by James A. Purcell, hearing examiner, on the complaint of the Commission—which charged respondent individuals with advertising falsely that the "Dunhall" and "Pennant" watches which they sold to jobbers and dealers for resale to the purchasing public had "Jeweled Movement" and were "Guaranteed For One Year"—and an agreement between the parties providing for the entry of a consent order in accordance with § 3.25 of the Commission's rules of practice.

On this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist, which by the Commission's order of November 10, 1955, pursuant to § 3.21 of the rules of practice, became the "Decision of the Commission."

Order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents, Edward Roseman, Arthur Roseman and Herman Roseman, individually and as copartners trading under the firm names of Roseman Enterprises Company, Dunhall Imports Company, Sorjine Continental Watch Company and Brooks Products Company, or any other trade name or names, and their agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of watches in commerce as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Representing that a watch is a "jeweled" watch, or that it contains a jeweled movement, unless said watch contains at least 7 jewels, each of which serves a mechanical purpose as a frictional bearing.

2. Representing that watches offered for sale or sold by respondents are guaranteed unless and until the nature and extent of the guarantee and the manner in which the guarantor will perform thereunder are clearly and conspicuously disclosed.

By said "Decision of the Commission", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: November 10, 1955.

A draft of the proposed amendment was made part of the notice.

Interested parties participated by submitting in writing their views, arguments and other pertinent data, and these have been made a part of the record.

After due consideration of the proposed amendment of § 302.7 of the regulations under the Flammable Fabrics Act, together with all views, arguments and other data submitted, § 302.7 (a) (2) is hereby amended by striking out subsections (i) and (ii) thereof, and renumbering subsections (iii) and (iv) as (ii) and (iii), respectively, and by adding a new subsection (i). Section 302.7 (a) (3) is hereby amended by adding a new subsection (iii).

The amended subsections of § 302.7 will read as follows:

§ 302.7 Reasonable and representative tests under section 8 of the act. (a) • • •

(2) Plain surface textile fabrics weighing less than two ounces per square yard. (i) When, on the initial test of any plain surface textile fabric weighing less than two ounces per square yard, such fabric exhibits a burning time of 3.5 seconds or more, such test may suffice for any fabric of the same fiber composition, construction and finish type. This class of fabric shall be tested at least once at intervals of not more than three months thereafter while in production. If, after four consecutive interval production tests have been made, none of such test results show the flame spread to have been less than 4.5 seconds, no further tests of such class of fabric need be made.

(ii) When, on the initial test of any plain surface textile fabric weighing less than two ounces per square yard, none of the specimens ignite, such initial test may suffice for any fabric of the same fiber composition, construction and finish type.

(iii) When, on the initial test of any plain surface textile fabric weighing less than two ounces per square yard, such fabric ignites but the flame is extinguished before the stop cord is burned, such test may suffice for any fabric of the same fiber composition, construction and finish type. This class of fabric shall be tested at least once at intervals of not more than one year thereafter while in production.

(3) Certain raised fiber surface textile fabrics. (i) When a test of any raised fiber surface textile fabric which has a dense cut pile of uniform short length or looped yarns, does not exhibit a surface flash and does not ignite, such test shall suffice for any such fabric having a dense cut pile of the same length or the same looped yarns and of the same fiber composition, construction and finish type. Examples of the types of fabrics referred to are velvets, velveteens, velours, and corduroys.

(ii) One test of any raised fiber surface textile fabric, the raised fiber surface of which consists of not less than ninety percentum (90%) protein fiber, or one test of any fabric in a particular class of such fabrics, shall suffice for any such fabric or class of fabrics.

(iii) When, on the initial test of any raised surface textile fabric which has a surface composed of looped yarns, such fabric exhibits a burning time in excess of 12 seconds, such test may suffice for any such fabric having the same looped yarns and of the same fiber composition, construction and finish type. An example of the type of fabric referred to is "terry cloth".

Promulgated and made effective as of date of publication in FEDERAL REGISTER, inasmuch as amended Rule relieves restrictions with respect to testing certain fabrics.

Issued: November 23, 1955.

By direction of the Commission.

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

PART 3—STATEMENTS OF GENERAL POLICY OR INTERPRETATION

STERILIZATION OF DRUGS BY IRRADIATION

Under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (20 F. R. 1996), and pursuant to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (sec. 3, 60 Stat. 237, 238; 5 U. S. C. 1002), the following statement of interpretation is issued:

§ 3.45 Sterilization of drugs by irradiation. There is a current interest in the utilization of newly developed sources of radiation for the sterilization of drugs. Prior to the marketing of a drug sterilized by such means, it is necessary in the interest of protecting the public health to establish by adequate investigations that the irradiation treatment does not cause the drug to become unsafe or otherwise unsuitable for use. Accordingly, all drug products, including injections, ophthalmic solutions, surgical sutures, and surgical dressings sterilized by means of irradiation are regarded as new drugs within the meaning of section 201 (p) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. An effective new-drug application pursuant to section 505 of the act is therefore a prerequisite to interstate shipment of such articles, except as provided by section 505 (i).

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies secs. 201, 505, 52 Stat. 1042, 1052; 21 U. S. C. 321, 355)

Dated: November 22, 1955.

Acting Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF PHYGON

A petition was filed with the Food and Drug Administration requesting the establishment of tolerances for residues of Phygon (dichlone or 2,3-dichloro-1,4-naphthoquinone) in or on certain raw agricultural commodities.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purposes for which tolerances are being established.

After consideration of the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material which show that the tolerances established in this order will protect the public health, and by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g); 20 F. R. 759), the regulations for tolerances and exemptions from tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120; 20 F. R. 1473) are amended by adding the following new section:

§ 120.118 Tolerances for residues of Phygon (dichlone or 2,3-dichloro-1,4-naphthoquinone). A tolerance of 3 parts per million is established for residues of Phygon (dichlone or 2,3-dichloro-1,4-naphthoquinone) in or on each of the following raw agricultural commodities: Celery, tomatoes.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 164—CERTIFICATION OF BATCHES OF DRUGS COMPOSED WHOLLY OR PARTLY OF INSULIN

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 506, 55 Stat. 851; 21 U. S. C. 356), and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (20 F. R. 1996), the regulations for the certification of batches of drugs composed wholly or partly of insulin (21 CFR, 1954 Supp., Part 144) are revoked, and are revised and reissued as Part 164, as set forth below. This revision is necessary to delete from these regulations the standards and tests and methods of assay for NPH insulin, which appear in the monograph for Isophane Insulin Injection in the latest revision of the United States Pharmacopeia and because of the contemplated recodification and renumbering of the parts in Chapter I of Title 21.

the Secretary may immediately suspend service to such person under the regulations in this part, and may continue such suspension unless and until such person shows adequate cause why such suspension should be terminated.

§ 164.10 Fees. (a) (1) Fees for the services rendered under the regulations in this part shall be such as are necessary to provide, equip, and maintain an adequate certification service.

(2) Whenever in the judgment of the Commissioner the ratio between fees collected (which are based upon experience and the best estimate of costs and the best estimate of earnings) and the costs of providing the service during an elapsed period of time, in the light of all circumstances and contingencies, warrants a refund from the fund collected during such period, he shall make ratable refunds to those persons to whom the services were rendered and charged, except for those services described under paragraph (b) (2) (ii), (3) (ii), and (5) of this section.

(b) The fees for the services rendered with respect to the samples submitted pursuant to § 164.2 (d) shall be:

(1) For each master lot or mixture of two or more master lots or parts thereof, as follows:

(i) $50 if the master lot or mixture has not been previously approved by the Commissioner;

(ii) $25 if the master lot or mixture has been previously approved by the Commissioner in accordance with § 164.2 (j).

(2) For each trial dilution, as follows:

(i) $50 if the results of an assay for potency of a trial dilution made by the laboratory referred to in § 164.3 (c) are submitted or are to be submitted;

(ii) The cost of the services rendered if the results referred to in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph are not submitted and are not to be submitted.

(3) For each trial mixture of protamine zinc insulin, as follows:

(i) $50 if the results of tests for biological reactions made by the laboratory referred to in § 164.3 (c) are submitted or are to be submitted;

(ii) The cost of the services rendered if the results referred to in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph are not submitted and are not to be submitted.

(4) $50 for each lot of protamine.

(5) The cost of the services rendered for each trial mixture of globin zinc insulin, isophane insulin, or lente insulin.

(6) $50 for each lot of globin hydrochloride.

(7) $10 for each package in the sample of the finished batch.

Except as otherwise provided by paragraph (c) of this section, each request for certification submitted, or the initial sample or samples submitted in connection therewith pursuant to § 164.2 (d), whichever is sent first to the Commissioner, shall be accompanied by such fees as are prescribed in specific amounts for the samples submitted. When the fee is the cost of the services rendered, each sample referred to in subparagraph (2) (ii) of this paragraph shall be accompanied by an advance deposit of $1,200; each sample referred to in subparagraphs (3) (ii) and (5) of this paragraph shall be accompanied by an advance deposit of $500; and thereafter such additional advance deposits shall be made as the Commissioner estimates may be necessary to prevent arrears in the payment of such fee.

(c) A person requiring continuing certification services may maintain an advance deposit of the estimated costs of such services for a period of 2 months or more. Such deposits shall be debited with fees for services rendered, but shall not be debited for any fee the amount of which is not definitely specified in these regulations unless the depositor has previously requested the performance of the services to be covered by such fee. A monthly statement for each such advance deposit shall be rendered.

(d) The unearned portion of any advance deposit made pursuant to paragraph (b) or (c) of this section shall be refunded to the depositor upon his application.

(e) All advance deposits required by the regulations in this part shall be paid by money order, bank draft, or certified check drawn to the order of the Treasurer of the United States, collectible at par at Washington, D. C. All deposits shall be forwarded to the Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington 25, D. C., whereupon after making appropriate record thereof they will be transmitted to the Chief Disbursing Officer, Division of Disbursement, Treasury Department, for deposit to the special account "Certification and Inspection Services, Food and Drug Administration."

§ 164.11 Standards of quality and purity for protamine. When protamine is dried to constant weight at 100° C., its total nitrogen content is not less than 22.5 percent and not more than 25.5 percent, and its sulfate content, calculated as SO_4, is not less than 16 percent and not more than 19 percent.

§ 164.12 Standards of quality and purity for globin hydrochloride. The ash content of globin hydrochloride is not more than 0.3 percent; its nitrogen content, calculated to moisture, ash, and hydrochloric acid free basis, is not less than 16.0 percent and not more than 17.5 percent.

§ 164.13 Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity for lente insulin. Lente insulin is a sterile suspension, in a buffered water medium, of insulin modified by the addition of zinc chloride. Of the insulin contained in the preparation not more than 1 U. S. P. Unit of insulin per milliliter is in solution, approximately 70 percent is crystalline, and the remainder is amorphous. Zinc-insulin crystals are used in such quantity that each milliliter of the preparation, when the precipitate therein is brought into uniform suspension, contains either 40 or 80 U. S. P. Units of insulin. The preparation contains, for each 100 U. S. P. Units of insulin, not less than 0.20 milligram and not more than 0.25 milligram zinc (of which not less than 40 percent nor more than 65 percent is in the supernatant liquid), and not more than 0.65 milligram nitrogen. The preparation also contains not less than 0.15 percent and not more than 0.17 percent (w/v) sodium acetate, not less than 0.65 percent and not more than 0.75 percent (w/v) sodium chloride, and not less than 0.09 percent and not more than 0.11 percent (w/v) methyl-p-hydroxybenzoate. The pH of the finished product is not less than 7.1 nor more than 7.5.

§ 164.14 Tests and methods of assay. The following tests and methods of assay are prescribed for the purposes of the regulations in this part. (All reagents specified in this section shall be of U. S. P. quality or better.)

(a) Tests and methods of assay for insulin U. S. P., protamine zinc insulin, globin zinc insulin, and isophane insulin. The tests and methods of assay for insulin U. S. P., protamine zinc insulin, globin zinc insulin, and isophane insulin shall be those set forth therefor in the official United States Pharmacopeia, including supplements thereto.

(b) Identification of lente insulin. Acidify lente insulin to a pH between 2.5 and 3.5. The precipitate dissolves, giving a clear, colorless liquid which conforms to the requirements of the identification test for insulin U. S. P. in the official United States Pharmacopeia, including supplements thereto. Add a few drops of ferric chloride test solution to lente insulin. A reddish-brown color develops that is destroyed by the addition of a mineral acid.

(c) Isophane ratio. The isophane ratio shall be expressed as milligrams of protamine per 100 U. S. P. Units of Insulin.

(1) Reagents—(i) The stock buffer solution. Dissolve in water the quantities of metacresol, phenol, glycerin, and disodium phosphate required to make 10 liters of the batch of isophane insulin and dilute to 1,000 milliliters.

(ii) The insulin solution. From a sample of the zinc-insulin crystals to be used in making the batch weigh a quantity which contains 10,000 U. S. P. Units of insulin. Dissolve the crystals in 15 milliliters of 0.1 percent hydrochloric acid. The resulting solution must be clear. Add it to 25 milliliters of the stock buffer solution (subdivision (i) of this subparagraph). Dilute with water to approximately 200 milliliters. Adjust the pH to 7.2 using hydrochloric acid or sodium hydroxide. The solution must be clear at this stage. If sodium chloride is to be used in preparing the batch add 25 milliliters of 4.2 percent (w/v) sodium chloride solution. Dilute to 250 milliliters with water. The pH must be between 7.1 and 7.4.

(iii) The protamine solution. Weigh 500 milligrams of the protamine to be used in making the batch and dissolve in 10 milliliters of the stock buffer solution (subdivision (i) of this subparagraph). If sodium chloride is to be used in preparing the batch add 10 milliliters of 4.2 percent (w/v) sodium chloride solution. Dilute with water to approximately 80 milliliters. Adjust the pH to 7.2 using hydrochloric acid or sodium hydroxide. Dilute with water to 100 milliliters. The pH must be between 7.2 and 7.4, and the solution must be clear.

(2) Conduct of the test. Measure six 25-milliliter samples of the insulin solution (subparagraph (1) (ii) of this paragraph) into six tubes. To the first tube add 0.60 milliliter of the protamine solution (subparagraph (1) (iii) of this paragraph), to the second add 0.72 milliliter, to the third add 0.84 milliliter, to the fourth add 0.96 milliliter, to the fifth add 1.08 milliliters, and to the sixth add 1.20 milliliters. Mix the contents of each tube and let stand for at least 30 minutes. Centrifuge. (Do not filter.) From each supernatant fluid remove two 10-milliliter samples, thus creating two series of samples. To each of one series add 1 milliliter of the insulin solution (subparagraph (1) (ii) of this paragraph). To each of the other series add 1 milliliter of the protamine solution (subparagraph (1) (iii) of this paragraph). Mix each sample and let stand 10 minutes. Measure the turbidity of each sample by means of a photometer or nephelometer. Plot the readings of the two series of samples, using the amount of protamine originally added in milligrams per 100 U. S. P. Units of insulin as abscissas, and the photometer or nephelometer readings as ordinates. The abscissa of the intersection of the two curves indicates the isophane ratio of the protamine to the zinc-insulin crystals. In order to increase the precision of the test, when the approximate isophane ratio is known, the quantities of protamine solution to be added to the six tubes may be so chosen that the range (0.60 to 1.20 milliliters) is reduced, and the approximate isophane ratio is near the middle of the range.

The isophane ratio found is not more than 100 percent nor less than 90 percent of the ratio of protamine to insulin used in the trial mixture referred to in § 164.2 (d) (7).

(d) Proportion of crystalline component in lente insulin. The proportion of crystalline component shall be expressed as percent of the total nitrogen of the preparation which is present in the crystalline component.

(1) Reagent. Dissolve in water 8.15 grams of crystalline sodium acetate and 42 grams of sodium chloride. Add 68 milliliters of tenth-normal hydrochloric acid, 150 milliliters of acetone, and sufficient water to make 500 milliliters.

(2) Conduct of test. Centrifuge 15 milliliters of lente insulin and carefully pour off the supernatant liquid. Resuspend the solid phase in 5 milliliters of water and 10 milliliters of the wash reagent (subparagraph (1) of this paragraph) and again centrifuge. Discard the supernatant liquid and repeat the washing with the same quantities of water and wash reagent and again discard the supernatant liquid. Dissolve the crystalline residue in sufficient dilute hydrochloric acid to make the volume 15 milliliters. Determine the nitrogen content of this solution by the method specified in paragraph (h) of this section. The nitrogen found must be not less than 55 percent nor more than 67 percent of the total nitrogen of the preparation.

(e) Sterility of lente insulin. Use the method described in the official United States Pharmacopeia, including supplements thereto, for insulin U. S. P.

(f) Chloride in globin hydrochloride—(1) Conduct of the test. Weigh accurately approximately 0.5 gram of globin hydrochloride into a small beaker and dissolve in 10-15 milliliters of distilled water. Add 10 milliliters of tenth-normal silver nitrate, 5 milliliters of nitric acid, and 5 milliliters of a saturated solution of potassium permanganate. Stir and place on a steam bath for approximately 1 hour. If any brown color remains, stir again, rinse the sides of the beaker with distilled water and place on the steam bath until the brown color disappears. Transfer quantitatively to a 50-milliliter volumetric flask and fill the flask to the mark with distilled water. Mix and filter through a dry filter paper into a dry vessel. Transfer exactly 40 milliliters of the filtrate to a flask, add 2 milliliters of ferric ammonium sulfate test solution and titrate with tenth-normal ammonium thiocyanate. To obtain the percent chloride as HCl, subtract 1.25 times the number of milliliters of ammonium thiocyanate used from 10; multiply this difference by 0.365 and divide by the weight of the sample in grams.

(2) Reagents. The reagents used are those described in the official United States Pharmacopeia, including supplements thereto.

(g) Sulfate in protamine—(1) Conduct of the test. Weigh accurately about 250 milligrams of protamine and dissolve it in about 100 milliliters of approximately tenth-normal hydrochloric acid. Heat to boiling and add 5 milliliters of barium chloride test solution. Digest on a steam bath for 1 hour; allow to cool. Filter through an ignited and weighed Gooch crucible; wash free of chlorides. Dry, ignite, and weigh. The weight of barium sulfate thus obtained multiplied by 41.15 and divided by the weight of sample is the percent sulfate (SO_4) in the sample. Calculate the results to a moisture-free basis.

(2) Reagents. The reagents used are those described in the official United States Pharmacopeia, including supplements thereto.

(h) Nitrogen. Determine total nitrogen by the method described in the official United States Pharmacopeia, including supplements thereto, for insulin U. S. P.

(i) Zinc in insulin-containing solutions or suspensions. Use the method described in the official United States Pharmacopeia, including supplements thereto, for insulin U. S. P.

(j) Zinc in insulin-containing solids. Dissolve 10 to 20 milligrams, accurately weighed, of insulin-containing solids in 5 to 10 milliliters of distilled water containing 1 drop of five-normal hydrochloric acid, and proceed as directed in the official United States Pharmacopeia, including supplements thereto, under the test for zinc in insulin U. S. P.

This order, which provides for the deletion of the standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity of NPH insulin that appear in the revision of the United States Pharmacopeia to become official on December 15, 1955, and thus are unnecessary in these regulations, and for a revocation of Part 144 and reissuance of these regulations in their entirety under Part 164, shall become effective on December 15, 1955, the date on which the Fifteenth Revision of the United States Pharmacopeia becomes official.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with members of the affected industry and is promulgated for their convenience.

Dated: November 21, 1955.

[SEAL] JOHN L. HARVEY,
Acting Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

The proposed amendments are as follows:

1. Delete the definition of "Official Identification" in § 70.1.

2. Delete the definition of "State Supervisor" in § 70.1 Definitions, and substitute in lieu thereof the following: "State supervisor or Federal-State supervisor means any authorized and designated individual who is in charge of the poultry grading service or the poultry inspection service in a State. A State supervisor or a Federal-State supervisor of poultry inspection service shall be a veterinarian and a Federal employee."

3. Add new § 70.2 to read as follows:

(e) "Official device" means a stamping appliance, branding device, stencil, printed label, or any other mechanically or manually operated tool that is approved by the Administrator for the purpose of applying any official mark or other identification to any product or the packaging material thereof.

4. Delete the first sentence of § 70.14 Dressed poultry; eligibility.

5. Change paragraph (a) of § 70.60 Denial of service, to read as follows:

(a) The acts or practices set forth in §§ 70.61 to 70.66 and 70.2 or the causing thereof, may be deemed sufficient cause for the debarment, by the Administrator, of any person, including any agents, officers, subsidiaries, or affiliates of such person from any or all benefits of the act for a specified period after notice and opportunity for hearing has been accorded him: • • •

8. Delete §§ 70.391 through 70.404 and insert in lieu thereof the following renumbered sections:

§ 70.391 Supervision. All inspection service which is provided under this part shall be technically and administratively supervised by the Agricultural Marketing Service (hereinafter referred to as AMS) through its national and area supervisory organization. It shall be the responsibility of AMS to determine that the services rendered pursuant to any cooperative agreement under the regulations are conducted in a satisfactory manner, that the actual postmortem inspection of poultry is adequate, and that uniform procedures and policies are followed in all plants in accordance with the requirements of the regulations. Inspection service furnished on a Federal-State basis shall be carried on either under the direct supervision of a Federally-employed Circuit Supervisor (hereinafter referred to as Alternative I) or under the direct supervision of a Federally-employed State Supervisor (hereinafter referred to as Alternative II). In either case, such supervisor shall be immediately responsible for the activities within the State. However, any supervisory official of AMS of a higher administrative level shall have the authority to observe, independently of or in conjunction with the Federal-State supervisor, any particular station or the official activities of any particular inspector at any time he deems it advisable; and shall have the authority to supervise such activities as may be desirable and necessary.

CONDITIONS

§ 70.395 Regulations. The regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture governing the grading and inspection of poultry and edible products thereof and instructions of the Administrator governing the inspection of products shall apply to both Federal-State inspection service and to Federal inspection service. AMS shall assume the responsibility for developing the regulations and any instructions issued pursuant thereto and for the supervision of inspection work carried on under the service.

§ 70.396 Duties of the Federal-State Supervisor. The Federal-State supervisor of inspection service shall be responsible for the supervision and proper conduct of inspection service within the State or States to which he is assigned. He may be assigned to supervise inspection service in a single State or in two or more adjoining States providing this is agreed to by AMS and the cooperating agencies in such States. He shall examine each prospective State inspector and recommend acceptable applicants for a license. Such recommendation shall be in writing and accompanied by a statement of the qualifications of the applicant. He shall be responsible for making surveys of plants applying for service within the State. The assignment of State employed inspectors to plants shall be mutually agreeable to the State agency and AMS. Insofar as practicable inspectors will not be assigned to plants where they have been previously employed.

§ 70.397 Employment and licensing of State inspectors. (a) The cooperating State agency shall assume responsibility for recruitment and employment of State inspectors for plants under the Federal-State service, and the salaries of such inspectors shall be paid by the State. Such inspectors may be employed only when licensed by AMS, and it shall be understood that AMS shall have the authority to withdraw such license at any time (and thus terminate the services of any such inspector) in accordance with the provisions of this part. The licensed State inspector shall not, while a licensed inspector, accept employment, money or remuneration of any kind from the company to which assigned.

(b) Each State inspector at the time he begins service as an inspector shall complete a period of training under the immediate supervision of a Federally employed training supervisor. The license issued to such inspector shall be a limited license authorizing him to perform inspection work only under the supervision of the inspector-in-charge of the station to which he is assigned. A license authorizing the State inspector to serve as inspector-in-charge of a station may be issued when it has been determined by the officer-in-charge of the poultry inspection service of AMS that the inspector is qualified for such position.

§ 70.398 Duties of State-employed inspectors. The duties of the State-employed inspectors shall be the same as the duties of Federally-employed inspectors. Inspectors shall make proper, accurate, and adequate post-mortem examinations of poultry carcasses and shall thoroughly familiarize themselves with and adhere to the inspection procedures and the applicable provisions of the Federal regulations governing inspection service.

§ 70.399 Replacement of Federal inspectors. When Federal-State inspection service replaces Federal inspection service in a State the replacement of Federal inspectors by State inspectors shall not be carried out until satisfactory transfers of the Federal inspectors to plants out of the State can be accomplished by AMS.

§ 70.400 Collection of fees. Through designated respresentatives, the State Agency shall collect all fees and charges for services rendered under cooperative agreements, except to branches of the Federal Government, and will establish a special fund into which these fees and charges will be deposited. Any person or firm desiring Federal-State inspection service shall make application therefor to the State Agency. The application shall set forth the conditions under which service is to be performed. Such applications shall be approved or concurred in by AMS.

§ 70.401 Reimbursement of AMS by State cooperating agency. The State Agency shall reimburse AMS from fees collected or from State appropriations, or both, for the following:

(a) An amount equal to (1) the salaries of any Federally employed inspectors assigned to plants under the Federal-State inspection service, plus an amount to cover travel costs, annual leave accrued, and sick leave earned and taken while such Federally employed inspectors are assigned to plants in the State; (2) an amount to cover travel costs incurred by AMS with respect to training activities performed by any Federal training supervisors in the State; and (3) an amount calculated upon the amounts specified in (1) and (2) of this paragraph (a) to cover administrative costs incurred by AMS with respect to Federal employees while they are assigned in the State.

(b) An amount equal to the actual amounts reimbursed to the Agricultural Research Service by AMS, plus fifteen (15) percent of such amounts to cover administrative costs of AMS when inspectors of the Agricultural Research Service are employed in any plant, performing the inspection of canning or other processing of poultry food products.

(c) An amount equal to fifteen (15) percent of the salaries and other expenses of inspectors employed by the State Agency, to cover administrative costs of AMS when such inspectors are employed in any plant, performing the inspection of canning or other processing of poultry food products.

(d) As compensation toward supervisory and administrative costs of AMS as well as toward costs incurred for supplies, equipment, certificates, report forms, and other materials furnished by AMS as follows:

(1) Where Alternative I, referred to in § 70.391 is adopted, an amount equal to thirty-five (35) cents per thousand pounds of eviscerated poultry processed in each official plant operating under Federal-State inspection service, plus one hundred and twenty-five ($125) dollars, for the combined initial and final survey made of each plant in the State by AMS pursuant to § 70.44 of the regulations. (The request for such survey will be made by the State Agency to AMS upon receipt by the State Agency, of an application for inspection service.)

(2) Where Alternative II, referred to in § 70.391 is adopted, an amount equal to (i) the salary of the Federally employed State Supervisor, plus an amount to cover travel costs, annual leave accrued, and sick leave earned and taken while such State Supervisor is employed in the State, and (ii) an amount equal to twenty (20) cents per thousand pounds of eviscerated poultry processed in each official plant operating under Federal-State inspection service to cover administrative and supervisory costs of AMS, above the State level.

C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held in the Assembly Room, second floor, Woolfolk State Office Building, Jackson, Mississippi, beginning at 10:00 a. m. local time, December 15, 1955.

Subjects and issues involved in the hearing. The public hearing is for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to the proposed amendments hereinafter set forth or appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement heretofore approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Central Mississippi marketing area (7 CFR Part 987 et seq.). This hearing also is for the purpose of receiving evidence as to the economic and marketing conditions relating to the handling of milk for the several other counties in the State of Mississippi hereinafter named, and to the alternative possibilities of expanding the present Central Mississippi marketing area to regulate the handling of milk in the additional counties, or of issuing one or more separate orders to regulate the handling of milk in all or part of these counties, with provisions the same as those in Federal Order No. 87, as amended, and as further proposed herein to be amended, with appropriate modifications. The proposed marketing agreement and order provisions set forth below and the proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture. At the hearing, evidence will be received with respect to all aspects of the marketing conditions which are dealt with by the proposals and any appropriate modifications thereof.

The hearing on the marketing agreement and order proposals and amendments is to determine whether (1) the handling of milk in the area proposed to be regulated is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce, or directly burdens, obstructs or affects interstate or foreign commerce, (2) the amendment of the present order or the issuance of one or more additional marketing agreements and orders regulating the handling of milk in the proposed area are justified, and (3) the provisions specified in the proposals or some other provisions appropriate to the terms of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act, as amended, will best tend to effectuate the declared policy of such act.

8. Add a new § 987.21 as follows:

§ 987.21 Reserve supply credit. The hundredweight of reserve credit which may be assigned to approved milk transferred to a pool plant shall be an amount calculated for each month as follows: Deduct from the total hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat distributed from the transferee plant as Class I milk on routes to retail or wholesale outlets (including plant stores, but not including pool plants or nonpool plants) an amount calculated by multiplying the hundredweight of approved milk at such plant by 0.90. Any plus figure resulting from this calculation shall be known as reserve supply credit and shall be assigned pro rata to Class I approved milk received from supply plants: Provided, That if the operator of the transferee-plant notifies the market administrator in writing on or before the 7th day after the end of the month of an assignment to Class I approved milk received from supply plants, other than that specified in this section, such other assignment shall be allowed.

14. Amend § 987.51 as follows:

(a) The handler shall, with respect to his total receipts of skim milk and butterfat make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

(b) If the price which such handler is required to pay under the other Federal order to which he is subject, for skim milk and butterfat which would be classified as Class I milk under this subpart is less than the price provided by this subpart, such handler shall pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund (with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I milk within the marketing area) an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk or butterfat as computed pursuant to this subpart and its value as determined pursuant to the other order to which he is subject.

The base pounds determined in this manner shall be known as the base for such cooperative association.

19. Delete § 987.81 and substitute therefor the following:

TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

NOTICE OF FILING OF PETITION FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF TOXAPHENE

Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (1), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (1)), the following notice is issued:

A petition has been filed by Hercules Powder Company, Wilmington 99, Delaware, proposing the establishment of a tolerance of 7 parts per million for residues of toxaphene (chlorinated camphene containing 67%-69% chlorine) in or on the following raw agricultural commodities: Cranberries, plums, prunes, beets, turnips, rutabagas, sugar beets, horseradish, parsnips, collards, kale, mustard greens, spinach, Swiss chard, peppers, pimentos, cowpeas, oats, rye, barley, wheat, rice, sorghum, grain, buckwheat, pecans, walnuts, hazelnuts, hickory nuts, almonds, meat, and a tolerance of 60 parts per million in or on the following raw agricultural commodities: Clovers, alfalfa, soybean hay, peanut hay, lespedeza, cowpea hay, pasture and range grass, timothy, grass hay, corn forage, sorghum forage, sugarcane.

The analytical method proposed in the petition for determining residues of toxaphene is a modification of the method for DDT appearing on page 406, 8th Edition, Official Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists, in which organic chloride is determined and calculated to toxaphene by application of a suitable factor.

A confirmatory method is reported in "Organic chlorine determinations as a measure of insecticide residues in agricultural products," Advances in Chemistry Series, Vol. I, page 271 (1950).

The infrared absorption spectrum of toxaphene in animal fat is reported in "Infrared Absorption Spectrum of Toxaphene," Analytical Chemistry, Vol. 24, page 1197, July, 1952.

The Food and Drug Administration advised the petitioner that the petition is considered deficient. In accordance with § 120.7 (d) of General Regulations for Setting Tolerances and Granting Exemptions from Tolerances, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of February 4, 1955 (20 F. R. 759), the petitioner requested that it be filed.

Dated: November 23, 1955.

JOHN L. HARVEY,
Acting Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VIII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Sugar), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter G—Determination of Proportionate Shares

[Sugar Determination 850.30, Amdt. 1]

1956 CROP

Pursuant to the provisions of section 302 of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended, paragraphs (h), paragraph (i) (1) and (k) of the Determination of Proportionate Shares for the Domestic Beet Sugar Producing Area—1956 Crop (§ 850.30), issued September 21, 1955 (20 F. R. 7159) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(h) Subdivision of State acreage allocation. Before establishing individual farm proportionate shares, the State Committee may subdivide the State acreage allocation into allotments for areas within the State, such as an area served by a beet sugar company, a county, or a group of counties. In making any such subdivision, appropriate weightings, approved by the Director, shall be given to the past production of sugar beets and the ability to produce sugar beets. "Past production" shall be measured by the average planted acreage of the area for not less than three crop years during the period 1950 through 1954, except that if the State Committee determines that the period 1950 through 1954 is not representative for the area, a longer period may be used upon prior approval of the Director. "Ability" shall be measured by the area's largest planted acreage during any of the crop years used to measure "past production". The measurement of "past production" and "ability" as heretofore provided in this paragraph may be modified by the use of the 1955-crop planted acreage, the planted acreage in any one or more of the years utilized in such measurement of "past production" and "ability", or a combination of the planted acreages in any of such years. Subject to the provisions of paragraph (i) (4) of this section, unused acreage may be reallotted by the State Committee among the aforementioned areas within the State. If the State acreage allocation is not subdivided, proportionate shares will be established directly from such allocation.

(i) Establishment of individual proportionate shares—(1) Old producers. In establishing individual farm proportionate shares for old producers from area allotments or from the State allocation, the State Committee shall consider the factors of past production of sugar beets and ability to produce sugar beets. These factors shall be measured by applying a formula to the record of production of sugar beets on the farm during not less than three crop years in the period 1950 through 1954, except that if the State Committee determines that the period 1950 through 1954 is not representative for the area, a longer period may be used upon prior approval of the Director.. The measurement of "past production" and "ability" as heretofore provided in this subparagraph may be modified by the use of 1955-crop planted acreage. However, if the farm operator is a tenant in an area where sugar beet production is organized around tenant-operators rather than around units of land, production may be measured by the personal sugar beet production record of the farm operator within such area during such selected years or the State Committee may use a combination of farm and such personal production records. In case of death or incapacity of a tenant, his personal sugar beet production record shall be credited to the administrator or executor of his estate or to a member of his family, if in the year of such death or incapacity, or the following year, such administrator, executor, or family member continues as a tenant the customary sugar beet operations of the deceased or incapacitated tenant. The acreages resulting from the application of such formula for individual farms (farm bases) shall be adjusted pro rata by the percentage relationship between the total acreage to be allotted (area allotment less the set-asides made pursuant to paragraph (g) of this section and the initial proportionate shares of second-year producers established in accordance with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph) and the total acreage resulting from the use of the formula. The resulting acreage for each such farm (initial proportionate share), as well as the initial proportionate share of each second-year producer, shall then be adjusted by the State Committee to the extent determined by it to be necessary to establish a proportionate share for the farm which is fair and equitable as compared with proportionate shares for all other farms in the area, by taking into consideration availability and suitability of land, area of available fields, availability of irrigation water (where irrigation is used), adequacy of drainage, availability of production and marketing facilities and the production experience of the operator.

• • • • •

(k) Appeals. A farm operator who believes that the proportionate share established for his farm pursuant to this section is inequitable, may file a written appeal for reconsideration of such proportionate share at the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county office, not later than the date established therefor by the State Committee. The appeal shall be accompanied by a statement of facts constituting the basis for such appeal. The appeal shall be reviewed in such county office and forwarded with recommendations to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Office. The appeal shall be reviewed and acted upon by the State Committee, or in lieu thereof, by a sugar beet appeals committee to be designated by the State Committee and to be composed of three members, including the State Administrative Officer. Each of the two other members shall be a State committeeman or an employee of the ASC State Office. Any increase in the proportionate share approved by reason of the appeal shall be within the acreage set aside for appeals pursuant to paragraph (g) of this section and any other acreage remaining unused within the State allocation. The operator shall be notified in writing as soon as possible regarding the decision in the case. If the farm operator is dissatisfied with the decision in his case, he may appeal in writing to the Director, whose decision shall be final. In acting upon the appeal, the State Committee, the Sugar Beet Appeals Committee, or the Director shall consider only such matters as under the provisions of this determination are required or permitted to be considered by the State Committee in the establishment of the farm proportionate share to be reviewed.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

The 1956-crop State allocations established in S. D. 850.30, as issued September 21, 1955, were based on 1955-crop allocations, with relatively small modifications reflecting underplantings of the 1955 crop in certain States. However, the provisions of the determination do not authorize ASC State Committees to make use of 1955-crop acreages in subdividing State allocations into proportionate share area allotments or in establishing individual farm shares from area allotments. In certain States, the use of 1955-crop acreages might result in more equitable allotments and shares. This amendment restates paragraph (h) and paragraph (i) (1) to include provision for the limited use of 1955-crop acreages at both area and farm levels and it also provides more details regarding the measurement of "past production" and "ability" to produce sugar beets in reference to the establishment of area allotments.

Under the determination as originally issued, State Committees were required to act on appeals. State Committees customarily meet but once a month. Because appeals must be acted upon promptly, to permit increases in plantings where shares are increased, paragraph (k) has been changed to authorize the State Committee to designate State Office personnel to act on appeals. The amended provision will thus facilitate action on appeals without special meetings of the State Committee.

Under these circumstances, I hereby find and conclude that the aforestated amendment will effectuate the applicable provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended.

In the Matter of Denning-Golden Furs, Inc., a Corporation, Denning, Inc., a Corporation, Irving Golden, Individually and as President of Said Corporations, and Bernard Golden, an Individual

This proceeding was heard by John Lewis, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission — which charged respondent retail fur dealers with violating the Federal Trade Commission Act by conducting spurious liquidation sales and in connection therewith advertising fictitious prices as the former value of furs on sale and sale prices as affording 40 percent to 80 percent savings off regular prices; and violating the Fur Products Labeling Act through failing to disclose information concerning their furs and to keep records as required by the act, and through false invoicing—and an agreement between the parties providing for the entry of a consent order in accordance with § 3.25 of the Commission's rules of practice.

Upon this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist, which by the Commission's order of November 10, 1955, became, pursuant to § 3.21 of the rules of practice, the "Decision of the Commission."

5. Represents that a sales price enables purchasers of fur products to effectuate any savings in excess of the difference between the said price and the price at which comparable products were sold by respondents during the time specified or, if no time is specified, in excess of the difference between said price and the current price at which comparable products are sold.

6. Represents that an amount set forth, relating or referring to fur products, is the value of the usual price at which said fur products had been customarily sold by respondents in the recent regular course of their business, contrary to the fact.

7. Makes pricing claims or representations of the type referred to in paragraph B (5) and (6) above, unless there is maintained by respondents full and adequate records disclosing the facts upon which such claims or representations are based as required by Rule 44 (e) of the rules and regulations:

It is further ordered, That Denning-Golden Furs, Inc., a corporation, and its officers; Denning, Inc., a corporation, and its officers; Irving Golden, individually, and as officer of said corporations; and Bernard Golden, individually; and respondents' representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution of fur garments in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do further cease and desist from making, directly or by implication, any of the representations prohibited by paragraph B (4) through (6), inclusive, of this order.

By said "Decision of the Commission", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: November 10, 1955.

By the Commission.

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T. D. 53959]

PART 24—CUSTOMS FINANCIAL OR ACCOUNTING PROCEDURE

CHECKS RECEIVABLE FOR DUTIES

Section 24.1 (b) now contains a provision that an uncertified check which can be cashed without expense to the Government shall be accepted by the collector of customs in payment of duties and other charges if drawn and tendered by a business or other organization, or by an individual, "who has on file with the collector of customs a customs entry bond or other bond to secure the payment of such duties or other charges." It is not intended that this provision be interpreted as requiring that the drawer of the check and the principal on the bond shall necessarily be the same person or organization, and it is deemed desirable to clarify the regulation on this point.

The provision of the regulation for accepting uncertified checks in the absence of bonds is believed to be unduly restrictive in that it provides for the use of "all available credit data which can be obtained without cost to the Government."

In order to clarify the provision relating to bonds and to remove the undue restriction upon the collectors' discretion in accepting uncertified checks in the absence of bonds, § 24.1 (b) is hereby amended to read as follows:

(b) An uncertified check drawn by an interested party on a national or state bank or trust company of the United States which can be cashed without expense to the Government shall be accepted by the collector of customs in payment of duties or other charges if there is on file with the collector of customs a customs entry bond or other bond to secure the payment of such duties or other charges, or if a bond has not been filed, the organization or individual drawing and tendering the uncertified check has been approved by the collector to make payment in such manner. In determining whether an uncertified check shall be accepted in the absence of a bond, the collector shall use available credit data obtainable without cost to the Government, such as that furnished by banks, local business firms, better business bureaus, or local credit exchanges, sufficient to satisfy him of the credit standing or reliability of the drawer of the check. The collector may refuse to accept an uncertified check in any case if in his discretion he deems such acceptance inadvisable.

PART 3—STATEMENTS OF GENERAL POLICY OR INTERPRETATION

PESTICIDE CHEMICALS; FURTHER EXTENDED DATES ON WHICH STATUE SHALL BECOME FULLY EFFECTIVE

Requests have been received for extension of the date on which the pesticide chemicals amendment (68 Stat. 511 et seq.; 21 U. S. C. 342, 346a) shall become fully effective. The United States Department of Agriculture has requested extension for ethylene dibromide as a fumigant to permit the continued use of the chemical, under its supervision, to fumigate food commodities held in quarantine. The Dow Chemical Company has requested extension for sodium-o-phenylphenate to permit continued post-harvest use of the chemical on citrus; a petition has been submitted requesting a tolerance for such use. These uses are considered nonseasonal. The requested extensions are necessary. Therefore the following order is issued pursuant to sections 402 (a) (2) and 408, 68 Stat. 511, 517 (Ch. 559, secs. 2, 5); 21 U. S. C. 342 and note 1 under section 342; 346a, and under authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (20 F. R. 1996).

Section 3.44 Pesticide chemicals; further extended dates on which statute shall become fully effective, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of October 29, 1955 (20 F. R. 8156) is amended in paragraph (a) (2) by deleting the word "grain" from the item "Ethylene dibromide: As a grain fumigant" and by inserting in proper alphabetical order the item "Sodoum-o-phenylphenate: On citrus."

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

TOLERANCE FOR RESIDUES OF CHLORTETRACYCLINE

A petition was filed with the Food and Drug Administration requesting the establishment of a tolerance for residues of chlortetracycline in or on uncooked poultry. The petition shows that cooking destroys residues of chlortetracycline that are within the tolerance being established.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purposes for which a tolerance is being established.

After consideration of the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material which show that the tolerance established in this order will protect the public health, and by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g); 20 F. R. 759), the regulations for tolerances and exemptions from tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120; 20 F. R. 1473) are amended by adding the following new section:

§ 120.117 Tolerance for residues of chlortetracycline. A tolerance of 7 parts per million is established for residues of chlortetracycline in or on uncooked poultry. This tolerance level shall not be exceeded in any part of the poultry.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies sec. 408, 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a)

TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF EPN

A petition was filed with the Food and Drug Administration requesting the establishment of tolerances for residues of EPN in or on certain raw agricultural commodities. The request for the establishment of the tolerance for some of the commodities was later withdrawn without prejudice to a future filing.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purposes for which tolerances are being established.

After consideration of the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material which show that the tolerances established in this order will protect the public health, and by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g); 20 F. R. 759), the regulations for tolerances and exemptions from tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120; 20 F. R. 1473) are amended by adding the following new section:

§ 120.119 Tolerances for residues of EPN (O-ethyl-O-p-nitrophenyl benzene thiophosphonate). Tolerances for residues of EPN (O-ethyl-O-p-nitrophenyl benzene thiophosphonate) are established as follows:

(a) 3 parts per million in or on grapes, olives, sugar beets (but not sugar beet tops), tomatoes.

(b) 0.5 part per million in or on almonds, cottonseed, pecans, walnuts.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Part 41]

[Draft Release No. 55-28]

FLIGHT TIME LIMITATIONS; NAVIGATORS

SUPPLEMENTAL NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING AND ORAL ARGUMENT THEREON

On April 22, 1955, the Bureau of Safety Regulation circulated Draft Release No. 55-10 and published a notice of proposed rule making in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 27, 1955 (20 F. R. 2822) in which notice was given that it had under consideration the adoption of an amendment to Part 41 of the Civil Air Regulations. Reference is made to said notice for a full explanation of the purpose and background of the proposed rules. Copies of the notice may be obtained from the Director, Bureau of Safety Regulation, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C.

In the notice dated April 22, 1955, the Bureau of Safety Regulation requested comment from interested persons with respect to proposals contained therein. The objective of the proposal was to amend the flight time limitations of Part 41 so as to subject flight navigators to the same daily flight time limitations as are specified for other flight crew members. Comment received revealed that considerable disagreement existed with respect to this proposal. In addition, the board has received a request that it hear oral argument before taking final action on the proposal. In view of the nature of the comment received and the request for oral argument the Board will hear oral argument with respect to the matter described herein on February 1, 1956, at 10 a. m., e. s. t., in Room 5042, Department of Commerce Building, Washington, D. C. In order that all interested persons may have the opportunity to ascertain the arguments to be presented to the Board and thereby present views which differ from those proposed to be presented by the person requesting opportunity for oral argument, persons desiring to be heard are requested to inform John M. Chamberlain, Director, Bureau of Safety Regulation, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C., not later than January 20, 1956, with regard to the matter described herein concerning which they desire to present oral argument and to submit a brief statement containing the nature of the argument to be presented. Each person desiring to present oral argument will be notified as soon as practicable of the time allocation. As a general guide, however, it is expected that approximately one hour will be allocated for the presentation of the views in favor of this particular proposal and a similar time for the opposition views. Where more than one person desires to present argument in favor of or in opposition to the proposal, it is proposed that the total time for such presentation will be divided between such persons. Copies of replies received in response to this notice will be available after January 24, 1956, for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

In the event interested persons desire to review the comments submitted to the Board in response to the notice of proposed rule making dated April 22, 1955, all such persons are advised that these comments are currently on file at the Docket Section of the Board and are available for examination.

In response to the notice dated April 22, 1955, the Board received comment which raised the following issues:

Navigator flight time limitations. a. The proposed daily flight time limitations were opposed by the Air Transport Association on the principal grounds that eleven years of operating experience have shown the present requirement to be adequate; and that no showing has been made that the 12-hour limitation is needed in the interest of safety. The navigators, on the other hand, assert that the safety record in international operations does not reflect the many instances in which the efficiency of flight navigators was seriously compromised by reason of excessively long flight assignments.

b. The Air Transport Association maintains that aircraft, radio and navigational aids, weather facilities, communication techniques, and procedures have all been greatly improved since 1944 reducing the burden on navigators. The navigators, on the other hand, contend that the increase in aircraft speed and complexity has necessitated more frequent and accurate position fixing by the navigator which has more than offset the increase and improvement in navigational and communication aids.

c. The Air Transport Association contends that the navigators' duties involve only 50 percent of his time. The navigators insist that the navigators' responsibilities require almost continuous attention to duty while he is acting as a required navigator.

d. The Air Transport Association maintains that the only instances involving actual duty in excess of 12 hours in a 24-hour period occurred on certain Atlantic cargo flights; that these flights were scheduled to require not more than 12 hours duty, but were rerouted as the result of various operational considerations which the Board and the Civil Aeronautics Administration have ruled cannot reasonably be taken into account by a carrier at the time of scheduling; and that over the past 4 years these cargo flights have been operated according to schedule within the scheduled time substantially more than 50 percent of the time. The navigators assert, however, that certain operators have repeatedly scheduled navigators in excess of 12 hours duty.

e. The navigators maintain that the air carriers have been under an obligation not to schedule navigators in excess of 12 hours flight duty in view of the Board's intent expressed in draft releases and correspondence to establish uniform flight time limitations for all crew members when practicable. However, certain air carriers have indicated to the Administrator that in the absence of specific regulations, they did not consider themselves obligated to limit navigators to the 12-hour duty period.

In view of the foregoing the Board desires to hear oral argument as to:

1. Whether flight navigators should be subject to daily flight time limitations, and

2. If daily flight time limitations are made applicable to flight navigators, whether they should be those proposed in Draft Release No. 55–10, and

3. If daily flight time limitations are adopted, whether the Board should apply the principles of Interpretation No. 1 to Part 41 (which is now applicable only to flight radio operators) to flight navigators.

The oral argument presented pursuant to this notice may be an explanation of, in addition to, or in lieu of written comment submitted in response to the previous notice dated April 22, 1955.

Dated: November 18, 1955, at Washington, D. C.

Secretary.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR Part 2]

[Docket No. 11550; FCC 55–1149]

FREQUENCY ALLOCATIONS AND RADIO TREATY MATTERS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matter of amendment of a portion of the Commission's Table of Frequency Allocations in § 2.104 of its rules covering the frequencies between 9800 and 13225 Mc.

1. Notice is given hereby of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. Several problems involving the allocation and usage of the freqency bands between 9800 Mc and 13225 Mc in the Commission's Table of Frequency Allocations in § 2.104 of its rules have been the subject of recent study by the Commission, and it has been found advisable to treat them interdependently in this rule making proceeding.

3. The first problem concerns the potential usefulness of the 9800 to 9900 Mc band which is allocated presently to the non-Government fixed services. Because of the relatively narrow width of this band, it cannot be used for microwave fixed purposes unless another band of equal width at approximately the same frequency range were available to permit pairing of assignments on a duplex basis. The solution proposed would allocate this band to the Government service, thereby placing it in juxtaposition to another band of 100 megacycles width already assigned to the Government service. In partial exchange therefor (the other part of the exchange will be found in paragraph 5 below), the 10550–10700 Mc band, now allocated to the Government and non-Government services on a shared basis, would be allocated exclusively to the non-Government fixed and mobile services. This new non-Government allocation from 10550 to 10700 Mc is adjacent to the present non-Government block between 10700 to 13200 Mc and thereby would increase its utility.

4. The next problem under consideration concerns the justification for continuing the present allocation of the frequency 10600 Mc for industrial, scientific, and medical devices. This frequency is one of a family of ISM frequencies set aside by the Commission in 1947 in anticipation of a need for ISM frequencies at regular intervals throughout the spectrum, and is presently included in a rule making proposal in Docket No. 11442 which contemplates adding to Part 18, all the ISM microwave frequencies, including 10,600 Mc, presently allocated in Part 2. The Commission is not suggesting now that there is no further need for a family of ISM frequencies. But it does desire to review the need for this particular ISM frequency in view of its potential interference to the span of frequencies from 10500 to 10700 Mc which by the foregoing proposal in paragraph 3 would become part of a band of frequencies allocated to the non-Government fixed and mobile services. Inasmuch as it appears that there is no present usage or foreseeable future need for ISM operation on the frequency 10600 Mc and a number of other frequencies remain allocated for ISM purposes, it is believed that this specific allocation to ISM can be deleted and the band from 10500 to 10700 Mc cleared of any potential interference from such devices. Therefore, it is proposed to delete the allocation of the 10600 Mc frequency for ISM devices.

5. A further matter under study is an apparent need for an allocation of a small band of frequencies somewhere in the range of the spectrum under review here to be shared between Government and non-Government users for radiolocation purposes, when using continuous wave emissions. It is proposed to retain the present general allocation of the band 10500–10550 Mc, which is presently shared by the Government and non-Government services, but to exclusively allocate it to Government and non-Government radiolocation stations, limited to continuous wave emissions. In addition, as an integral part of the reallocations proposed above, the band from 13200–13225 Mc, now assigned to the Government service, would be allocated to the non-Government service, to complete the equitable distribution between Government and non-Government usage. Pertinent to the proposal in this paragraph is a petition received by the Commission from Westinghouse Air Brake Company, which is incorporated by reference in this proceeding and made a part hereof. This petition requests that an allocation of frequencies be established at 10600 Mc to accommodate speed measuring devices in the radiolocation service. The choice of 10600 Mc by said petitioner appears to be based on the existing designation of that frequency for ISM devices, i. e., equipment which radiate electromagnetic energy but which are not intended to be used for radiocommunication purposes. This petition has been studied in conjunction with the several matters under consideration in this proceeding, and it is believed that the suballocation of the band 10500–10550 Mc for CW radiolocation purposes will meet the needs of this petitioner and at the same time conform to the pattern of changes herein proposed.

6. The foregoing proposes no change in the present non-Government allocations and suballocations between 10700–13200 Mc. If the amendments herein proposed are adopted, the bands 10550–10700 and 13200–13225 Mc would be given the general classification of fixed and mobile only. More specific reallocations in the range 10550–13225 Mc which appear necessary or desirable in the future will be made the subject of subsequent proceedings. Nothing in this proceeding is intended to have any effect upon the rule making now before the Commission in Docket No. 10797.

7. The readjustment which the Commission proposes here may be viewed most readily from the following table:

Band (Megacycles)	Present allocation	Proposed allocation
9800–9900	NG Fixed	Government.
9900–10000	Government	Government (no change).
10000–10500	Amateur	Amateur (no change).
10500–10550	Government and NG (must accept interference from ISM).	CW Radiolocation (Government and NG).
10550–10700	do	NG Fixed and Mobile.
10700–13200	NG Fixed and Mobile	NG Fixed and Mobile (no change).
13200–13225	Government	NG Fixed and Mobile.

Because of the relatively narrow width of the band 13200–13225 Mc, it may be of little or no practical value in itself. It may therefore be necessary to later consider this band as additional spectrum space for use in revising existing suballocations in the adjacent non-Government Fixed and Mobile bands, as indicated in paragraph 6 above. Although the matter of revising these suballocations is not within the scope of this proceeding, comments are invited in this proceeding with reference to whether there are any apparent equipment availability or operational problems which would be involved in making effective use of the band 13200–13225 Mc.

8. The amendments proposed here are issued under authority of sections 4 (i), 303 (c), (f) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

9. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the proposed amendments should not be adopted, or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein, may file with the Commission on or before January 23, 1956, written data, views, or arguments setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendments also may be filed on or before the same date. Comments in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing the said original data, views, or arguments. Comments relative to the frequency 10,600 Mc which have been filed in connection with FCC Docket No. 11442 will be made a part of this Docket. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission or (2) good cause for the filing of such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such comments prior to taking final action in these matters, and if comments are submitted warranting oral argument, notice of the time and place of such oral argument will be given.

10. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: November 23, 1955.

ORDER EXTENDING TIME FOR FILING COMMENTS; AMENDMENT

In the matter of amendment of § 11.251 of Part 11 of the Commission's rules and regulations.

The Commission's Order (mimeograph file no. 25954), dated and released November 18, 1955 (20 F. R. 8726), issued in response to a petition of the National Committee for Utilities Radio, appears to have created some misunderstanding. This order was intended only to extend the time for filing comments in reply to original comments to December 19, 1955, and to the extent that it may appear to do more, it is corrected hereby.

Dated: November 23, 1955.

[Docket No. 11548; FCC 55–1145]

TELEPHONE PLANT UNDER CONSTRUCTION

In the matter of amendment to § 31.100:2 of Part 31 (Uniform System of Accounts for Class A and Class B Telephone Companies) of the Commission's rules and regulations, relating to telephone plant under construction.

1. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, by letter dated December 27, 1954, addressed to this Commission, requesting the Commission's approval of two changes in its plant accounting practices, described as follows:

(a) Exclude from account 100.2, "Telephone plant under construction," the costs of jobs with authorized gross construction expenditures of less than $15,000 and charge the costs of such jobs directly to account 100.1, "Telephone plant in service," and

(b) Establish a limit of $15,000 for plant retirements below which retirements would not be recorded in the accounts in advance of physical removal of plant.

2. Part 31 (Uniform System of Accounts for Class A and Class B Telephone Companies) of the Commission's Rules and Regulations presently requires that the cost of construction of telephone plant not completed ready for service must be accounted for through account 100.2, "Telephone plant under construction," with the exception that the cost of construction projects which will be completed within a period of one or two months is not required to be so accounted for. The system of accounts contemplates that the accounting for plant retirements shall be accomplished at the time plant is retired from telephone service whether or not it is physically removed at that time.

3. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company in support of its proposals contends that the proposed accounting changes would have no material effect on the accounts and would result in substantial accounting cost savings by contributing significantly to further introduction of simplification and economy of record keeping.

4. The Commission is of the opinion that effectuation of proposals of the type described above would require amendment of Part 31 of the Commission's rules and regulations. On the basis of information before it the Commission is of the view that $15,000 as the limit in the proposal set out in paragraph 1 (a) above is too great a relaxation of the present rule. The Commission, however, has decided to invite comments from interested persons on a proposal that the cost of jobs with authorized gross construction expenditures of less than $10,000 (in lieu of the $15,000 suggested) may be charged directly to account 100.1, "Telephone plant in service." The change, if adopted, would be made by changing the note to the text of account 100.2 to read as follows:

NOTE: There may be charged directly to the appropriate plant accounts the cost of any construction project which is estimated to be completed ready for service within two months. There may also be charged directly to the plant accounts the cost of any construction project for which the gross additions to plant are estimated to amount to less than $10,000.

This proposed revision, in addition to extending the permissive accounting to certain dollar as well as time limitations, also serves to clearly specify the accounting to be performed if advantage is taken of the option set forth in the Note as presently worded.

5. This notice is issued under authority of sections 4 (i) and 220 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

6. With respect to the proposal set out in paragraph 1 (b), above, the Commission is of the opinion that the potential savings in record keeping are not sufficient to warrant further consideration of the proposal, in view of the risks involved in permitting delays in the accounting for retirement of plant that is no longer in service. Accordingly, no rule making proposal on this item is being issued.

7. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the one amendment proposed by American Telephone and Telegraph Company, as modified and stated in paragraph 4, above, should not be adopted, or should not be adopted in the manner set forth, may file with the Commission on or before January 3, 1956, a statement or brief setting forth his comments. At the same time, persons favoring the amendment as set forth may file statements in support thereof. Since justification for the proposed amendment is predicated solely upon practical considerations, any comments submitted by telephone companies should contain a statement describing any change in record keeping such as would be occasioned by relaxation of the companies' own administrative requirements, that would be initiated in the event the proposal is adopted, along with estimates of cost savings. In addition, the submission of data illustrating the effect on revenue requirements of charging construction expenditures directly to account 100.1, assuming net book cost (account 100.1 less depreciation reserve) as to the rate base, would be helpful. This effect - on - revenue - requirements calculation is intended to exclude any expense savings from simplified record keeping. Comments and briefs in reply to the original comments or briefs may be filed within ten days of the last day for filing said original comments. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission or (2) good cause for filing of such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such comments that are presented before taking action in the matter and, if any comments are submitted which appear to warrant the holding of oral argument notice of the time and place of such oral argument will be given.

8. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and fourteen copies of all statements or briefs filed shall be furnished to the Commission.

Adopted: November 23, 1955.

NORTH SHORE GAS CO. AND NEW ENGLAND ELECTRIC SYSTEM

ORDER AUTHORIZING ISSUANCE AND SALE OF COMMON STOCK BY SUBSIDIARY PURSUANT TO RIGHTS OFFERING, AND ACQUISITION OF SUBSIDIARY'S STOCK BY PARENT COMPANY AND ISSUANCE AND SALE BY SUBSIDIARY OF PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF BONDS PURSUANT TO COMPETITIVE BIDDING

NOVEMBER 23, 1955.

North Shore Gas Company ("North Shore"), a public-utility subsidiary of New England Electric System ("NEES"), a registered holding company, and NEES have filed a joint application and an amendment thereto pursuant to sections 6 (b), 9 (a) and 10 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rule U-50 thereunder regarding the following proposed transactions:

Common stock transactions. North Shore, which presently has outstanding 198,975 shares of common capital stock (par value $10 per share), proposes to issue and sell for cash 39,795 additional shares, which will be offered to its stockholders at the price of $14 a share on the basis of one new share for each five shares held. Rights to subscribe will be evidenced by full and fractional share warrants, exercisable during a subscription period of 21 days. Full shares only will be issued.

NEES, which now owns 192,446 shares (96.719 percent) of North Shore's capital stock, proposes to exercise all its subscription rights (for 38,489 full shares of the additional stock) and also to purchase from North Shore all unsubscribed shares at the subscription price of $14 a share. NEES also states that it will offer during the subscription period to purchase from minority stockholders (numbering 125, and owning 6,529 shares) their present holdings together with their rights to subscribe for additional shares, on the basis of $16.50 a share. NEES will use treasury funds for its proposed acquisitions.

Bond transactions. North Shore also proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $2,500,000 principal amount of Series B bonds, to be dated as of December 1, 1955 and to mature December 1, 1975. The interest rate (to be a multiple of ⅛ of 1 percent, not in excess of 4 percent) and the price (to be not less than 100 percent nor more than 102¾ percent of the principal amount, excluding accrued interest) will be determined by competitive bidding.

The Series B bonds will be issued under a First Mortgage Indenture and Deed of Trust dated as of October 1, 1950, of Salem Gas Light Company, a predecessor of North Shore, as heretofore supplemented and as to be supplemented by a Second Supplemental Indenture from North Shore to The Merchants National Bank of Boston, Trustee, dated as of December 1, 1955.

The proceeds from the sale of the additional common stock and bonds, together with treasury funds, will be applied by North Shore to the payment of all short-term debt to banks (which was $2,200,000 at August 31, 1955), and the balance to short-term indebtedness payable to NEES (which was $1,225,000 at the same date).

The Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, the regulatory commission of the State in which North Shore is organized and doing business, has approved the issuance and sale by North Shore of the additional comon stock and bonds as proposed.

Due notice having been given of the filing of said application, and a hearing not having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding with respect to the proposed transactions that the applicable provisions of the Act and the Rules thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary; and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the application, as amended, be granted, effective forthwith:

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VIII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Sugar), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter B—Sugar Requirements and Quotas

[Sugar Reg. 815, Amdt. 1]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Basis and purpose. The amendments herein are based on the provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (61 Stat. 922 as amended by 65 Stat. 318, 7 U. S. C. 1100), and are made for the purpose of amending §§ 815.3 and 815.6 (c) (1) to clarify the manner in which this regulation relates to the disposition of mainland sugar and to modify the requirements relating to the refining and storage of mainland sugar under bond until released within an applicable quota and allotment.

Paragraph (c) (1) of § 815.6 establishes a limit on the movement of mainland sugar which is permitted to be marketed by the processors for refining and storage until released within an applicable quota and allotment. In view of the continued increase in year-end inventories of processors of raw mainland cane sugar, it is imperative that the provision permit the fullest possible use of storage facilities ordinarily used by refiners who are permitted to receive such sugar under the provisions of this paragraph consistent with the maintenance of adequate quota controls. The amendment of this paragraph is believed to accomplish this purpose.

Section 815.3 has been amended to include a clarifying provision that mainland sugar removed from the continental United States for consumption out of the continental United States is not chargeable to the quotas and allotments thereof for the domestic beet sugar area or the mainland cane sugar area.

Prior to the adoption of these amendments notice was given (20 F. R. 7815) that the Secretary was considering amending the regulations in the manner herein provided, and that any interested person might express his views in writing in respect thereto. The data, views and recommendations received pursuant to the notice have been duly considered within the limits permitted by the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended.

Sugar is now being processed from 1955-crop sugarcane. In order that the amendments set forth herein may be given effect in connection with the quantities of sugar from 1955-crop sugarcane now being delivered to refiners in excess of allotments established pursuant to Sugar Regulation 814.22, Amendment 1 (20 F. R. 7987), it is necessary that such amendments be made effective at the earliest possible date. Accordingly, it is hereby found and determined that compliance with the 30-day effective date requirement of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238, 5 U. S. C. 1103) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest and the amendment contained herein shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (60 Stat. 922, 65 Stat. 318, 7 U. S. C. 1100), and the Administrative Procedure Act, §§ 815.3 and 815.6 of Sugar Regulation 815 are hereby amended as follows:

1. The following paragraph (c) is added to § 815.3:

§ 815.3 Effect of marketings on quotas and allotments. * * *

(c) A marketing of mainland sugar for which it is established to the satisfaction of the Secretary by sales and shipping documents of the processor and buyers, available pursuant to § 815.7, or otherwise, that such mainland sugar was removed from the continental United States for consumption outside thereof, shall not be effective for the purpose of filling a quota or allotments thereof.

2. Paragraph (c) (1) of § 815.6 is amended to read as follows:

§ 815.6 Provisions of bond. * * *

(c) Conditions. * * *

(1) In the case of any application approved by the Secretary to market to the principal named in the bond a quantity of mainland sugar for refining and storage, the principal shall hold and store, until release thereof is authorized by the Secretary, all of such quantity of mainland sugar, or an equivalent quantity of sugar or liquid sugar acquired within a quota or allotment. Such sugar or liquid sugar must be held and stored at the refinery where the mainland sugar was received or at other storage facilities where the quantity of sugar or liquid sugar refined or to be refined at such refinery is placed in storage after receipt of the mainland sugar under the bond.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 903—MILK IN ST. LOUIS, MO. MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

§ 903.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order, and of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the St. Louis, Missouri, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to Section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supplies and demand for milk in the said marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary, in the public interest, to make this order amending the order, as amended, effective not later than December 1, 1955, so as to reflect current marketing conditions. Any delay beyond December 1, 1955, in the effective date of this order amending the order, as amended, will impair the orderly marketing of milk in the St. Louis, Missouri, marketing area. The changes effected by this order amending the order, as amended, do not require of persons affected, substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date.

In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order, as amended, effective December 1, 1955, and that it would be impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (Sec. 4 (c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping the milk covered by this order amending the order as amended) of more than 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, which is marketed within the St. Louis, Missouri, marketing area, refused or failed to sign the marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of the producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the representative period (October 1955), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the St. Louis, Missouri, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Add to § 903.51 (a) (2) the following proviso: "Provided, That for the months of April 1956 through June 1956, such rate shall be 4 cents, and for all other months from the effective date hereof through August 1956 such rate shall be 5 cents."

2. Amend § 903.51 (a) (3) to read as follows:

(3) For each month calculate a utilization percentage by (i) dividing the net pounds of Class I milk disposed of from all pool plants (except non-Grade A milk disposed of outside the marketing area and allocated to other source milk) plus the Class I milk disposed of in the marketing area from nonpool plants, all for the 12-month period ending with the beginning of the preceding month, into the total pounds of producer milk during such 12-month period, (ii) multiplying by 100, (iii) adding or subtracting, respectively, any amount by which such result is greater or less than a comparable 12-month utilization percentage as computed for the third month preceding, and (iv) rounding the resultant figure to the nearest whole percent.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

PART 945—TOMATOES GROWN IN FLORIDA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 945.301 Limitation of shipments—(a) Findings. (1) Notice of rule making regarding proposed limitation of shipments, to be made effective under Marketing Agreement No. 125 and Order No. 45 (7 CFR Part 945; 20 F. R. 7357), regulating the handling of tomatoes grown in the State of Florida, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER November 4, 1955 (20 F. R. 8295). This regulatory program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047). After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice, which proposals were adopted and submitted for approval by the Florida Tomato Committee, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, and the data, views, and arguments filed by Herbert S. Young, P. O. Box 645, Boca Ratoa, Florida, W. H. Wahrendorff, President, Florida Hydroponic Growers' Cooperative Association Inc., P. O. Box 53, Kendall, Florida and J. R. Hime, President, Vita King Farms, Hypoluxo, Florida, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient in that the handling of tomatoes grown in the production area will have begun by the effective date of this section, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the handling of tomatoes, in the manner set forth below, on and after the effective date of this section, (iii) compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, (iv) reasonable time is permitted under the circumstances, for such preparation, and (v) notice has been given of the proposed limitation of shipments by publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 4, 1955 (20 F. R. 8295).

(b) Order. (1) During the period from December 5, 1955, to May 31, 1956, both dates inclusive, and except as otherwise provided in this section, no person shall handle tomatoes of any variety grown in the production area unless such tomatoes meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2 or better grade.

(2) Pursuant to § 945.53 each person may handle not in excess of 300 pounds of tomatoes per day without regard to the requirements of this part.

(3) The requirements of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall not be applicable to shipments of tomatoes (i) to registered handlers within the production area, (ii) to all State-operated auction markets and to the Sumter County Farmers Market, Webster, Florida, (iii) to canning plants, or (iv) for relief or charity.

(4) Each handler making shipments of tomatoes to canning plants or for relief or charity shall file an application pursuant to § 945.56 with the committee for a Certificate of Privilege for such shipments. Further, each handler who ships tomatoes for relief or charity shall, pursuant to § 945.80, furnish a record of such shipments to the committee. In addition, each application for a Certificate of Privilege to ship tomatoes for relief or charity or to canning plants shall be accompanied by the respective consignee's certification that the tomatoes to be shipped to him will be used only for canning or for relief or charity, as the case may be.

(5) No person shall handle any tomatoes for which inspection is required unless an appropriate inspection certificate had been issued with respect thereto and the certificate is valid at the time of handling. For purposes of operation under this part, each inspection certificate is hereby determined, pursuant to paragraph (c) of § 945.60, to be valid for a period not to exceed 72 hours following completion of inspection as shown on the applicable certificate.

(6) "U. S. No. 2 Grade," as used in this section, shall have the same meaning assigned this term in the United States Standards for Fresh Tomatoes (§§ 51.1855 to 51.1876 of this title; 18 F. R. 7142), including the tolerances set forth therein. All other terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 125 and Order No. 45 (7 CFR Part 945; 20 F. R. 7357).

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Subchapter D—Exportation and Importation of Animals and Animal Products

[B. A. I. Order 378, Amdt. 3]

PART 91—INSPECTION AND HANDLING OF LIVESTOCK FOR EXPORTATION

INSPECTION AND CERTIFICATION

Pursuant to the provisions of sections 4 and 5 of the Act of May 29, 1884, as amended (23 Stat. 32, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 112, 113), section 10 of the Act of August 30, 1890 (26 Stat. 417; 21 U. S. C. 105), section 1 of the Act of February 2, 1903, as amended (32 Stat. 791, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 112, 113, 120, 121), the Act of March 4, 1907 (34 Stat. 1263; 21 U. S. C. 80, 81, 82, 86), and the Act of July 24, 1919 (41 Stat. 241; 21 U. S. C. 96), Part 91 of Title 9 of the Code of Federal Regulations, governing the inspection and handling of livestock for exportation, is hereby amended by changing the last sentence of paragraph (a) of § 91.4 to read as follows: "Certificates accompanying animals to the port of export shall show proper identification of the animals in the shipment with respect to breed, sex, and age and, when applicable, shall also show registration name, registration number, tattoo markings, tag number, or other natural or acquired markings, and shall be endorsed by the veterinarian in charge of Animal Disease Eradication Branch field activities of the Department in the State of origin of the animals, or by another Department veterinarian so authorized by the Chief of Branch."

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

The amendment clarifies the manner of identifying certain animals on certificates issued in connection with export shipments of such animals and will not adversely affect the rights or obligations of any persons subject to the regulations. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are unnecessary, impracticable, and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Secs. 4, 5, 23 Stat. 32, as amended, sec. 10, 26 Stat. 417, sec. 1, 26 Stat. 833, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 105, 112, 113, 120, 46 U. S. C. 466a. Interprets or applies 34 Stat. 1263, 41 Stat. 241, sec. 1, 32 Stat. 791, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 80–82, 86, 96, 121)

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

[Supp. 22]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Section 3.345–3 of this supplement makes available to the general aviation public minimum standards concerning pulleys for control systems.

Section 3.10–1 is no longer necessary as the change to § 3.241 (effective August 25, 1955) requires dynamic loading to be considered in evaluating the design loads under the ground load conditions.

1. A new § 3.345–3 is added as follows:

§ 3.345–3 Approval of pulleys for control systems (CAA policies which apply to § 3.345). The Administrator does not issue specific approval as such for pulleys for general use on aircraft. Approval is limited to its use as a part of a specific airplane design. Conformance with the Army-Navy-Aeronautical Standards, National Aircraft Standards, or with standards established for pulleys previously approved for use in civil aircraft, or adequate substantiation of the manufacturer's own design through stress analysis or tests are the procedures utilized in complying with the "approved specifications" of CAR 3.345.

2. Section 3.10–1 as published in 19 F. R. 8653, December 17, 1954, is rescinded.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies sec. 601, 52 Stat. 1007; 49 U. S. C. 551)

This supplement shall become effective December 30, 1955.

Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

PART 40—SCHEDULED INTERSTATE AIR CARRIER CERTIFICATION AND OPERATION RULES

STRAIGHT-IN APPROACHES USING NON-DIRECTIONAL L/MF RADIO FACILITY

The purpose of this supplement is to clarify § 40.406–2 (c) (3). As presently written this subparagraph could be interpreted to mean that the CAA may establish circling minimums of 500–1 for four engine aircraft with stall speeds in excess of 75 m. p. h. Such an interpretation was not intended. Therefore, to eliminate any possibility of such an interpretation, § 40.406–2 (c) (3) is revised to read that when a non-directional L/MF radio facility is located on an airport, the minimum ceiling will be not less than 500 feet and the visibility minimums will be those specified in § 40.406–2 (c) (3) for circling approaches.

Section 40.406–2 (c) (3) is revised to read as follows:

§ 40.406–2 Ceiling and visibility minimums—IFR (CAA policies which apply to § 40.406). • • •

(c) Landing minimums, regular, refueling, or provisional airports. • • •

(3) Straight-in approaches using non-directional L/MF radio facility. When a non-directional L/MF radio facility is located on an airport, the minimum ceiling will not be less than 500 feet and the visibility minimum as specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph for circling approaches.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies sec. 601, 52 Stat. 1007, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551)

ALTERATION

The restricted area alteration appearing hereinafter has been coordinated with the civil operators involved, the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, through the Air Coordinating Committee, Airspace Panel and is adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety of the flying public. Since a military function of the United States is involved, compliance with the notice, procedure and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is not required.

Part 608 is amended as follows:

1. In § 608.18, the Banana River, Florida, area (R–162), amended on September 27, 1955 in 20 F. R. 7189, is further amended by changing the "Designated Altitudes" column to read: "Unlimited excluding that portion overlapping the Orlando Control Area above 13,000 feet MSL."

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies sec. 601, 52 Stat. 1007, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551)

TITLE 16—COMMERCIAL PRACTICES

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

Subchapter A—Policies, Procedure, and Orders

[Docket 6383]

AMERICAN BRAKE SHOE CO.

Subpart—Discriminating in price under section 2, Clayton Act, as amended—Price discrimination under 2 (a): § 13.715 Charges and price differentials. Subpart—Selling below cost: § 13.2180 Selling below cost.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 2, 38 Stat. 730, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 13) [Cease and desist order, American Brake Shoe Company, New York, N. Y., Docket 6383, November 15, 1955]

This proceeding was heard by J. Earl Cox, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission—charging the second largest bearing manufacturer in the industry, which, combined with the largest, accounted for more than 90 percent of that business, with violation of section 2 (a) of the Clayton Act through selling railroad car journal bearings at different prices in different trade areas from 1950 to 1954, and selling such bearings to a favored customer in the southeastern trade area (including the States of Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, and Florida) at a lower price than that charged other customers in the same area, which was below the cost of manufacture and sale during much of the years 1953 and 1954—and an agreement between the parties providing for the entry of a consent order in accordance with § 3.25 of the Commission's rules of practice.

On this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist which, by the Commissioner's order of November 15, 1955, became, pursuant to § 3.21 of the rules of practice, the "Decision of the Commission".

Said "Decision of the Commission and Order to File Report of Compliance" is as follows:

Whereas, the hearing examiner on October 6, 1955, filed his initial decision in this matter, which initial decision was based upon an agreement for a consent order executed on September 13, 1955, by all parties; and

Whereas, upon its review of said initial decision the Commission has noted that the order to cease and desist contained therein, through inadvertent omission of a definition of the term "trade area," varies from the order to cease and desist agreed upon by the parties; and

In order to correct this obviously clerical omission and to conform the order in the initial decision with the form of order in the "Agreement Containing Consent Order to Cease and Desist" executed by the parties hereto:

It is ordered, That the order to cease and desist contained in said initial decision be modified so that the said order shall read in full as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent, American Brake Shoe Company, a corporation, and its officers, representatives, agents and employees, directly or indirectly, through the National Bearing Division or any other division, or through any corporate or other device, in or in connection with the sale of railroad car journal bearings in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Clayton Act, as amended, do forthwith cease and desist from discriminating, directly or indirectly, in the price of said product by:

Selling railroad car journal bearings of like grade and quality to a purchaser in any trade area at prices different from those charged any other purchaser in the same trade area, whether the sale is effected through respondent's plant which customarily supplies such area or through any of its other plants, where, in the sale of said bearings to any purchaser charged a lower price, respondent is in competition with any other seller.

The term "trade area" as used herein means the geographical area customarily supplied with railroad car journal bearings by each of respondent's several manufacturing plants.

As so modified, the initial decision of the hearing examiner shall, on the 15th day of November 1955, become the decision of the Commission; and, accordingly

It is further ordered, That the respondent herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: November 15, 1955.

By the Commission.

BERJON CO. ET AL.

Subpart—Advertising falsely or misleadingly: § 13.30 Composition of goods; § 13.170 Qualities or properties of product or service; § 13.205 Scientific or other relevant facts.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, The Berjon Company et al., Memphis, Tenn., Docket 6408, November 10, 1955]

In the Matter of E. R. Ferguson, Jr., and John R. Pepper, Individually and as Copartners Trading as The Berjon Company; and Brick Muller and Associates, a Corporation

This proceeding was heard by William L. Pack, hearing examiner, on the complaint of the Commission—charging respondents with the dissemination of false advertisements in newspapers and by radio broadcasts concerning their "Pep-Ti-Kon" vitamin and mineral preparation—and an agreement between the parties providing for the entry of a consent order in accordance with § 3.25 of the Commission's rules of practice.

Upon this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist, which by the Commission's order of November 10, 1955, became, pursuant to § 3.21 of the rules of practice, the "Decision of the Commission".

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents E. R. Ferguson, Jr., and John R. Pepper, individually and as copartners trading as The Berjon Company, and respondent Brick Muller and Associates, a corporation, and respondents' agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of the preparation Pep-Ti-Kon, whether sold under the same or any other name, or any other preparation of substantially similar composition or possessing substantially similar properties, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from representing, directly or by implication, that:

1. Pep-Ti-Kon will prevent or overcome the discomforts caused by weather conditions or the lassitude experienced by some individuals in spring.

2. Bad teeth or false teeth cause, in all instances or in any percentage of instances contrary to established fact, the consumption of a diet which is deficient in iron.

3. Pep-Ti-Kon supplies essential minerals in the diet other than iron.

4. Boils or pimples are caused by iron or vitamin deficiencies or that Pep-Ti-Kon is an effective treatment for these conditions.

5. Loss of youth is due to iron deficiency.

By said "Decision of the Commission", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in wirting setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: November 10, 1955.

In the Matter of The American Credit Bureau, Inc., a Corporation; and Larry Lawrence, Eugene E. Stewart, and D. B. Dolmyer, Individually and as Officers and Directors of Said Corporation, and Victor Dolmyer, Individually and as Director of Said Corporation

This proceeding was heard by James A. Purcell, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission—which charged a corporate collection agency and its officers with misrepresenting the cost and terms of services to customers and with making misleading statements in letters in attempts to obtain by subterfuge information concerning debtors—and an agreement between the parties providing for the entry of a consent order in accordance with § 3.25 of the Commission's rules of practice.

Upon this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist, which by the Commission's order of November 10, 1955, pursuant to § 3.21 of the rules of practice, became the "Decision of the Commission".

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents, The American Credit Bureau, Inc., a corporation, and its officers and directors, and Larry Lawrence, Eugene H. Stewart and D. B. Dolmyer, individually and as officers and directors of said corporation, and Victor Dolmyer, individually and as director of said corporation, and respondents' representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the collection of, or attempts to collect, accounts in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from using any printed forms or written matter seeking information concerning delinquent debtors, which represents, directly or by implication, that the purpose for which the information is requested is other than that of obtaining information concerning delinquent debtors.

By said "Decision of the Commission", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Subchapter B—Trade Practice Conference Rules

[File No. 21–461]

PROMULGATION OF TRADE PRACTICE RULES

Due proceedings having been held under the trade practice conference procedure in pursuance of the Act of Congress approved September 26, 1914, as amended (Federal Trade Commission Act), and other provisions of law administered by the Commission:

It is now ordered, That the Group I trade practice rules as hereinafter set forth, which have been approved by the Commission in this proceeding, be promulgated as of December 1, 1955.

Statement by the Commission. Trade practice rules for the Corset, Brassiere, and Allied Products Industry, as hereinafter set forth, are promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under the trade practice conference procedure.

The industry for which these rules are established is composed of persons, firms, corporations, and organizations engaged in the manufacture, importation, or marketing at any level of distribution, of corsets, brassieres, girdles, combinations, garter belts, bust pads, and related foundation garments.

The rules are directed to the prevention and elimination of various practices deemed to be violative of laws administered by the Commission. They are to be applied to such end and to the exclusion of any acts or practices which suppress competition or otherwise restrain trade.

Proceedings under which the rules have been established were instituted pursuant to a joint application by The Corset and Brassiere Association of America, Inc., and Associated Corset and Brassiere Manufacturers, Inc. A general industry conference was held under Commission auspices in New York City on April 22, 1954, at which proposals for rules were submitted for consideration of the Commission. Thereafter, proposed rules were published by the Commission and made available to all industry members and other interested or affected parties upon public notice whereby they were afforded opportunity to present their views, including such pertinent information, suggestions, or amendments as they desired to offer, and to be heard in the premises. Pursuant to such notice a public hearing was held in New York City on June 23, 1955, and all matters there presented, or otherwise received in the proceeding, were duly considered by the Commission.

Thereafter, and upon full consideration of the entire matter final action was taken by the Commission whereby it approved the rules as hereinafter set forth.

The rules as approved become operative thirty (30) days after the date of their promulgation.

The rules. These rules promulgated by the Commission are designed to foster and promote the maintenance of fair competitive conditions in the interest of protecting industry, trade, and the public. It is to this end, and to the exclusion of any act or practice which fixes or controls prices through combination or agreement, or which unreasonably restrains trade or suppresses competition, or otherwise unlawfully injures, destroys, or prevents competition, that the rules are to be applied.

§ 21.0 Definitions. As used in the rules in this part, the terms "industry member" and "industry products" shall have the following meanings, respectively:

(a) Industry member. Any person, firm, corporation, or organization engaged in the manufacture, importation, or marketing at any level of distribution, of industry products. Industry members who purchase industry products for resale are sometimes referred to in these rules as customers or competing customers.

(b) Industry products. Corsets, brassieres, girdles, combinations, garter belts, bust pads, and related foundation garments.

General statement: The unfair trade practices embraced in the rules herein are considered to be unfair methods of competition, unfair or deceptive acts or practices, or other illegal practices, prohibited under laws administered by the Federal Trade Commission; and appropriate proceedings in the public interest will be taken by the Commission to prevent the use, by any person, partnership, corporation, or other organization subject to its jurisdiction, of such unlawful practices in commerce.

GROUP I

§ 21.1 Prohibited discrimination [1]—(a) Prohibited discriminatory prices, rebates, refunds, discounts, credits, etc., which effect unlawful price discrimination. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to grant or allow, secretly or openly, directly or indirectly, any rebate, refund, discount, credit, or other form of price differential (whether in the guise of samples, or so-called free deals, or otherwise), where such rebate, refund, discount, credit, or other form of price differential, effects a discrimination in price between different purchasers of goods of like grade and quality, where either or any of the purchases involved therein are in commerce, and where the effect thereof may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce, or to injure, destroy, or prevent competition with any person who either grants or knowingly receives the benefit of such discrimination, or with customers of either of them: Provided, however:

(1) That the goods involved in any such transaction are sold for use, consumption, or resale within any place under the jurisdiction of the United States;

(2) That nothing contained in this paragraph shall prevent differentials which make only due allowance for differences in the cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery resulting from the differing methods or quantities in which such commodities are to such purchasers sold or delivered;

(3) That nothing contained in this section shall prevent persons engaged in selling goods, wares, or merchandise in commerce from selecting their own customers in bona fide transactions and not in restraint of trade;

(4) That nothing contained in this paragraph shall prevent price changes from time to time where made in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of the goods concerned, such as but not limited to actual or imminent deterioration of perishable goods, obsolescence of seasonal goods, distress sales under court process, or sales in good faith in discontinuance of business in the goods concerned;

(b) Prohibited brokerage and commissions. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to pay or grant, or to receive or accept, anything of value as a commission, brokerage, or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu thereof, except for services rendered in connection with the sale or purchase of goods, wares, or merchandise, either to the other party to such transaction or to an agent, representative, or other intermediary therein where such intermediary is acting in fact for or in behalf, or is subject to the direct or indirect control, of any party to such transaction other than the person by whom such compensation is so granted or paid.

(c) Prohibited advertising or promotional allowances, etc. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce to pay or contract for the payment of advertising or promotional allowances or any other thing of value to or for the benefit of a customer of such member in the course of such commerce as compensation or in consideration for any services or facilities furnished by or through such customer in connection with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of any products or commodities manufactured, sold, or offered for sale by such member, unless such payment or consideration is available on proportionally equal terms to all other customers competing in the distribution of such products or commodities.

NOTE 1: Industry members giving advertising allowances to competing customers must exercise precaution and diligence in seeing that all of such allowances are used in accordance with the terms of their offers.

NOTE 2: When an industry member gives allowances to competing customers for advertising in a newspaper or periodical, the fact that a lower advertising rate for equivalent space is available to one or more, but not all, such customers, is not to be regarded by the industry member as warranting the retention by such customer or customers of any portion of the allowance for his or their personal use or benefit.

(d) Prohibited discriminatory services or facilities. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce to discriminate in favor of one purchaser against another purchaser or purchasers of a commodity bought for resale, with or without processing, by contracting to furnish or furnishing, or by contributing to the furnishing of, any services or facilities connected with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of such commodity so purchased upon terms not accorded to all competing purchasers on proportionally equal terms.

(e) Inducing or receiving an illegal discrimination in price. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, knowingly to induce or receive a discrimination in price which is prohibited by the foregoing provisions of this section.

(f) Exemptions. The inhibitions of this section shall not apply to purchases of their supplies for their own use by schools, colleges, universities, public libraries, churches, hospitals, and charitable institutions not operated for profit.

NOTE: In complaint proceedings charging discrimination in price or services or facilities furnished, and upon proof having been made of such discrimination and resulting competitive injury, the burden of rebutting the prima facie case thus made by showing justification shall be upon the person charged; and unless justification shall be affirmatively shown, the Commission is authorized to issue an order terminating the discrimination: Provided, however, That nothing contained in this section shall prevent a seller rebutting the prima facie case thus made by showing that his lower price or the furnishing of services of facilities to any purchaser or purchasers was made in good faith to meet an equally low price of a competitor, or the services or facilities furnished by a competitor. See section 2 (b), Clayton Act. [Rule 1]

§ 21.2 Misrepresentation in general. It is an unfair trade practice to use, or cause or promote the use of, any false, untrue, or deceptive statement, representation, guarantee, warranty, testimonial, or endorsement, by way of advertising (through newspapers, magazines, circulars, booklets, or by radio, television, or any other medium), oral representation or otherwise, which has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers, prospective purchasers, or the consuming public with respect to the efficacy, curative or healthful properties, grade, quality, substance, weight, durability, serviceability, character, or manufacture of any product of the industry, or concerning the purported approval or endorsement of such product by State, Federal, medical, or other authority. [Rule 2]

§ 21.3 Misrepresentation as to weight-reducing properties. It is an unfair trade practice, in connection with the distribution, sale, or offering for sale of an industry product, to use, or cause or promote the use of, any statement, directly or indirectly, oral or otherwise, which represents or implies that an industry product has weight-reducing properties, when such is not the fact. [Rule 3]

[1] As used in this section, the word "commerce" means "trade or commerce among the several States and with foreign nations, or between the District of Columbia or any Territory of the United States and any State, Territory, or foreign nation, or between any insular possessions or other places under the jurisdiction of the United States, or between any such possession or place and any State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia or any foreign nation, or within the District of Columbia or any Territory or any insular possession or other place under the jurisdiction of the United States."

§ 21.4 Identification and disclosure of fiber or material content. In the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of industry products, it is an unfair trade practice to misrepresent the fiber or material content of any such product, or fail to disclose the fiber content of products containing rayon or acetate, silk, or linen, in accordance with the requirements of trade practice rules heretofore promulgated by the Commission for the Rayon and Acetate Textile Industry, Silk Industry, and Linen Industry: Provided, however:

(a) That industry products containing both nonelastic fabric and elastic material [2] shall be identified as to fiber content solely on the basis of the fiber content of the nonelastic fabric, provided the nonelastic fabric constitutes at least 75 percent of the surface area of the product, in which event the elastic material shall be identified as elastic material;

(b) That the rubber content of industry products shall not be taken into account in identifying the fiber content of industry products;

(c) That the fiber content of industry products consisting entirely of elastic material, as defined in part (a) of footnote 2 to paragraph (a) of this section, and containing rayon, acetate, silk, or linen, with or without other fibers, shall be identified on the basis of the nonrubber thread and the covering, if any, of the rubber thread contained in the product: Provided, however, That the fiber content of the rubber thread covering, if any, shall be set forth in conjunction with a legend reading, "With ---------- covered rubber thread" (the blank being filled in with the fiber content of the rubber thread covering);

(d) That the fiber content of industry products consisting entirely of elastic material, as defined in part (b) of footnote 2 to paragraph (a) of this section, shall be identified on the basis of the fiber content of the rubber thread covering;

(e) That in all cases where this section requires disclosure of the fiber content of the covering of rubber thread in elastic material, if the rubber thread is covered by more than one layer, each having a different fiber content, it shall be necessary only to disclose the fiber content of the outer or surface layer of such rubber thread covering: Provided, however, That the inner layer of such covering does not adversely affect the washability, drying time, and care and treatment, of the product, nor reduce or impair its use and general wearing qualities;

(f) That it shall not be necessary, in identifying the fiber content of industry products, to take into account the fiber content of any linings, paddings, trimmings, facings, casings, strippings, garter clasps, zippers, or hook and eye tapes, except those concerning which express or implied representations of fiber content are customarily made: Provided, That if any of the foregoing items purport to contain, or in any manner is represented as containing, rayon or acetate, silk, or linen, the provisions of the trade practice rules applicable thereto shall be complied with and the information required with respect to fiber content thereof shall be separately set forth and segregated. [Rule 4]

[2] Elastic material means either (a) material composed of covered or uncovered rubber thread, woven or knitted with thread which does not contain rubber, or (b) material composed entirely of covered rubber thread.

§ 21.5 Deception as to foreign origin. (a) It is an unfair trade practice falsely to represent, directly or by implication, through any means or device, the origin of any industry product or component part.

(b) It is also an unfair trade practice to fail to disclose, adequately and conspicuously, the foreign origin of any industry product or component thereof, where the failure to make such disclosure has the capacity and tendency or effect of deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers. [Rule 5]

§ 21.6 Defamation of competitors or false disparagement of their products. The defamation of competitors by falsely imputing to them dishonorable conduct, inability to perform contracts, questionable credit standing, or by other false representations, or the false disparagement of the grade or quality of the goods of competitors, their credit terms, values, policies, services, the nature or form of the business conducted, or in any other material respect, is an unfair trade practice. [Rule 6]

§ 21.7 Commercial bribery. It is an unfair trade practice for a member of the industry, directly or indirectly, to give, or offer to give, or permit or cause to be given, money or anything of value to agents, employees, or representatives of customers or prospective customers, or to agents, employees, or representatives of competitors' customers or prospective customers, without the knowledge of their employers or principals, as an inducement to influence their employers or principals to purchase or contract to purchase products manufactured or sold by such industry member or the maker of such gift or offer, or to influence such employers or principals to refrain from dealing in the products of competitors or from dealing or contracting to deal with competitors. [Rule 7]

§ 21.8 Inducing breach of contract. (a) Knowingly inducing or attempting to induce the breach of existing lawful contracts between competitors and their customers or their suppliers, or interfering with or obstructing the performance of any such contractual duties or services, under any circumstance having the capacity and tendency or effect of substantially injuring or lessening present or potential competition, is an unfair trade practice.

(b) Nothing in this section is intended to imply that it is improper for any industry member to solicit the business of a customer of a competing industry member; nor is the section to be construed as in anywise authorizing any agreement, understanding, or planned common course of action by two or more industry members not to solicit business from the customers of either of them, or from customers of any other industry member. [Rule 8]

§ 21.9 Prohibited forms of trade restraints (unlawful price, price fixing, etc.) [2] It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry, either directly or indirectly, to engage in any planned common course of action, or to enter into or take part in any understanding, agreement, combination, or conspiracy, with one or more members of the industry, or with any other person or persons, to fix or maintain the price of any goods or otherwise unlawfully to restrain trade; or to use any form of threat, intimidation, or coercion to induce any member of the industry or other person or persons to engage in any such planned common course of action, or to become a party to any such understanding, agreement, combination, or conspiracy. [Rule 9]

§ 21.10 Exclusive deals. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry to contract to sell or sell any industry product, or fix a price charged therefor, or discount from, or rebate upon, such price, on the condition, agreement, or understanding that the purchaser thereof shall not use or deal in the products of a competitor or competitors of such industry member, where the effect of such sale or contract for sale, or of such condition, agreement, or understanding, may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce. [Rule 10]

§ 21.11 Guarantees, etc. (a) It is an unfair trade practice to use any guarantee respecting an industry product which does not make reasonable disclosure of the conditions or limitations of such guarantee, or which contains statements, representations, or assertions which have the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving in any respect, or which are of such form, text, or character as to represent or imply that the guarantee is broader than is in fact true.

(b) It is an unfair trade practice for the guarantor to fail to observe scrupulously his obligation under the guarantee by him used or caused to be used.

(c) This section shall be applicable also to warranties or any writing purported to be a guarantee or warranty. [Rule 11]

§ 21.12 Push money. It is an unfair trade practice for any industry member to pay or contract to pay anything of value to a salesperson employed by a customer of the industry member as compensation for, or as an inducement to obtain, special or greater effort or service on the part of the salesperson in promoting the resale of products supplied by the industry member to the customer.

(a) When the agreement or understanding under which the payment or payments are made or are to be made is without the knowledge and consent of the salesperson's employer; or

(b) When the terms and conditions of the agreement or understanding are such that any benefit to the salesperson or customer is dependent on lottery or chance; or

(c) When any provision of the agreement or understanding requires or contemplates practices or a course of conduct unduly and intentionally hampering sales of products of competitors of an industry member; or

(d) When, because of the terms and conditions of the agreement or understanding, including its duration, or the attendant circumstances, the effect may be to substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly; or

(e) When similar payments are not accorded to salespersons of competing customers on proportionally equal terms in compliance with section 2 (d) and (e) of the Clayton Act.

NOTE: Payments made by an industry member to a salesperson or a customer under any agreement or understanding that all or any part of such payments is to be transferred by the salesperson to the customer, or is to result in a corresponding decrease in the salesperson's salary, are not to be considered within the purview of this section, but are to be considered as subject to the requirements and provisions of section 2 (a) of the Clayton Act.

[Rule 12]

§ 21.13 Discriminatory returns. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry to discriminate in favor of one customer-purchaser against another customer-purchaser of industry products, bought from such member of the industry for resale, by contracting to furnish, or furnishing in connection therewith, upon terms not accorded to all customer-purchasers on proportionally equal terms, the service or facility whereby such favored customer is accorded the privilege of returning industry products so purchased and receiving therefor credit or refund of purchase price: Provided, however, That nothing in the rules in this part shall prohibit or be used to prevent the return of merchandise by purchaser for credit or refund of purchase price, when and because such merchandise has not been properly labeled by the seller in accordance with these rules or has been otherwise falsely or deceptively labeled or represented, or when and because such merchandise is defective in material, workmanship, or in any other respect is contrary to warranty or purchase contract: [3] And provided, further, That nothing in this section shall prohibit a purchaser from exchanging the current season's merchandise for different sizes of the same style number in order to balance purchaser's stock. (Nothing in this section is intended to modify or affect any of the requirements of § 21.1, entitled "Prohibited Discrimination.") [Rule 13]

§ 21.14 Consignment distribution. (a) It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry to employ the practice of shipping goods on consignment, pretended consignment, or for delivery "on memorandum":

(1) When such practice is so used, or the terms and conditions thereof so varied or arranged, as to effectuate a discrimination contrary to the provisions of § 21.1; or

(2) When such consignment, pretended consignment, or delivery "on memorandum," is used for the purpose and with the effect of artificially clogging trade outlets and unduly restricting competitors' use of said outlets in getting their products to purchasers or consumers through regular channels of distribution, and thereby injuring, destroying, or preventing competition, tending to create a monopoly, or unreasonably restraining trade.

(b) Nothing in this section shall be construed as restricting or preventing consignment shipping, or marketing "on memorandum," when carried out in good faith and without illegal discrimination, suppression of competition, or undue interference with competitors' use of the usual channels of distribution. [Rule 14]

§ 21.15 Seconds, irregulars, or rejects. (a) Industry products which are "seconds," "irregulars," or "rejects," or which are represented as being "seconds," "irregulars," or "rejects," shall be so marked, clearly and conspicuously, to the end that confusion, misunderstanding, or deception of the purchasing or consuming public may be avoided and prevented. "Seconds" may be marked or referred to by the manufacturer as "seconds," "irregulars," or "rejects" provided that such marking or reference clearly indicates that the product is not of first quality. Such disclosure of "seconds," "irregulars," or "rejects" shall also be made on invoices as well as on the garment itself, and on the immediate package, if any, in which it is sold to the consumer, and on display cards, advertisements, or other representations under which such "seconds," "irregulars," or "rejects" are offered for sale or advertised to the purchasing or consuming public.

(b) It is an unfair trade practice deceptively to conceal the fact that said industry products are "seconds," "irregulars," or "rejects," or to fail or refuse to make such disclosure to the end specified in paragraph (a) of this section. [Rule 15]

§ 21.16 Fictitious prices, price lists, etc. (a) The publishing or circulating by any member of the industry of false or misleading price quotations, price lists, terms or conditions of sale, or reports as to production or sales, with the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers, prospective purchasers, or the consuming public, or the advertising, sale, or offering for sale of industry products at prices purporting to be reduced from what are in fact fictitious prices, or at purported reductions in prices when such purported reductions are in fact fictitious or are otherwise misleading or deceptive, is an unfair trade practice.

(b) It is an unfair trade practice, in connection with the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of industry products at prices that are in any manner represented as reduced from or lower than current, former, or regular prices, to use, or to furnish or supply for such use, price tags, labels, or advertising material that set forth a false, fictitious, or exaggerated current, former, or regular price, or a false, fictitious, or exaggerated manufacturer's or distributor's suggested retail selling price, or that contain what purport to be bona fide price quotations which are in fact higher than the prices at which such products are regularly and customarily sold in bona fide retail transactions. It is likewise an unfair trade practice to distribute, sell, or offer for sale to the consuming public in such manner products bearing such false, fictitious, or exaggerated price tags or labels. [Rule 16]

§ 21.17 Misuse of terms "close-outs," "discontinued lines," "special bargains," etc. It is an unfair trade practice to offer for sale, sell, advertise, describe, or otherwise represent, industry products as "Close-outs," "Discontinued Lines," or "Special Bargains," by use of such terms or by words or representations of similar import, when such is not true in fact; or to so offer for sale, sell, advertise, describe, or otherwise represent industry products where the capacity and tendency or effect thereof is to lead the purchasing or consuming public to believe such products are being offered for sale or sold at greatly reduced prices, or at so-called "bargain" prices, when such is not the fact. [Rule 17]

§ 21.18 Aiding or abetting use of unfair trade practices. It is an unfair trade practice for any person, firm, or corporation to aid, abet, coerce, or induce another, directly, or indirectly, to use or promote the use of any unfair trade practice specified in these rules. [Rule 18]

§ 221.5 Where timber may be cut. (a) The cutting of timber may be authorized as prescribed by regulation on any national forest land whether reserved from the public domain, purchased, acquired by exchange, donated, or transferred from other Federal agencies, or on land administered by the Forest Service under an authorization for the application to it of the regulations for the occupancy and use of the national forests, except for:

(1) Timber reserved by a grantor of land during the life of such reservation.

(2) Timber reserved from cutting under other regulations.

(3) Timber on valid unpatented mining claims located prior to July 23, 1955, unless the claimant has executed a waiver pursuant to section 6 of the act of July 23, 1955 (69 Stat. 367), or unless, pursuant to a proceeding under section 5 of that act, the claimant has failed to file a verified statement or has failed to establish the validity and effectiveness of his asserted rights, and timber on valid claims other than mining claims, when any of such claims were located or entered prior to:

(b) The cutting of timber on mining claims shall be conducted in such manner as not to endanger or materially interfere with prospecting, mining or processing operations.

(c) No person shall prevent or interfere with the cutting and removal of timber under any sale, permit, grant, contract, or establishment of a sustained yield unit because of a location or entry made subsequent to authorized actions for timber disposal.

(d) Timber on an unpatented claim to which the United States does not otherwise have disposal rights may be disposed of with the written consent of the claimant, or, in emergencies arising from insect infestations, disease infections, or rapid deterioration of timber killed or dying from fire or other causes, without the consent of the claimant.

(e) Timber on an unpatented claim may be cut by the claimant only for the actual development of the claim or for uses consistent with the purposes for which the claim was entered. (g) With prior approval by the Regional Forester, timber on lands under option by the United States or on offered lands included in an approved land exchange agreement may be sold. Before the sale is made, a cooperative agreement must be made with the owner of the land authorizing the Forest Service to conduct the sale and providing for return of stumpage receipts to the owner if title to the land is not accepted by the United States.

SPECIAL RULES

SEC. 1051. Property acquired during affiliation. In the case of property acquired by a corporation, during a period of affiliation, from a corporation with which it was affiliated, the basis of such property, after such period of affiliation, shall be determined in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate, without regard to inter-company transactions in respect of which gain or loss was not recognized. For purposes of this section, the term "period of affiliation" means the period during which such corporations were affiliated (determined in accordance with the law applicable thereto) but does not include any taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1922, unless a consolidated return was made, nor any taxable year after the taxable year 1928. The basis in case of property acquired by a corporation during any period, in the taxable year 1929 or any subsequent taxable year, in respect of which a consolidated return was made by such corporation under chapter 6 of this subtitle (sec. 1501 and following) or under section 141 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 or of the Revenue Act of 1938, 1936, 1934, 1932, or 1928 shall be determined in accordance with regulations prescribed under section 1502 or in accordance with regulations prescribed under the appropriate section 141, as the case may be. The basis in the case of property held by a corporation during any period, in the taxable year 1929 or any subsequent taxable year, in respect of which a consolidated return was made by such corporation under chapter 6 of this subtitle or such section 141 shall be adjusted in respect of any items relating to such period, in accordance with regulations prescribed under section 1502 or in accordance with regulations prescribed under the appropriate section 141, as the case may be.

§ 1.1051-1 Basis of property acquired during affiliation. (a) (1) The basis of property acquired by a corporation during a period of affiliation from a corporation with which it was affiliated shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the corporation from which acquired. This rule is applicable if the basis of the property is material in determining tax liability for any year, whether a separate return or a consolidated return is made in respect of such year. For the purpose of this section, the term "period of affiliation" means the period during which such corporations were affiliated (determined in accordance with the law applicable thereto), but does not include any taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1922, unless a consolidated return was made, nor any taxable year after the taxable year 1928.

(2) The application of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. The X Corporation, the Y Corporation, and the Z Corporation were affiliated for the taxable year 1920. During that year the X Corporation transferred assets to the Y Corporation for $120,000 cash, and the Y Corporation in turn transferred the assets during the same year to the Z Corporation for $130,000 cash. The assets were acquired by the X Corporation in 1916 at a cost of $100,000. The basis of the assets in the hands of the Z Corporation is $100,000.

(b) The basis of property acquired by a corporation during any period, in the taxable year 1929 or any subsequent taxable year, in respect of which a consolidated return was made or was required under the regulations governing the making of consolidated returns, shall be determined in accordance with such regulations. The basis in the case of property held by a corporation during any period, in the taxable year 1929 or any subsequent taxable year, in respect of which a consolidated return is made or is required under the regulations governing the making of consolidated returns, shall be adjusted in respect of any items relating to such period in accordance with such regulations.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in the regulations promulgated under section 1502, or the regulations under section 141 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 or the Revenue Acts of 1938, 1936, 1934, 1932, or 1928, the basis of property after a consolidated return period shall be the same as the basis immediately prior to the close of such period.

§ 1.1052 Statutory provisions; basis established by the Revenue Act of 1932 or 1934 or by the Internal Revenue Code of 1939.

SEC. 1052. Basis established by the Revenue Act of 1932 or 1934 or by the Internal Revenue Code of 1939—(a) Revenue Act of 1932. If the property was acquired, after February 28, 1913, in any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1934, and the basis thereof, for purposes of the Revenue Act of 1932 was prescribed by section 113 (a) (6), (7), or (9) of such Act (47 Stat. 199), then for purposes of this subtitle the basis shall be the same as the basis therein prescribed in the Revenue Act of 1932.

(b) Revenue Act of 1934. If the property was acquired, after February 28, 1913, in any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1936, and the basis thereof, for purposes of the Revenue Act of 1934, was prescribed by section 113 (a) (6), (7), or (8) of such Act (48 Stat. 706), then for purposes of this subtitle the basis shall be the same as the basis therein prescribed in the Revenue Act of 1934.

(c) Internal Revenue Code of 1939. If the property was acquired, after February 28,

1913, in a transaction to which the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 applied, and the basis thereof, for purposes of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, was prescribed by section 113 (a) (6), (7), (8), (13), (15), (18), (19), or (23) of such code, then for purposes of this subtitle the basis shall be the same as the basis therein prescribed in the Internal Revenue Code of 1939.

§ 1.1052–1 Basis of property established by Revenue Act of 1932. Section 1052 (a) provides that if property was acquired after February 28, 1913, in any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1934, and the basis of the property, for the purposes of the Revenue Act of 1932, was prescribed by section 113 (a) (6), (7), or (9) of that act, then for purposes of subtitle A the basis shall be the same as the basis prescribed in the Revenue Act of 1932. For the rules applicable in determining the basis of stocks or securities under section 113 (a) (9) of the Revenue Act of 1932 in case of certain distributions after December 31, 1923, and in any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1934, see 26 CFR (1939) 39.113 (a) (12)–1 (Regulations 118).

§ 1.1052–2 Basis of property established by Revenue Act of 1934. Section 1052 (b) provides that if property was acquired after February 28, 1913, in any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1936, and the basis of the property for the purposes of the Revenue Act of 1934 was prescribed by section 113 (a) (6), (7), or (8) of that act, then for purposes of subtitle A the basis shall be the same as the basis prescribed in the Revenue Act of 1934. For example, if after December 31, 1920, and in any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1936, property was acquired by a corporation by the issuance of its stock or securities in connection with a transaction which is not described in section 112 (b) (5) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 but which is described in section 112 (b) (5) of the Revenue Act of 1934, the basis of the property so acquired shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the transferor, with proper adjustments to the date of the exchange.

§ 1.1052–3 Basis of property established by the Internal Revenue Code of 1939. Section 1052 (c) provides that if property was acquired after February 28, 1913, in a transaction to which the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 applied and the basis thereof was prescribed by section 113 (a) (6), (7), (8), (13), (15), (18), (19) or (23) of such code, then for purposes of subtitle A the basis shall be the same as the basis prescribed in the Internal Revenue Code of 1939. In such cases see section 113 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 and the regulations thereunder.

SEC. 1053. Property acquired before March 1, 1913. In the case of property acquired before March 1, 1913, if the basis otherwise determined under this part, adjusted (for the period before March 1, 1913) as provided in section 1016, is less than the fair market value of the property as of March 1, 1913, then the basis for determining gain shall be such fair market value. In determining the fair market value of stock in a corporation as of March 1, 1913, due regard shall be given to the fair market value of the assets of the corporation as of that date.

§ 1.1053–1 Property acquired before March 1, 1913—(a) Basis for determining gain. In the case of property acquired before March 1, 1913, the basis as of March 1, 1913, for determining gain is the cost or other basis, adjusted as provided in section 1016 and other applicable provisions of chapter 1, or its fair market value as of March 1, 1913, whichever is greater.

(b) Basis for determining loss. In the case of property acquired before March 1, 1913, the basis as of March 1, 1913, for determining loss is the basis determined in accordance with part II of subchapter O, or other applicable provisions of chapter 1, without reference to the fair market value as of March 1, 1913.

(c) Example. The application of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. (i) On March 1, 1908, a taxpayer purchased for $100,000, property having a useful life of 50 years. Assuming that there were no capital improvements to the property, the depreciation sustained on the property before March 1, 1913, was $10,000 (5 years @ $2,000), so that the original cost adjusted, as of March 1, 1913, for depreciation sustained prior to that date is $90,000. On that date the property had a fair market value of $94,500 with a remaining life of 45 years.

(ii) For the purpose of determining gain from the sale or other disposition of the property on March 1, 1954, the basis of the property is the fair market value of $94,500 as of March 1, 1913, adjusted for depreciation allowed or allowable after February 28, 1913, computed on $94,500. Thus, the substituted basis, $94,500, is reduced by the depreciation adjustment from March 1, 1913, to February 28, 1954, in the aggregate of $86,100 (41 years @ $2,100), leaving an adjusted basis for determining gain of $8,400 ($94,500 less $86,100).

(iii) For the purpose of determining loss from the sale or other disposition of such property on March 1, 1954, the basis of the property is its cost, adjusted for depreciation sustained before March 1, 1913, computed on cost, and the amount of depreciation allowed or allowable after February 28, 1913, computed on the fair market value of $94,500 as of March 1, 1913. In this example, the amount of depreciation sustained before March 1, 1913, is $10,000 and the amount of depreciation determined for the period after February 28, 1913, is $86,100. Therefore, the aggregate amount of depreciation for which the cost ($100,000) should be adjusted is $96,100 ($10,000 plus $86,100), and the adjusted basis for determining loss on March 1, 1954, is $3,900 ($100,000 less $96,100).

(d) Fair market value. The determination of the fair market value of property on March 1, 1913, is generally a question of fact and shall be established by competent evidence. In determining the fair market value of stock or other securities, due regard shall be given to the fair market value of the corporate assets as of such date, and other pertinent factors. In the case of property traded in on public exchanges, actual sales on or near the basic date afford evidence of value. In general, the fair market value of a block or aggregate of a particular kind of property is not to be determined by a forced-sale price, or by an estimate of what a whole block or aggregate would bring if placed upon the market at one and the same time. In such a case the value should be determined by ascertaining as the basis the fair market value of each unit of the property. All relevant facts and elements of value as of the basic date should be considered in each case.

(2) For recognition of gain or loss in connection with the construction of new vessels, see section 511 of such Act, as amended (46 U. S. C. 1161).

CHANGES TO EFFECTUATE F. C. C. POLICY

§ 1.1071 Statutory provisions; gain from sale or exchange to effectuate policies of Federal Communications Commission.

SEC. 1071. Gain from sale or exchange to effectuate policies of F. C. C.—(a) Nonrecognition of gain or loss. If the sale or exchange of property (including stock in a corporation) is certified by the Federal Communications Commission to be necessary or appropriate to effectuate the policies of the Commission with respect to the ownership and control of radio broadcasting stations, such sale or exchange shall, if the taxpayer so elects, be treated as an involuntary conversion of such property within the meaning of section 1033. For purposes of such section as made applicable by the provisions of this section, stock of a corporation operating a radio broadcasting station, whether or not representing control of such corporation, shall be treated as property similar or related in service or use to the property so converted. The part of the gain, if any, on such sale or exchange to which section 1033 is not applied shall nevertheless not be recognized, if the taxpayer so elects, to the extent that it is applied to reduce the basis for determining gain or loss on sale or exchange of property, of a character subject to the allowance for depreciation under section 167, remaining in the hands of the taxpayer immediately after the sale or exchange, or acquired in the same taxable year. The manner and amount of such reduction shall be determined under regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate. Any election made by the taxpayer under this section shall be made by a statement to that effect in his return for the taxable year in which the sale or exchange takes place, and such election shall be binding for the taxable year and all subsequent taxable years.

(b) Basis. For basis of property acquired on a sale or exchange treated as an involuntary conversion under subsection (a), see section 1033 (c).

§ 1.1071–1 Gain from sale or exchange to effectuate policies of Federal Communications Commission. (a) At the election of the taxpayer, section 1071 in effect postpones the recognition of gain upon the sale or exchange of property, if the Federal Communications Commission certifies such sale or exchange to be necessary or appropriate to effectuate the policies of the Commission with respect to the ownership and control of radio broadcasting stations. Any taxpayer desiring to obtain the benefits of section 1071 shall file with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, or the district director of internal revenue for the district in which the income tax return of the taxpayer is required to be filed, a certificate from the Federal Communications Commission clearly identifying the property and showing that the sale or exchange of such property is necessary or appropriate to effectuate the policies of the Commission with respect to the ownership and control of radio broadcasting stations. Such certificate shall be accompanied by a detailed statement showing: The kind of property, the date of acquisition, the cost or other basis of the property, the date of sale or exchange, the name and address of the transferee, and the amount of money and the fair market value of the property other than money received upon such sale or exchange.

(b) Section 1071 applies only in the case of a sale or exchange made necessary by reason of the Federal Communications Commission's policies as to ownership or control of radio facilities. Section 1071 does not apply in the case of a sale or exchange made necessary as a result of other matters, such as the operation of a broadcasting station in a manner determined by the Commission to be not in the public interest or in violation of Federal or State law.

(c) An election to have the benefits of section 1071 shall be made in the manner prescribed in § 1.1071–4.

(d) For purposes of section 1071, the term "radio broadcasting" includes telecasting.

§ 1.1071–2 Nature and effect of election—(a) Alternative elections. (1) A taxpayer entitled to the benefits of section 1071 in respect of a sale or exchange of property may elect—

(i) To treat such sale or exchange as an involuntary conversion under the provisions of section 1033; or

(ii) To treat such sale or exchange as an involuntary conversion under the provisions of section 1033, and in addition elect to reduce the basis of property, in accordance with the regulations prescribed in § 1.1071–3, by all or part of the gain that would otherwise be recognized under section 1033; or

(iii) To reduce the basis of property, in accordance with the regulations prescribed in § 1.1071–3, by all or part of the gain realized upon the sale or exchange.

(2) The effect of the provisions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is, in general, to grant the taxpayer an election to treat the proceeds of the sale or exchange as the proceeds of an involuntary conversion subject to the provisions of section 1033, and a further election to reduce the basis of certain property owned by the taxpayer by the amount of the gain realized upon the sale or exchange to the extent of that portion of the proceeds which is not treated as the proceeds of an involuntary conversion.

(3) An election under section 1071 for any taxable year shall be irrevocable and shall be binding for such taxable year and all subsequent taxable years.

(b) Application of section 1033. (1) If the taxpayer elects, under either paragraph (a) (1) (i) or (ii) of this section, to treat the sale or exchange as an involuntary conversion, the provisions of section 1033, as modified by section 1071, together with the regulations prescribed under such sections, shall be applicable in determining the amount of recognized gain and the basis of property acquired as a result of such sale or exchange. For the purposes of section 1071 and the regulations thereunder, stock of a corporation operating a radio broadcasting station shall be treated as property similar or relates in service or use to the property sold or exchanged. Securities of such a corporation other than stock, or securities of a corporation not operating a radio broadcasting station, do not constitute property similar or related in service or use to the property sold or exchanged. If the taxpayer exercises the election referred to in paragraph (a) (1) (i) of this section, the gain realized upon such sale or exchange shall be recognized to the extent of that part of the money received upon the sale or exchange which is not expended in the manner prescribed in section 1033 and the regulations thereunder. If, however, the taxpayer exercises the elections referred to in paragraph (a) (1) (ii) of this section, the amount of the gain which would be recognized, determined in the same manner as in the case of an election under paragraph (a) (1) (i) of this section, shall not be recognized but shall be applied to reduce the basis of property, remaining in the hands of the taxpayer after such sale or exchange or acquired by him during the same taxable year, which is of a character subject to the allowance for depreciation under section 167. Such reduction of basis shall be made in accordance with and under the conditions prescribed by § 1.1071–3.

(2) In the application of section 1033 to determine the recognized gain and the basis of property acquired as a result of a sale or exchange pursuant to an election under paragraph (a) (1) (i) or (ii) of this section, the entire amount of the proceeds of such sale or exchange shall be taken into account.

(c) Example. The application of the provisions of section 1071 may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. A, who makes his return on a calendar year basis, sold in 1954, for $100,000 cash, stock of X Corporation, which operates a radio broadcasting station. A's basis of this stock was $75,000. The sale was certified by the Federal Communications Commission as provided in section 1071. Soon after, in the same taxable year, A used $50,000 of the proceeds of the sale to purchase stock in Y Corporation, which operates a radio broadcasting station. A elected in his 1954 return to treat such sale and purchase as an involuntary conversion subject to the provisions of section 1033. He also elected at the same time to reduce the basis of depreciable property by the amount of the gain that otherwise would be recognized under the provisions of section 1033, as made applicable by section 1071. The sale results in a recognized gain of $25,000 under section 1033. However, this gain is not recognized in this case because the taxpayer elected to reduce the basis of other property by the amount of the gain. This may be shown as follows:

(1) Sale price of X Corporation stock	$100,000
Basis for gain or loss	75,000
Gain realized	25,000
Proceeds of sale	100,000
Amount expended to replace property sold	50,000
Amount not expended in manner prescribed in section 1033	50,000
Realized gain, recognized under section 1033 (not to exceed the unexpended portion of proceeds of sale)	25,000
Less: Amount applied as a reduction of basis of depreciable property	25,000
Recognized gain for tax purposes	None

(2) The basis of Y Corporation stock in the hands of A is $50,000, computed in accordance with section 1033 and the regulations prescribed under that section. The $50,000 basis is computed as follows:

Basis of property sold (converted)	$75,000
Less: Amount of proceeds not expended	50,000
Balance	25,000
Plus amount of gain recognized under section 1033	25,000
Basis of Y Corporation stock in A's hands	50,000

§ 1.1071–3 Reduction of basis of property pursuant to election under section 1071—(a) General rule. (1) In addition to the adjustments provided in section 1016 and other applicable provisions of chapter 1, which adjustments are required to be made with respect to the cost or other basis of property, a further adjustment shall be made in the amount of the unrecognized gain under section 1071, if the taxpayer so elects. Such further adjustment shall be made only with respect to the cost or other basis of property which is of a character subject to the allowance for depreciation under section 167, and which remains in the hands of the taxpayer immediately after the sale or exchange in respect of which the election is made, or which is acquired by the taxpayer in the same taxable year in which such sale or exchange occurs. If the property is in the hands of the taxpayer immediately after the sale or exchange, the time of reduction of the basis is the date of the sale or exchange; in all other cases the time of reduction of the basis is the date of acquisition.

(2) The reduction of the basis under section 1071 in the amount of the unrecognized gain shall be made in respect of the cost or other basis, as of the time prescribed, of all units of property of the specified character. The cost or other basis of each unit shall be decreased in an amount equal to such proportion of the unrecognized gain as the adjusted basis (for determining gain, determined without regard to this section) of such unit bears to the aggregate of such adjusted bases of all units of such property, but the amount of the decrease shall not be more than the amount of such adjusted basis. If in the application of such rule the adjusted basis of any unit is reduced to zero, the process shall be repeated to reduce the adjusted basis of the remaining units of property by the portion of the unrecognized gain which is not absorbed in the first application of the rule. For such purpose the "adjusted basis" of the remaining units shall be the adjusted basis for determining gain reduced by the amount of the adjustment previously made under this section. The process shall be repeated until the entire amount of the unrecognized gain has been absorbed.

(3) The application of the provisions of this section may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. Using the facts given in the example set forth in § 1.1071–2 (c), except that the taxpayer elects to reduce the basis of depreciable property in accordance with paragraph (a) (1) (iii) of § 1.1071–2, the computation may be illustrated as follows:

Sale price of X Corporation stock	$100,000
Basis for gain or loss	75,000
Realized gain (recognized except for the election under § 1.1071–1)	25,000
Adjusted basis of other depreciable property in hands of A immediately after sale:
Building	80,000
Transmitter	16,000
Fixtures	4,000
Total	100,000
Computation of reduction:
Building $\frac{80,000}{100,000} \times $25,000$ (gain)	20,000
Transmitter $\frac{16,000}{100,000} \times $25,000$	4,000
Fixtures $\frac{4,000}{100,000} \times $25,000$	1,000
Total reduction	25,000
New basis of assets:
Building ($80,000 minus $20,000)	60,000
Transmitter ($16,000 minus $4,000)	12,000
Fixtures ($4,000 minus $1,000)	3,000
Total adjusted basis after reduction under section 1071	75,000
Realized gain upon sale of X Corporation stock	25,000
Less: Amount applied as a reduction to basis of depreciable property	25,000
Recognized gain for tax purposes	None

(b) Special cases. With the consent of the Commissioner, the taxpayer may, however, have the basis of the various units of property of the class specified in section 1071 and this section adjusted in a manner different from the general rule set forth in paragraph (a) of this section. Variations from such general rule may, for example, involve adjusting the basis of only certain units of such property. The request for variations from such general rule should be filed by the taxpayer with his return for the taxable year in which he elects to have the basis of property reduced under section 1071. Agreement between the taxpayer and the Commissioner as to any variations from such general rule shall be effective only if incorporated in a closing agreement entered into under the provisions of section 7121.

§ 1.1071–4 Manner of election. (a) An election under the provisions of section 1071 shall be in the form of a written statement and shall be executed and filed in duplicate. Such statement shall be signed by the taxpayer or his authorized representative. In the case of a corporation the statement shall be signed with the corporate name, followed by the signature and title of an officer of the corporation empowered to sign for the corporation, and the corporate seal must be affixed. An election under section 1071 to reduce the basis of property and an election under such section to treat the sale or exchange as an involuntary conversion under section 1033 may be exercised independently of each other. An election under section 1071 must be filed with the return for the taxable year in which the sale or exchange occurs. Where practicable, the certificate of the Federal Communications Commission required by § 1.1071–1 should be filed with the election.

(b) If, in pursuance of an election to have the basis of its property adjusted under section 1071, the taxpayer desires to have such basis adjusted in any manner different from the general rule set forth in § 1.1071–3 (a), the precise method (including allocation of amounts) should be set forth in detail on separate sheets accompanying the election. Consent by the Commissioner to any departure from such general rule shall be effected only by a closing agreement entered into under the provisions of section 7121.

EXCHANGES IN OBEDIENCE TO S. E. C. ORDERS

§ 1.1081 Statutory provisions; exchanges and distributions in obedience to orders of the Securities and Exchange Commission; nonrecognition of gain or loss.

SEC. 1081. Nonrecognition of gain or loss on exchanges or distributions in obedience to orders of S. E. C.—(a) Exchanges of stock or securities only. No gain or loss shall be recognized to the transferor if stock or securities in a corporation which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company are transferred to such corporation or to an associate company thereof which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company solely in exchange for stock or securities (other than stock or securities which are nonexempt property), and the exchange is made by the transferee corporation in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

(b) Exchanges and sales of property by corporations—(1) General rule. No gain shall be recognized to a transferor corporation which is a registered holding company or an associate company of a registered holding company, if such corporation, in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, transfers property in exchange for property, and such order recites that such exchange by the transferor corporation is necessary or appropriate to the integration or simplification of the holding company system of which the transferor corporation is a member. Any gain, to the extent that it cannot be applied in reduction of basis under section 1082 (a) (2), shall be recognized.

(2) Nonexempt property. If any such property so received is nonexempt property, gain shall be recognized unless such nonexempt property or an amount equal to the fair market value of such property at the time of the transfer is, within 24 months of the transfer, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate, and in accordance with an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, expended for property other than nonexempt property or is invested as a contribution to the capital, or as paid-in surplus, of another corporation, and such order recites that such expenditure or investment by the transferor corporation is necessary or appropriate to the integration or simplification of the holding company system of which the transferor corporation is a member. If the fair market value of such nonexempt property at the time of the transfer exceeds the amount expended and the amount invested, as required in the preceding sentence, the gain, if any, to the extent of such excess, shall be recognized.

(3) Cancellation or redemption of stock or securities. For purposes of this subsection, a distribution in cancellation or redemption (except a distribution having the effect of a dividend) of the whole or a part of the transferor's own stock (not acquired on the transfer) and a payment in complete or partial retirement or cancellation of securities representing indebtedness of the transferor or a complete or partial retirement or cancellation of such securities which is a part of the consideration for the transfer shall be considered an expenditure for property other than nonexempt property, and if, on the transfer, a liability of the transferor is assumed, or property of the transferor is transferred subject to a liability, the amount of such liability shall be considered to be an expenditure by the transferor for property other than nonexempt property.

(4) Consents. This subsection shall not apply unless the transferor corporation consents, at such time and in such manner as the Secretary or his delegate may by regulations prescribe to the regulations prescribed under section 1082 (a) (2) in effect at the time of filing its return for the taxable year in which the transfer occurs.

(c) Distribution of stock or securities only—(1) In general. If there is distributed, in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, to a shareholder in a corporation which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company, stock or securities (other than stock or securities which are nonexempt property), without the surrender by such shareholder of stock or securities in such corporation, no gain to the distributee from the receipt of the stock or securities so distributed shall be recognized.

(2) Special rule. If—

(A) There is distributed to a shareholder in a corporation rights to acquire common stock in a second corporation without the surrender by such shareholder of stock in the first corporation,

(B) Such distribution is in accordance with an arrangement forming a ground for an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission issued pursuant to section 3 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (49 Stat. 810; 15 U. S. C. 79c) that such corporation is exempt from any provision or provisions of such Act, and

(C) Before January 1, 1958, the first corporation disposes of all of the common stock in the second corporation which it owns, then no gain to the distributee from the receipt of the rights so distributed shall be recognized. If the first corporation does not, before January 1, 1958, dispose of all of the common stock which it owns in the second corporation, then the periods of limitation provided in sections 6501 and 6502 on the making of an assessment or the collection by levy or a proceeding in court shall, with respect to any deficiency (including interest and additions to the tax) resulting solely from the receipt of such rights to acquire stock, include one year immediately following the date on which the first corporation notifies the Secretary or his delegate whether or not the requirements of subparagraph (C) of the preceding sentence have been met; and such assessment and collection may be made notwithstanding any provision of law or rule of law which would otherwise prevent such assessment and collection.

(d) Transfers within system group—(1) General rule. No gain or loss shall be recognized to a corporation which is a member of a system group—

(A) If such corporation transfers property to another corporation which is a member of the same system group in exchange for other property, and the exchange by each corporation is made in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, or

(B) If there is distributed to such corporation as a shareholder in a corporation which is a member of the same system group, property, without the surrender by such shareholder of stock or securities in the corporation making the distribution, and the distribution is made and received in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

If an exchange by or a distribution to a corporation with respect to which no gain or loss is recognized under any of the provisions of this paragraph may also be considered to be within the provisions of subsection (a), (b), or (c), then the provisions of this paragraph only shall apply.

(2) Sales of stock or securities. If the property received on an exchange which is within any of the provisions of paragraph (1) consists in whole or in part of stock or securities issued by the corporation from which such property was received, and if in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission such stock or securities (other than stock which is not preferred as to both dividends and assets) are sold and the proceeds derived therefrom are applied in whole or in part in the retirement or cancellation of stock or of securities of the recipient corporation outstanding at the time of such exchange, no gain or loss shall be recognized to the recipient corporation on the sale of the stock or securities with respect to which such order was made; except that if any part of the proceeds derived from the sale of such stock or securities is not so applied, or if the amount of such proceeds is in excess of the fair market value of such stock or securities at the time of such exchange, the gain, if any, shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the proceeds which are not so applied, or in an amount not more than the amount by which the proceeds derived from such sale exceed such fair market value, whichever is the greater.

(e) Exchanges not solely in kind—(1) General rule. If an exchange (not within any of the provisions of subsection (d)) would be within the provisions of subsection (a) if it were not for the fact that property received in exchange consists not only of property permitted by such subsection to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, but also of other property or money, then the gain, if any, to the recipient shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the sum of such money and the fair market value of such other property, and the loss, if any, to the recipient shall not be recognized.

(2) Distribution treated as dividend. If an exchange is within the provisions of paragraph (1) and if it includes a distribution which has the effect of the distribution of a taxable dividend, then there shall be taxed as a dividend to each distributee such an amount of the gain recognized under such paragraph as is not in excess of his ratable share of the undistributed earnings and profits of the corporation accumulated after February 28, 1913. The remainder, if any, of the gain recognized under paragraph (1) shall be taxed as a gain from the exchange of property.

(f) Conditions for application of section. Except in the case of a distribution described in subsection (c) (2), the provisions of this section shall not apply to an exchange, expenditure, investment, distribution, or sale unless—

(1) The order of the Securities and Exchange Commission in obedience to which such exchange, expenditure, investment, distribution, or sale was made recites that such exchange, expenditure, investment, distribution, or sale is necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (49 Stat. 820; 15 U. S. C. 79k (b)),

(2) Such order specifies and itemizes the stock and securities and other property which are ordered to be acquired, transferred, received, or sold on such exchange, acquisition, expenditure, distribution, or sale, and, in the case of an investment, the investment to be made, and

(3) Such exchange, acquisition, expenditure, investment, distribution, or sale was made in obedience to such order, and was completed within the time prescribed therefor.

(g) Nonapplication of other provisions. If a distribution described in subsection (c) (2), or an exchange or distribution made in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, is within any of the provisions of this part and may also be considered to be within any of the other provisions of this subchapter or subchapter C (sec. 301 and following, relating to corporate distributions and adjustments), then the provisions of this part only shall apply.

§ 1.1081–1 Terms used. The following terms, when used in this section and §§ 1.1081–2 to 1.1083–1, inclusive, shall have the meanings assigned to them in section 1083: "Order of the Securities and Exchange Commission"; "registered holding company"; "holding company system"; "associate company"; "majority-owned subsidiary company"; "system group"; "nonexempt property"; and "stock or securities". Any other term used in this section and §§ 1.1081–2 to 1.1083–1, inclusive, which is defined in the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, shall be given the respective definition contained in such Code.
